Defeat of the Anti-Options Bill Had Little Effect.

NO INTEREST IN THE WHEAT MARKET

Late in the Season of the Board Some Strength Developed in That Cereal but no Enthusiasm Was Manifested.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 1.—Bulleins of the progress of the anti-option fight were constantly posted on change today and the crowd surrounding them was lighter than the crowd in the wheat pit. The defeat of the bill seemed to be expected so generally that the announcement of the result had little effect on the market. The season produced only a fractional upward flutter in prices from the bottom figure of the day. Meanwhile trade had been dull, with no interest in the wheat market. Provisions show slight gains for pork, lard and beef ribs. The wheat market was a waiting one, operators being indispensed to trade actively, owing to the uncertainty regarding the action of congress. When the news arrived that the bill had been defeated the market showed strength, but failed to create much enthusiasm. Besides the anti-option bill, there was more than the usual number of crop reports from nearly all parts of the winter wheat regions, particularly from Illinois and northwestern territory. These reports were also pessimistic, showing a decline in the yield of wheat. At the opening, considerable miscellaneous selling was indulged in, and prices after the advance declined very much. On the other hand, the market was quiet and narrow and for the most part it was influenced by puts and calls. Prices kept within the range of last night's closing.

Table with columns: WHEAT, CORN, OATS, RYE, BARLEY, and various grades. Includes prices for different varieties and quantities.
