Sensation of the Day on 'Change Was in Pork.

IT ADVANCED ONE DOLLAR PER BARREL

Clique Brokers Known to Control the Available Supply of the Product at Present-Indications that Outsiders Will Lose Heavily.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 27.-A sensational buige of over $1 a barrel for pork occurred on change here today. There was a general panic among the shorts in that commodity. The day was a wearing one upon brokers and commission men for, with jumps of from 10c to 20c per barrel between the fluctuationsnow up and now down-the handling of orders with specified limits was frequently impossi-ble. It was a lively day in the pit from start to finish, and Armour's brokers, M. C. Mitchell and Wright combined in whooping things up. Several days ago September delivery was about $17 per barrel. It has gone steadily up until this last raise of $1 brought the price up nearly to $20. As there are only 20,000 barrels of pork in Chicago, and according to the rules of the Board of Trade, no pork can be manufactured between now and October 1, which the speculative purchaser could be compelled to take delivery on, it will be seen just how much of a cinch the built end has. It did all the buying this morning to force prices to a high water mark and it was the only crowd that had any to sell. No one gared to sell except those who had the product in their pos-session, and nobody wanted to put their nose under the trip-hammer by selling short. The talk of cliques is getting tiresome, but prices seem to show that the clique has got case of come up to the captain's office and settle.

On the market people with a bearish tendency reason that a built market in provisions was enough and that other prices were nound to follow. Last year it extended from March to September and the culmination was about 5c higher than the prices for September. They forgot the general scarcity of hog products and that the same reason that they give stiff prices to the product of two months ago would be equally applicable to the prosent instance. Now the short sellers are probably wondering how they got in on the wrong side of the market again, while the somewhat celebrated Charles Wright is storing their settlements away in canvass sacks. Wright gets credit for engineering the corner, but it is said P. D. Armour has had a finger in the pie and the trio of Cudahys are supposed also to be interested. The market finished steady and strong, though at some reaction. Compared with last night's figures the close showed a net gain of 90c per bill, for May and September pork and $10c per bill, for May and September pork and $20c per 100 lbs, higher and ribs are 15c up.

It was a case of whipsaw in the wheat market. The opening was weaker at '4c decline for May, and after '5c advance receded '5c, railied is and closed steady. July opened '4c lower, declined 'ac, but railied is and closed with a gain of from '4c. September held within a fair range and closed with a gain of from '4c. There was good liquidation in May and July hold of the September market and it is a clear case of come up to the captain's office and fair range and closed with a gain of from 'ac to 'sc.'

There was good liquidation in May and July during the greater part of the morning, and there being no special support prices gradually declined, and May sold at a lower point than at any previous time, being within 'sc of 70c. There was good selling by the largest traders through brokers openly. The sales overbalanced the effect of the bullsh influences until the crowd went short on the break, when the arrival of a lot of bad crop reports from Kansas, one estimating the yield there at only 28,000,000 bu. started the crowd to buying, and prices advanced to the opening figures. The bearish influences were the free selling of longs, the failure at Sloux City and the light outside trade. The bullish influences were the absence of rain in Kansas and in France, the cold weather and snow in the porthwest, and the bad crop reports from Kansas.

In corn there was continued selling pressure of May on the market, a good deal of which was apparently for country holders. At the decline there was a better demand. Shippers, it was thought, were picking up the May and on a few outside buying orders conding in, the price reacted, going up from $\frac{1}{2}$c to $\frac{3}{2}$c. The market ruled steady and closed with from $\frac{1}{2}$c to $\frac{3}{2}$c. The market ruled steady and closed with from $\frac{1}{2}$c to $\frac{3}{2}$c. The market ruled steady and closed with from $\frac{1}{2}$c to $\frac{3}{2}$c. The market ruled steady and buying July and september—the latter month being in quite good request today. The most important business in onts was in the way of changing from the near to the distant futures. May was bought quite freely by the shipping houses, and they also absorbed the round lots of $\frac{1}{2}$c. 2 cash, paying May prices for $\frac{1}{2}$colou bu. Prices had a $\frac{1}{2}$c range, the opening being at the same prices as yesterday's close, and after a reduction of from $\frac{1}{2}$c to $\frac{1}{2}$c, rallied and closed at $\frac{1}{2}$c lower for May, $\frac{1}{2}$c lower for June and unchanged for July and September.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 215 cars; corn, 175 cars; oats, 125 cars, hogs 18,000 head.

quotable change, but the feeling on the market is weak.

The arrivals of chickens are not heavy, but with the demand light the weakness noted in the market continues. It is a rather difficult matter to get over 11c for the best hens. There were a few spring chickens in, which were held at 20 per dozen.

The arrivals of strawberries were not so large as on the day before, and the market was in a little better shape. Some sandy and inferior stock sold rather low.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Cattle Receipts Light and Prices Steady-Hogs Shade Off Some, THURSDAY, April 27.

As compared with the first four days of last week, receipts show an increase of about 500 cattle and 3,500 hogs, while the offerings of sheep have failen off something like 600 head. For a Thursday the supply of cattle was unusually liberal, nearly three times as heavy as a week ago, but the quality of the offerings was rather below the recent average. Conflicting reports from Chicago, the absence of any shipping demand, and more than ample supplies gave buyers for dressed beef houses decidedly the best of the situation and on the general run of beef steers prices ruled about a dime lower than Wednesday. On some of the general run of beef steers prices ruled about a dime lower than Wednesday. On some of the handy light steers that just suited the buyers fancy, steady or nearly steady prices were realized, while on the other hand 10c would hardly cover the decline on some of the rough medium weight and heavy grades. Good 1,150 to 1,400 lb. tweeves sold at from $4.70 to $5.05, with fair to good 1,000 to 1,200-lb. steers at from $4.40 to $4.75 and common underweight stuff at from $4.45. Although there was comparatively little life to the trade the movement was continuous and a good and reasonably early clearance was effected, the feeling rather improving toward the close on account of better eastern reports.

The dozen loads of cows and mixed stock on sale hardly allowed buyers to fill their orders, and as a ruis prices were firmer. This was especially true of the more desirable grades of cows and helfers. Scarcely any improvement was noted in the ordinary canning grades. Prices ranged from $1.30 to $4.40, with the bulk of the decent butchers' stock at from $3 to $3.75. Good fat buils and stags were stronger at from $3 to $4.10, common to fair rough stock about the same at from $2 to $3. The supply of calves was ample to supply the demands of the local trade, and prices were very generally in the same old notches, from $5.50 to $5.50 for common to choice stock.

There were quite a few fresh stock cattle in the yards, but the quality was not such as to commend them to buyers. Regular dealers reported a moderate country demand, but the general trade was quiet with prices generally unchanged. Representative sales:

Chleago Live Stock Market. Chicago, III. April 27.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The general market was about 10c higher than yesterday, that day's loss being quite recovered. Cows and bulk showed great strength, the offerings falling a long way short of the demand. Fat light and medium weight steers sold equally well and the heavier grades were in better request than was the case vesterday. Outstakers ranged was the case yesterday. Quotations ranged from $1.75 to $4.35 for cows and helfers, from $3 to $4.75 for stockers and feeders, from $5.10 to $6.10 for dressed beef and shipping steers and from $2.10 to $5 for Texas cattle. steers and from $2.10 to $5 for Texas cattle.

The receipts of bogs were again very liberal being about the same as for yesterday, but there was an active and firm market. It was a trifle higher at the opening, but, as is very often the case, the later trading was at steadler prices. Several sales were made around the opening at from $7.75 to $7.80, while further along equally good hogs changed hands at from $7.70 to $7.75. From $7.60 to $7.70 bought most of the stuff, light and heavy selling at practically the same prices. At the extreme close firmness again prevailed.

Prices were higher both for sheep and lambs. There was an average gain of about 10c, sheep being quoted at from $4.70 to $6.45 for poor to extra qualities, and lambs being in demand at from $5.75 to $7.35.

Weber's Mysterious Trip. The friends of W. F. Weber, a clerk in the register's office, have been considerably worried about the young man since Saturday. On that day Weber rode away on his bicycle and intended to be gone only until Monday. As he did not return to his desk and nothing had been heard from him his friends were naturally anxious. Yesterday Mr. Weber's roommate rerestering Mr. Weber's roomande re-ceived a telegram from the missing man which had been sent from Richfield, Neb., saying that he would return the 1st of May. This message allayed the fears of friends, but they are still puzzled because more definite information had not been sent

FIGHTING FOR A FORTUNE

Trial of a Case in Lincoln Involving Half a Million.

PATHETIC STORY CONNECTED THEREWITH

Estate of the Late Jasson G. Miller Desired by the Adopted Daughter of the Deceased-Her Claim to the Fortune.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 27 .- [Special to THE BEE. |-In the probate court Judge Lansing is engaged in hearing a case the history of which reads like a page from a romance. The case is one wherein Mrs. Eva Lewis, wife of the county elerk of Richardson county, asks for the allowance of a claim of $125,000 from the estate of the late Elder Jason G. Miller, at one time a resident of Oreapolis, later of Lincoln and still later of Pasadena, Cal., where he died a year ago leaving an estate worth $250,000. The story is fully and graphically told in a deposition read this morning, which was made by Mrs. Bayliss, wife of the paster of Trinity Meth-

On the 29th of June, 1869, a man giving his name as Thomas Cavenger called at the Home for the Friendless, 1926 Wanash avenue, Chicago, accompanied by two little children, both girls. One was a bright little sprite, while the other was crippled. The story he told was a pathetic one. Three months before he had left England with his wife and little ones for America. On shipboard the wife sickened, and a few weeks after they arrived in Chicago died. He himself was ill and out of work and begged the home to take the children until he recovered, promising to come back again. They did so, but he never returned. A search showed that he had died friendless and alone in a hospital on Eighteenth street. Amon the friends of Mrs. Bayliss was Eider Mil ler, then residing at Oreapolis with his wife. They were a childless couple, and Miller had often begged the Bayliss family to give him one of their girls, promising to make her his heiress, but they refused. One Sunday, while in Chicago, he accompanied Mrs. Bay-liss to the home, where she held services, and was attracted by the little one who sat on the front seat smiling and pert. As the children filed out, the child, who was known as Eva Cavenger, ran from the ranks and clasped her arms around the sturdy elder's legs in an ecstasy of delight. It was a case of love at first sight, and the child accompanied Miller back to his home.

He was an ardent believer in missionary work in foreign lands, and the girl was edu-cated with the especial purpose of fitting her for that work. At the State university here she met D. O. Lewis, and from that time forward all desire for self-immolation in distant lands vanished, and after a court-ship lasting until she graduated she married Lewis against the protests of Miller. His blessing was asked for, but instead he told her never to darken his door, that he had shut her out of his heart forever.

When he died it was found that the portion of the estate which would have been Eva's was bequeathed to the Methodist missions. It was at first supposed that he had adopted the girl, and she knew nothing to the contrary until after she had begun proceedings to break the will, when it was discovered that there was no record to prove that, the only paper bearing on the case on file at the Chicago home being the surrender by the father to the institution. The depositions read, however, tend to show that it was on his agreement with the officials of the home that she should be treated as one of his own family that he obtained the little one. The case will occupy several days, and is probably the starting point of a lengthy litigation. The bulk of Milier's property is iff California, but he owns about $40,000 worth here.

General Thayer Makes Denial. LINCOLN, Neb., April 27.-To the Editor of The alleged conversation between Captain Hill, ex-Auditor Benton and myself in the state house on Tuesday, as re-ported in The Bee of vesterday, in regard to what the decision of the supreme court would be on the question of jurisdiction, is pure fiction. I had no such conversation. I did not express any opinion as to what the finding of the court would be. I had not heard any rumor in regard to it, and of course, repeated no such rumor. I did not course, repeated no such rumor. I did not see Mr. Benton during that day; in fact I have since learned he was out of the city at that time. I was in conversation with Captain Hill when a man came up and spoke to both of us and immediately passed on. Not knowing him I asked Hill who he was. He replied, "his name is Howell; The Berman." He did not hear a word of our conversation.

I have no opinion as to how the court will decide, preferring to wait for the decision. Now that the whole matter is before the court it strikes me it would be better for all parties, newspapers included, to leave it there. Very respectfully, John M. Thaver,

Senator Allen Robbed.

Thieves entered the room of Senator Allen at the Hotel Lindell last night by turning the key with a pair of nippers, and secured his gold watch. An insurance man named Limbach from Omaha was also relieved of his watch. Two other unfortunates were Messrs. Snow and Ish. The fellows cleaned up four gold watches and $33 in cash.

PETITIONS FOR PAVING.

The Supreme Court Passes Up in a Question Often Raised in Omaha.

A recent decision of the Nebraska supreme ourt will greatly affect this city so far as public improvements are concerned, and perpetuates the venerable idea that the people are bigger than those who serve them in public office. The opinion was given by Judge Post, and was concurred in by the other members of the bench.

The case in question was Von Steen vs the city of Beatrice, wherein the plaintiff had enjoined the city from collecting r special taking levied against his property to pay the partial cost of grading, curbing and paying a street in that city. The council had ordered the work done, in face of the fact that property owners, representing a majority of the feet frontage of the abutting property, had protested against having the unprovements made. The case dragged its way through the district courts and found its way to the supreme court.

The opinion of Judge Post is quite lengthy and is very comprehensive, covering in detail all the questions raised. The court holds that before any action can be taken for the paving or curbing of any street a petition must be presented to the council represent-ing a majority of the feet frontage of the abutting property. It is wholly unnecessary for the property owners to protect, as the paving cannot be done unless a majority of the property owners petition for the same, and the council exceeds its jurisdiction when it orders a street paved for which no peti-tion has been presented. The points in the case are all covered by the Beatrice charter, which, in the main, upon the improvement o streets is the same as that of Omaha, and i is in this manner that Omaha is affected by the decision of the court. The council has been fully apprised of the decision, the members have taken the cue and will proceed very cautiously in ordering new paying. It is not thought that the decision will affect any improvements hereto fore made, where streets have been paved without the necessary petition having been presented. City Attorney Connell has looked the matter up pretty thoroughly, and thinks that the only effect of the decision will be to compel the council to not by over hasty in ordering the paying of streets, and that it is necessary to have a petition representing a majority of the feet frontage of the abutting property to have the work proceed or a protest representing a majority to have the work stopped. The decision only affects paving and curving and the re-moval of surplus earth from the street in order to bring it to paving grade.

New Fire Alarm Boxes.

Shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday a fire alarm was turned in from Thirteenth and Douglas streets to which the department did not respond. Investigation disclosed the fact that it was an experiment with the new fire alarm box at that point. So far only a few of them have been placed in the center of the city. No key is required, but the person desiring to turn in an alarm simply rings the department up by turning the crank on the outside. The ring will be heard for two blocks or more, so that any patrolman's attention will be called to the place immediately. It is claimed that it takes less time to notify the fire department
