Rev. E. W. Allen, pastor of the Christian church, will commence a series of meetings next Sunday at the Masonic temple, and continue them throughout the week at the Congregational church. He will be assisted by R. M. Birdsall of Ohio, as leader of song. A question box will be conducted as a feature of the meetings. The supreme court has handed down a decision in the case of A. A. Hazard against the city of Council Bluffs, in which the plaintiff sues for $2,000 damages on account of the killing of a horse. The case was tried twice in the district court of Pottawattamic county, the first time resulting in a disagreement and the second in a verdict of $700 for the plaintiff. The city appealed to the su-preme court, which now upholds the verdict for the plaintiff.

The fire department was called out at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by an alarm from box 51, at the corner of Fifth avenue and Eighth street. A small cottage a few doors Eighth street. A small cottage a few doors east of Eighth street was on fire, the blaze having apparently been communicated to the roof from the kitchen chimney. It was extinguished without a great deal of damage, excepting that the rear of the house was badly scorched. Mrs. A. Darraugh owned the building, and it was occupied by a family named Taibot. a family named Talbot.

It is stated that Profs. Hopkins and McCoy, the weather prophets, have decided to aban-don the prophecy business and go into some other field, where genial and accomplished prevaracators have more chance for success. Yesterday, which Hopkins said would be the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer lacked twenty degrees of reaching the low weather mark, although overcoats were conaiderably too popular to suit McCoy's pre-diction that the weather would be warm. The weather clerk evidently had a streak of stubbornness come over him, and decided to arrange his own program for a change.

Editor Chase of the Atlantic Democrat was in the city yesterday making the rounds of the leading local politicians with the purpose in view of seeing what could be done to improve his chances for securing the postmastership at his town. "I was a candidate eight years ago," he said, "but got left be-cause I drank whisky. The Atlantic poli-ticians had their minds set on a man who drank more whisky than I did, and, as I could not raise my record, the other man got there. Now that I have quit drinking whisky entirely, I am going to try it again and ut present am very well satisfied with the prospects." Mr. Chase is very popular among the Council Bluffs people, and his success would give pleasure to a great many.

THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

One of the Members of the School Board Does a Little Talking.

ONE FEATURE OF THE FIGHT IN THAT BODY

Role Assumed by Mr. Wells in the Drama Now Being Presented to the Taxpayers Citizens Are Tiring of the Foss.

"There is one feature of the school board fight," said one of the republican members of the board yesterday, "that I think has never been referred to by any of the papers. in spite of the great interest they have shown. It would seem that the paper that dished up ten columns of truck two days in succession on the subject of the squabble might have found space for a little additional statement, but it didn't. The fact is, Mr. Wells, who is now posing as the friend of the mothers, has his eye on a place in congress and he is simply practicing his powers eloquence on us poor defenseless school ectors. Now Mr. Wells is over twenty-one and it doesn't seem to me that he has any right to make personal use of the public school advantages of Council Biuffs without paying regular tuition rates. Nevertheless, doing it right along."

The citizens and taxpayers are becoming heartily sick of the quarreling that has been going on in the board ever since last March. There are only two more meetings before the reorganization of the board will take place. and there is really only one at which there is likely to be a fight. At that meeting Mr. Wells, as chairman of the finance committee, will make his annual recommendation with reference to the size of the tax levy for the year 1894 and will also make the report, which Member Shubert was so anxious to have from him, as to why he neglected to remind the board when the time came for makmind the board when the time came for making the levy for the year 1893. His friends prophesy that in one or the other, or both, of these papers he will contrive it is some way to give his enemics one parting shot. Then he and President Waite will step out and give their places up to their successors, who are yet to be chosen. Who these suc-cessors will be is still a matter of great uncertainty. No names have been mentioned as possible candidates, and it is feared that there will be trouble in getting men who are willing to join a company of pugilists of the ability that the present members of the board have shown.

New Way of Checking. The Mitwaukee Railway company has adopted a new system for checking baggage which will be greatly appreciated by the traveling public. Hereafter when the ticket is purchased at the uptown office a check will be given the purchaser bearing a number and the name of the place to which the trunk or other baggage is to be sent. At the same time another check will be filled out with the name and residence of the passenger, the number of packages, the destina-tion, the time the train leaves, and the time when the wagon is to call. This check is also numbered, and has a coupen which will be forn off by the expressman when the trunk is delivered and retained until the first of the month, when he will check up with the company and get his pay for the work he has done. All the work will be done by one company, so that there will be no difficulty in keeping track of the pack ages, and each passenger will pay for the express when he buys his ticket, so that he will have no responsibility in the matter further than seeing that his trunk is put where the expressman can get it. scheme will do away with a great deal of in-convenience, and is so simple that the wonder is that it was never thought of be-

Dangerous Scrapping. James Eckart was brought before Justice Vien vesterday morning for a hearing on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder. The charge was preferred by J. L. Pettit, head brakeman on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, on which road Eckart is also employed as an engineer. According to the story, as it was told in the court room, the two men have had some trouble at in-tervals before. About a week ago Pettit tervals before. About a week ago Pettit tried to board Eckart's engine in the yards, in order to save himself a walk from the round house to the depot. As he caught hold of the engine he claims Eckart game him a push that sent him flying off the step and almost under the wheels. He reported the case to the officials and Eckart was discharged from the employ of the company. After thinking the matter over Pettit decided to have Eckart arrested, and he accordingly filled the information which resulted in yesterday's investigation. Eckart admitted pushing Pettit, but stated in self-defence that he had no intention of hurting him, and that he acted as he did only because he was mad at Pettit for coupling a locomotive to a train under which he was at locomotive to a train under which he was at work a short time before. The first information was consequently withdrawn and other one filed charging Eckart with as-

Frost's Free Bridge.

Is a penny saved a penny earned? Perhaps, sometimes. The recent disappearance of Robert Krenitz and the startling experience which befell himself has caused at least one experimenter to doubt the old conomist axiom. He had been in the habit of expending 1 cent a trip crossing the bridge to get to and from his work. When Jack Frost built his cy bridge in competition with the motor ompany, the thrifty workingman concluded to save his toll and walk over the free bridge He can save I cent twice a day. This would amount to 52 cents a month or over $6 a year. or what will be equal to having $150 in a savings bank giving him 4 per cent interest. In forty years he will save $240, which put at compound interest would—, and he started across the ice to save his first cent. started across the fee to save his first cent. About half way over the river his left leg suddenly went through a hole, and it was only by a lively scramble that he kept the other out. Drenched to the waist, he found himself like a half-done icicle by the time he reached the other shore. He saved his life and the penny, and had a two weeks' seige of rheumatism thrown in, together with a doctor's bill of $16 and the loss of two weeks time. When he got so he could two weeks time. When he got so he could limp across the river again he invested a penny instead of taking. Frost's free bridge.

Praising the Grand Hotel. The Grand hotel at Council Bluffs is without any exception the finest and best in every respect in Iowa," said Warren W. Wolfe, representing the Western Autographic Registry Co., of St. Paul, yesterday. "It is finer and better kept than the Savery of Des Moines and is out of sight above the Garretson of Sioux City. I had no idea there was such a hotel here, and when the traveling men generally find out what I have, there will be hundreds of them going out of their way to stop over Sunday.'

Stolen Sleds Recovered. A number of small boys living in the city have caused certain storekeepers considerable trouble lately by nipping sleds that had been put out in front of their places of business for advertising purposes. About a dozen have been taken in this way and the store keepers at last determined to put a stop to the business. They accordingly watched and at last succeeded in finding who was doing the sleight-of-hand work. A visit was paid to the houses of the boys and the sleds were all recovered. Mr. Potter at 318 Broadway, Cole & Cole and Mrs. Anderson were the merchants whose goods were stolen, while the names of the boys implicated were Utterback and Fuller, all of them belonging to well known families. They state that they are contented to have the sleds back and will not prosecute the Fire in an Express Office. There was a small fire at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in the rear room of the American Express company, at the corner of Broadway and Main street. A colored man who sleeps in the room, accidentally set fire to a curtain. Proceedings in the Legislature-A Lottery

Bill Passed. San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.-The steamship Mariposa arrived today from Australia and Honolulu, bringing news from the latter place that immediately after the departure of the steamer Australia, January 4, resolutions of want of confidence against the ministry were introduced in the legislature, taking everybody by surprise. Representa tive Bush, under suspension of the rules, presented the resolutions. They charged that the cabinet had done nothing to alleviate the financial distress and had shown a total want of competency, besides not representing the people at large.

Bush stated that he considered there should always be a fair representation of the Hawaiian people in the cabinet. The debate continued all the afternoon, ending by the ministry being sustained by a vote of 20 to 19

The legislature has passed a resolution providing that a committee of the Hawaiiar legislature be appointed by the queen to pro eed to Washington to obtain information as to the terms upon which closer commercial relations, mutually advantageous to the United States and Hawaii, could be established. The committee will consist of T. A. Thurston, T. W. Wilcox, J. N. A. Wahi, J. K.

The lottery bill, granting the privilege of maintaining a lottery to H. D. Cross of Chicago and others passed, but it is doubtful if the queen will sign the bill.

FIRE RECORD.

One Man Suffocated and Eight Others Narrowly Escape Death at Galesburg.

GALESBURG, Ill., Jan. 19.—The ice house of the Glenwood Ice company caught fire this morning. Swan Brown, one of the work men, was suffocated and eight others had a narrow escape. A large stock of apples belonging to Copeland & Martin of Burlington was badly damaged. LONDON, Jan. 19.—A lace factory at Likeston, Derbyshire, was damaged $200,000 by fire today. Sanrond, Me., Jan. 19.—A mill containing the weaving and dyeing departments of the Goodale Worsted company has been burned. Cause of fire unknown. Loss, $100,000; covered by insurance.

Why They Were Discharged.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 19.—Tonight the nominal cause of the recent discharges of operators on the Wabash line was learned. Shortly before the grievance committee went to St. Louis a letter was sent to every operator asking whether, in the event of trouble, he would stand by the Order of Railway Telegraphers or the company. Some of these letters were left unanswered and in every case the telegrapher dismissed has been one who failed to answer the letter. St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—General Manager Hayes of the Wabash states that the recent discharge of several operators has no connection whatever with the organization of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. He says the men were discharged for good reasons and not for the purpose of crippling the Order of Railway Telegraphers.

Texas' Lieutenant Governor. GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 19 .- During the holidays Governor Hogg visited south Texas on a fishing excursion and installed Lieutenant Governor Pendleton in his office. The question has since been raised as to the constitutionality of Pendleton's acts. The Texas constitution provides that the licutenant governor shall serve in case of the governor's disability or absence from the state, does not provide for the governor's mere absence from the seat of government The best constitutional lawyers think Lieutenant Governor Pendleton's acts are unconstitutional. Among other acts he par-doned several convicts and these cases are to

TO HAVE ANOTHER HEARING

Dan Coughlin, One of the Cronin Suspects, Granted a New Trial.

REASONS GIVEN FOR THE COURT'S ACTION

Two Jurors Sat in Trial on the Condemned Man Who Were Ineligible-It Means the Prisoner's Freedom-Coughlin Interviewed.

OTTAWA, Ill., Jan. 19 .- Daniel Coughlin, the only man living of the three who were sentenced to spend their lives within prison walls for the murder of Dr. Patrick Cronin. is probably a free man. The verdict which condemned him was today set aside and his case remanded for a new trial. Coughlin will now, in all probability, go free, because it will be practically impossible to convict him again.

The witness, Patrick Dinan, who swore that Coughlin hired from his livery stable the white horse which carried Cronin away to his death, died many months ago. His evidence was the main thing which led the ury to declare that Coughlin was guilty of conspiracy to murder.

Three of the four men who stood trie!
with Coughlin—John F. Beggs, Patrick
O'Sullivan and Martin Burke—are dead.
Kunze was to all intents and purposes acquitted and cannot be tried again. With all his alleged companions in the conspiracy out of the way the state's attorney declares he can hardly convict one man of conspiracy when a direct charge of murder was not proven against Coughlin in the first trial. This will probably end the legal chapter of the most sensational murder case the world has ever

The reversal is based principally on the meligibility of Boutecou and Clark, jurors. The justice shows by the examination of these two witnesses that they were prejudiced when summoned; the they had formed opinions, and that the court and atterneys were, to all appearances, grossly carcless. The two jurors were brought into court on a special yenire and specially appointed by the trial court for the purpose

At the time they were called and examined is jurers, Coughlin had exhausted the number of peremptory challenges allowed by law and could do no more than aver his objec-tions to the citation of the two men as urors. When Boutecou was examined by he counsel for the defense he testified he had read newspaper accounts of the crime and had an opinion as to the guilt of Cough-lin, Burke and O'Sullivan, but that his opinion would not prevent him from being n impartial juror.

Boutecou testified that he entertained a strong prejudice against the Clan-na-Gael and would refuse to believe them under oath and most of the witnesses were members of that body.

Clark testified he had an opinion as to the guilt of the accysed, but he could render an impartial verdict. He admitted that he had requently expressed an opinion as to the rull of the accused an I said that he enterained a prejudice against the Clan-na-Gael The supreme court declares that the de-fendant had a right to a fair and impartial trial, and it was evident that he could not have had such a trial when two of the men who condemned him had admitted before the trial that they were prejudiced against him and against the men who gave the bulk of the testimony introduced in his behalf.

Two of the justices, Schofield and Marruder, dissented. Jouer, Ill., Jan. 19.—Daniel Coughlin was seen in the penitentiary tonight, and to say that he is a happy man is expressing it mildly. He is now confident of his ul-timate freedom, because, as he expressed it, the people have cooled down and I will get trial, and that means I will free man. Public opinion was too strong against us for an acquittal before. I am an innocent man and have been wrongly punished, for I know, nothing whatever about the nurder of Dr. Cronin. I had nothing to do with it, and do not know who did the job. That is all I can say now."

SHUT OFF BY ICE.

Nantucket Islanders Prevented from Obtaining Food and Other Supplies.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 19.- [Special elegram to THE BEE. - For the last three days the steamer which carries supplies to the 1,500 people living on the island of Nantucket has been unable to reach the island owing to the difficulty of breaking through the vast ice floes which are between the mainland and the island. When the steamer last touched at Nantucket the people there had scanty supplies of provisions and fears are entertained that there may be much suffering before communication the island can be resumed.

An effort was made tonight to get a tug across from Woods Hole, but it was unsuccessful. The tug returned at 11 o'clock and reported that it was impossible to get through the ice, and it would probably take three days to effect a passage. In the mean-time the people on the island will be brought to an extremity. Efforts will be resumed in the morning to reach the island.

Midway between the island and the main and is a channel filled with floating ice. On each bank the ice is insecure, so that pas-sage over on the ice is impossible.

LIKELY TO ESCAPE.

No Jury Can Be Secured to Try the Wyoming Cattlemen. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 19.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Up to date there have been 909 talesmen examined for jurors in the cattlemen's case, and the prospect of securing a jury is as far off as ever. Johnson county men who are in the city assert that the trial will be pushed to the bitter end, but the probability is that the case will never be tried. At the present rate nearly 5,000 talesmen will have to be examined before a jury can be gotten, and there are not half that number in the county. If a jury cannot be secured the case will be thrown out of court and the men released.

Only a Fake,

When General Butler visited San Francisco a decade or more ago, says the Examiner, a great crowd collected at the ferry landing to see and cheer him. As the people trooped off the boat the general walked quickly through the craning, cheering throng, entered a hack and was driven to Market street, followed by the throng. He left the hack at the Palace hotel, where his hand was reached for right and left by men who said:

"General, I was with you at Peters-"I remember you from the days at

"I was under you before Fort Fisher. He walked, nodding affably to right and left, to a cheap clothing store, and there appearing upon a balcony began a harangue with:
