HAS MOSHER GOT THE MONEY

Lincoln People Somewhat Agitated by News Received from Illinois Lately.

NO HOPE OF HELP FROM HIS WIFE'S FATHER

Benry Mansfield's Will fles Up His Estate So that Only a Percentage of the Income Would Be Available-Belief that Prevails.

LINCOLN, June 13 .- [Special to THE BEE.]-Not a great while after Charles W. Mosher had been indicted, he came forward with a proposition that he would pay $190,000 to the bank if he was allowed to go with but a nominal punishment. It was stated then that Mosher hoped to get this money from his father-in-law, Dr. Henry Mansfield of Peoria, Ill., who was commonly reported to be a millionaire. Dr. Mansfield's denial of any intention of helping his daughter's husband was discounted at the time, but there were many who firmly believed it, and who insisted that if the offer was accepted and Mosher was permitted to purchase pardon, the price would be paid from the rich booty of which he had looted the bank over which he presided. Today a letter was printed in the News, which shed a flood of light on the situation. It gives the disposition of the property made under the will of the late Dr. Mansfield, and shows one how weak a reed the hopes of those who held that Mosher's assistance would come through his wife's father were leaning. The letter is as fol-

Dr. Mansfield's Will.

Dr. Mansfield's Will.

As to the disposition of Mr. Mansfield's property, it is a hard matter to answer. I can say, however, that he gave no one a longer estate than he had himself—a life estate. He bequeathed all of his personal property to his executors, to be by them kept intact and invested for the period of live years, the income to be divided quarterly among his children in proportions as follows: Henry and Nathaniel, each 10 per cent; Eliza, Maggle, Eleanor and Sadie, each 6 per cent; Isabella, Mrs. Blakesley and Mrs. Mosher, each 4 per cent. After the expiration of the five years the personal property is to be divided among the children in the same proportion as the heome. He bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Mansfield, the homestead and two other pieces of propriety on Hamilton street in Peoria that rent for about $15 per month each, during her life as long as she remains his widow, and an annuity of $400 per year. The largest and boat of his income paying part of his real estate he bequeathed to his two sons lienry and Nat, each of his daughters, however, getting unequal portions. Mrs. Mosher and Mrs. Blakesly each get only 160 acres of land in lowa. All of the bequests of real estate to the children after their decease, if any survive, and if none are left, then to revert to the brothers and sisters. It will be perceived that only 50 per cent of the personal property is disposed of under the will, and I am disposed to think that the vemaining 44 per cent will be treated as undivided personal estate and will descend to his children in edual parts, subject to the rights of the widow.

When old Nathaniel 8. Tucker, Mansfield's partner, died he bequeathed all his estate to Mansfield, subject to the payment of an annuity of $2,000 per year to one Maggle Clark, to be divided after his death as his other personal estate filed, but it is variously estimated at sonal estate.

There has been no inventory of his personal

There has been no inventory of his personal estate filed, but it is variously estimated at from $2:00,000 to $300,000. Mrs. Mansfield has renounced her rights under the will and has elected to take her portion as provided by statutes. She will therefore take one-third of the personal estate in her own right, and homestead and dower in the real estate. Taken as Convincing Proof.

When the proposition was first broached to secure to C. W. Mosher a light punishment by fine upon condition that he put up $190,000 for depositors it was stated that the mey was to come from Mrs. Mosher's family and that others of the heirs were to quit-claim to her their interests in the Henry Mansfield estate to enable her to secure the money needed. Henry Mansfield was at that time alive and well. By a strange coincidence, just as the courts are likely to take hold of the Mosher case and there is a prospect of the money being needed, old Henry Mansfield is found dead in his office, presumably a victim of heart disease, when it is discovered that he has so tied up his vast estate in his will that none of the heirs can realize very much upon it for a term of years. If anyone believed that Mosher in fact deanyone beneved that Mosale in Inc. to pended upon his wife's relations for the $190,000 the chain of circumstances terminating in the death of Henry Mansfield would seem more than strange, but the truth is that everyone believes that Charley Mosher has not only that $190,000 stowed safely away within easy reach of his right hand, but that he has much more than that amount loft out of the wreck of the bank.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST SILVER

Information Touching the Amount Coined Up to the Present Time.

HOW THE SHERMAN ACT HAS OPERATED

Gold Drained from the National Treasury and Useless Piles of White Metal Take Its Place-Statements from Secretary Carlisle.

Washington, June 13 .- A representative of the Associated press in conversation today with Secretary Carlisle suggested to him that there was a lack of precise information touching the amount of silver coined up to the present time and also as to the manner in which the present operations of the treasury under the so-called Sherman act result in the payment of gold in the purchase of silver bullion. In reply to these suggestions Secretary Carlisle said:

Bistory for Eighty-One Years. The operatings of the United States mint commenced in 1772 and from that time to 1878, a period of eighty-one years, the total amount of silver dollars coined was 8,045, 838. In 1873 the coinage was stopped by act of congress, but in 1878 it was resumed under the so-called Bland act, by the terms of which the secretary of the treasury was directed to purchase and coin into standard silver dollars, of 4121/4 grains each, not less than $2,000,000 worth, nor more than $4,000,000 worth of silver bullion each month. Between the date of that act and the 14th day of July, 1890, a period of twelve years, there was coined $378,166,793. In addition to this there has been coined from trade dollars $5,078,472, and from the seignorage of bullion purchased and coined under the act of July 14, 1890, the sum of $6,641,109, making the aggregate $389,886,374 in full legal tender silver money issued by the government since 1878. Of this amount only $58,016,019 was in actual circulation on the first day of the present month, the remainder being held in the month, the remainder being held in the treasury as part of the assets of the government, or being represented by outstanding certificates. The act of July 14, 1890, required the secretary of the treasury to purchase 4,500,000 fine ounces of silver bullion a month, and it provided that he should continue the coinage of silver dollars at the rate of $2,000,000 per month, until the first day of July 1891, and month until the first day of July, 1891; and under this act there has been coined $20,408, 601 which makes the total coinage of silver dollars, under all acts since 1878, $419,294,-835, or more than fifty times as much as was coined during a period previous of eighty-one years.

Purchased Under the Act of July, 1890. In addition to the silver bullion purchased by the government since 1878, and coined as above stated, the secretary of the treasury has purchased under the act of July 14, 1890 and now holds in the vaults of the treasury uncoined 124,292,532 fine ounces of silver succined 124,292,532 fine ounces of silver bullion, which cost the people of the United States $114,299,920 and is worth today at market price $103,411,386, thus showing a loss of $10,888,534. By the terms of the act the secretary was required to pay for all silver bullion purchased in the issue of the United States treasury notes available in coin and it provided that notes payable in coin, and it provided that upon demand of the holder of any such notes they should be redeemed in gold, or silver coin, at the discretion of the secretary, "it being," in the language of the act, "the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present local ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by the law." such ratio as may be provided by the law. In the execution of this declared policy of congress it is the duty of the secretary when emergency arises to exercise all the powers conferred upon him by the law, in order to keep the government in condition to redeem its obligations in such manner as demanded, and to prevent the depreciation of either gold or silver, as compared with the other.

Paid for in Gold. The records of the Treasury department show that during the thirteen months beginning May 1, 1893, and ending May 31, 1893, the coin treasury notes issued for the purchase of silver bullion under the act of July 14, 1890, amounted to $49,951,184, and that during the same period the amount of the property of the same period the amount of the property of the same period the same pe that during the same period the amount of such notes paid in gold was $47.435,173. It thus appears that all the silver bullion pur-chared during that time, except $2,216,011 worth, was paid in gold, while the bullion itself is stored in the vaults of the treasury and can neither be sold nor used for the pay-ment of any kind of obligation. How long the government shall be thus compelled to purchase silver bullion and increase the pub-lic debt by issuing coin obligations in payment for it, is a question which congress alone can answer. It is evident that if this policy is continued and the secretary of the treasury shall be compelled to issue bonds, or otherwise increase the interest-bearing public debt, it will be done for the purpose of procuring gold with which to pay for sil-
