Forecasting the Goddard-Maher Fight Which Occurs on Thursday Night.

BOTH MEN ARE HABITUAL SLUGGERS

Maher Has a Wonderful Record as a Hard Hitter and Goddard an Equal Name for Taking Punishment Their Chances Compared.

The great heavyweight contest between And Goldard, the Australian champion, and Peter Maner, the Irish giant, will take place before the Concy Island Athletic club next Thursday night. The match is for a $7,300 parse, and will undoubtedly prove an abbreviated cyclonic clash of nature's nrms. It is a well known fact to authorities of this country that neither man has very strong claims on science or cleverness. They are not of that school of the game of hit and get away. They are rushers and sluggers personified. Their style is to rush in at the sound of the gong and run the chances of taking a dozen smashes, if they can only get in their favorite panch. When this occurs, whether it be in the first or any other round, the battle will end right there. They are both terrific hitters, and in this department the Irishman, if anything, has a little the best of it. When a novice, he made quite a reputation by knocking out Gus Lambert. who was never before defeated. The latter, previous to the fight, had fought a fourround draw with the renowned Peter Jack Maher also put Jim Daly, Champior Corbett's former sparring partner, to sleep in one round. Maher subsequently made a tour of the country, meeting all comers. He was wonderfully successful, knocking out most of his men in the quickest time on record. His defeat by Bob Fitzsimmons has never ceased to be a source of mystery to the knowledgous fancy. It was, however, only a case of eleverness and agility against On the other hand Goddard's forte is his ability to stand purishment. For this sort o'gruel he is a veritable glutton. He is, too, a hand hitter which is thoroughly proven by his two four-round victories over the clever purilist, Joe Choynski, and his noted cight-round draw with Peter Jackson. He also defeated Joe McAuliffe in San Francisco in exaggeration, the most remarkable pugilis alive today. He can take an unmerciful whipping and has never yet met defeat. His idea of the proper way to fight is to let s opponent punch him to his heart's nt. When he becomes exhausted b own efforts Goddard goes at him for all he is worth and generally finishes his foe in short order. Goddard is backing himself heavily to win in the coming match.

Judge Newton of the Coney Island club arranged a match Saturday between Johans Rengan of Chicagognad Paddy Gorman, the Australian welterweight. The battle will be fought on Thursday, January 26, 1893, and will be for a pursa of 82,200, 81,900 of which will go to the winner and 8300 to the Josep. New York, Dec. 5 .- International athletic contests under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic union will be held in Chicago next fall, on September 14, 15 and 16, at the league base ball park. This location and the dates were fixed upon this afternoon at a meeting of the plan and scope committee intrusted with the preliminary arrangements for hold ing these international games.

Among those present at the meeting were A. G. Mills, James E. Sullivan and A. G. Spalding. Mr. Spalding returned to Chicago tonight and will endeavor to secure the cooperation of the leading amateur spirits in the west. He has also undertaken to wait the World's fair executive officers endeavor to secure their consent to offer medals stricken from the official die of the fair commissioners. It is proposed to award these not only to winners, but a cheaper medal to every starter who takes part in either the international handleap or championship tournament.

G. W. Dickson, a retired steam boat captain, well known on the great lakes of Point Edward, Ont., is in the city the guest of W. P. Mr. Dickson is enroute home after a two months campaign against the grouse. ducks and geeze of northwestern Nebraska Mr. Dickson reached Raccoon lake during the latter part of August and remained in the vicinity until Thanksgiving wack, shoot-ing, fishing and exploring the country. He is an excellent shot, and a man well versed in the lore of the prairies, lakes, marshes and streams. Byan Signed at Last. On Saturday Tommy Ryan of Chicago, and the champion welterweight of America, signed articles with the New Orleans Olympic club, to fight the winner of the Dawson-O'Connell match, which takes place in Frisco on the 28th, for a $5,500 purse. Ryan to be allowed $250 for expenses.

seems to be but little doubt but what Dawson will be Tommy's antagonist, for while the fistic authorities of the coast are claim-ing that the match is a most equal one there is really no comparison in the compara-tive merits of the men. O'Connell is practi-cally unknown outside of Boston, while Daw son is rated as an extraordinarily clover man both here and in the antipodes. How ever, there are many uncertainties in the game, and O'Connell may prove the victor. But in any event, be it Dawson or O'Connell, I'll tip Ryan for a winner.

Petty and Fuller Will Shoot.

Inasmuch as John Petty, considered by a large majority the champion rifle shot of Nebraska, has accepted the challenge issued to him through THE BEE by Fred A. Fuller a week ago, a meeting is inevitable. The match will take place next Sunday afternoon on the grounds of the Hemis Park Gun club neross the river, fifty shots to the man, 200 yards offband, twenty five ring target, for 8100 a side. The match will create a good deal of interest as both men have a large offowing and a general desire on the part of shooters is to see the question of supremachet ween those two men settled.

Proceedings in Dr. Briggs' Case Yesterday of More Than Usual Interest.

New York, Dec. 5.-The ecclesiastical court which is trying Dr. Briggs for heresy has finally got down to the merits of the case. When today's session opened Dr. Briggs was asked by the moderator to submit his evidence. It was even-more voluminous than that brought against him. The defendant offered in evidence the whole of the Holy Scriptures, the King James, the Hebrew, Greek and revised versions, also the whole of the standards of the church and the whole of the inaugural address, with and the whole of the inaughrat norress, with all of its prefaces and appendices.

When Dr. Briggs concluded reading from his evidence, Colonel McCook insisted that the defendant be sworn as to the testimony he had given in conformity with the "book." Dr. Briggs replied that the "book" did not govide for administering any oath upon the builssion of mere documentary evidence. I fully realize the purpose of the prescen-tion," he said. "They want to get the ad-vantage of cross-examining me before I have submitted my own oral evidence. This is the most outrageous course of conduct have ever heard proposed." [Applause.]

Moderator Bliss sastained Dr. Briggs' posi-tion. The ruling brought down an avalanche of applause and some hisses, both from the of the hall and the galleries of this exhibition is repeated. I shall inist that the galleries be cleared." ex-laimed Dr. Payson, jumping to his feet. The moderator warned the visitors in the

A long discussion followed. The prosecution committee withdrew the citations they had made and the moderator ruled that Prof. Smith's request could not be granted. An appeal was taken, but the moderator was sustained and an exception was noted.

The testimony for the prosecution was then read to sustain the second and third charges, which accuse Prof. Smith of deny-ing the inspiration of the writers of the scriptures to the extent of making their uterances free from error when interpreted in their natural and intended sense, and of de-nying that the scriptures are inspired in the sense in which the scriptures themselves define inspiration or as it is defined by the conessional. Argument for the prosecution was egun, but had not been concluded when the court adjourned.

WHERE WILL THEY BRING UP

Union Pacific Employes Speculating on Probable Results of Gould's Death.

UNCERTAINTY SURROUNDING EVERYTHING

Slender Hold of the Gould Interests on the Controll of the Company the Chief Feature of the Discussion-The Situation.

With Jay Gould dead and buried speculation has begun to stalk about, and the appartition is met in every department at Union Pacific headquarters. Even heads of departments are not averse to inquiring what the future has in store for those who are now drawing fat salaries for no other reason than that they are pets of general officers. In a pleasant talk not six weeks ago, in re ply to a question of the reporter. President S. H. H. Clark said that the future of the road was most uncertain and that his tenure of office rested upon the merest caprice of the stockholders.

"The present interests [meaning Jay Gould] hold upon very slender ground, and at the next election may be overturned," said he, While I believe that our annual statement will show that the road has wonderfully improved with Mr. Gould at the head I have no authentic information that we will be permitted to continue in control. The mar-gin by which Mr. Gould succeeded to the control of the property was very narrow, and revolution may occur at the next by which the policy of the road will vitally change. Still the property is in excellent condition, never better, and I have confidence in the far-sightedness of those whose At the time of this conversation Mr. Gould's health had not become a subject for daily bulletining. He was attending to busiless, coming down to his New York office at east three-times a week. He was then a orce in the railroad world, a power on change. Now the conditions are vitally changed, and Mr. Clark's talk of six weeks ago may have been a prophecy.

It is a matter of history that the president of the Union Pacific was somewhat averse a leaving the Missouri Pacific at the tim he did and only consented to do so because it was Mr. Gould's wish that his most trusted lieutenant should direct the affairs of the great corporation which, although not gener known, has been playing second fiddle to he Missouri Pacific. The latter road have been built up at the expense of the former Having accepted the presidency Mr. Clark bent all his efforts toward increasing the carnings of the Union Pacific, but the stock, instead of advancing on Wall street, has fluctuated about the 40's and closed Satur-

In that celebrated meeting wherein George Gould executed his famous coup d' etat, holding proxies of foreign holders of later date than those held by Mr. Bossevain, it was openly asserted that these proxies were obtained by the son of his father upon the assurance that Union Pacific would touch 50 before the end of the present year.

With Mr. Gould dead it is quite within the possibilities that the same condition of affairs will confront George Gould as con fronted his father. Then he won a notable victory by shrewd manipulation. Could be to it again if he were inclined to try, his father removed from participation in temporal things! That is a question to be answered later,

Among the chiefs of departments at Union Pacific headquarters it is most generally thought that Mr. Clark will be asked to continue as president, giving all his time to the upbullding of the system to which he was called by Mr. Gould. Of course the "wish is father to the thought," but it is a matter of history that when Mr. Clark's election was consummated it gave satisfaction to both foreign and American stockholders. Should Mr. Clark conclude to continue as president, there would be few changes made in the de partments, for he is surrounded by the men whom he likes and who are most friendly to
