Musin and His Manager Furnish a Little Extemporaneous Divertissement.
TROUBLE OVER THEIR DISSOLUTION

Partnership Affairs Bring About a Midnight Session of the District Court and Much Loud Talk on Part of the Principals.

The lobby of the Grand hotel was the scene of considerable excitement about 1 o'clock yesterday morning when the result of a falling out between Orville Musin, the well known violin virtuoso, and his business manager, R. E. Johnston, Mr. Musin and his company had given a concert at the Methodist church during the evening. He was to leave yesterday morning for Sioux City, where he expected to close the concert season. Mr. Johnston and his wife expected to leave on the 1 o'clock train for New York City, but they were unexpectedly detained.

Musin wanted a settlement out of Johnston, which that gentleman refused to make until he reached New York City. Musin accordingly went to the district court at midnight and sued out a writ of attachment for the sum of $300, which he claimed Johnston owed him. The writ was served by the sheriff and Mrs. Johnston's baggage was seized.

The serving of the writ was attended by a number of reporters, and it attracted the attention of a great many bystanders. From that time on the two partners were busily engaged in effecting a compromise, and it was not until 5:30 in the morning that the baggage was released and the parties were ready to go on their way rejoicing. Musin left the city on the early morning train, so that his side of the disagreement could not be learned, excepting as above stated by his attorney, Finley Burke.

Another Version of the Matter.
Mr. Johnston, however, was in the city all day yesterday and talked freely upon the subject to a Bee representative.

"The trouble arose," said he, "from the settlement made with him in the $300.00 damage suit, which you remember was commenced by him after the wreck in which yesterday afternoon. He received the sum of $2,750 from the company, as he stated to me, in payment for his personal damages. It was not until a couple of weeks ago that he learned that the company was not for his personal injuries at all, but for the payment of hotel bills and so on, for the company during the time while he was unable to appear in court. He was angry to the extent of 35 per cent of the profits and losses of the company, and when I learned the purpose of the settlement, I was very pained. I immediately told him I would pay him $300.00, which the money had been paid immediately. He refused to give it to me."

Recently I accepted the management for Henri Marteau, the violinist, and gave up Musin, and that was another thing that stuck in Musin's craw. It was our disagreement on these two points that led to the final flare-up. Before we started on our Australian tour we got $600 worth of printing done by a New York firm, and by Musin's order I signed the contract for the firm, using the firm name, Musin & Johnston.
During our conference in Mr. Burke's office this morning he charged me with forging his name to the contract, and that he had sent word to his attorneys in New York to have me arrested on the charge of forgery as soon as I set foot in New York. He had money and I didn't want my name on it because I got lots of grief, so before we separated I signed a paper giving up all my claim any share in the $2,750, while he in return signed a paper ratifying my signature to the two notes."

Mr. Johnston and wife left for New York on the Northwestern flyer yesterday afternoon.

George Welsh was arrested in Omaha Friday night on the charge of stealing a lot of clothing belonging to a man named De-Bany, which he had stolen from the store where he lives at 29 North 17th street. Investigation showed that he had the clothing on.
He was compelled to disrobe at the city jail and was provided with a Marshal's tendleton suit. In the police court yesterday morning he was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of larceny from a building in the night time, and on $500 bonds he was taken to the county jail for keeping.

Leon Lozier had another dose of grief yesterday at Onawa City. As before stated, he was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, but was taken before a court at Sioux City and released on $10,000 bonds.

He was immediately rearrested and taken to Onawa City to answer to the charge of entering into a conspiracy with a couple of Omaha sports to run a foot race.
Keough and other sports in a foot race. Yesterday he was given a preliminary hearing on the charge and was bound over to the grand jury on $10,000 bonds.
He was unable to give the required bond and will probably have to lie in jail until September, when the grand jury next meets. Apparently he is very strongly opposed to a term of several years in the penitentiary is awaiting Mr. Lozier at the next turn of the road.

ple, are cordially invited to attend the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church this evening, when the Epworth league will have a special service, in place of the regular preaching, in celebration of the fourth anniversary of the founding of the league.

During the past year the league has assisted the religious world. It now numbers 10,000 chapters, with between 600,000 and 700,000 members. At its present rate of growth it bids fair to be one of the greatest powers for good in the religious world, which it does among the young people, who will be the leaders of the future. Members of other chapters which may have no special service will be gladly welcomed to take part with the Broadway chapter.

LINCOLN'S PRIVATE CAR.
Resurrected at North Platte and on the Way to the World's Fair.

There stood on a side track under the Eleventh street viaduct last night an interesting sight, a car of the past. It was the private car in which the martyred president, Abraham Lincoln, traveled about the country back in the '60s. It is a striking contrast to the palace on wheels of today.
Running along the top of the car are the seats, upholstered in Central Redwood, and beneath the window is painted the inscription, "Work Train" but so worn with age as to be almost illegible.
The car was brought in from North Platte yesterday, where it has been for years. It has been used as a boarding car for section men, and was built at Alexandria, Va., about thirty-five years ago. A narrow gauge, originally ran along one side, with doors opening into the various compartments on the other side.

It will be taken to the Union Pacific shops this morning, where it will undergo a thorough overhauling and be put in the same condition as when President Lincoln occupied it. It will then be taken to Chicago for exhibition at the World's fair.

anniversary of the founding of the league.

and 700,000 members. At its present rate of
growth it bids fair to be one of the greatest powers for good in the religious world,
bers of other chapters which may have
to take part with the Broadway chapter.

LINCOLN'S PRIVATE CAR.
Way to the World's Fair.

the private car in which the martyred pres-
contrast to the palace on wheels of today.
beneath the window is painted the inscrip-
to be almost illegible.
yesterday, where it has been for years. It
men, and was built at
