ment of the permanent school fund. Horst and Nelson submitted a majority report, set-ting forth the act that from August 1, 1891, to March 1, 1893, there had been on an average $400,000 of the permanent school fund uninvested, and there had also been an average of $500,000 outstanding in state warrants. They found that the ex-state treasurer had taken it upon himself to violate the law calling for the investment of the school fund, and that the state had thereby lost a large amount of money, as interest at the rate of 7 per cent was being paid on the outstanding warrants. They recommended that suit be instituted against him to recover the money thus lest to the state, and offered the evidence of the attorney general and ex-attorney general in support of their position.

One Conference Has Failed.

The conference committee appointed to try to agree upon a settlement of existing differences between the two houses regarding the allowance of postage and newspapers for the senators reported its inability to agree upon a settlement, as the senate re-fused to recede. The matter was discussed for half an hour, during which a motion to concur in the senate's position was defeated. Several members declared vigorously against it, and the committee was then given further time to talk over the situation with the senate committee.

Jensen attempted to introduce a bill along the line suggested by the governor in his message relating to the penitentiary, but the house refused to hear it, and took up bills on third reading. Bills That Were Passed. The following bills were passed: Senate file No. 74, by Graham, to amend section 5,025 of chapter i. of the Consolidated Statutes of Nebraska of 1891, by a vote of 71 to 4; senate file No. 63, by McCarty, to repeal section 1,832, chapter xviii., Consolidated Statutes of Nebraska, and to enact a substitute by a vote of 188 t. 12, senate file No. 55 tute, by a vote of 68 to 12; senate file No. 55, by Tefft, to assist the state library and the Nebraska State Historical society to augment their collections, by a vote of 55 to 16; senate file No. 35, by Thomsen, to amend section 1,905 of chapter

Auditor Moore Saves Money.

Schappel cured recognition to say that he had a matter that he wanted to bring be-fore the house. He said that the state auditor had refused to draw a warrant for the satisfaction of the bill of Shilling Bros. for supplies furnished the state, as he was satisfied that it contained a steal of at least $1,000. Schappel, read a copy of the bill, some of the items to which attention was recently called by THE BEE, showing the difference between the cost as charged and the regular retail price. He moved a com-mittee be appointed to investigate the bill and report to the house not later than

Chairman Felton of the committee on accounts and expenditures made a statement of the circumstances under which the bill had been allowed by that committee. He said that the bill was before the committee for a month, and that he had insisted that it be cut $510. Other members of the committee objected, and he finally offered to compromise by cutting the bill from $2,314 to an even $2,000. The others insisted on allowing it in full and it was finally allowed a said he knew the prices charged were too high and he was convinced that he did not do right in the matter. He felt that he should have brought it before the house, just as Schappel had done, and which action he knew to be just and right. He was glad that the auditor had refused to draw a warrant for the amount claimed.

Given to a Special Committee. Uncle Barney Johnston moved that the auditor be voted a chromo for the positive stand he had taken against filching the state treasury and a dozen members loudly voiced their sentiments by seconding it.

The motion to appoint a special committee to investigate the matter carried without a dissenting voice, after the house had to re-lieve a special committee, of which Mc-Kesson is chairman, appointed several days ago to look up the committee on accounts and expenditures. Kruse, who is a member of the committee on accounts and expenditures wanted the matter left in the hands of the McKesson committee, but Rhodes, who is a member of the latter committee, proteste against it, claiming that he was not satisfied with the manner in which the committee was working. He said that the committee had been unable to get together and accomplish anything for some unaccountable res son and he insisted that a new committee be appointed. The chair appointed as such committee Van Duyn, Olson and Luikart. The house then adjourned until temorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

ATHLETES AT PLAY.

Members of the Athletic Club Entertain Their Friends.

A very pleasant entertainment was given at the Omuha Athletic club last evening before an audience numbering about 300, many being among the spectators. The class of young athletes in training had made a special effort to get up an interesting program, and they certainly succeeded for all the work was applicated, especially by the ladies, to whom a great deal of it in the line of tumbling, etc., was something of a provide Considerable credit is due the following gentlemen, who planned the entertainment and saw it through successfully: Messrs.

Tuttle, Morgan, Godso, Hightower, Drexel

An exhibition of tumbling by Myers, Reed, Murray, Elbert and Muentefering was the first number on the program, and the per-formance of these gentlemen was very well received, for they all did good work.

Next came some work on the horizontal bars, which brought out prominently the performers' muscles and showed what they could do on the bars. They were Heintze, Reed, Muerl, Kummerow, Blattert and Haselles.

The high kicking of Goodsell, Nicholas and Morgan was exceptionally good, and was witnessed with interest. Prof. Hightower showed the aspirants for honors in the amateur prize ring how to punch the bag, and then Dr. Despecher and E. P. Mullen gave a short fencing bout under the direction of Prof. Dennis. The athlete aiready mentioned also gave ome interesting exhibits of pole vautling, lub swinging, boxing and wrestling. After the wrestling the floor was cleared, and those who cared to danced until mid-

At twenty minutes past 9 the same old fight to recommit the bill was renewed. North moved to that effect and Harris, one of the senators on the other side, raised the of order for the reason that it had alread, been twice voted on and lost. The held the point of order not well taken. Stewart moved the previous question, by North maintained that he was still entitled to the floor. North's Set Speech Started.

Dale asked North not to commence his peech until the other members could send for their cots.
"Well, mebbe you'd better wait awhile," retoried North, "you may have to have shutters before I get through with you." By this time—there was no little confusion throughout the chamber, and it was in-creased by Dale's demand that North stand in his proper place while addressing the "Well, I'll do it," responded North, as he owly walked to his seat. "There's nothing nerous about you fellows, anyway." North then commenced to read what was vidently a lengthy speech from the pile of nanuscript by him, but he was interrupted y Harris, who insisted that the chair should ognize the motion for the previous ques-n. North claimed that he had not yielded the floor. Pope, Mattes and Graham at came to his assistance with points of order all of them calculated to assist the chair in eaching a conclusion. During the discussion Senator Clarke faced around in his chair and said something to North which aroused the anger of that gen-tleman, and, striding toward the young senator from Douglas, he shouted excitedly: "Well, you just try to have me put off the floor of this senate if you dare. You try and you won't get away from here till tomorrow noon.

Awarded the Floor to North.

Prosident Correll started to rule on the question raised by Senator Harris, but something in his manner evidently alarmed the senator from Platte, for he broke in with: "Now, you hold on there, Mr. President before you finish."

Other senators came to his rescue, and when they had finished President Correll ruled the motion out of order for the reason that the floor had not been yielded by the senator from Platte. Stewart appealed from the decision of the chair, but his appeal was not entertained, and North again essayed to speak, but Clarke temporarily averted the threatened eloquence by rising to a question of information. He wanted to know how long North would be entitled to

"Well, I'll keep it as long as my physical endurance holds out, and I'll say to my young friend here that he's in delicate health and he'd better keep quiet if he expects to hold until this thing is through."

Talking Against Time. At last, at 9:45, North fairly launched upon his long expected speech against the rate bill. He first commenced by calling attention to the errors in the printed engrossed bill. He would quote the mis-take, then turn to the printed bill and, after diligent search, find the and, after diligent search, find the item and then call the attention of the senate to the glaring inconsistency between the engressed and printed bills. He made what Senator Harris, the ministerial member from Nemaha county, would call an exegesis of the maximum rate bill. He was frequently interrupted by questions from the independents until finally bis patience became exhausted and he appealed to the chair.
"I demand the protection of the chair from these senators who are interrupting me, and

I want the sergeaut-at-arms to make Senator Stewart behave himself. If the chair will give me permission I'll do it myself. "I hope the chair will give you the re-quired permission," was the response of the burly senator from Sioux county, and the of 1891 entitled "Chattel Mortgages," by a speech went on.

Three Hours Tired Him.

At 11 o'clock North was still talking. He was the only opponent of the bill in sight. All the others were sleeping or pretending to on cots which had been brought into the senate chamber. The independents seemed to be enjoying the speech, of which the following is a sample verbatim paragraph:

Mr. President, take line 2,775, on page 117. The item of pigs' feet, pickled pigs' feet. There is absolutely no provision in this bill for shipping pickled pigs' feet in car load quantities. This is an important item. People in my town eat a great many pickled pigs' feet, and under the provisions of this bill they can't get rates on less than carload lots.

Att 11:30, after North had been speaking for nearly three hours, he attempted to yield for nearly three hours, he attempted to yield to Senator Mattes, but before the latter could commence to speak Gray got in a mo tion for the previous question. North then claimed that he was not through. A few coments later, however, he again yielded to dattes, who was fortunate enough to catch the eve of the chair.

Under Call of the House.

After several of the independents had in-terjected points of order Mattes remarked that he was not willing to discuss the "con figures prepared pitchfork statesman, who introduced the bill" while the senators were half asleep. He therefore moved the previous question. It was ordered and the ayes and nays were demanded on the motion to recommit the bill. Before the result was announced North moved a call of the house and Graham. The doors were again locked and at midnight the deadlock again pre-vailed. The absentees were Senators Hahn, Darner and Tefft. Of these three Tefft had Darner and Tefft. Of these three left had already been excused, Darner had retired to his room and Hahn had gone to Hastings. Warrants were made out for Hahn and Dar-ner and the sergeant-at-ar ns directed to serve them.
Will Wait for Hahn.

At 1 o'clock everybody had settled for the night. All the senators had snugly ensconsed themselves in blankets on cots and most them were singing at the tops of th several voices. There is no prospect of suspending the call until some time Wednesday afternoon. Senator Hahn holds the key to the deadlock and he is in Hastings. The situation is understood and everybody is good natured and making the best of it.

AFTER TOM BENTON. Investigating Committee Chasing the Ex-Auditors's Record Hard.

Lincoln, Neb., April 4 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.] -- Although a stop has been temporarily put to the outside impeachment proceedings, the impeachment committee is vigorously pushing its work, and it is stated that it is now ready to make its report as to the culpability of ex-Auditor Benton. There is a vast amount of evidence against him, even though the committee stopped long before it had followed up all the leads that were called to its attention. There is evidence before it to show that he was in the "hold up" business in his relations with the employes of his own office, compelling them to divide their salaries with him, while one of them testified that he no longer were a diamond ring that he formerly possessed, simply because Benton happened to discover it and look with envious eyes upon it. It is understood that the re-port of the committee regarding Benton will be submitted to the house tomorrow, and that another impeachment resolution will follow closely upon the heels of the report.

The house transacted business with a rush this afternoon with Howe in the chair. When it comes to keeping the legislative mill steadily grinding the gentleman from Nemaha easily discounts any member who has occupied the chair during the session. There is no lost time, and that is how it was that an ordinary half day's work was disposed of during the hour that he wielded the gray of the court of the c

To Relieve Deputies.

It is stated by the governor tonight that the bill that Jensen sought to introduce this afternoon meets with his approval, and he thinks that it will meet the requirements of the present case. The section that it sought te amend prevents deputies from acting as members of the various state boards, although they are empowered to perform the duties devolving on their chiefs about their own offices. The statutes read as follows: Section 3,307-In the absence or disability of the principal the deputy shall perform the duties of his principal pertaining to his own tion to meet the emergency new existing: Provided, that in cases where a state officer is suspended from exercising the duties of his office by impeachment, such deputy shall perform all of the duties develving upon his principal by virtue of his office until the final determination of the trial of topeachment. It is held that the passage of this bill within emergency clause would obviate the existing difficulty in the way of allowing the deputies of the impeached officials to act during the trial of the impeachment cases in the capacity of members of the various state heards.

Shilling Bros', Bill.

The house has gone into the matter of the supply bill, to which attention was directed by The Bar. It was stated on the floor of the house while the matter was under consideration that the bill had not been allowed, and that it was still in the hands of the committee. This was urged as an excuse who a new committee should not be appointed. It is learned tonight that not only was the ill allowed by the house, but it was signed y the speaker and clork, and was deposited y Shilling Bros. in the bank as collateral, t was the refusal of Auditor Moore to issue warrant on the claim, that sent the matter before the house. The talk over the bill has caused a little investigation of the bill of the same firm for supplies furnished the state during the last session of the legislature, and the vouchers on file in the office of the state auditor show that enough red ink was fur-nished to paint the state house from one end to the other and from the sidewalk to the dome. Enough pens were furnished, or at least were charged to the state as having been furnished, to have supplied each member with several gross. No one in this vicinity remembers having heard ex Auditor Benton protest against the allowance of the bill, or that he called attention to the fact that the state was being robbed

Will Hold Back Their Pay. Another thing that Auditor Moore has done is to refuse to issue any more warrants at the instance of the impeached officials until the termination of the impeachment proceedings. He consulted with the governor with reference to the matter and the executive agreed to lay the matter before the supreme court for an opinion as to the proper course to be pursued. Voucher That Convicts.

A voucher has turned up that shows con-clusively the position of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings with reference to the furnishing of supplies for the insane asylum, and discloses the further fact that the board's attention was directed to the irregu-larities existing there. Voucher and war-rant No. 1,556, issued May 16 of last year, are for fifty-three gallons of signaloil at 70 cents a gallon, fifty-two gallons of vacuum cylinder oil at 60 cents a gallon, and a gallon each of gasoline and coal oil, the total amount being $87.45. It shows that Superintendent Bow man refused to endorse the claim, but not-withstanding that fact the board insisted on allowing it, and further than that ordered it paid out of the fund for "board and clothing." By the endorsements on it the whole procedure shows itself to be a misap-propriation of money, a thing expressly foroldden by law, and attached to it are the ignatures of the secretary of state, the comnissioner of public lands and buildings and the auditor. The refusal of the superin-tendent of the institution did not deter the officials from allowing an unjust claim at exorbitant figures, nor from misappropriat-ing money with which to pay it,

No Joint Convention.

When the time came for the joint conven-tion all of the senators, with the exception of McDonald, who had not been found, and Clarke and Thomsen, who were in another part of the house, were lounging in the senate chamber. Several of them desired to be excused to go over to part the hall of representatives, but were not allowed to leave the chamber. The time set for the joint convention was 10:30, and the chairs were set for the senators, but of course they dia not appear. Speaker Gaffin called Casper to the chair and hurried out to consult a legal adviser as to what course t pursue. He was advised to call the joint convention to order and then take a recess till a later time. This was done at 11 o'clock. The oint roll was called and the only senators who responded were Clarke and Thomsen, who had still managed to keep out of the clutches of the sergeant-at-arms of the upper house for this purpose. The call showed the presence of eighty-seven membersof the joint convention.

Howe moved to take another recess till

10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and Porter amended by fixing the time at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, for the reason that it was hardly probable that the senate would be able to come before that time The amendment was adopted and the joint convention had again postponed the consideration of the articles of impeachment. SMOKE NUISANCE.

W. Rodefor's bid was for $3,000 per year, the city to assume all taxes standing against the property or that may hereafter be assessed. The property is on Davenport between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. Rodefor is to erect a building suitable for jail and police court.

Max Meyer submitted two propositions.

One is to lease the buildings at 1020-2-4 Farnam street, three stories and ment, at $5,400 per year. In case it is desired to erect a stable in the rear of the building he will pay $1,000 toward its cost, the city to pay $25 per month additional. The other proposition is to rent 1020 and 1022 Farnam street, thre stories and basement, for $3,600 per year, the proposition being the same on the stable, excepting the rental for the ground to be $20

LARGE VOTES POLLED IN ALL THE CITIES

Fair Electionegreps Make Things Lively Around the Rolling Places-Result of the Balisting So Far as Has Heyn Announced.

Kansas City, Kan., April 4.-Prohibitive and disheveled Kansas, whose elections always prove interesting on account of the number of diversified interests displayed on such a day, tacked nothing today in making it a drawing card. In this she took from all past elections the honor of enthusiasm. The adoption of a resolution at the last session of the legislature to submit the granting of full suffrage to women gave a new impetus to the movement, and the women who already enjoy municipal suffrage today made an effort to bring out a olg vote in the hope of making a good start n the campaign that will last until the fall elections. On the showing, then, of the female vote today depended for them the all-important question of whether or not they would be allowed the full power at the polls that is given their fathers, sons, etc.
In most cases they showed themselves worthy of that trust by their ability to perform all the duties necessary to carry a candidate through, and they caused the sterner sex to feel their power and, where lacking in election finesse, the maje voters were given pointers by their new co-laborers. Several women candidates were up for office. In this city Mrs. Anna Potter, the wife of a prominent business man, was running for mayor, and on the same ticket were Mrs. Sarah Reinhardt, who aspired to be a member of the city council, and Mrs. Josephine Green, who desired to be a member of the Board of Education,

Electioneered Like Old-Timers.

The women hired bands, rode around to the different polling precincts and engaged in prosciiting with a zeal which made the men contemplate. The female voters amongst the colored people were just as enthusiastic apparently as their white "fellow citizens," and could be seen in interesting groups at all of the polis.

The effect of women being at the polis was that the election was the quietest and most orderly ever held in the state. Today's election as well gave an indication of which party the people hold responsible for the proceedings which did not add honor to the ast legislature. For the first time in the history of city elections in the state party lines were strictly drawn. In almost every city the republicans ran straight tickets and this is a city where they had not made an attempt heretofore to win at a city election. The result gives some indication of which party will hold political supremacy in the state in time to come, and by some is constituted in time to come, and by some is constituted. sidered the turning point in Kansas' politics. The weather was universally favorable and all parties made an extra effort to carry the day. The vote policial was the heaviest for some years and in the larger cities very nearly 30 per cent of the ballots cast were by weren.

The opinion of Attorney General Little, holding that the hiring of conveyances to bring voters to the polls is illegal, was gen-erally respected, though in Kansas City it counted very little, for conveyances were quite as freely used as heretofore.

Returns from Cities. Returns from many of the cities will be imperfect tonight, if received at all, and it is doubtful whether the result in Kansas City will be known before two days.

At Hiawatha W. C. Smalley (republican) was elected mayor. The issues involved were purely local. At Lyons the republicans secured the entire ticket, electing J. W. Brinckerhoff

The result at Olathe also was entirely re-publican, and the day passed very quietly.

At Clay Center, the republican stronghold, J. C. Johnson was re-elected mayor and the republicans secured the balance of the ticket, At Eureka the prohibition-republican can-didate, W. S. Mayor, was elected mayor by sixty-six majority, and the balance of the republican ticket elected by about the same

At Fort Scott, C. W. Goodlander, the citizens candidate for mayor, was elected by 300 majority. This is considered a glorious vic-tory for the anti-prohibitionists. The law prohibiting the use of carriages at the polls was entirely ignored. A bitter fight was waged, and the majority for the citizens' ticket is much larger than last fall. In Kausas City Mrs. Potter received but a few votes, and her ticket, the independent, is probably defeated entire. The vote for the other two mayoralty candidates is close and the result doubtful.

At Lewelling's Home. At Wichita the election passed off quietly, the anti-bribery law working perfectly. The republicans made a straight fight against the democrats, populists and some dissatisfled republicans combined, and won a decided The issue was made, insofar as the democrats and populists were concerned, on the administration of Governor Lewelling. The issue was interesting on account of the fact that this is Governor Lewelling's home. At 11:30 p. m. the indications are that L. M. Cox, the republican candidate for mayor, is elected by 1,200 majority, a pronounced re-publican gain over the vote last fall. The remainder of the republican ticket, with the xception of one member of the school board, s in. About 2,000 women voted. The republicans elected the entire ticket at Lawrence with the exception of one coun-cilman. Dr. N. Simmons, for mayor, reeived about 200 majority and the other candidates about the same.

Sweeping Victory for Republicans. At 1 a. m. returns from elections throughout the state indicate a most sweeping vic-tory for the republicans and indicate strongly the change of sentiment against the populists. At Leavenworth, where the republicans have not had a victory for thirteen years, they today elected their entire ticket by a majority of 1,000.

Maljority of 1,000.

At Topeka the entire republican ticket was elected by a vote of three to one. Dr. Jones was the candidate for mayor. In Topeka with a triangular fight on and registration enormously increased the vote polled was very light. A larger per cent was east by women than ever before.

At Kansas City the republican candidate. At Kansas City the republican candidate, Barnes, received 1,000 majority and the re-mainder of their ticket get in. Mrs. Potter received but forty wotes in all. At Ottawa the entire republican ticket was elected by a decisive majority. The woman's vote was quite a factor.

plurality. Creiger, on the labor ticket, which was expected to draw heavily on Harrison's strength, did not secure 3,000 votes. The democrats entried the west and south town tickets, but the republicans saved the north town. Returns are coming in slowly, but the chances are that the successful aldermen will be about equally divided.

The weather could not have been more favorable. It was bright, sunny and warm, with a gentle breeze blowing off the lake to lend an edge to the air. As a rule there was but little scratching, save in the cases of the aldermanic candidates, and not a great deal of it. The lines in front of the polling booths grew longer and longer as the men who eat breakfast between 7 and 8:30 o'clock came forth to cast their votes. It seems as came forth to cast their votes. FIRE RECORD.

Allegheny, Pa., Has an Expensive Blaze-Other Conflagrations.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 4.—The largest fire that has occurred in Allegheny for years broke out shortly after 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the warehouse of the Godfrey & Clark Paper company, on South Canal street. Owing to the high gale which was blowing the fire department was unable to prevent the spread of flames, which communicated rapidly to the malt house of Eberhardt & Ober Brewing company. this juncture Pittsburg was appealed to for aid and responded with three companies, but notwithstanding this additional force the fire could not be stayed and in a short time the large grain elevator of the Eberhardt & Ober brewery was on fire. The elevator burned swiftly and scattered sparks in all directions, starting blazes in Cupp & Freekley's lumber yard, Heinz Bros. Pickie frecities and an unber of neighboring dwellings. The firemen now bent all their energies to preventing the fire's spread and shortly after 6 o'clock their efforts were rewarded with success, they having the flames under partial control at that hour. The Godfrey & Clark and Eberhardt & Ober companies losses, however, were total. The former's loss was $50,000, on which The former's loss was $30,000, on which there is $46,000 insurance. The brewing company lost on their buildings and stocks $200,000, with an insurance of $80,000. A number of small fires were caused by flying embers, but loss from these was slight fire was caused by a defective flue. Pittsburg firemen were slightly injured by a CUMBERLAND, Md., April 4.-Fire broke out at 6:30 this evening and spreading quickly soon destroyed a whole business block. A flerce wind is making the fire spread and at 8 p. m. the outlook is serious.

Mays Landing, N. J., April 4.—High winds have kept the forest fires that are raging have kept the forest fires that are raging in South Jersey burning flereely and there is no hope of stopping the destruction. Hundreds of acres of valuable timber have been destroyed. The loss during the past four days is over $30,000.

office, Record newspaper office and several dwellings. The loss is not known.

Cumentano, Md., 10 p. m.—The fice in the center of the city is still burning flercely, but is gradually being overcome. The wind is dying out, and it looks as though the loss will be confined to one large block. A forest fire is raging north of the city and eight buildings have been destroyed in the front of the newspaper offices to wait for the returns. At the corner of Fifth avenue and Washington street, the Times building, where Harrison's paper is published, was a great sheet of canvas upon which the returns were thrown by a storeoption. Half a block to the south a similar canvas bore the two exceptions the republican ticket was elected as follows: David Jones, clerk; James Snyder, treasurer; councilmen, E. P. Pearson, First ward, and Joseph Lohlein. Second. The degenerats will have a ma-jority of one in the council, owing to the two holdover members, which virtually slock to the south a similar canvas bore the returns of the Record, and a half a block to the east the Herald gave out its news. The two latter papers have been strongly anti-Harrison during the campaign, and the crowds which packed the streets in front of their buildings partook strongly of their sentiments. The edges of these crowds broshed against the throng that had voted for Harrison by day and was veiling for him as night. The conans licensed gambling in Laramie for another year.

"Dorls" at the Boyd. "Doris," the new play which Miss Eilsler introduced for the first time in Omaha last evening at the Boyd, possesses features that are likely to insure it considerable popularity. Last evening's was only the third performance of the work. It has faults, but they are of a nature that makes their remdy easy. When pruned and polished Doris" should prove a very strong drama The main story is a good one, entirel worthy of dramatic treatment, and that i

The third scene is very powerful, almost great, in conception, and its somewhat melotramatic flavor does not overstep the bounds of probability and art. In this scene last evening Miss Ellsler reached a higher level of sustained power than she has ever been seen to attain in Omaha. Her work in I was a triumph, and the few greatest actresses of the French and English speak ng theaters could not much, if at all, exce Miss Elister's work in this exceedingly

The company is altogether well suited with parts, and the performance is one that should be seen. A good stage manager with a well pointed pencil at work on "Doris" for some time is needed. Doubtless it will re ceive such treatment as it needs and next season Mr. Drouet's drama should prove one of the successes of the year.

At Wonderland. "The Inside Track," a five-act melo drama, with a fairly interesting plot and a good supply of comedy, is being presented this week at Wonderland and Bijou theater. Praise is due the management for the completeness of the stage settings and the c pany for the efficient support given Miss Lilse Leigh and Mr. Ralph Cummings, the ew leading members of the stock company Mr. Cummings is to be commended for his Mr. Cummings is to be commended for his excellent acting of the part of Harry Denbigh and Miss Leigh as Vinnie Foster, the heroine of the play, demonstrated in her portrayal of the role that she is a finished the stress. Agnes Fuller as Jerry Twaddle, a boy's part, and John D'Ormond as Samuel Slade were seen to advantage, repeating their last week's impression that they are capable of praying the most difficult roles. capable of playing the most difficult roles. Perfectly Marvellous 35 Years of Misery With Chronic Diarrhoea.

A Perfect Cure by HOOD'S.

"About 38 years ago I got overheated while at work in the harvest field, and was sick abed for three months. on my feet again I found that I had a bad kidney trouble and chronic diarrhesa, which has drawn on me for over 55 years.

Just Think of Why Misery. I dared not eat anything more than would barely keep me alive. For years I felt that my stay on earth would be short. I have times without number been in such distress-ful pain and aching that I could not turn myself in bed, and I would have to ask my wife to take hold of my hands and turn me. In all these years I employed the best physicians but nothing gave me permanent relief. I had an iron constitution, or I could not have stood the drain upon me

"In the fall of 1887 I was so weak I could not work. I concluded I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. To my surprise and great joy I soon found that it was doing me good and when I had used 7 bottles I was perfectly cured. It is now 4 years and the Cure was Perfect and Permanent.

"For the past four years I have enjoyed life and felt better and younger than in any of the 35 years preceding. I endured every-thing a human being could and live, and 1 will recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla long as I live." WM, OSBORN, Gibson City, Ill
