

TERMS OF RAILROAD PEACE

Severe Penalties Designed to Make Western Roads Act Square.

REDUCTION MADE TO HELP THE CUDAHYS

Sioux City's New Rate to Kansas City on Cured Meats Will Not Affect Omaha—Effect of Proposed Cattle Rate.

News of the settlement of the western passenger rate war was received by wire several days ago, but the details of the agreement were not made known.

The compact prescribes penalties for the violation of the several articles which suggest the "boiling oil" and "melted lead" of Mr. Sullivan's "Mikado," and ticket agents of connecting lines have, since the issuance of the agreement, "limbered deaths" constantly before them.

The B. & N. is permitted to give the first complete review of the agreement which is signed by the Rio Grande Western, Denver & Rio Grande, Colorado & Midland, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Burlington & Missouri River, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific.

Article I provides that agreed rates shall mean all rates named in the Utah joint rate sheet, and further says: "All rates, the sum of any two or more local or through rates quoted in any local or through tariff in one ticket is sold, provided such rates are not less than quoted in Utah joint rate sheet, and all rates mutually agreed upon and understood between the lines of parties thereto."

Article II provides for a deviation from agreed rates and attaches penalties therefore. "Any ticket sold at less than agreed rates or with excessive limits, or in violation of any of the rules of the Utah joint rate sheet, or in violation of any part of this agreement, must be returned to the sender at the rate by which it was sold, and then follows a penalty for the violation of the article.

Article III relates to commissions, rebates, etc., to be paid on tickets, and prohibits any agent or his representative from delivering a railroad ticket to any ticket broker's office or for any agent or his representative to go to any ticket broker's office to obtain or to witness the signature to a ticket, which must be made in the office at which it is purchased.

Article IV prohibits the issuance of passes or free or reduced fares to any person, and Article V relates to the checking of baggage.

Article VI has reference to the signatures and delivery of tickets and prohibits any agent or his representative from delivering a railroad ticket to any ticket broker's office or for any agent or his representative to go to any ticket broker's office to obtain or to witness the signature to a ticket, which must be made in the office at which it is purchased.

Article VII deals with placing the return coupons of Utah excursion or round-trip tickets on the market.

Article VIII speaks of the redemption of tickets sold at Montana points, found disturbing eastbound rates from Utah common points. This was one reason for the recent rate war, tickets from Helena being dumped into Salt Lake and Ogden and scuttled at these points.

Article IX prohibits the division of commissions between agents and passengers, one of the evils which railroads must forever take into consideration.

Article X relates to the redemption of tickets purchased to test the market.

Article XI prohibits the absorption of local fares, a form of double dealing which, while considered very unprofessional, is not practiced by competing lines. The article reads as follows: "It is further agreed that none of the lines parties hereto will refund local fares from any point to Utah common points to secure the sale of tickets from Utah common points." This article may be best explained by an illustration.

A is a point on a line of railroad two miles from B, which is a junction point where two lines compete for business. One railroad says to a tourist, "your fare from A to B and buy a ticket over our road to your destination and we will refund you the fare paid from A to B." That is known in railroad parlance as "absorption."

Article XII relates to the redemption and payment of penalties, article XIII to notice of violation and article XIV the length of time covered by the agreement, which went into effect at midnight of Tuesday, February 7, 1893, and shall continue in full force and effect until such date subject, however, to a ten days written notice of withdrawal of any line party thereto.

MEAT AND CATTLE RATES.

An Expert's Opinion of Changes Made and Proposed.

Mr. R. C. Morehouse, general freight agent of the Elkhorn, in speaking this morning of the action taken yesterday by the rate committee of the west of the Missouri freight rate committee in reducing the rate per hundred on packing house product from Sioux City to Kansas City, said: "The reduction will in no way affect the interests of Omaha, nor would the Elkhorn be a party to anything that would seriously handicap Omaha's interests. Nor would the Cudahys do anything to embarrass the metropolis of Nebraska, for they realize what a future she has, and their interests are purely Omaha interests. The reduction in the rate was made to give another market to Sioux City packers for their goods, and to give the hams, the Cudahys' not having facilities to cure their own meats at the Sioux City plant, it will not alter in a single degree the relative standing of the two points on the Missouri river, for Omaha is too far ahead of Sioux City to even fear a rival in that direction."

Speaking of Mr. Skinner's scheme to divide the territory between Kansas City and Omaha, Mr. Morehouse said: "We are in favor of it because it is manifestly just, but I am afraid of the future should it be authorized by the committee. While it would greatly benefit Omaha at present, what it would do to Omaha in the future is very near future and demanding a careful study on the part of Omaha and Kansas City. Should she do this it could affect the entire northern portion of Nebraska, which, while at present not sending many hogs to market, is rapidly growing into importance. These people, who now ship to Omaha, would naturally ship to Sioux City and thereby greatly lessen South Omaha receipts. All the phases of the question should be examined into before final action is taken."

Mr. R. R. Ritchie is in Chicago. Mr. E. Dickinson, general manager of the Union Pacific, has returned from his trip south.

The Adams Express company has moved into its new quarters in the store recently occupied by Raley, the druggist.

Charles Hunter, contracting freight agent of the Rock Island, is in Omaha, representing D. M. Steele & Co. went to Des Moines last night to meet a special special train loaded with sugar which will be delivered to D. M. Steele & Co. in this city this evening.

One of the largest of these excursions was a recent one from different points in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Wisconsin. These visitors from the outside world result in a steadily increasing number of healthy industries, which fact proves the real resources of this, the coming industrial city of the Gulf.

FIGHTING FOR A FORTUNE

Suing for a Quarter Section Near Hanscom Park.

BECOME VALUABLE RESIDENCE PROPERTY

Interesting Story of a Musty Case—Tom Murray Given Another Shy at His White Alley—Suing the City.

Judge Howpwell of the district court yesterday began the hearing of an action that has been in the courts for years and become a veteran. The suit is one of those vexatious questions of real estate title and it is of much interest because it involves land which has been platted into city lots in Omaha and become very valuable.

If the pleadings in the case tell the truth, and it is presumed that they do, as long ago as the year 1856 August Graeter moved from the state of Ohio and settled in Omaha. Shortly after his arrival he preempted a quarter section of government land west of Hanscom park, where he resided for a year or two. After preforming the title as to the story goes, he sold his possessions to his son, a young man who bore the same name, with "A." attached, and then returned to Ohio, where he died during the year 1883.

During his residence in Omaha the elder Graeter had contracted some debts, which he forgot to settle before he left the city, and the creditors, thinking a bird in the hand was worth several in the bush, quietly levied upon this particular tract of land. On November 1, 1886, on a judgment for $1,615 in favor of A. F. Dawkins, the property was sold by Sheriff Hillebrand, and it was sold to the purchaser, a year or so later Henry Grebe, who had succeeded to the sheriff's office, but he thinking that the purchase was any snip Mr. Woodworth sold to Robert K. Woods, who in turn sold to some other party. After that there were numerous sales of the property becoming the hands of Griffin & Smith, who platted an addition, which is now one of the fashionable residence portions of the city.

Three years ago the property belonging to Graeter appeared upon the scene to contest the title which the purchasers held. They went into the courts and there alleged that there never was a deed of conveyance against the dead Graeter; that there was no sheriff's sale and that the whole transaction was a scheme to defraud. The court decided that the property was left by their departed relative. It was regarded as a big and bold bluff, but to avoid suits some of the lot purchasers, who had secured quiet claim deeds, while others refused to come to terms and went into court. After that there was a lively fight, the case going from court to court, and the lot purchasers coming out several lengths ahead.

Three years ago the heirs appealed to the supreme court on the particular suits which had been won by W. J. Connell and Rebecca White. After a long and weary battle the judgment of the lower court was reversed and the case remanded for trial. Since then it has been hanging fire until yesterday when it was reached and all of the points are being brought to the attention of the court.

TOM'S TROUBLE.

The Harney Street Millionaire's Conduct Again Before a Jury.

Thomas Murray may furnish a morsel for gossip by turning a thrifty penny on a second hand coffin and he may defy public opinion by maintaining a row of ramshackle hovels within halting distance of his palatial hotel, but the charges are that he has his share of human frailties in spite of his apparent indifference to conventional ideas. At any rate his quondam housekeeper, Amanda Garlick, has convinced two juries that probability and is now trying it a third time.

It was just two years ago that the woman brought the suit. In her petition she pleaded in her petition now the same allegations appear. She avers that during the fall and winter of 1889 she was Murray's housekeeper, looking after the domestic affairs of the houses in poverty row, as the Harney street houses are known. Then under oath she declares that during the summer of 1891 she was employed by Murray as his housekeeper, and that during the Christmas of the year above mentioned, when everything was quiet and she was wrapped in the slumbers of the just, Murray hid himself from his own bed and approached her room, forced the door open and attempted to commit an assault. In laying the foundation for damages she avers that the acts of the gay old millionaire caused her to suffer a great shame, humiliation, mortification and distress of mind.

The first time the woman tried the woman recovered damages in the sum of $500, but Murray thinking that it was better to fee his lawyers than to pay the judgment, moved for a new trial, which was granted and last February the case went before another jury and again Amanda succeeded in getting a verdict for $500. Murray was not satisfied with that and at once he tried that he would try the law the third and last time. He hunted up more testimony and upon making a showing that he had newly discovered evidence, he was given another opportunity to vindicate his name. Yesterday he was before Judge Scott, trying to do that very same thing.

Old Claim for Damages.

Walter Brandes is the plaintiff in a peculiar suit on trial before Judge O'Connell, in which he demands damages of the city to the amount of $1,000. He was ordered in a saloon on Tenth street when the construction of the viaduct was begun. That work reduced his business and he moved out. But in a demand for damages, the council, but it was ignored, and then he went into court.

Pneumonia.

At no time in the history of the country has pneumonia been so prevalent as during the winter months of the last two years. In times past a common cold was considered at all serious, but of late years the great volume of colds to result in pneumonia has made people apprehensive. The trouble is that colds are not always properly treated. No preparation containing opium, wild cherry or chloroform should be used, as they have a tendency to dry up a cold, whereas it should be loosened and the lungs relieved. It has been observed that when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the cold never results in pneumonia, the reason is that this remedy stimulates the mucous membrane which lines the throat and lungs to a healthy action, causes free expectoration, throwing off the poisonous matter, and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. PASSENGER AGENT TOOKER.

It is one of the most painful diseases, and until the recent discovery of Prof. Phelps of Dartmouth College, was considered almost always incurable.

Mr. Tooker's experience was very much, like that of scores of people in probably every town large enough to have a drug store.

"For two years," says Mr. Tooker, "I suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble, for which I tried various remedies with no success. A clergyman advised me to try Paine's celery compound. I did so, and was surprised at the effect. After taking one bottle I was entirely relieved. I have taken two bottles and am cured."

As a well-known and conservative physician in Omaha has said, "Paine's celery compound is generally considered a certain specific for the cure of rheumatism, and so much better results are obtained from it than from all the usual remedies that it has become a regular prescription among the most eminent practitioners. I prescribe it regularly and believe that every rheumatic victim should use it."

Several years ago, Mr. Tooker was a sufferer from that very common complaint, rheumatism, which has been notably prevented for the last few years. As every one knows,
