Pork Broke Nearly One Dollar Per Barrel Early Yesterday.

FEW OUTSIDE ORDERS WERE RECEIVED

Corn Was Supported by Some Covering by the Shorts - Wheat Trading Was of a Restricted Character-Stocks and Bonds.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24. A break of nearly $1 per barrel took place today in the price of pork. From $19.10, last night's closing figures. the market foll to $18.2214, closing at $18.25. The speculative branch of the trade has been in the hands of scalpers for several days, no outside orders having been received. The big plungers took advantage of this condition of things and organized a victous raid. They found the market poorly supported, and pressed their advantage with vigor, bringing out a lot of property on stop loss orders and precipitating a violent flurry. The closing price marks a decline of $2 a barrel in pork from the outside price made on the recent advance. The slump was a Board of Trade affair entirely, the hog market at the stock yards feeling the effects of the raid only slightly. It was looked upon by many as the long looked for beginning of the end of the buil campaign in provisions. Compared with yesterday's closing prices, the May deliveries are 20c off for lard and ribs tonight, and wheat from Me to Me

Decidedly Bearish Sentiment Existed in

ing, but as the day developed there was a ma-terial change in this respect, and, while resistance was given to the declines in the leading weak stocks, the market as a whole again showed a disposition to break away from the influence of these stocks, as their movements were the result of special causes and not justified by the recent situation. The outgo of gold for tomorrow was reduced o a mere nominal sum, and money was decidedly easier than for some time before the holiday. While little attention was paid to these influences, they evidently had their full effect, and a weak, feverish and unsettled peculation was changed into a strong one. Reading and its affairs occupied still the prominent position on the street, but there was a decidedly weak feeling and although the transactions in Reading were still large, the 14 per cent. It was somewhat handleaped, however, by the course of its ally, New En- gland. The bears found this stock an easy prey, and undoubtedly heavy liquidation was performed, while the bears uncovered stop orders continuously and from 37 last evening, it declined to 284 with hardly a rally worthy of the name and finally closed at 29 with a net loss of 8 per cent. Rumors of the worst kind were persistently circulated and the chief of these was that the roads would certainly go into the hands of a receiver while at one time it was said on the board that Mr. Parson's had actually been appointed. An emphatic denial was received from Bos- ton and one of the directors who had recently presigned said that no receiver could be ap- pointed when the road was not in debt and he knew of his knowledge that no obligation which could not be immediately provided for the decline was not checked and the stock closed weak.
