In talking with Judge Woolson and Thomas Metcalf, sr., who heard at the same place with her, she offered to do a bargaining way, to walk from the postoffice in Council Bluffs to the corner of Ninth street and Douglas in Omaha in one hour. There was nothing in that worthy of notice, but in some way the report got around that she would start from the postoffice corner last evening at 5 o'clock. At the hour appointed the corner was a seething mass of humanity. Nearly every sporting man in the city was there, anxious to bet on the event, while there were a great many who do not belong to the profession, but were anxious to see the start. But no lady teacher materialized at the disappointed crowd had to disperse.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

One in the District Court of More than Passing Interest.

J. H. E. CLARK'S LIFE INSURANCE MONEY

His Former Partner Makes a Claim Against It—The Facts in the Case—Charges That Are Made Against the Deceased.

The case of Grimmelman against the Union Pacific Railway company was given to the jury yesterday in the district court. Another damage suit, that of Scott Wilkins against the motor company, was expected to follow this case immediately, but the attorneys were not ready to begin when it was called and it was passed for a time.

The case now on trial is that of George F. Wright against the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company. The insurance company is not involved in the case at all, as the amount of the policy which gave rise to the suit is now in the hands of the court to be divided, the decision as to who shall get it. Miss H. E. Clark, wife of a former coal merchant of this city, now deceased, and Mr. Wright are the real parties to the dispute. The insurance policy was issued to her husband, who died in 1887, and the amount of the policy was $10,000. The insurance company is not involved in the case at all, as the amount of the policy which gave rise to the suit is now in the hands of the court to be divided, the decision as to who shall get it.

PLAYING GREAT BILLIARDS

Ives Makes a Spurt and Gains Over a Thousand on Roberts.

SIX HUNDRED AND FIFTY AT ONE RUN

Both Men Were in Fine Form, but the Chicago Man's Superiority Was Plainly Shown—The Records of the Game Broken.

New York, Oct. 4.—When the fourth game in the series of 10,000 points match between John Roberts of London and Frank C. Ives of Chicago was finished this afternoon the score stood: Roberts, 3,591; Ives, 2,556, leaving Roberts 945 points in the lead. Ives was in bad form all through the game, but Roberts played excellently.

The fifth game of the series was begun tonight. Soon after the opening Ives made the best play of any. He panned the balls in his favorite place on the bottom rail. Roberts watched him closely as he worked them slowly toward the corner pocket. When he had scored 150 the house greeted him with a rousing cheer. He turned the corner safely, flicked off caroms down the side rail toward the center pocket, passed the ball to the center pocket, and when 200 was called he took off his coat and settled down to break his record of 320, made in the afternoon game of Tuesday. He accomplished what he set out to do, bringing the spheres toward the right top pocket, and passed the ball safely at 400. Carefully along the top line came the globes, and as they reached the hand he called "five hundred." Ives turned the corner and passed the pocket in brilliant style and sent the balls gently down the left hand rail. Roberts walked around the table and anxiously watched the Chicago man make 600. When he got to the center pocket the balls were in such a position that he could not open play. He finally slipped up on a shot for the side pocket and set down, making 651 in the first hundred and forty of this score was made on the rail.

In the night's play Ives scored 1,943, which placed him 115 ahead of Roberts, although he was 945 behind when the first game of the series was begun. The total score now is: Ives, 4,497; Roberts, 4,487. Roberts made 162 and went over the century mark five times.

Both the Vigilant and the Valyrie Ready for Today's Great Race.

New York, Oct. 4.—Both the Vigilant and the Valyrie are ready for the great race tomorrow, which is to decide whether America will continue to maintain the supremacy over England in racing yachts that has been upheld for forty-two years. About fourteen new yachts have been placed on the Valyrie's bottom. It is the best of the new yachts, and the Valyrie has twenty-two feet six inches beam instead of twenty feet, and her draught is seventeen feet, instead of sixteen.

The race tomorrow will be sailed over course No. 1, namely fifteen miles to windward, thence to the light, thence to the mark, made at a stake boat fifteen miles from the starting and finishing lines, which will be an imaginary line drawn between the Scotch Light and the Flagstaff May. The second race will be from the starting line, ten miles to and around a mark, thence ten miles to the finish line, thus making a perfect triangular course.

The overcast sky and the northeasterly wind which prevails in the morning to those persons who intend to see the race tomorrow, and have a delicate organization of the stomach. All the signs pointed to an ugly sea and a tight wind.
