IN THE SENATE

Unsuccessful Attempt to Settle the Question of Extra Pay for Employes. LINCOLN, Neb., March 15 .- [Special to THE BEE |-Today was the fifty-second day of the session as far as the senate was concerned, and it was given up largely to routine work. The committees are digesting bills at a lively rate, and a large proportion of the measures introduced during the first forty days of the session have either been placed on the general file or indefinitely postponed. This morning another large batch of bills was reported and placed on the general file.

The committee on engrossed and enrolled bilis reported that senate file No. 127, embodying the amendments to the Omaha charter, had been correctly engrossed.

The old wrangle over the payment of extra time to employes came up. It seems that the secretary and his assistants have been drawing double pay for the most of the days the senate has been in session, and single pay for the days when the senate was ot in session, including Sundays. The enators on the republican side have tried all through the session to fix the rule that an emiloye should receive but one day's pay for one day's work.

Senator Darner seemed to voice the sentiments of the independent senators this morning. He asserted that if employes wanted to put in bills for extra time and swear to the same, the senate could do nothing but allow the claims. The only protection the senate had was in the honesty of

Will Work No Extra Time. Senator Stewart brought out his favorite resolution providing for daily sessions to commence at 9 o'clock in the morning. Senator Graham met it with a motion to lay the resolution on the table. The senate re-fused to have it that way, however, and the motion to table was lest. The resolution was then placed on its passage, but as it made a change in the standing rules of the

made a change in the standing rules of the senate it failed to receive a two-thirds majority and was declared lost.

Senator Gray precipitated another discussion on the employes question by offering a resolution to the effect that if employes had been allowed pay for Sunday work the amount should be deducted from the amount yet due them. After another half hour spent in fruitless discussion the whole matter was laid on the table.

The senate then took a recess until 2:30

The senate then took a recess until 2:30 When the senate reconvened after noon the regular order of business was taken up and a number of house rolls were read the first and second times and referred to appropriate committees.

Senate file No. 228, by Lowley, also amending the criminal code in the same manner.

Passed the Charter Bill, At 3:15 the senate took up senate file No. 127, the bill containing the amendments to the Omaha charter, and the secretaries began the monotonous task of reading the It required one hour and thirty-five minutes to read the bill. It was placed on its passage and received thirty-two votes and the president declared it passed with the nergency clause.

The senate then went into committee of the whole to consider senate files Nos. 210, 62 and 73, with Senator Mullen in the chair. Senate file No. 210 was first taken up. It was introduced by Senator Smith and provides that articles of incorporation of street. railways must contain a list of the termini of the proposed line and must designate the street or streets through which the lines are to be run. The but length of the line on any one street to five miles. One provision of the bill prevents any city from granting a franchise to two or more companies to operate a line on any one street and prohibits more than one line of street railway from being constructed on one

The latter provision met with the opposition of Senators Tefft and Mattes, and the former moved that it be stricken out. Both claimed that the effect of the provisions would be to give exclusive franchises to great monopolies. The committee rose with-out action on the bill at 6 o'clock, asking leave to sit again.

The senate then adjourned, after declining to report on a couple of bills from the finance mittee, one of them being the World's

NEW RATES FOR NEBRASKA

Figures on Freight Charges Provided For by the House Committee Bill.

COMPARED WITH THE IOWA SCHEDULE

Tables that Show Exactly the Difference Between the Charges in the Hawkeye State and Those Proposed for

Nebraska by the Bill,

The Nebraska house of representatives more than a week ago passed a maximum freight rate bill. The scrate is now consid-

THE BEE presents the following tables of figures showing the rates proposed by the house bill as compared with Iowa rates put in force the 1st inst. by the board of railway commissioners on like commodities for given distances.

It will be observed that the lowa short haul rates are slightly higher than those contemplated by the house bill up to a distance of twenty-five miles. On greater distances the proposed Nebraska rates are uniformly from 20 to 25 per cent nigher than existing lowa rates. When the house committee framed the maximum bill a uniform reduction on existing Nebraska rates was made. The figures presented below will show the exact proportion of the proposed rates to the rates of Iowa up to a distance of 500 miles in a manner to be readily comprehended by the average reader or by the members of the legislature. They form a clear statement of what the maximum rate bill means.

Existing railroad tariffs in Nebraska are from 20 to 80 per cent higher than those of

SCHABERG ON HIS MUSCLE

Laucaster's Ex-County Commissioner Vigorously Defends His Official Action.

EXCHANGED BLOWS WITH MR. M'GRAW

Political Enemies Settle Their Quarrel in a Personal Encounter - Both Men Scratched and Braised Sportators Prevent Serious Trouble.

LINCOLN. Neb., March 15 .- [Special to THE Bun.]—The county clerk's office today was the scene of some very lively fistleuffs in which ex-County Commissioner H. H. Schaberg and Commissioner McGraw were the principals. Yesterday McGraw introduced a resolution instructing the county commissioner to bring suit against Mr. Schaberg to recover an excess of salary alleged to have been drawn by him while in office.

When Schaberg was first elected the salary of county commissioner was but $900 a year, but when the new law increasing the number to five went into effect the stipend was raised to $1,800 a year.

Schaberg drew this salary for two years, and the amount of the excess, $1,800, was what McGraw was after. As noted in this morning's BEE, the commissioners refused to act on the matter. Schaberg's ire was roused, and this afternoon he stalked into the clerk's office, where McGraw was standing, and with a frown walked up to the diminutive commissioner and demanded to know what he meant by such actions. Me-Graw retorted in kind, and after exchanging a few compliments of a red hot nature Mr. Schaberg's good right hand shot out, taking McGraw on the side of the head. He kept his feet, however, and jumped for Schaberg like a mad bull. Some lively interchanges of blows followed, and before the spectators could separate them they were rolling on the floor. McGraw, who is a small, burly man, was getting the worst of it from Schaberg, who is a tall, slenderly built man, when County Clerk Woods succeeded in pulling the latter off. Both men were scratched and bruised and Schaberg sports a gradually blackening eye.

Lincoln Prohibitionists.

The prohibition city convention nominated the following ticket today: Mayor R. A. Hawley: clerk, J. H. Hamilton: treasurer, A. N. Wyckeff; excise commissioners, S. M. Bendect and J. C. Deputron: members board of education. J. E. Miller and Lawrence Fossler. The third place was left vacant for the nominee of the women's mass convention. The women's convention nominated Mrs. Beele G. Bigelow.

He insists that he had a good look at the man, and that he cannot be mistaken. An unknown negro was arrested by the who assaulted several women in South Lin-coin recently, but when taken before the women they failed to identify him and he was discharged. The commencement exercises of the medical department of Cotner university were held at the Lansing this evening. Six new medics were given diplomas. Latest Canal Scheme.

GRETNA, Neb., March 15 .- | Special to THE Bee.]-A party of surveyors are now at work completing the final survey on the Hendricks canal on the Platte bottoms, which is to tap both the Platte and Elkhorn rivers about three miles west of this place and about two miles above the confluence of those rivers, water rights having been filed nearly two years ago.

The canal is to be seventy five feet wide and about eighteen miles long and will run two power plants, one to be directly opposite Ashland, about four miles from that place and about twenty-five miles from Lincoln, to which places power will be transmitted. From there the canal will continue to a point on the Platte about fourteen miles from South Omaha, from which point power will be transmitted to that city and Omaha.

The route of the proposed canal is much more feasible than the Fremont and Omaha project, the total expense being less than $2,000,000, and has the advantage of being on the ground floor, having flied a water right to both the Platte and Elkhorn rivers prior to the Fremont scheme.

The Hendricks' canal has been under ad-The Hendricks canni has been under advisement for the past three years and has been conducted so quietly that no reliable information could be had until now. Mr. M. Hendricks owns a fine cattle ranch, consist-

Three tramps, giving their names as Tom Nolan, Mike Cornell and Jim Moore, were arrested on suspicion and proved to be the guilty parties. According to their confession they are all-round crooks, who have been working various points of the state. At their preliminary hearing today they waived examination and were bound over to the district court and in default of bonds will be taken to the Beaver City jail Looking Into the Hastings Asylum

HASTINGS, Neb., March 15 - | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-A select committee from Lincoln, with Felton as chairman, has been investigating the books at the asylum here since Monday. It is generally understood that it is investigating the deficit occasioned in 1891, during the management of the institution by the officials who had to resign on account of certain articles published in THE BEE. Experts accompanied the committee and a banch of vouchers will doubtless fur-nish a theme for the report to be made.
