CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Not Quite So Much Activity in Jobbing Circles as Last Month.

COMPLAINING OF SLOW COLLECTIONS

Cold Weather Delays the Movement of Spring Goods Both in a Wholesale and Retall Way-Manufacturers Wide Awake-Bank Clearings.

The lobbing trade of Omaha is fair, but it is not as active as it was a month ago. There is no cause for complaint, however, as the present situation is due to natural causes that will right themselves in the near future. The trade in winter goods is over, and as jobbers look back upon the results of their winter's work they express themselves as fully satisfied with the progress made. They are now looking forward to the spring and summer trade, and it is this trade that is lacking in activity just at

If the movement in spring and summer goods was active at the present time it would be a surprise to jobbers as no one expects to see a large demand for such goods with the weather as cold as it has been so far this season. No one can expect a retail dealer to buy freely of linen dusters and palm leaf fans when the weather is cold enough to freeze the marrow in his bones. Of course merchants realize that there is likely to be a warm spell a little later in the spring, and they prepare for it in a measure, but there can be little enthusiasm in the trade until the weather turns a little trade until the weather turns a little warmer and thaws out their blood.

Last year the jobbers generally exper-ienced a pretty good trade in March, as the weather was warm and pleasant the greater part of the time. Later came the steady rains of April and May which at first affected trade by keeping farmers at home and later through the fear that the late spring was endangering the corn crop. The coming of warmer weather and the been very large during the past week as might be expected from the state of the weather. It has been too cold for the sale of spring goods and too late in the season for winter goods to move freely. At the same time business has been fully up to what the retail dealers have reason to expect under the circumstances. Everything would seem to indicate that there will be a good spring sequently, retail dealers are generally hope ful and encouraged at the outlook.

The season for cutting ice is over and the crop has been a very large one owing to the continued cold weather. For the same rea-son the quality of the ice is generally good, being clear and solid. Dealers say that the consumption of ice is increasing in Omaha. Hundreds of families that regarded ice as a lux-ury five years ago now look upon it as one of the necessities of life. Every prosperous family now expects to receive a daily reminder of winter all through the summer in the shape of a block of ice. Prices to families bid fair to be the same

AS DUN SEES IT.

Omaha's Experience with February for the Last Two Years Compared. Mr. W. H. Roberson, Omaha manager of

R. G. Dun & Co., reviewing local trade says: "February, 1892, was a great month in nearly every line of wholesale trade in Omaha. The crop of 1891 was good, and reccipts from sales came in largely during the winter months, up to and including February. As a consequence trade was active. This explains why a large number of local houses find totals for 1892 equal to and in some instances ahead of the month just passed. Nevertheless, trade has been good, with one or two exceptions, in every line. As an indication of the way sales have line. As an indication of the way sales have been running, one house reports an even $500 short, another $1,000, and another an increase of 10 per cent, and a fourth an increase of $14,000, and one of the largest houses admits a considerable falling off. Collections have not been up to the standard, and in explanation of this it is said by wrain declaration. planation of this it is said by grain dealers that a very large proportion of the crop is still in the granaries waiting for a better

In discussing the grain situation a dealer says that he has never in his experience known farmers in Nebraska to be in such good condition to hold their product for an advance in price. The country banks are drawing heavily on account of this, and Omaha bankers without exception report the demand for money more than usually active. As a consequence interest rates are stiffen-ing somewhat, and bankers are not so anxious to put out money that they will accept anything below ruling rates even for the best of loans. Speaking in detail of trade it may be said that the hardware men report a gain of from 10 to 25 per cent. One heavy hardware dealer puts February of this year fully 50 per cent ahead of last. In the hat trade the year shows quite a heavy gain, but February itself contributes very little to this gain. In clothing January was a large month and Fobruary rather lighter. In dry goods a very small gain is reported over last year. In groceries trade has more than held its own. In har-ness and saddlery one dealer re-ports his trade away ahead of a year ago, and another states that it has barely held its own. In liquors, dealers say that collections are bad, though the demand for goods is atrong. The retail inquor men have recovered from the pressure incident to pay-recovered from the pressure. Lumbermen are ing their annual license. Lumbermen are surprised at the midwinter demand for iumser and are anticipating a very heavy trade when spring opens.

In retail circles trade has been only fair. the special sales continue to be the drawing pard and there is comparatively little legitimate trade except among dealers who handle the necessaries of life. "Real estate is simply flat, as would naturally be expected at this time of the year. The fling of conveyances to a large tract of East Omaha property swells the volume of real estate saies, but is really the completion of a deal commenced months ago and therefore the total of sales for the week cannot be taken as an indication of an improvement in the real estate market.

"Reports from the interior of the state indicate a large demand for farm lands. It appears certain now that the opening of spring will see a genuine rush of home seekers to Nebraska. Already there has been a marked advance in prices in all the eastern counties of the state.

"It is expected that within ten days plans be bought of a local house. The Manufacfor the new Fifteenth street fire-proof hotel will be completed and within three or four weeks contracts for the building will be awarded. The capitalists engaged in this enterprise promise that the work will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground."

The manufacturers of Lincoln, at a local meeting held there, passed the following resolutions: Resolved, That the thanks of the members of the association residing in Lincoln be tendered to Secretary Holmes for the able and efficient manner in which he managed the carnival held from the 20th to the 25th mst., inclusive, under the auspices of the Manufacturers and Consumers association of the state. Also, Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the president of the association.

President Page is very anxious to have the flour men of Nebraska make a great showing at the coming exposition, as he believes that the possibilities for that branch of manufacture in this state are almost unlimited, if the millers can only command the attention of the people and get them to try the home product. There are a good many millers in the association, and with a little effort on their part the exhibit of mill stuffs may be le a leading feature of the exposition. It fact conceded by every one who has made a careful investigation of the subject that Nebraska mills are making flour that is equal to the best Minneapolis, and it only remains for the millers of this state to in-duce more people to investigate the subject.

The effect of water power on real estate values is aptly illustrated at Buffalo, near the location of the terminus of the great Niagara water power, where property has advanced in value from 500 to 1,000 per cent. whole farms having been sold at prices rang-ing as high as $1,500 per acre. If the Platte River Canal company carry out their project of bringing the water from the Platte river to a point just west of this city, for the purto a point just west of this city, for the pur-pose of furnishing a water power for Omaha, double the capacity of the falls at Minne-apolis and greater than any other power in the country outside of Niagara, the real estate market will be vastly benefited and the owners of land west of this city are apt to realize big returns from their holdings. This is the natural result of any move that tends to increase the manufacturing intertends to increase the manufacturing inter-

The Manufacturers carnival at Lincoln re-The Manufacturers carnival at Lincoln resulted in a profit of about $350, which has been turned over to the Women's Christian association of Lincoln, to be used for charitable purposes. Secretary Holmes has returned from Lincoln and is highly pleased with the results of the efforts put forth there. The carnival brought the manufacturers of the city together and made them acquainted and mutually interested in each other's prosmutually interested in each other's pros-perity. The visit of the Omaha manufacturers contributed much toward wiping out all vestige of that old feeling of prejudice between Omaha and Lincoln. Lincoln now has one-third as many members in the Manufacturers association as Omaha and proposes to take an active interest mits management. The consumers of Lincoln have been aroused and are taking a good deal of interest in the home patronage movement.

George H. Bowring, cashier of the Stuart State bank of Stuart, Neb., writes to The Bne as follows: I noticed in your daily of a few days ago a lengthy article headed. "A Train Load of Flour from Minneapolis for Omaha." It occurred to me that if it had read, a train load of Nebraska flour for Omaha, it would have been more in keeping with the idea Omaha wholesalers have been trying to impress upon Nebraska people, viz: "Patronize home industries." All over this fair state of ours are hundreds of mills that can make flour equal to Minnesota's best idle, for the simple reason that Nakasha ville. simple reason that Nebraska will not use their flour. What builds up Omaha! Is it the cities of Minnesota and Iowa or the towns and hamlets of Nebraska and the towns and hamlets of Nebraska and the country west of Omaha! The purchase of all the flour used in Omaha, Lincoln and other large cities of Nebraska from the mills of Nebraska would put that class of business men on a financial footing that they have not enjoyed for years. In place of wheat being shipped out of our state it would be ground how thus giving among the ground here, thus giving employment to many more people within our borders. The people of Nebraska are not obliged to purchase their dry goods and groceries in Omaha and will very soon begin to buy their goods where Omaha buys her flour. If "pat-ronize home industries" is good for Omaha it applies with equal weight to the whole state. We take pride in helping to build you up. In the name of humanity and for the good of your state return the compliment. The request of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of Omaha that the board be authorized to buy 3,000 feet of hose for the fire department has brought up another phase of the home patronage ques tion. There are in Omaha six large jobb houses that handle fire hose, and it is pos-sible to buy almost any kind of hose that is wanted in this city. At the same time the board of commissioners have made it a practice to give the orders to Chicago houses. "Omaha has bought thousands of feet of hose," said the head of a local jobbing house, "during the past few years, but Omaha jobbers have never been given a chance to furnish any of it. It is not a question of price, as hose is sold at one price the country over, and it is not a question of quality, as any kind that is desired can be obtained from some one of the nouses in Omaha. I do not ask that the order be given to our house, but I think we have a right to demand that it be given to some Omaha house instead of being sent to Chicage. Omain jobbers help to pay for the hose, and if they will furnish the same hose, at the same money, as they would be glad to do, they ought to have the order. Three or four years ago I believe a local house was given an order for 500 feet out of some 3 on the careful of the order. 500 feet, out of some 3,000 that was bought at that time, and, to the best of my recollection, that is the only order placed in Omaha. Since that time the city has bought thousands of feet of hose in Chicago. Do not misunderstand the situation; there are no bids called for, but the commissioners simply meet and vote to give some house the order for supplying the hose at the market price. Omaha jobbers have tried their best to get these orders, but have failed." It has been suggested that the council in authorizing the purchase of hose should stipulate that it subject does not properly belong to the work of the association. However, it is understood that the association will look into the question carefully and if they can do so con-sistently a vigorous protest will be entered against the action of the commissioners in giving the preference to Chicago houses If there is an institution in the city that is rightly named it is the Model Steam Laun-dry at 1110 and 1112 Dodge street, which is certainly a model in every respect. The management has followed the policy of keeping abreast of the times by putting in all the latest machinery and appliances. As fast as improved methods are perfected they are adopted by the Model and the older machinery and appliance of the control of t ery is thrown out. In the way of re-cent improvements at the Model, attention might be called to their new 125-horse newer boiler made by Wilson & Drake of this city. which is pronounced by the boller inspector to be the finest in the city and which gives them a total of 200-horse power. The Model has also put in three duplex mangles at a cost of $2,000 each to replace the smaller ones formerly used. Then there are four new and improved brass washers in the place of the old wooden machines, making sixteen washing machines in all, the largest having a are also new shirt and collar froners, starchers, etc. The Model has put in $8.000 of new machinery during the past few months. With such an equipment of new machinery in addition to their al-ready large plant the Model can justly claim to be one of the largest and finest laun-dries in the country. No city can show a better establishment. This being the case there is not the shadow of an excuse for the action of those citizens who are in the habit of giving their laundry work to people who send it to other cities to be done. The Model is prepared to handle all the work that the citizens of Omaha can furnish. They make a specialty of fine custom work, such as shirts, collars, etc., and also of hotel table and bed linen, etc. At the present time, the Model employs fifty-five people, and will add to the force as soon as the weather opens up.

Hogs—The course of hog values the past week has been almost steadily upward, and the week closes with prices 300 higher than the close of last week, although 300 to 400 lowers than the high point two weeks 320. Apparently receipts have cut very little figure in the market, her prices fluctuating with the fluctuations in value of the her products on the Board of Trade There is no noticeable change in the smartain, the certainty of continued short supplies for some months being assured. The effect of this shortage on the manufacture is well known, but what influence this will exert on prices remains to be seen.

cace this will exert on prices remains to be seen.

The Cincinnatt Price Current says: "The winter packing season has closed with a shortage in number of hogs greater than was generally looked for as late as the 1st of January. Exact figures cannot be stated at this time, but the final returns are not likely to vary much from 4.675,000 hogs. This compares with 7.680,000 hast year, huplying a decrease of approximately 5.085,030, with aise a decided reduction in average weight. But once in twenty years has the winter packing at Chicago been so small as this season. At St. Lonis it has not been so small as the season. At St. Lonis it has not been so small as the season. At St. Lonis it has not been so small since 1850; at Milwanker, since 1896; at Indianapot's, since 1873; at Kansas City, since issa, at Chemmati, since 1845."

The market today was active and be to fochigher than Friday, the advance being greatest on the best hogs. Local houses, shippers and speculators all wanted hogs, and as the supply was rather limited and eastern advices favorable, the market was briss, from the start Good to choice butcher weight and heavy looks of the season.

Can't Catch a Yankee Boy.

Buffalo News: You can never catch a Yankee boy, says ex-Judge Howland in an after-dinner story. You never can corner him. A gentleman traveling in the country at Stoddard, N. H., where it is all rocks and bowlders and abandoned farms, the old farm houses going to ruin, saw a boy of 12 or 14 hoeing in a corn field on the side of what would be pasture land on anyone else's farm. The corn was rather poor looking. The traveler resned in his horse and spoke to the boy. He said to him: "Your corn is tather small."

"Well," said the boy, "we planted dwarf.corn. 'Well, it looks yellow, poor and thin."

"Well, we planted yellow corn."
"Well," said the traveler, "I don't mean that. It don't look as if you would get more than half a crop."
"I don't expect to. I planted it on shares."
