Implement Dealers Look After Many Things of Interest in Their Line.

STRAIGHTFORWARD RESOLUTIONS

Demands Made for Protection of Retailers Against Unfair Competition and for Better Railway Accommodation-New Officers Elected and Installed.

Pleasure intermingled with the routine of business at yesterday's session of the Nebraska Implement Dealers' association. During the morning session a letter was read from Hon. G. W. Lininger, extending to the association an invitation to visit the famous Lininger art gallery. It was accepted with a vote of thanks, and the entire delegation responded during the afternoon. The gallery was splendidly lighted for the visitors and the works of art were greatly admired by Yesterday morning's session of the asso ciation opened only a few minutes past the scheduled time. That the session has much of interest for the members was evidenced by the numbers appearing in the early stage of the morning's proceedings.

The committee appointed on constitution and by-laws submitted its report, recommending a few minor changes, and suggest-ing that the combined office of secretary and treasurer be made a salaried one and the compensation be fixed at $75 per month, and bond be required in a reasonable amount.

The committee's discussion of the placing of goods with irresponsible parties caused it to report that in the committee's opinion such action was runious to the trade and manufacturers were asked to exercise more care in the disposition of goods. The committee's report was adopted and considera-tion of the report of the resolutions committee was taken up. The committee re-ported in favor of adopting the resolutions presented to the national association by fohn M. Burks, at its last meeting.

Protection Against Jobbers. presenting its report the committee with certain forms of contract emby various dealers and denounced closing by demanding fair treatment from the manufacturers. Referring to commissions the committee declared that the retail dealer should receive his commissions in the same kind and proportion as the manufacturer. If the manufac-turer got cash the retail dealer should have cash; if the former got notes the latter should get notes also. They should be placed upon an equal footing in the division of the preceeds of all sales. A pro-test in the form of a resolution vigorously test in the form of a resolution vigorously objecting to the practice of certain jobbers charging drayage was carried in the committee's report. The resolution recommended that a determined stand be taken against such imposition. Other manufacturers were heartily scored for having gone into the systematic business of retailing at prices below that which could be adopted by the retailers at a profit. The committee recommended that all such abuses be investigated and that when satisfactory proof of such unfair deal-when satisfactory proof of such unfair dealing had been produced then the names of the guilty firms should be published by bulletin sent out to all the members of the association. Some of the jobbers were also given a rap for the practice of establishing branch offices in towns where they were selling goods to the retailers, thus running selling goods to the retailers, thus running out the very men up n whom they had been depending for a business. Jobbers were also accused of placing their goods in the hands of irresponsible and inexperienced men who usually met with financial shipwreck in the end, but played havoc with the trade while they held out. It was asserted that jobbers should sell to no one but regular and logitimate dealers. and legitimate dealers.

the question of the adoption of the committee report several vigorous speeches were made, J. M. Burks of Lincoln and Mr. Babcock of Seward taking a prominent part in the discussion. Just when a man was a responsible and legitimate dealer was something of a puzzle to the association. Business men seemed to rise and fall upon almost every breeze, and a man who might be considered responsible and perfectly good today might be deep in the marshes of finan-cial ruin tomorrow. There were scores of men drifting about from place to place, and men drifting about from place to place, and some of them made a fine show for a few months until they got a large stock on hand and then they went to pieces like an old wagon wheel. It was the unani mous opinion, however, that floating business men, adventurers in the field of commerce, should be discouraged and that jobbers and manufacturers should be urgently requested not to sell to this class of dealers. Where jobbers refused to comply with this request it was thought best to refuse to purchase goods from them.

The matter of "overloading" small towns by the indiscriminate placing of goods with blacksmiths, lumber dealers and other busi-ness men not exclusively engaged in the implement business, when the regular dealers did not seem inclined to sign the kind of contract that happened to suit the manufacturer, was a practice complained of by several of the members, F. M. Whips of Octavia scoring the class of "bushwhackers," as he termed them, in the jobbing and retail trade. The resolutions were adopted without a dissenting voice.

Will Check Unfair Competition. At the afternoon session of the Implement

Dealers association several supplementary resolutions were passed. The association decided to take steps toward checking the practice among retailers of making a run on certain lines of goods carried by other dealers for the purpose of underselling them. It was also decided that purchasers who made a practice of defrauding dealers by refusing to pay should be published as unreliable de-linguents in the trade paper, recognized linquents in the trade paper recognized as the official organ of the association. A committee was appointed to take proper steps to induce the jobbers of Council Bluffs and Omana to abandon the practice of charging drayage upon shipments to interior Another committee was appointed to call the attention of the jobbers and manufactur-ers who sell goods in Nebraska to the objectionable features in the contracts which the retail dealers are asked to sign. It was held by several members of the association that many of the jobbers contracts are full of catch clauses, and these the retailmerchants desire to have eliminated.

The committee on railroad legislation re-ported a resolution in favor of appointing a committee to call upon the freight agents of the various railroads and request them to lower the gates upon wagons, buggies and some other farm implements, and also to allow jobbers to ship mixed cars of farm implements at reasonable rates. In case this request was refused, then this special com-mittee was requested to move upon the state legislature and upon the State Board of legislature and upon the State Board of Transpertation for a reduction of rates. A change of classification, particularly on buggles, was desired and a resolution to that effect was passed.

It was decided by vote of the association that the railroad committee should be re-quested to co-operate with a similar commit-tee from the State Business Men's associa-and C. H. Metz of Friend were elected directors to fill the three yacancies.

President elect Burks was then escorted to the chair of honor and authority before the association. He thanked the association and said several yery encouraging words in the work. He hoped to see the organization push on in the legitimate work before it until the association should attain a position of power for good in the state. He cautioned the gentlemen not to tear each otners eyes out by competition. The best way to succeed in business was to sell goods at a reasonable profit. The man who attempted to undersell everybody would soon be out of the field. It didn't pay to worry about people who sold below cost, for they would not last long. It didn't pay to do business for fun.

At no time in the history of the country has pneumonia been so prevalent as during the winter months of the last two years. In times past a common cold was not considered at all serious, but of late years the great tendency of colds to result in pneumo-nia has made people apprehensive. The trouble is that colds are not always properly treated. No preparation containing opium, wild cherry or chloroform should be used, as they have a tendency to dry up a cold, whereas it should be loosened and the lungs relieved. It has been observed that when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the cold never results in meumonia. The reason is that this remedy stimulates the mucous membrane which lines the throat and lungs to a healthy action, causes a free expectoration, throwing off the poisonous matter, and unteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. RECEIVED A WARM WELCOME

Cordial Greetings Extended to the Delegates of the Danish Brotherhood.

REASSEMBLED AT THE ORDER S BIRTHPLACE

Tendered the Freedom of the City by Mayor Bemis The First Day's Proceedings of the Organization's Eighth Blennial Session.

Mayor Bemis warmly welcomed the delegates attending the convention of the Danish Brotherhood, which began its eighth biennial session yesterday morning at Washington hall. Several delegates arrived during the day, bringing the total number, together with visitors present to nearly 200.

The hall was comfortably filled when Chairman Norgard of the local committee called the gathering to order and introduced Mayor Bemis, who, in extending to the convention his appreciation of the honor conferred on the city by selecting Omaha as the place of meeting, and granting the freedom of the city said:

Warmly Welcomed.

Gentlemen of the National Convention: It rives me great pleasure to greet such a distin-uished looking body of Danish-Americans as guished looking body of Danish-Americans as this which has gathered in our city. It is a gathering of which any city might well feel proud, but Omaha should be doubly so, as this organization is a product of this city, and this meeting is in the nature of a reunion beneath organization is a product of this city, and this meeting is in the nature of a reunion beneath the parental rooftree.

I dare say, when this order was formed, a little over ten years ago, in this city, few, if any, of the original twenty-six members dared hope that in one decade it would attain the prosperous condition in which we now find the prosperous condition in which we now find it. Its growth is remarkable when we consider that the membership is limited to persons of one nationality.

The work in which you are engaged is a grand one. It is a movement which is commanding the attention of the civilized world. To my mind a society such as yours is both desirable and beneficial to the government. It binds men together in ties of common interest, thereby naking them better men and, consequently, better citizens. Such a society should be fostered in every way and its growth and development encouraged. Not only is it a grand thing in that it develops the feeling of patriotism and brotherly love, but it is a good thing from a purely business point of view—it provides a competence for the widows and orphans of deceased members and prevents them, becoming a charge upon the public purse. It is also a good thing from a purely religious point of view by encouraging the development of what one of the apostles has characterized as the true religion; namely, love for thy neighbor.

It is, therefore, with great pleasure that I welcome you to our city and I hope that your stay with us may be both pleasant and profitable.

I will not weary you by a long recital of the many attractions Omanha has to offer visitors.

I will not weary you by a long recital of the many attractions Omaha has to offer visitors, as the local committee having charge of your centertainment will see to it that you do not miss any point of interest, but I merely call your attention to a few things which we are always proud to tell our friends who come to see us.

The first thing about Omaha which strikes most of our eastern visitors the most forcibly is the rapid growth of the city. Thirty-seven years ago the first white man's house was built n this side of the river, and now the city has population of 150,000. You may see for ourselves that our growth has been substan-a population of 150,000. You may see for yourselves that our growth has been substantial and that our city is filled with elegant and durable buildings.

We have the largest smelting and refining works in the world; the largest white lead works; the largest lineed oil mill; the largest distillery, and one of the most complete water works plants in the world.

We have ninety-five miles of street railway, seventy-two miles of paved streets, 100 miles of severs, and over 600 miles of streets.

You should avail yourselves of the opportunity presented by your visit to inspect the making houses at South Omaha, the third largest packing center in the United States, and there are many other points of interest which your brethren of this city will gladly show you.

Once more I welcome you to Omaha in the name of our citizens, and extend to you the freedom of the city during your stay here, which I trust may be as agreeable to you as your presence is to us.

Response was made on part of the dele-

Response was made on part of the delegates by Supreme President A. F. Miller of Oshkosh, Wis., who thanked the mayor for the kindly words spoken in behalf of the organization and assured him of the society's appreciation.

Following the supreme president, Comptroller Olsen of Omaha made a brief speech of welcome, referring to the great growth of the society and the loyalty of the sons of Denmark when rebellion threatened disrup tion to America. Referring again to the society, he said, in reference to its spread in the United States, that among the causes leading to it was the sterling honor and integrity with which the administration of the organization had been carried on and the immense amount of good it had been doing toward helping widows and orphans. In closing he extended again a general hearty welcome to the representatives who had come here from all over this broad United States.

Went Into Executive Session.

At the conclusion of Comptroller Olsen's address, the president declared the convention ready for the transaction of regular business, and all but the members left the hall, the sessions being executive.
At noon a recess was taken, the committee on credentials reporting the names of about fifty delegates entitled to seats. Those

After the noon recess order was called at 1:30 o'clock and the completion of unfinished business left over from the last biennial gathering was taken up and disposed of. It consisted of minor matters, and at its conclu sion reports of subordinate lodges were pre-sented and read. They showed the order to be in a flourishing condition all over the country where residents of Denmark were located, and the respective delegates were warmly commended on the showing made by

The hearing of reports occupied all of the afternoon session and an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock this morning, when various committees are to be appointed. How R Secame Popular.

When people find an article much superior to anything of the kind they have ever before used, they are almost sure to tell their friends about it, and especially if they knew of some friends sneeding such an article. Dealers also soon elearn the true value of their goods, and when they have an article of unusual meritathey will almost invariably mention the fact to their customers. This accounts in a great measure for the large mention the fact to their customers. This accounts in agreet measure for the large sale on Chamberdain's Cough Remedy. Here is an instance: W. L. Needham, a prominent citizen and business man of Orrsburg, Mo., has been selling Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for several years and recommends it to his customers, because in his experience it has proven to be the best for colds, croup and whooping cough. He says it is the most popular medicine that he handles, and gives the best satisfaction. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists. sale by druggists.

Beatrice Starch in Omaha. It has very frequently happened that a factory could dispose of its goods in distant states more readily than nearer at home. There was a time when this was true of the Beatrice starch factory, which enjoyed a large trade both west and south from its very commencement of business. The home patronage movement induced the people of Omaha to try Beatrice starch for the sake of help-ing a Nebraska industry. They are now buying it because they find that it is the best to be had on the market. The goods manufactured by the Beatrice starch factory are a credit to the whole state.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Crowded houses will be the rule at the Farnam Street theater during the early part of next week, when Mark Murphy will play an engagement of four nights and two matinees, beginning with the Sunday matinee January 15, in the operatic Irish comedy success, "O'Dowd's Neighbors." The play has made an instanteneous "hit" wherever it has been seen this season and holds the record in many towns for the largest business done on the season. A feature of the entertainment is the music, which does credit to comic opera with such coniedians as Mark Murphy, Dave Conroy, Phil Mack and Joe Roberts, and voices like Marie Cahill, Mamie Taylor, Jennie Murphy and the O'Dowd quartet, Messrs. Reynolds, Riggs, Holcombe and Roberts. Sale for the engagement opens on Friday, January 13. Usual matinee Wednesday.

That the seating capacity of Boyd's new theater will be put to its test this evening may be well believed. The attraction is Hoyt's "A Trip to China-

It was presented here two seasons ago with great success. But it has been thoroughly made over since then, Mr. Hoyt having added bright lines, witty dialogue and numerous specialties.

The cast has many of the original New York company. The new faces are Burt Haverly and Laura Bigger, who have made decided hits as the man who is going to die and the daring, spanking widow around whom is written a highly seasoned, rather Frenchy story toned down to a discreet level by Mr. Hoyt, without, however, sacrificing any of the amusing situations, incidents or

The McCoy sisters, a precocious and really remarkable pair of tots, do a specialty in dancing, high kicking and acrobatic feats that is one of the best novelties.

Already there have been a great many inquiries as to the forthcoming engagement of Mr. Joseph Murphy, which commences at Boyd's theater on Sunday evening next. The indications are that Mr. Murphy's engagement here will be as profitable as formerly. On Sunday and Mondayn evenings "The Kerry Gow" will be the bill, and on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings "Shaun Rhue." and Wednesday evenings "Shaun Rhue."

The Ovide Musin Concert company will appear at Exposition hall Friday evening under the auspices of the Apollo club. The program arranged is an excellent one, giving each of the artists full share in the evening's work. The Chicago Tribune, in reviewing a recent concert by the company in that city, said: "Musin has a brilliancy, an airiness and a glitter that are his own ous bowing and delicious fingering as he caressed the loving front of his living violin, and out from a mass of music and sounds grew and rose, distinct and clear, now swelling and swaying, again falling like the cadence of summer breathings and dying away in melodious silence."

Mr. George Wessells and Miss Nellic Elting, with the support of Mr. Harry Barlow, Gypsy Barlow and other members of the stock company, which also includes two other new people, Miss Dora Lowe and Mr. Frank Winter, are giving a delightful presentation of the "Golden Giant," and nothing but presses to know the stock of the property of ing but praise is heard on all sides. Mr. Wessells is a grand actor and Miss Nellie Elting is proving a surprise to the patrons of the Bijou. Her work is beyond criticism and she is bound to become a great favorite. The specialty program is also very enjoya-ble and big business will continue the rule at this popular play house.

He escaped the law was wrapped about him. He escaped, but the court entered up a contempt order and a fine of $500 and costs went along with the order. The upshot of the whole matter was that during Frohm's absence from Iowa soil the court held that he should stand committed until the fine had been paid, but managing to keep outside of the jurisdiction of the court the money was never collected.
