MANY COLORED MEMBERS IN OMAHA

Rash Statement of a Clergyman Refuted by the Testimony of Local Labor Leaders Benefits of Union Free to All,

The statement of Rev. Mr. Parks of the Zion Afro-American Methodist Episcopal church, made recently at a meeting of the Methodist ministers of the city, that the colored people of the south did not emigrate to the north because the labor organizations of the country excluded them from membership, created something of a surprise, not only at the meeting where the statement was made, but also among those readers of THE BEE who read the proceedings.

The idea seemed unamerican and the declaration came with such suddenness that it could not on the instant be refuted.

With the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the statement was true, a representative of Tue Bue visited a number of the officers of the various labor organizations of the city and asked them whether the assertiou was actually based on fact. A perusal of the interviews will lead to the conclusion that Rev. Mr. Parks is in error and that his assertion is not borne out by the actual condition of these. May Lay Brick, Shoe Horses or Pound Sand.

J. H. Parker, ex-president of the brick-layers union. There is nothing in our constitution or by-laws prohibiting the admission of colored members. There are no colored bricklayers in Omaha, and I do not know that the question ever came up here. If, however, any colored workmen should ask to join, they would undoubtedly be admitted. I have worked with colored bricklayers in Detroit and elsewhere, who belonged to the union, and positively know that they are not union, and positively know that they are not barred.

L. A. Amsbary, peresident of the horse-sheers union of Omaha: There is nothing in our constitution to prevent the colored man from becoming a member of our union. He is admitted in Chicago and we have one in Omaha who belongs to our order. No sir; we couldn't refuse to admit a man on account of his color.

T. H. Morton, president of the iron moulders union: There is nothing in our constitution shutting out the colored man, but in all my experience I do not remember having seen a colored iron moulder. If an application should be made by a colored man, there might be some question rated as to whether we should admit by a colored man, there might be some ques-tion raised as to whether we should admit him, but he would doubtless be taken in. We are organized to protect labor and the color of the skin should cut no figure. DDavid Hopkins, president of the machin-ists union: Yes, the colored man is excluded from our order, the word "white" appearing in our constitution. But the order had its birth in the south and this fact probably ex-plains why the line was drawn. Strenuous efforts were made at three national conventions to remove the restriction, but were not James D. Murphy, president of the boilermakers' union: Our constitution provides that no distinction small be made on account of color or creed. The colored man is privilezed to join with us at any time. Colored delegates are admitted to the Central Labor union and to the State Labor congress, and the Knights of Labor include among their numbers many colored mem

John B. Schupp, sceretary of the cigar-makers union: The gentleman who made the statement is very much mistaken, for I know of many labor organizations which admit negroes. W. B. Musser: general organizer of the
of the carpenters' union of this city: The American Federation of Labor, which is now 3,000,000 strong, bars no one, either on account of race, sex or color, and the Knights of Labor, the other national organ-Anights of Labor, the other national organ-ization, admits the colored man equally with the white man. In the two lodges in this city to which I belong, there are a consider-able number of colored members, and in one lodge, which I lately instituted in this city, fully one-half are colored people, and in an other one-fifth.

Another gentleman, prominent in labor circles, said: "The assertion that the labor organizations of the country shut out the colored people is absurd and only tends to create hostility toward the labor organizations and to give the colored people the impression that the white race is striving to crush them under foot. And the idea advanced by another speaker that if the negro vanced by another speaker that if the negro race were in the majority the whites would be trampled upon, is equally absurd. Look at Africa, where a few white men control, one might almost say, several millions of blacks. Look at the south itself, for that matter. Aren't the negroes in the majority there in many places, and have they sub-verted the whites! The white man has always led and will continue to do so, simply because he is naturally the more casimply because he is naturally the more ca-pable. The salvation of the colored man rests largely with himself. If he will go in-dustriously to work, master a trade or some kind of sousiness or profession, race preju-dice will soon be removed and the negro will be respected as much as anybody. He is gradually doing this and the enlightened world is application by a few. world is applicating his efforts. Increase in numbers and Christianity alone will not do it. Establish plenty of free schools in the south compel the negroes to acquire an education and to learn a trade, business or profession, and I'll venture to say the color line will not long exist."

Cigarmakers' Election.

The cigarmakers' election of international officers occurs next Saturday from 3 to 6 p m. It is conducted upon the Australian plan of voting and every member is onliged to vote under a penalty of a $1 fine. The curarmakers were the first to adopt the plan and find it works well. The officers to be elected are five vice presidents and a treasurer, the president and first and second vice presi-dents having been elected in February.

Labor Notes.

Central Labor union will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening. The retail clerks of the city will meet this evening in the Patterson block at Seven-teenth and Farnam streets for the purpose of organizing a union. The indications now are that the charter members will number 200. These unions are in much favor of late throughout the country, ninety-six having been formed since the organization of the international association eighteen months are. They are forming now at the rate of three a week.

Mr. Farley has had leases of varying terms with the Omahas since 1835. His earlier leases of these grazing lands were all for one year only and were yearly renewed to the expressed satisfaction of both lessor and lessee. When congress canceted a law allowing five years leases Mr. Farley took advantage of it and contracted for the pasture land for five years. The marticular ndvantage of it and contracted for the pasture land for five years. The particular lease on which Mr. Peebles and the Indians who interviewed "Great Father" Miller yesterday base their allegations of fraud was drafted and signed in strict accordance with the requirements of law. Mr. Farley showed it to a Berman. It bears the approving signs manual of ex-Secretary of the Interior Noble (it is dated May 9, 1892, at Washington, being made April 25, 1891) and Indian Commissioner Ashley. It carries a provision that immediately upon the government making the allotment the lease shall become null and yold; otherwise, it shall run ment making the allotment the lease shall become null and void; otherwise, it shall run for five years. The document also carries the affidavit of Silas Wood, official interpreter of the Omahas, dated April 25, 1891, averring that he, Wood, accurately stated to the Indians the nature of the lease, that it was for five years and that they fully understood that fact. This Mr. Farley produces as proof of the falsity of the charge that the Indians were deluded into signing a five years lease under the impression that it was years lease under the impression that it was nly a one-year lease. Mr. Farley will make no resistance to any should the authorities at Washington may do, should the matter go to them. All he wants is to be set right with the public and the fact published that his business dealings with the Omahas have been entirely free from a suspicion of the fraud charged by Mr.

But Mr. Farley also makes allegations. He declares that Mr. Peobles, with other gentlemen about Pender and Bancroft, is interested in real estate enterprises on the Omaha reservation. He says these gentle Omain reservation. He says these gentle-men, whom he particularizes as Peebles, Chittendou, Wheeler and Abbott, have already made contracts with the Indians for portions of their lands to be transferred immediately on allotment, and that even money has been paid over. To been the town of Pender and their property is, ac-cording to Mr. Farley, the main motive of Mr. Peebles and his partners. They are anxious for the annulment of Mr. Farley's lease, that the way may be cleared for them to more specific acquire the land for themto more speedily acquire the land for them selves, and that for a mere song.
