Result of a Felon. Charles Probstele, the harness maker of this city, was taken to St. Joseph some time ago for treatment for a sore hand. The trouble seemed to be a felon. After he arrived at the hospital he was told that he would have to have his thumb amputated. This was done, but the results did not seem to be altogether satisfactory. Yesterday Mrs. Probstele received a letter from her husband stating that the physicians had de-cided that there would have to be another amputation, and it is feared that his whole hand will have to come off. The original cause of the sore was a small puncture of the skin while he was working at his trade.

THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Indignation Caused by a Transaction of the Council Finance Committee.

ITS EXTRAVAGANCE IN BORROWING MONEY

With a Surplus of $84,000 in the Treasury it Negotiates a Loan of $65,000 One of the Members Makes an Explanation.

A great deal of attention has been called recently to a little transaction of the finance committee of the city council last week, and a strong effort has been made to show that the administration has been guilty of something underhanded. The transaction referred to is the loan of $65,000, which was negotiated at the Citizens bank for the purpose of paying off bonds to that amount which had come due while there was a surplus of $84,000 in the city treasury, which, it was claimed, might have been used in paying off the obligation, and thus save the interest which will now have to be paid to the bank. Street rumors of indignation have been pienty, and the charge of corruption took definite form at the meeting of the council Monday evening, when Alderman Graves demanded, in the name of his con-stituents, an explanation. This explanation, as given by the members of the finance committee, is in effect, that for several years past it has been the custom of the treasurer to transfer from one fund to another any surplus that might be on hand. In order to pay off obligations in funds where there was a deflective. This, it is claimed is entirely a deficiency. This, it is claimed, is entirely illegal, as the statutes strictly forbid any such transfer. As there was no money on hand in the particular fund from which the $05,000 should have been drawn, the finance committee, not caring to take the responsibility of an illegal move, made arrange ments with the bank to redeem the bends and the city will have to pay a handsome rate of interest for it.

While the effort to show corruption has been entirely a fizzle, the talk that has been induleed in has worked up a feeling that will probably result in saving the city quite a sum of money the next time that any similar case arises. The city has heretofore been in the habit of allowing the banks where the funds are kept to have the use of them with-out paying any interest for them, or other-wise reciprocating for the benefit of having wise reciprocating for the benefit of having so many thousand dollars on hand without expense to itself. Some of the aldermen think that the bank should be willing to agree to redeem all bonds as fast as they come due, without charging any interest. The deposits in the various banks to the city's credit usually range, from $75,000 to $100,000 or more, and it is thought that when it comes to a choice between taking the money, with the sort of restriction mentioned above, and not taking it at all, there is not a bank in the cety that will refuse to come to terms. Alderman Jennings of the finance committee announces that he intends to make a fight along that line.

Robbed at Crescent. A man called at the police station Monday night in considerable haste and wanted some officers to go with him up the North western railway and catch a couple of thieves who had just succeeded in getting away with some overcoats, axes, and other property from his house a short distance north of Crescent. The two men had been working for him, and when they left on Monday they helped themselves to anything they saw that took their funcy. As soon as the theft was discovered he boarded a train for Council Bluffs and on the road passed the two thieves, who had taken a tie pass for the same point. When the victim and a policemen visited they failed to find any traces of the this although a thorough search was made of the country between here and the place where they were seen. One of the men was recog-nized from the description as having been Judge McGee rendered a decision yesterday in the case of William Siedentopf against M. M. Marshal of Omaha, in which a motion to dissolve an injunction was argued and submitted a few days ago. The injunction was issued originally for the purpose of re-straining Marshal from interfering with Siedentopf's tenants, who have been living on land claimed by both. Marshal had fired Siedentopf's tenants and torn down the house in which they lived, while in the trial of the case was involved indirectly the ownership of $20,000 worth of property. In making his decision Judge McGee took the ground that the injuction should be dissolved on the ground that Marshal had done the acts with which he was charged between the time when the writ of injunction was issued and the time when it was served. The decision in no way affects the final result of the trial.

It will be remembered that several months ago he got into some trouble by trying to take with him to his home in the east about $32,000 worth for the investment company at this end of the line. A writ of injunction was issued and Mr. Gage was overhauled just as he stepped into Iowa at Pacific Junction by an officer from Council Bluffs. The rule was here laid down that any person who is about to cross a street railway track is bound, on reaching the track, to look in both directions for an approaching car, and failure to is necessary to define as nearly as may be the relative duties of street car companies and citizens at street crossings or other places. Steam railroads have the exclusive right to the use of their tracks at all times and for all purposes, except at road crossings. Street railways have not this exclusive right. Their tracks are used in common by their cars and the traveling public. While this common use is conceded, and is unavoidable in towns and cities, the railway companies and the public have not equal rights. Those of the railway companies are superior. Their cars have the right of way, and it is the duty of the citizen, whether on foot or in vehicles to give unobstructed passage to the cars is results from two reasons: First, the fact that the car cannot turn out or leave its track; and secondly, for the convenience and the accommodation of the public. On the other hand, it is the duty of the companies to see that their motormen shall be on the alert, not only at street crossings, but every where upon the tracks, to see that citizens where upon the tracks, to see that citizens are not run down and injured. When, there fore, a citizen attempts to cross a track, it is his duty, when he reaches it, to look in both directions for an approaching car and listen and his neglect to do so is negligence per

City Treasurer Bolln Starts After Some of Mr. Pullman's Cash.

MONEY AND NOT CARS WHAT IS WANTED

Notice Served on the Company's Local Agent to Turn Over All Coin of the Realm in His Possession to the City.

City Treasurer Bolln is determined to reover from Sir George Pullman the $16,000 in personal taxes which that king palace car owner has failed to your into the coffers of the treasurer. Yesterday Mr. Bolin buckled on his armor anew and went out in search of available property of the Pullman company pon which to levy. He was successful in his search, and his efforts were not unavail-

The following notice was served upon J. F. Richardson, the Omaha superintendent of the Pullman Palace Car company:

I beg to inform you that the taxes of the Pullman Palace Car company for the years 1886, 1887, 1888 and 1889 remain unpaid, and would call your attention to section 143 of chapter ixxvii of the compiled statutes of Nebraska for 1891, and in accordance with the same you are hereby requested to pay over all moneys now in your possession or moneys that may be reafter come into your hands benging to said company to the amount of the statement hereto attached, marked "Exhibit

You are further notified that on noncompliance with the above request you will be prosecuted according to law. HENRY BOLLN,

City Treasurer. Mr. Richardson Was Broke.

The notice was served late in the afternoon apon Mr. Richardson, who stated that he had already deposed of the moneys of the company. He promised to communicate by wire with his chiefs in Chicago and this morning will comply with the demands of the treasurer and said he would turn over to that official what money he has on hand. Treasurer Bolin is proceeding in strict accordance with the laws of the state and is acting upon the advice of Mr. Coanell.

The section referred to in the notice of the treasurer provides that notice may be served upon the agent or representative of any non resident corporation or company doing business in the county, and that money in the hands of such agent or representative may be garnisheed and must be turned into the hands of the treasurer to apply upon the payment of any delinquent taxes due the city. The failure or refusal of the agent to comply with the demands contained in such a notice is designated a misdemeanor, and is punishable by fine.

Summary Action May Be Taken. Superintendent Richardson will either turn over to Mr. Bolln moneys belonging to the company that he has in his possession or make himself liable to arrest. If he fails to do with the demand made upon yesterday the treasurer will proceed against him in the courts at once, and as the city is determined to collect the $10,000 back taxes from the Pullman company, it is probable that a very vigorous prosecution will follow a failure on Mr. Richardson's part.

For seven years the company has successfully dodged the payment of its taxes upon one pretext or another, and since 1887 it has been shielded by a temporary injunction granted by the federal court, and which for some reason was never heard. It remained untouched upon the calendar so many years that its presence became so offensive to Judge Dundy that he threw it overboard a few days ago. This left no barrier to the city proceeding in the collection of the taxes lue, and no time has been lost in pushing the claims and endeavoring to force the com-pany to make a settlement.

A few days ago Treasurer Bolln attached a Pullman dining car and a tourist car and is still holding them for the taxes. Unless the company pays the taxes within the next three days the trensurer will advertise the cars for sale and the proceeds will be ap-plied to the payment of the sum now due the city. The cash, however, is wanted if it can be gotten hold of.

Clever Coyotes.

Ben Curler relates that while out on his recent deer-hunting trip he witnessed the manner in which covotes catch a rabbit, says the Nevada State Journal. He was sitting on a pile reck overlooking a little valley possibl a mile across stalking a drove of deer which was expected to issue through a narrow ravine near by, when his attention was called to two little objects which dashed over the brow of the hill and into the valley nearly a mile away. Looking through his field glass he descried them to be coyotes in full chase of a jackrabbit. The rabbit was about fifty yards in the lead and was covering the earth as only a jackrabbit can, excepting a coyote.

By and by one of the coyotes laid down. The others followed the fleeing hare, and in the course of time succeeded in turning him back on his course toward, the one lying down. When the rabbit was quite close this one raised up and took up the chase, while the other laid down. The unfortunate rabbit was again successfully turned back, and the first coyote once more gave chase. The third time worked the charm, and bunny, conscious only of the foe pursuing, passed so near his crouching antagonist that he was seized.
