Buchanan of the Elkhorn wants to know a thing or two about how this rate is made. Not being in the eating house business and providing lodgings and admissions to the fair for the thousands, he thinks there is something rotten in Denmark, and it is understood, he will call Chairman Caldwell's attention to the anomaly of a railroad furnishing lodgings and fair admissions to persons desiring to use the Milwaukee line.

ANOTHER MUDDLE.

Railroads Placing Their Own Interpretations on a Harvest Home Circular,

Harvest home excursions are giving no end of trouble to the roads in the Western Passenger association. On July 28 Chairman Caldwell issued a circular which provided that tickets could be sold from any point in Kansas to any point In Kansas, no through rates to be less than 7. the same rule applying from any point to any point in Nebraska and so on throughout the territory of the transmissouricommittee. Secretary McCullough of the transmissouri committee, being asked for an opinion, rules that the circular provides for the sale of tickets between points it transmissour territory in a northwest, west, south-west or south bound direction as well as from transmissouri territory to other territory in the same direction. Chairman Caldwell, asked for a ruling, gave an opinion along the lines of Secretary McCullough, which is also the opinion of the Rock Island and the Santa Fe.

But General Passenger Agent Townsend says that tickets may only be sold from eastern gateways, Chicago and St. Louis, while the Burlington interprets the circular to apply only from Missouri river points. So varied are the opinions among the "silk dats" that Chairman Caldwell has en asked to adjust the matter to the satisfaction of the members of the association.

Views of a Shopman

OMARA, Aug. 10 - [To the Editor of The BEE.]-Recent articles published in your paper about a reduction in wages among the Union Pacific shopmen have caused a great fical of comment among the men. If you will allow me the space I would like to say a tew words on the subject. The shopmen have already been reduced in wares about 25 per cent. The reduction has been brought about by shortening the hours. This was not scri-ously objected to by the men. We are aware of the hard times provailing all over the country and the difficulty in obtaining work, and are not making any kick. But a reduction in the rate per hour would meet with serious opposition from the men. The average wages of the shop men do not exceed $40 per month at the present time, but the monthly pay of the salaried men and officers has not been charged. officers has not been changed That is where we think the injustice of the thing comes m. We do not anticipate a reduction in the rate per hour, but the article referred to calls for an answer from us.

What I have said voices the sentiment of the majority, if not all the men. Let the big salaried officials knock of a few thousand of their salaries and its said the sentiment of the salaries of the sentiment of of their salaries, and it will not be necessary to cut wages. SHOPMAN.

Missouri Pacific Reduction.

While officials and employes of the Mis souri Pacific have been commiserating with their brethren of the Union Pacific over the probability of a reduction in salaries on the Union Pacific they have not, been paying very close attention to what is developing n their own dominions. In fact they have been rather jubilant that the reduction in forces on the line of the Missouri Pacific contemplated all that would be done toward meeting losses in revenue.

After going over the situation very closely with General Manager Doddridge an order from Mr.George Gould was received at Mis-From Sir October Control was received at Mis-nouncing that all employes of the Missouri Pacific whose salaries are $100 per month and over will have their salaries rut 10 per cent, counting from August 1. Salaries of less than $100 are left indisturbed. In case any employe so affected ibjects to the arrangement he will be "fired."

ent en masse on this day at Chicago and it is expected that 40,000 people of that race will be present, while 20,000 will take part in the big parade, which, considering that these people inhabit a large portion of Europe, is estimated very low. If Russia, Bulgarin, Servia, Montenegro, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Croatia and Bohemia, where these people predominate, send even the smallest representation it is thought the attendance will surely be large, when added to the number expected to be in attendance from all parts of the United States.

Within Reach of a Fortune, He Became r

Burgiar Bold. Tom Carroll, who has been serving a three years' sontence in the penitentiary for burg lary and committed suicide in prison yesterday, was raised in Omaha, and is well known to mest old citizens. He was a victim of bad company and whisky. The police, whom he gave much trouble when he was here, say that he was strictly honest and a good fellow when sober, but that as soon as ne began drinking they had to keep a close watch on him to prevent him from commutting some crime

Tom has been under arrest for nearly all Tom has been under arrest for nearly all the petty crimes in the category, but es-caped sovere punishment until he robbed the residence of Major Leddington. This robbery took place about two and a half years ago and was a most during crime. He entered the major's house just after dinner and gathered up an armful of silverware. He was discovered by Miss Leddington, who attempted to stop him. She was knocked down, but fought with him until they reached the street, when Tom rendered her unconscious. He was captured after a se-vere struggle and sontenced to three years ere struggle and sentenced to three years in prison

Tom is heir to a legacy of about $100,000. which will remain in his mother's posses-sion until her death. He could get none of this money, and, as he was an ambitious young man, it is alleged that he did not receive sufficient encouragement to engage in some inudable enterprise or business. The remains will be brought to Omaha today for interment.

When Captain Mostyn of the police force heard of the suicide of Tom Carroll in the penitentiary at Lincoin yesterday he pre-dicted that Charles McClure, the Missouri Pacific train robber, would do the same thing. "When McClure left here." said the captain, "he told nic that he would not serve a long sentence. One sad feature of the death of Terr Car-roll, the convict who suicided at M coin was the fact that his mother, who resides in Omaha, had just secured a numerously signed petition to Governor Crounse, asking that her son be transferred to the insane asylum. Oity Electrician Enters a Vigorous Protest Against Certain Statements. City Electrician Cowgill enters a vigorous denial to the assertion of Councilman Hascall that he has been derelict in his duty in not ordering the Thomsen-Houston company to place are lights at the railway crossings where the companies had refused or neglected to do so, as required by a recent ordi-nance of the council. Mr. Cowgill says that he has been acting under instructions from the city attorney, and for that reason has not ordered the lights placed. The records of the office show that he no-tified the companies to place the lights, and that unless they did so he would place them and the set in the state of the set that unless they did so he would place them and the cost would be assessed against the property of the companies as provided by the ordinance, a copy of which was fur-nished the different railway companies. A few days after the time expired for the companies to place the lights, which was July 26 an amended ordinance be-ing unseed at that time and subsequent to was July 26. an amended ordinance be-ing passed at that time, and subsequent to the time he had notlided the companies to place the lights. Mr Cowgill sought advice from City Attorney Connell. He says that he was informed by Mr. Connell that it was best not to force the placing of the lights under the existing ordinance, which pro-vided for lights of 2,000 nominal candle power and that if such was done it might prejudice the interests of the city in enforce prejudice the interests of the city in enforc-ing its contract with the Thomsen-Houston company, which requires that lights for-nished the city shall be of 2,000 candle power, the word nominal not appearing.

In this connection it may not be uninter-esting to note that at a very recent meeting a protest was filed by the Belt Line company against placing the lights, the only company that has taken cognizance of the city's order to light its crossings. This protest was re-ferred to Mr Edwards' light committee, and at the same time a motion was made to suspend enforcement of the ordinance until the protest had been investigated. This motion was withdrawn with the understanding that ordinance would not be enforced. Right top of this verbal understanding the on top of
