World's Fair Visitors Should continue their trip to Utah and the west. The magnitude in resources and beauty of the western territory is incomparable. Nature in creative mood has fashioned rock-ribbed crested peaks, ever white with the snow of untold ages and whose heary summits seem to pierce into some unknown realm beyond. The grand canons and cataracts are awe inspiring. In the west you can find health, wealth and happiness; it is one large sanitarium, and is best reached by the Rio Grande Western railway. See that your tickets read both ways via that road which offers choice of three distinct routes and the most magnificent scenery in the world. For copies of pamphlets, etc., write to J. H. NEBRASKA WOMAN'S SHAME.

Eloped with an Omaha Artist and Then Killed Berself.

Remorse, a pistol and a bottle of poison ended the life of Mrs. E. S. Jacobs at Sloux City Thursday. It was the old story of illicit love, the forsaking of husband, home and friends with a windup in an unhonored grave. The woman is known in Omaha, Kearney and Sioux City because of her sensational elopement with W. C. McCahan, a former portrait artist of this city.

The woman has been despondent for some time, and yesterday she went out on Prospect Hill in Sioux City. Here she took a quantity of ether and then fired two shots into her breast, producing death in a short

The story of the woman's life is best told by her paramour, who unburdened himself a reporter of the Sioux City Journal as follows:
"My name is W. C. McCahan. I am about

"My name is W. C. McCahan. I am about 24 years old and am a portrait artist. This woman and I have lived here about three weeks as husband and wife. She is not my wife, however. Her name is Mrs. E. S. Jacobs, and her husband lives in Kearney, Neb. He is a laundry man and is employed by Smith's Kearney Steam laundry. I lived in Kearney about a year and a half before coming to Sioux City, and was in the portrait business there. Last March I met Mrs. Jacobs while soliciting work and took an order for her husband's portrait. We met after that several times and an at-We met after that several times and an at-tachment grew up between us. Finally I discovered that I had become infatuated discovered that I had become infatuated with her and that she was with me. I need not say how long we were intimate. It is enough to say that about four weeks ago we planned to run away from Kearney and come to Sioux City. I came by one train and she by another and we met here. We went to living at 112 West Third street at once and bounded at a restaurant. We thought a boarded at a restaurant. We thought a great deal of each other and were very great deal of each other and were very happy together. She told me her family story, but I have forgotten it, even to the name of her father. He once lived in Kearney and kept a hotel there, but I do not know where he is now. Mrs. Jacobs had one child, a girl, 5 years old, whom she left with friends in Kearney. It was the little girl's picture that was found with her, and the note on the back of it was addressed to me.

"I know of no reason why she should have taken her life, unless through remorse or because of a letter received this morning.

Before she came here she arranged with a Before she came here she arranged with a Mrs. Smith, at Kearney, to keep her posted about the child's welfare, Mrs. Smith's letter came this morning. It told her that it was currently reported in Kearney that she was living with me here and that Jacobs had commenced a suit for a divorce from her and for the custody of the child. She thought much of the little girl and was planning to get her and bring her to live with us. She seemed to feel badly at the thought of lesing the child, but at noon was as cheerful as ever. I started to deliver a picture and she walked down with me, saying that she was going to the library. When I left her she went in to see Mrs. H. R. Prairie, near the corner of Sixth and Water streets. The lady is sick. I delivered my picture and returned home. That was the last 1 saw of her alive. A boy came to the house and told me that she was dead."

McCahan was very nervous while telling the story. He said that he thought this a terrible punishment for his wrong doing, but a just one. He said that he had always led a moral lite until he met Mrs. Jacobs, and that this was his first great sin. He lived in Omaha at 937 North Twenty-fourth street, for a number of years before going to Kearney, is well acquainted there, and was there divorced from his wife. He gave the names of a number of persons in Omaha who, he said, would testify to his good character. He expressed a fear that he would be shot by Jacobs if he came here and was greatly relieved when Chief Hawman told him he could go.

A Good Thing for Summer Complaints. Mr. J. W. Hager, a well known merchant of Clio, Iredell Co., North Carolina, cured four cases of flux with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colle, Cholera and Diarrheea Remedy. This is the most prompt and most ruccessful remedy in use for dysentery, diar-shora, colic and cholera morbus. No other medicine will take its place or do its work in this class of discases. It is equally valuable for children and adults. 25 and 50-cent bot-tles for sale by druggists.

BARY IN COURT.

One Defendant Who "Was Not Old Enough

Since the holding of the first term of the district court in this county, young men and old men, young women and old women, have been made parties plaintiff and defendant to law suits, but yesterday the record was broken when - Mortensen, a baby boy, 10 days of age, was made defendant in a $30,-000 foreclosure suit brought by the McCague Investment company against Jesse Lowe and While Baby Mortensen knows but little about the suit, it seems that it came about something like this; Years ago Lowe owned a lot in the vicinity of Tenth and Harney streets, which he sold to Nels Mortensen, who in those days was a man with money in the bank, but not desiring to pay all of his the bank, but not desiring to pay all of his ready cash, he gave a mortgage for $30,000, which in time passed into the hands of the plaintiff. Before the debt became due Mortensen died and the which in time passes into plaintiff. Before the debt became due Mortensen died, and the wealth of the family went to the dogs to such an extent that the wife and mother was compelled to take her little broad and move to the extreme western limits, where, by receiving aid from the county and by working at washing, she has since managed to eke out an existence.

A short time ago the mortgage was fore-closed, but before the proceedings were completed a new son and heir to the Mortensen equity appeared upon the scene and the new suit had to be instituted to cut the youngster out of any interest that he might have in the real estate.

S. P. Morse's Condition. So far there has been no effort made to secure the $500 bond, the securing of which would give S. P. Morse his liberty and cause him to be released from his incarceration in the county jail, where he is held in accordance with the terms of a mandate of the court.

Yesterday morning, in talking upon the subject, Dr. Tilden, the medical member of the insanity commission, said that up to date the proceedings in the Morse case had all been wrong. The jail, he declared, was not the proper place for Mr. Morse. If he was kept there for any long period of time he was very liable to become insane. The doctor said that Mr. Morse's mind was affected and that the most that was needed was rest and quiet. If the that was needed was rest and quiet. If the man were taken to some quiet and attract-ive retreat he would regain his health and strength and become himself again, but if he were dragged through the courts he would have to eventually go to the asylum for the insane. Dr. Tilden expressed considerable surprise to think that some of the friends of Mr. Morse had not called his condition to the attention of the board.

La Moil's Claim for a Divorce In the district court John K. La Moil seeks to have a judge interfere and grant him a bill of divorce from his wife, Fannie, to whom he gave his heart and hand just one year ago last Independence day, at some lit-tle town in lowa, whence he and his Fannie journeyed the next day, staking their tent in Omaha.

The cause of John's sorrows has been brought on by the fact that shortly after the marriage Fannie developed a violent tem-per, and that while she was angry, so he avers, she belabored him over the head with the rolling pin and other kitchen utensils. such as brooms, mops and stove pokers. This treatment, John avers, that he could have stood without a murmur, but when Fannie went wrong and bestowed her caresses upor another man, first and real name unknown he drew the line and proposed to divide the house, letting a court act as the referee.

The Way that Leads to Health, Happiness and Long Life.

An Amherst Man Who Paid His Own College Expenses.

Happiness is so fragile that one risks the loss of it by talking of it.

It flies from him who deliberately pursues it, and shuns the hand that would sieze upon it. Yet much unhappiness may be avoided by keeping well. To the steady brain worker (and all are brain workers) it is important to be able to perceive the indications of the coming storm. Rev. Charles C. Bruce, the well known paster, of Semerville,

REV. CHARLES C. BRUCE.

Mass., preaches a very practical sermon to those who, from sickness, are unhappy. He was sick. He took Paine's ceiery compound, the wonderful remedy that makes people well. He is now on the royal road to health and long life. His own words are:

"I am nearly 38 years of age and weigh normally 158 pounds, at present my weight is 1481. My sickness took me down to 1342, so that you can see that I am getting back to be myself, and, God willing, shall soon be there.

"I have been a very sick man, but owing to the goodness of the supreme powers and to a few good friends I am now on the royal road whose end is perfect health. "I was born in Peterboro, N. H., and lived there until I was 16 years old. My father, who is a very noble man, sent me to the Appleton academy for three years, then he told me, 'If you want any more education you must get it.' when I was 16 I went to Amherst college and carned every cent that paid my bills there for four years and graduated. Then I was persuaded to go to Andover seminary, and studied there three years and took my degree as a clergyman in 1878, and went to preaching. I preached 11 or 12 years and then went back to col-lege and studied two years for the Ph. D.

"All these two years I was studying and supporting my family. This, as you will easily imagine, was excessive labor. At length I was elected to a position in a high school in Boston, but the work told on me and I grew ill. The illness lasted for about a now I am so that I can see the end, and more thankful man you never saw. A gentleman who lived near me began to ase Paine's celery compound and it built him up. I thought of this and soon I was led to use it, and it has been bringing me out all right.

"I am inclined to think that I will soon be herculean in strength. Paine's celery compound is today prescribed by physicians in every town throughout the country. It has made thousands of over-worked and worn-out men and women well and thankful.
