

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Scheme to Move the Chautauqua Amphitheater to a Better Location.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN IN THE PROJECT

Where the Proposed New Grounds Are Situated - The Public Generally Willing to Assist in the Movement - Plans for the Future.

A move is being made quietly by certain wealthy men of Council Bluffs which will in all probability result in the Chautauqua amphitheater being moved from its present site, three miles east of the city, to a new site, near the grounds of the park.

The ground talked of is very close to the park and close to Graham avenue as to be easily accessible. It is near the proposed extension of the ground on the other side of Fairmount park and only about a mile and a half of extension would be necessary to join the two ends of the motor line and allow passengers to reach the ground on either side of the Lower Main street depot or from South First street. It is also close to Madison street so that country patrons could drive into the grounds in their own cars.

AGAINST THE COMPANY. Citizens May Do a Little Gloating Over Judge Deemer's Decision.

Judge Deemer handed down a decision yesterday in the district court in two cases against the Citizens' Publishing company. The first case was the motor company defendant. Smith, it is remembered, bought up claims from the taxpayers for money paid in the shape of taxes to assist the motor company in putting in its plant, and is now trying to recover from the company about $40,000 of the $50,000 which was so paid in, on the ground that the motor company forfeited its right to the money by its failure to file a certificate of incorporation and failed to do any of the work which was the main condition on which the bonus was voted.

The company had an answer, in which it alleged that the tax could not be recouped, because it had been paid without any protest, and the citizens lost the right to begin action. The motor company attorneys claimed that the suit could not be prosecuted by the citizens, but should be brought by the city or the county, to whom they had paid the tax, and that if the citizens had any right of action whatever it did not lie against the company, but against the city or the county. The third statement of the case is that the citizens had no claim knocked out of court was that the claims had outlived, more than five years having elapsed since the money was paid.

The plaintiff demurred to these claims, and the questions involved were argued at some length. Yesterday Judge Deemer rendered his decision. He decided in favor of the claims of the motor company, and that the citizens had a right to bring suit for money which had been paid in for the tax, and that the citizens had been paid but not lived up to the conditions on which he was to receive it, and he held also that the claims were not barred by the statute of limitations. The decision is that it does not dispose of all the questions involved in the case by any means, it is regarded as a signal victory against the company in that it is now going on to sue the city and those who believe it should be compelled to reduce its passenger rates between Council Bluffs and Omaha.

Picked a Club House. For the past two weeks a committee appointed by the Ganyemete Wheel club has been looking over the city trying to find a suitable club house. Yesterday afternoon they succeeded in finding what they wanted, and a contract was signed by which the club will take immediate possession. The west side of the city, the Grand hotel was the headquarters, and arrangements are now being made for furnishing the rooms in a suitable manner. The club starts out with a membership of about sixty, and will have a club house that is in every way worthy the name.

A "smoker" is to be given tomorrow evening by the Omaha Wheel club in honor of the Ganyemete boys.

Will Buy a Lot. A meeting of the Second Presbyterian church and congregation was held Wednesday night at which the plan of building a new church edifice was talked up. The present edifice has proved to be too small for the needs of the growing organization, and it is thought to be located too much at one side of the district from which its members are drawn. It was accordingly decided that a new lot should be purchased and a new building erected. Three lots are talked of, but which one will be taken is yet a matter of uncertainty. One of them is on East Pierce street, one on Washington avenue and the third on Broadway.

The other members are: Flora Johnson, Laura Weaver, Mary Weaver, Dora Hines, May White, Delia Durs, Nellie Hill, Edna Hines, John Johnson, Perry Reed, Ernest Riekman, George Duquette, Archie Kirby, Clyde James, Ray Hazen, George Harworth, Edgar Diers.

Route from Wounded Knee. G. E. Meyers of the Meyers Furniture company, returned yesterday from a business trip to Chadron, Neb., where he still retains large business interests. He was located there for a number of years, and was very popular among the Indians. During the Sioux war two years ago he was the only white man who could go where he pleased in the Indian country without being obliged to pay toll with his scalp. For several months he had the sole contract to furnish ghost shirts to the soldiers, and still does a thriving business when he goes out there selling them to the tourists. During his last visit one of the Sioux chiefs walked forty miles to make him a present of an ornate war head dress worn by Big Foot at the battle of Wounded Knee. It is a real live head dress and Mr. Meyers is anxious to find some one to wear it. He is having a suit made without ruthlessly breaking up the numerous happy families that are supposed to have their abiding places in its numerous gaily colored folds.

AN OMAHA MAN'S INVENTION

Captain Reynolds Has a Smoke Consumer in Use at Florence.

IT IS CHEAP, SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE

Reduces the Smoke Nuisance to a Minimum and Saves Coal Besides - Organization of a Stock Company.

Omaha is the Mecca to which all of the agents for smoke consumers are journeying. The ordinance recently passed requiring the use of smoke consumers in certain classes of buildings has brought up the old question of the best means of abating the smoke nuisance and the number of men in the field with appliances warranted to entirely do away with the evil is something marvelous.

Now fangled attachments have been made to the boiler in many of the big buildings of the city, but as yet none of them have given anything like satisfactory results. But there is a patent smoke consumer at work in Omaha, the invention of an Omaha man, which has stood the test for five years in the largest plant in the city and has given absolute satisfaction. This is the smoke consuming steam boiler furnace in use at the Florence plant of the Water Works company.

The plan for the plant and the theory of the patent are very simple. The boiler furnace, constructed of fire brick, comprises the combustion chamber, the intermediate chamber and the furnace. The combustion chamber is provided with a grate, an arch of brick, in combination with the grate, or intermediate chamber. The walls of the chamber are built in two parts to provide an air space between the grate and the arch.
