A concert was given in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church last evening under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Kinsbury. It was well attended, the audience being attracted by the excellence of the program announced yesterday, and also by the object for which it was given, the proceeds all going to aid the Second Presbyterian church in its building project.

Miss Daisy Higgins also rendered several piano solos in a brilliant manner. Miss Mabel H. sang a contralto solo, and the music was furnished by Misses Vandenberg and Covatt. The accompanists were Miss Higgins and W. L. Thickston. Miss E. Thomas gave very pleasing vocal selections. The program was an excellent one from first to last and the entertainment netted a neat sum.

FAILED TO SOLVE THE MYSTERY. Authors of the Muscatine Outrage Have Ended the Detectives.

MUSCATINE, June 15.—Several weeks have now elapsed since the recent dynamite explosion ruffled the usual tranquil city of Muscatine, and although the citizens committee appointed for that purpose has succeeded in raising and maintaining a fund sufficient to keep a number of Chicago detectives employed at $8 a day, no result from their work has yet been made public.

People are growing impatient, as they have been led through well founded rumors at times to suppose that arrests would soon be made in which starting revelations would appear. The indignation suits which are popularly supposed to have brought about the dynamite deed, have effectually closed all the old saloons, but new ones seem to be rapidly taking their place, and liquor flows in seemingly plentiful quantities from many mysterious sources.

The residence of Mr. Kessinger, who is being held in custody, but those of Mr. Mahin and Attorney Rosenberger still stand in the conflagration. The "law and order" meetings have been held, and many suggestions to raise funds for rebuilding the ruined houses have been made, but the very means of doing this, has not been subscribed in any quantity that would be noticed.

The belief that the conspirators will never be caught seems to be daily gaining ground, and it is noticed, that some of the detectives have given up the chase. However, this is only rumor, and the city is doing everything within its power to bring the guilty to justice.

Work of Good Templars. Des Moines, June 15.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The international supreme lodge of Good Templars was occupied nearly all day with routine reports of committees. The salaries of officers were fixed. The grand chief templar is to get $1,000 per annum and fees not to exceed $1,000 in addition. These officers were elected this morning: Right worthy grand chief templar, Dr. D. H. Mann of York; right worthy grand counselor, Joseph A. Collins of England; right worthy grand superintendent, W. H. G. Myers of Wayne.

The fair was closed Sunday.

Arrested on Suspicion. George Herman and Charles Kellner were arrested by the police last night as suspicious characters. Herman is said to be the man who broke into Gray's photograph gallery on Sixteenth street Wednesday night and stole about $70 in cash. He was formerly employed at the gallery and had a key to the building. Kellner is said to be a German citizen of the city of St. Louis, and has recently finished a term at the Fort Madison penitentiary.

Killed in a Railway Wreck. ALBUQUERQUE, June 15.—The eastbound passenger train, due at 5:20 a. m., was derailed three miles east of Holbrook. The engine, mail and express cars and the front truck of the passenger car were wrecked. The wreck being caused by a broken rail.

Engineer Oscar Frost and Fireman Snyder were caught in the wreck and both are held at the county jail. The train was carrying about 100 passengers and 100 tons of freight. The "blind baggage" and one of them was killed outright.

Grain Clearing House Established. DELTID, June 15.—The Board of Trade here has appointed a committee to establish a grain clearing house for the business of the board. These clearing houses are not applicable to money and grain. The board is also already in business at the Chicago Board of Trade and the New York Produce exchange.

Catherine's Little Hatchet. Catherine Dea, a colored woman, is locked up at the police station for an alleged attempt to brain Edward Strong with a hatchet. Strong is also detained, and reports that the woman who had the hatchet which he claims was inflicted by the colored woman. The latter is charged with assault with intent to kill.

REV. H. D. BROWN'S LECTURE

Romanism in America as Viewed by a Methodist Divine.

WHAT HE SAYS ABOUT CITIZENSHIP

Criticizes Roman Catholics' Allegiance to the Pope—Priesthood Receives His Attention—Refers to Father Sherman—Political Power Discussed.

The Forum street theater was packed from balcony to pit last evening with people who were there to hear Rev. H. D. Brown of Iowa, lecture on "True Americanism." After the crowd was seated the speaker announced his topic as "Romanism as a Political Power."

There was a large number of ladies in the audience. On the stage were fifty prominent citizens, including Mayor Dennis, Controller Olson, Judge Baldwin, County Treasurer Irey, Sheriff Bennett, Judge Stenberg, Rev. Mr. White and many others.

As soon as the theater was well filled the audience was requested to join in singing "America." The response was hearty. Mayor Dennis arose and said Omaha was proud to hear a discussion of both sides of any question. Rev. Mr. Brown was then introduced by the mayor.

As Rev. Brown stepped to the front he was warmly greeted. He prefaced his remarks by saying that it had been advertised that he would speak on "Americanism" and he regretted that he had failed to do so. This was an error, as he proposed to tell of Romanism as a political power, and he said he did not intend to reply to Father Sherman's lecture, "as he had failed to find anything in that lecture that required answering." He assured the Catholics that personally he had nothing to say against them, and that any man who had a right to be a Catholic as another did a Methodist, and to enjoy all the rights of worship and religion, was not a Romanist, but a church, but as a political power. When a church enters politics and undertakes to act as a political power, and controls the entire political field, the public mind condemns it, said the speaker, "Romanism is a political power. There is no better name for it than Romanism. It is a political leadership, another thing that is necessary, and it is carefully observed. When Mr. Sattoli came to this country the diplomats and senators voted that he be admitted to their councils."

The speaker then stated that the proposition had been made that the United States should enact a legislation to be represented at the Vatican, and he knew it had aroused a number of the people.

Potent Political Factor. "A political party always cast a solid vote," said Rev. Brown, "and so does Romanism. Any politician knows that all he has to do in a locality is to make arrangements with the pope and the solid vote of Romanism will be his. It is a political power, but a foreign one, and the pope, professors in the schools and priests were foreigners."

He said that Romanism was not only a political power, but a foreign one, and the pope, professors in the schools and priests were foreigners.

"Father Sherman said there were 10,000,000 Romans in this country," said the divine. "Admit the statement true for argument and I say that there are 10,000,000 subjects of a foreign power in this country."

"Romanism has declared openly and above board, he continued, "that it aspires to the possession of the government of this country." In support of this position he quoted several selections from the writings and speeches of the pope and his agents, and then began to explain the methods by which the Catholic church hoped to attain the desired end.

"The priests," he said, "are political agents all over the country, and their people vote according to their direction. For another thing the priesthood wields the command of 10,000,000 subjects. The merchants of this city know what that means. They know that when they break away from Romanism they are losing their Catholic customers. When this power is wielded by shrewd politicians it means a good deal. Again the Catholic church has long been a political power, and it is always potent in politics."

Church and Citizenship. The speaker then dealt at some length with the query "Can a good Romanist be a loyal citizen of the United States?" "I can teach," he said, "that the first allegiance is due to the pope, and that any other allegiance may be set aside by him at his will. The decree of the council of Constantine taught that no faith should be kept with heretics, and if a Roman Catholic should make the oath of allegiance to this country, he would be guilty of a crime, and he would be guilty of a crime if he were to support Romanism first and last. I can see no way in which he can be a loyal citizen of the United States."

"Father Sherman told you," continued Rev. Brown, "how bravely the Catholics fought during the war, but he forgot to tell you that the Roman Catholics know about the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. He did not tell you that more than one-half the deserters from the union army were Romanists, and that the pope sent his blessing to Jeff Davis. Father Sherman said a good deal about the constitution. Now, I tell you that he and his church are the most bitter and determined enemies that the constitution has. The constitution says that the government must be by the people, but Romanism says that the pope is supreme and the people must obey. The constitution says that congress must never pass a law abridging the right of free speech. Here,

CRIME IN HIGH PLACES! It is not strange that some people do wrong through ignorance, others from a failure to investigate as to the right or wrong of a matter. But it is strange, that individuals and firms, who are fully aware of the rights of others, will persist in perpetrating frauds upon them. High-toned, wealthy manufacturing firms will offer and sell to retail merchants, articles which they know to be infringing on the rights of proprietors, and imitations of well known goods. We want to sound a note of warning to the retailers to beware of such imitations and simulations of "CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS." When they are offered to you, refuse them; you do not want to do so, and you do not want to lay yourself liable to a lawsuit. Ben Franklin said "Honesty is the best policy." It is just as true that "Honesty is the best principle."
