

REMEMBERED AND REVERED

Valorous Veterans and Grateful Citizens Pay Tribute to the Heroic Dead.

ALL SECTIONS UNITED IN THE EXERCISES

Protestant and Catholic Clergymen in One Carriage—Parochial and Public Schools Together—Bishop Scannell's Prayer—Dr. Wright Butler's Oration.

Omaha's citizenry of all classes rested from their daily labors yesterday and gathered met and paid united tribute to the men whose self-sacrificing valor vied the United States of America into indissoluble national unity.

Long before 2 o'clock, the hour announced for the memorial exercises, the street car lines leading toward Hanscom park were crowded with the thousands of people bound to the sylvan shades of that enchanting retreat.

The large band stand in the center of the park had been neatly, but modestly decorated and around it clustered the people. School children from the public and the parochial schools were there in swarms. The Park school and St. Peter's parochial school pupils were the most conspicuous in the immense throng.

At a few minutes before 2 o'clock a carriage bearing Bishop Scannell, Dr. S. Wright Butler, Dr. Stone and Mr. C. L. Thomas entered the park, accompanied by the Omaha Guards, who marched all the way from the city to the park as an escort for the distinguished speakers of the day.

The Guards were drawn up in line immediately in front of the band stand and acted as a guard between the school children and the adults, who were obliged to give the little folk the space nearest the speakers. Dr. Butler and Bishop Scannell were escorted to seats on the platform, and while the Second Infantry band was playing to furnish some music they sat pleasantly chatting and looking across the interesting sea of human faces before them.

The program was opened by a selection from the "Second Infantry" band, called "Recollections of War." Immediately after the music Rev. Bishop Scannell offered prayer.

Prayer for Unity and Concord. Almighty and eternal God, creator and ruler of all things, we acknowledge Thy supreme dominion over us and our entire dependence on Thee. We adore Thee. We praise Thee. We bless Thee.

On the graves of 141 departed comrades in Omaha's silent citizens and the Omaha Veterans Deck the Resting Places of Their Departed Comrades.

Prospect Hill—Senator Hitchcock, Major Thornburg, Colonel William Baumer, ex-Governor T. J. Cassiday, J. E. McLellan, Colonel Watson, R. Smith, George W. Root, Patrick Moore, Charles McManis, Charles Myers, E. A. Matthews, L. H. Norton, Thomas W. Horton, H. Holland, R. T. Noonan, A. Klonatonski, Thomas Hall, William Murphy, Sergeant James M. Johnson, Alexander Ramsey, August Walling, B. Florence, H. Finley, J. Hoffman, M. Berg, M. G. Mitchell, Corporal Edward Desmons, Henry Graves, Leitzinger, P. C. Smith, Sergeant L. E. Monroe, Quartermaster, J. H. Hood, J. B. Shraeder, Quartermaster, John Wright, S. A. Williams, John Anderson, A. Reddon, Sergeant Gustave W. De G. Mikado's own company. The leaders are Tiockiki, Assimota, Sankiki, Tan and a wonderfully clever Japanese woman named Okeo.

The school children sang "No Flag Like the Red, White and Blue," which was received with prolonged and enthusiastic applause.

"This is the day upon which we turn our faces to the past in a day sacred to memory. Everything is greater than it seems. While we look about us here and see a few men wearing the uniform of a soldier, do not realize that they touch shoulders with more than two millions of their brothers—some of them it is true, gone to the spirit world, but they live in memory. We do not realize as we these members of the Grand Army of the Republic that there are 400,000 of that noble army still in the land of the living. Things are greater than they seem."

"We look up and say that the light of day comes from the sun. We do not realize that all of those burning stars that fret the heavens with their twinkling light are suns, and that the light they are shedding their light upon this globe of ours. We read of Xerxes weeping because when he looked upon an army of 800,000 men he happened to think that within fifty years they must all be laid away in the ground. How much more impressive the thought that out of the 2,000,000 of noble men who took part in the war of the rebellion only 400,000 are alive today, and that is but thirty-two years ago."

"And now we have come at this beautiful season of the year, when the vernal month of May is about to marry with the leafy month of June, and offer up our gratitude; show that this great nation, in just a moment, as it were, we pour out the love of grateful hearts as our dead heroes poured out their life blood for us."

Great Battles Recalled. But there are other reasons for selecting this season as the month of our devotion to the treasures of sacred memory.

At this season of the year we also recall the fearful campaign of the Wilderness. Between the 5th of May and the 11th of June of that eventful year more than three times as many as died in the field as would be found in this great city today gave up their lives on the field of battle for the preservation of this country. We should not only remember the quantity of lives that were lost, but their quality as well. The pages of history gladden us with the records of Spartan deeds of valorism. But what was their noble fight at Marathon compared with the struggle of our own brave wearers of the blue? One-half of the soldiers who died at Marathon were slaves, but our heroic dead were free men. They had kissed the lips of their own wives and pretty babes as they hastened away to give up their lives for their country's flag. In the ranks were skilled mechanics, educated men of every profession and business men of wealth and honorable position in life. And while we are calling upon memory for her sacred treasures let us not forget the mothers who parted with sons and husbands, and fathers who bid good-bye to brothers and sons as they hurried away to the field of carnage."

Here the speaker read the following touching verses from the pen of T. Buchanan Reed:

Woman in the War. The maid who binds her warrior's sash With smile that well her pain dissembles, The while beneath her drooping lids, An old story teardrop hangs and trembles, Though heaven alone records the tear, And few alive but know her story, Her heart has shed a drop as dear As e'er bequeathed the field of glory.

The wife who binds her husband's sword, While to her breast her soldier presses, And bravely presses the cheerful word, Although her heart be torn asunder— Divine might in her secret smiles, The bolts of death around him rattle— Has shed as sacred blood as e'er Has poured upon the field of battle.

The mother who conceals her grief, While to her breast her soldier presses, Then breathes a few brave words and brief, To tell the patriot how she blesses, With no one that her secret story, To know the pain that weighs upon her, She with a holy blood as e'er the sod Received from heaven.

Healing Influence of Time.

Dr. Butler then turned to the years of healing recuperation that have passed in an eloquent and captivating manner described the way in which the terrible wounds of the war had been healed. He said it was a glorious thing to realize that the thousands of our enemies thirty-two years ago were now friends. Nature had been binding up the scars upon the face of nature during the war and it was right that both north and south should permit the healing hand of passing years to smooth out the troubles of the past and strew the path of future years with harmony and peace.

"They are gone to that other world," he said, "where there will be no blue nor gray, but where we are told that all the faithful will be clothed in white, the emblem of purity. It is a sad thing to die, my friends, a sad thing to leave this bright, beautiful world, but our heroes are rapidly passing. The war is past and our brave soldiers of the past are passing. It is the duty of the present generation to open their hearts and pour out their gratitude, not only upon the graves of the dead, but upon the pathway of the living who are with us. As they wilyly went forth to face death for us, let us as they went show that we appreciate their noble effort."

In conclusion he hoped that the peace and the benediction of Almighty God would rest upon the people before him and the entire nation.

The oration was received with the greatest of attention, and many were heard to remark that it was the best Memorial day oration they had ever heard.

After the oration came a pleasing program of music by the band and the school children, followed by the ritual service of the Grand Army of the Republic, conducted by Dr. R. M. Stone. Some of the people received a slight sprinkling before they finally left the park as a brisk breeze was blowing about 4 o'clock, but as a whole it was one of the most enjoyable Memorial occasions ever had in Omaha.

On mutual trials, dangers and sufferings through long, dark and weary days. Other graves there were, where life's affection was manifested, for friends of departed loved ones avoided themselves of this occasion to strew upon the graves of never-to-be-forgotten dear ones delicate tributes to their memory, and perhaps never before were the cities of the dead so generally or so lavishly adorned with love's offerings. Noticeable indeed was the lot on which no fresh tribute appeared.

On Prospect Hill. All morning long the roads leading to Prospect Hill cemetery were lined with pedestrians and carriages. By noon time this beautiful burying ground was well crowded with people laden with flowers.

In this old cemetery lie the remains of many pioneers, whose surviving relatives take unusual delight in seeing that their graves are kept ever green. Many of the floral decorations were purchased at the graves were literally covered with the choicest flowers, while the well kept graves of the watchful and loving care bestowed upon them.

A committee of the Grand Army was early upon the ground. The graves of departed soldiers were bedecked with miniature flags, bouquets and in some instances with potted plants and cut flowers. None was overlooked, and all shrank in the kindly offices of surviving comrades. It was remarked on all hands that Prospect Hill never presented a better appearance.

Busy people have no time, and sensible people have no inclination to use pills that make them sick a day for every dose they take. They have learned that the use of De Witt's Little Early Risers does not interfere with their health by causing a nausea. They clean the blood, clear the complexion and one-up the system. Lots of health in these little fellows.

CIRCUS DAY IS NEAR. Only a Few More Days Before the Advent of Ringling Bros. Shows.

The rapid approach of circus day gives an added interest to the many remarkable new features announced for Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows; and as these famous circus managers have hitherto never failed to keep their promises, the public may confidently count upon witnessing an extraordinary exhibition of ethnologic, zoologic and arene features. The troupe of Royal Japanese acrobats embraces a wonderful performance from the Mikado's own company. The leaders are Tiockiki, Assimota, Sankiki, Tan and a wonderfully clever Japanese woman named Okeo.

A school of twenty Mexican horses go through a performance almost human in the trained intelligence exhibited. The Brothers Vemon give a wonderful performance on the flying trapeze; Charles W. Fish and the famous Rono Sisters exhibit the best features of modern equestrianism; the four Walton Brothers give an unequalled series of acrobatic feats and scores of other high-salaried performers add to the excellence of the program. The exhibition day is next Monday, June 5.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Prof. Flint's mesmeric entertainment at the Boyd is both interesting and entertaining, and if all the people in Omaha who are "seekers after the truth" in hypnotic phenomena attend the professor will have no occasion to complain of the patronage accorded him. A special matinee exhibition will be given today at 2:30.

"The Nabobs" continue to receive at the Farnam Street theatre nightly. The usual Wednesday matinee will be given today.

"The Private Secretary," as played by the stock company at the Bijou, is something dramatic well worth seeing. An excellent olio program fills out the bill.

June 6 and 7 Halles & Hart appear at the Boyd in their latest on farcical comedy, "The Idea."

"O'Dowd's Neighbors," with the immitable Mark Murphy at the head of the company, comes again to the Farnam Friday and Saturday of this week.

A week of light opera at the Farnam beginning Monday, the Calhoun opera company, being the exponents thereof. Excellent entertainment may be anticipated.

DIED. Notices of funerals or burials under this head, fifty cents; each additional ten cents.

WALSHE—Judge Samuel, aged 60 years, at the Clarkson Memorial hospital, May 29. Funeral today, Wednesday, May 31, at 10 o'clock, from the undertaking rooms of H. J. Burkett, 113 North Sixteenth street, to Forest cemetery. Friends invited.

GRAZED WITH ITCHING. And Pain from Eczema. Scratched Until Blood Came. Scales Like a Fish. Cured by Cuticura.

I had a very bad case of Eczema on my neck. It was just terrible. At times it seemed as if it would drive me crazy with itching and pain. Through the day it would itch, causing me to scratch until the blood would come, and during the night it would scab over so that I would scratch off scales like those of a fish. I had the family physician for one or two seasons. He gave me temporary relief, but my trouble would come back about the same time each year. Then I began using CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have entirely cured me. MISS HANNAH M. WILLIAMS, Lawrenceville, Dearborn Co., Ind.

Fine Head of Hair. My head became very sore and all my hair fell out. I spent all I could make in doctoring the scalp, but with no result. I then used CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in six weeks time my head was well, and I then used the CUTICURA for my hair, and in four weeks I had a full head of hair in northern Indiana than I had in four years' growth. BEulah C. STUART, Butler, Indiana.

Cuticura Resolvent. The new blood and skin purifier, internally and externally, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, the excellent skin beautifier, externally, instantly relieve and speedily cure every disease and humor of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, when the best physicians, hospitals and all other remedies fail.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA 50c, SOAP 25c. Resolvent 75c. Prepared by the FORTEN DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston. 50¢ "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 50 illustrations and 100 testimonials, mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped skin and oily skin cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Diet and occupation: if they were both right there would be very little indigestion; almost none. It is hard to change the first; that's a self-sacrifice. Many times impossible to change the second. Here's where Johann Hoff's Malt Extract is of value. It aids digestion, is pleasant and harmless. The saliva, the gastric juice and other fluids are the natural aids of digestion. Johann Hoff's helps them in their work. It renders the largest food element—starch—soluble. That makes the work of the natural juices easier—that is, making digestion easier.

Signs of Summer. The open street cars—the barefoot boy—the circus poster—the jingling rhyme of familiar signs on the left—all point to the fact that summer's come. Are your youngsters prepared for it? Have you fixed them with comfortable things to wear? It's time you did if you haven't. No place like "The Nebraska" for fixing up boys for summer. We're doing something extraordinary up in the boys' room this week—selling from 5 to 14 years old (that's the age of the boys, not the suits) with double breasted coat and knee pants—in elegant—fine all wool fancy chevris and cassimeres; in light and medium shades—in mixtures—in plaids—in checks—in grays—in tans—in browns—in bronzes—in a dozen attractive colors; just such suits as have been selling freely for five dollars—at $2.90.

And it's ninety in the shade.
