THEY FOUGHT LIKE BRUTES

Joe Goddard and Peter Maher Engage in a Fierce Slugging Contest.

IT ONLY LASTED THREE BLOODY ROUNDS

Maher Knocked Oni After an Exhibition of Terrific Founding and Savage Determination-Little Science But Lots of Strength.

New YORK, Dec. 8.-About 8,000 people went over to the Coney Island Athletic club's house tonight to watch Joe Goddard knock out Peter Maher. The entertainment was opened with a ten-round bout between Barney fullens and Jerry Sullivan. It was a game fight from start to finish. Their work was so spirited that the crowd was kept in an uproar all through. Mullens was the coolest and most clever of the two and his straight left hand jabs resulted in the referee giving him the decision at the close of the contest.

Goddard was the first to appear. He was given a hearty reception, and many exclamations of approval were heard as he shed his long ulster. Goddard's reception was noth ing compared with the ovation given Peter Maher. The Irish element in the audience let itself out with a will.

Goddard came into the ring with an air of confidence, and walked about looking at the floor. Maher climbed through the ropes and Goddard walked over to him and shook him by the hand cordially. The coin was tossed and when it was seen that the Irish lad had and when it was seen that the Irish lad had won the lucky corner, a great shout of Joy arose from the Maher contingent. He wore green trunks and Goddard white. Maher was esquired by Jack McVey of Phila-delphia, Martin Costello of Buffalo and Tom Clark of Concy Island. Joe McGrath of Dublin acted as bottle holder and Jack Sheehan as timekeeper. Goddard was seconded by Jim Gibbons of Patterson. Billy Madden and Alex Greggains. L. Morris officiated as his timer. John P. Rekhart acted as the club's official referee, and Bob Stall held the official time. Everything being ready, time was called and the contestants faced the

Round 1—The men sparred cautiously, Goddard having a confident air. Each man held his right as though waiting to get that member home on his opponent's jaw. Goddard led and forced Maher to his kness, when he took advantage of the necessary ten seconds. Maher drew first blood. Each man fought like a wildeat. Maher landed right and left and was forced to the ropes by Goddard, who was so tired that he could hardly stand. Maher made a great rally, but his blows only seemed to make Goddard anzry and he hit right and left landing at will, taking anyright and left landing at will, taking any-thing that Maher could give if he could only get in his blows. Maher was wild, hoping against hope to land his right, which he did our or five times, but Goddard only went at him more determinedly and the fight looked to be a short one; for Maher was winded and could not hold his own against his powerful Round 2—It was give and take from the start. Goddard landed with left and right and the men closed in to hard in-fighting, hitting right and left until Goddard landed a right that sent Maher to the floor. He was up in time and they were again at it, hammer and tongs, smashing each other right and left until they were both so tired that they could scarcely stand. By the time the round was completed neither of them showed the slightest signs of science, It was purely a case of brute strength and the man that could land the most blows was bound to win. Both men received terrific punishment.

Round—3. Both men come up looking dazed from the furious fighting of the previous round, but both were determined to end the contest as soon as possible. Neither man showed the least science, but rained blow after blow on each other as fast and as hard as possible. God-dard looked the worst punished man in appearance, as his face was covered with gore, which flowed in streams down his breast. He went at Maher like a wild beast and fairly beat his man down by brute strength. The Irish lad stood up gamely laid out by a straight right on the jaw and fell face down on the floor. The excitement was intense, the crowd being fairly crazed with excitement. The round lasted just fifty

ANOTHER FOR DAWSON.

Doc O'Connell Whipped After a Hard Battle of Twenty Rounds.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8.—George Daw son, the clever young Australian, met Doc O'Connell at the California Athletic club tonight. O'Connell came here accompanied by an eastern reputation for gameness and cleverness that seemed to make him a worthy opponent of the conqueror of Jim Burge, Billy Mabes and Danny Needham. Dawson was the favorite shortly before the hour of entering the ring at odds of 2 to 1 and the combination of Dawson and Goddard had sold against Maher and O'Connell at 5 to 4. Dawson and O'Connell weighed in under 148 pounds. The prize was $3,000, the loser taking $1,250. Bill Gordon was the referee. Time was called at 9:05.
Round 1—O'Connell led first but the men clinched and missed. Dawson got in the first punch on the Bostonian's wind. He seemed nervous, and though he led several times he fell short. Dawson closed the round with a right over the kidneys. O'Connell's appearright over the kidneys. O'Connell's appearance was disappointing to the spectators who had not seen him before.

Round 2—O'Connell got in a hot left on Dawson's wind and tried a left for the jaw, but failed. Dawson got in a light blow in the ribs, but O'Connell got back with an overhand left and soon followed it up with a sounding left smash on Dawson's cheek sounding left and soon followed it up with a sounding left smash on Dawson's cheek. He had a peculiar way of dashing in his left that raised him in the estimation of the spectators. Dawson struck him on the head at short range as the round closed. Boston Showing the Way.

Round 3-O'Connell forced the pace and got a number of lefthanders that left Dawson guessing. The latter tried for an open-ing several times but missed. Dawson landed a staggering left on the chin but O'Connell forced him to run from a left jaw blow. Dawson ducked a swinging blow. Round 4—O'Connell landed a long right on the ribs. Dawson stopped a couple of leads, but narrowly missed one full in the mouth. Dawson found some trouble in reaching the Bostonian, who had a very shifting reach, and a clinch was followed by a hard left smash in Dawson's face.

Round 5—Dawson led, but was stopped.

Round 6—Both men were wary. O'Connell led with a left, leaving himself open and Dawson nearly dropped him with a right on the head. O'Connell ducked after a lead and Dawson smashed him three short arm blows in the mouth. A clinch followed, but O'Connell broke his way out and the round ended. Round 7—O'Connell suddenly caught Dawson with a left in the face and followed it son with a left in the face and followed it up by a right on the head that nearly dropped Dawson. O'Connell struck Dawson a blow that sickened him. O'Connell apparently had a strong lead. Australia Picking Up.

Round 8—Dawson had thus far appeared to less advantage than in any of his previous fights in this country, and what he lost in the estimation of the spectators O'Connell gained. A counter by Dawson and a raily in the corner at the close of the round, in which Dawson landed several times without return, were the only features of the over the heart. Dawson banged him twice with force in the bleeding mouth. O'Connell fought himself about out, and Dawson had him against the ropes as the round losed.

In the twelfth and thirteenth rounds In the tweifth and thirteenth rounds Dawson kept the Bostonian dodging about the ring to evade his right, which the Australian had in readiness. In the thirteenth Dawson smashed O'Connell in the neck and the latter returned, Dawson knocking him to the ropes. O'Connell was working hard, but falled to accomplish much.

Hard Man to Finish.

In the fourteenth both men came together at the same time and warmed each other's ears. O'Connell jabbed several times but was cross-countered by Dawson, who banged O'Connell from pillar to post smashing him in the face, while O'Connell gasped for breath. Dawson let up several times when he apparently had finished the fight, O'Conell now showed up to be no match for Daw-on, but was applicated for his gameness. Round 15—O'Connell occasionally dropped a oft at long range. He dropped his head at lose quarters and Dawson's blows fell on Many believe Thomas innocent, because he was convicted on circumstantial evidence.

Almost from the cradle to the gallows the life of Dennis McCarthy was a record of crime. He will be executed for the killing of his wife and her unborn babe on the evening of September 7, 1891. He had just returned from St. Louis, from which city he had written his wife that he was coming home to kill her. wife that he was coming home to kill her. He shot her three times and she died in a few minutes. An operation was performed by the coroner to save the murdered woman's unborn child, but it only lived one hour and a half.

The crime for which Grant Thomas, colored, is to die is the murder of Birdie Coleman, a young mulatto woman, on the morning of February 19, 1892. The young woman was choked to death by a silk sash. She was the wife of James Coleman a teamster, who lives on Ormsby avenue near Ninth street. The crime of Nelson Lewis, colored, was the wilful murder of George Dean on the night of November 1, 1891, near Middleton. January 25, 1892, he was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

Stephen Hite was sentenced to the scaffold for the killing, deliberately, of Albert Bauerman, at 2:20 a. m. September 13, 1891.

asked Dr. Briggs when Colonel McCook had resumed his seat. An affirmative though somewhat guarded reply was given to the question. "I ask the question with a reason," continued the defendant. "I suspect some such policy may be followed by the committee as was pursued at my former trial. On that occasion many of the committee's arguments were withheld until after I had pleaded in my defense. I therefore say if they have any more arguments let them now speak, or forever hold their peace." Adjournment was taken until Thursday. Argument for the Prosecution Closed. Cincinnati, O., Dec. 8.—Dr. McKibben, for the prosecution, closed his argument this forenoon in the Smith heresy trial. Prof. Smith began his rejoinder, making the point that even the committee's theory of aid does not rule out all forms of error, but Before going into secret session the roll was called to ascertain who was eligible to sit in judgment. It disclosed thirty-nine ministers and thirteen elders. MORTON'S MANEUVERS.

How the Sage of Arbor Lodge is Preparing His Senatorial Path. LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 8 .- [Special to THE Bee. |-The democratic state central committee endorsed J. Sterling Morton for secretary of agriculture at their meeting here last evening and are banking hard on securing that appointment for him in case the other deal to place him in the United States senate is unsuccessful. The subcommittee that is to do the conference work will work the, senatorial boom for all it is worth, but have little hope of carrying it but have little hope of carrying it through with independent votes, and concede that Morton's chance of election depends wholly on republican support, which they count on only in case it is found that it is the only way for the republicans to prevent the election of an independent. For this reason, the Morton men favor a deal with the independent slooking to the election of an independent in order, to scare the resultiindependent, in order to scare the republi-cans into coming to them, in which case they would repudiate the independent deal and accept the help of the republicans in making Morton. But the Morton crowd does not include the entire democratic party, and the proposition is not failing into line and the opposition is not falling into line with sufficient speed to engender very many headaches. The leaders pretended to be mixing harmony but the demand for butcher knives and gatliog guns grows apace.

FLOUR OUTPUT. Work of the Minneapolis Mills for a Week

Condition of the Market. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 8.-The Northwestern Miller says: Millers have a very good water supply which helped the mills out last week, and their output was a trifle larger than the week before, being 186,545 barrels against 185,315 barrels the previous week and 181,280 barrels for the corresponding time in 1891, and 114,400 barrels in 1890. The water power showed signs of going down Wednesday, and the mills are being restricted a little more in consequence. The daily output, however, has not been appreciably affected. If low enough prices are made, plenty of patents can be sold, but otherwise it does not receive much attention.

Prices are largely nominal. Bids for patents are unusually below the views of millers. The decline in the export business is well illustrated by the small foreign shipments. Exports hast week week only 30 420 ments. Exports last week were only 30,420 barrels, against 40,180 in the preceding week. Thes are the lowest figures since June, 1891. London quotations per 280 pounds are: Patent, 25s; bakers', 17s; low grades, 11s.
