All of the July Vouchers Hung Up in the Auditor's Office - Reasons for This Decision of the Official.

LINCOLN, Aug. 7.—(Special to THE BEE.) Auditor Moore sent a dispatch to Chicago this morning that has undoubtedly created consternation in the Nebraska building. Last week the auditor and commissioner general held a spirited conference by mail in the course of which the latter practically refused to submit the form of itemized statements required by the auditor. Thereupon the auditor stated that Mr. Garneau had expended money belonging to the state that should properly be charged to Mr. Garneau and that there were enough funds in the overcharge to pay for the employees for the month of July. When this information reached the Nebraska building, it did this morning, Seth P. Noble immediately telegraphed an inquiry to the auditor, asking if he intended to hang up the employees' pay. Mr. Moore did not make his answer public, but it left no doubt as to his intention. All of the July vouchers are hung up in the auditor's office, and there they will remain until the commissioner general's expense accounts are submitted in proper form.
