

THE DAILY BEE

COUNCIL BLUFFS OFFICE: NO. 12 PEARL STREET... Delivered by carrier to any part of the city...

MISOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co. Boston street, Okla. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams is down with scarlet fever at the family residence on Harmony street...

The social which was to have been given by Harmony chapter, No. 25, Order of Eastern Star, on the 18th, has been postponed to November 10.

The T. P. T. were entertained at the home of Miss May A. Caldwell last Friday evening. The evening was spent in the drawing of silhouettes. Refreshments were served.

The Woodmen of the World will give a ball and banquet Tuesday evening in honor of the opening of their new hall over 140, 148 and 150 Broadway, which has been remodelled for the purpose.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon to extinguish a fire near the elevator factory on Tenth street...

Dr. Laurel, who is confined to his bed by partial paralysis, induced by a bad fall, had a sinking spell yesterday afternoon and it was feared for a time that he would not recover.

Up to date. That is what we can say about our clock department. It now covers over half of our second floor, and we have filled it with all the newest and noblest garments that we could find in the clock factories.

At $6.00 we have a ladies' 32-inch reefer in six different cloths, in black, navy and tan.

At $7.50 we have ladies' reefers in fur trimmed or plain, with Worth or Derby capes in navy blacks and browns.

At $10.00 we have entirely too many styles to mention here, but come and see them, they are hummers.

At $12.00, $15.00, $17.50 and $20.00 we can give you the largest assortment of styles and cloth to be seen in the city and equally as good value as our lower priced merchandise.

In children and misses' cloth garments and ladies' plush caques we are showing styles and qualities that can't be beat for the money.

FOTHERINGHAM, WHITELEY & CO., 1111 Broadway, Council Bluffs, Ia. P. S.—Store closed at 6 p. m. except Mondays and Saturdays.

When coal is high to save we try. The Art Garland and Oak Garland heaters are the most economical coal burners ever made.

Had Bills Made Good. If you have any bad bills against persons not living in Iowa who are employed by any railway, telegraph, express or sleeping car company entering Iowa...

The attraction at Miss Fitzgerald's this week will be a special sale of trimmed hats. Prices will range from $2.50 to $5.00.

Williamson & Co., 108 Main street, largest and best bicycle stock in city.

Domestic soap is the best PERSONAL PARAGRAPH.

H. H. Field is home from a trip to Chicago. Mrs. W. J. Davenport returned from the fair yesterday.

F. J. Stenley left yesterday for a trip to the Chicago fair. Mrs. J. W. Dixon is home from a visit with friends in Chicago.

W. C. Stacy leaves today for Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lynchard left yesterday for a few days visit at the fair.

Mrs. J. W. Chapman and daughter, Miss Marie, have returned from the World's fair. Mrs. Maurice Wolman and Mrs. John Keller have returned after a ten days visit at the fair.

Mrs. W. M. Shepard has returned from Ohio, where she was called by the death of her father.

Mrs. H. J. Meyer of Sixth avenue has gone on a motor trip in northern Nebraska and South Dakota.

Ed F. Cogley leaves this week for Chicago, where he will resume his work with a theatrical troupe. He will play "Ole Olson."

F. J. Stenley leaves today for a visit to Chicago. After spending two weeks at the fair he will pay a visit to his old home in Wisconsin.

E. B. Hill is home from a visit to the fair. L. C. Patterson, who accompanied him, will visit at Sterling, Ill., a few days before returning home.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Burlington Employe Found in Dying Condition Near the Tracks.

SOME MYSTERY SURROUNDING THE AFFAIR Believed to Have Been Asleep at the Time of the Accident—Story of the Night Watchman of the Milwaukee.

Night Watchman Ed Martin of the Milwaukee yards found James Hughes, a switchman for the Burlington railway, lying between that company's tracks where they cross Sixth street at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

His head and face were covered with blood and his left arm was lying by his side, mangled and torn by the wheels which had passed over him.

The patrol wagon was called and he was taken to St. Bernard's hospital, where medical aid was given him. He was found to be in such a precarious condition that the physicians at that hospital advised to perform any surgical operation upon him, but merely applied such restoratives as they could with a view of bringing him back to consciousness.

All efforts were fruitless, and shortly after 12 o'clock he died. An examination of the body showed that he had been struck on the head and his skull was fractured in the rear. His face and head were badly cut up, but it was probably the fracture that caused death.

He was 40 years of age and lived with his wife and five children on South Eighth street just below the Rock Island tracks. He was formerly employed by Wickham Bros., but lately has been section hand on the Burlington. How he met his death it is impossible to say positively.

He quit the Burlington on Monday night, and no one knows where he went, although there is a rumor to the effect that he drank some beer before leaving to go home. He was found lying after 11:30 o'clock at night, so that he could not have been struck before that time.

He was walking along the track or else lying asleep upon the track when the train hit him. The general opinion is that he was asleep. Before the accident he was in good health, but passed the spot, but none of their crews admit that they saw him or knew that anything had taken place. There will probably be no inquest.

How a Well Known Omaha Man Was Given a New Lease on Happiness.

In the Morse Dry Goods company's passenger elevator, the gilded cage has been in the hands of a man who has come down from the basement to the roof of the big building in Omaha, there is a man who is more than an object of interest to hundreds in the daily multitude.

Mr. Moore is well known in Omaha, and he has been seen by many when he was the employer of hundreds of men, but failing health brought financial reverses and his friends and acquaintances saw him gradually succumbing to what appeared to be the inevitable. They witnessed his struggle, many but hopeless struggle he was making, watched him grow frazier day by day, until the time came when his thin hands had scarcely strength enough left to work the lever in the elevator.

It was the elevator that brought to the more thoughtful in the multitude of regular customers idly wondered if he would be able to hold his place another week. Suddenly they noticed a great improvement in his condition. His fingers ceased to tremble. The little man, who the lever was not occupied as constantly as formerly, and the sense of hopeless weariness so nearly akin to despair that had been stamped upon his countenance had given place to the joyous expression of confidence that comes from sudden relief from pain and hope for the future.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "I was told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

Mr. Moore told to a reporter yesterday the story of the change. "It is the Sweetland Remedies that people are talking about so much now. But it would require many sentences to express my gratitude or tell the fearful condition 30 years of suffering which brought me to feel that I was decaying, naturally, in talking about myself, but for the sake of others I feel it a duty to do so in this case. More than 30 years ago the physicians pronounced me to be suffering from kidney troubles, a low form of chronic inflammation, and finally extended to all the urinary organs. The first and most unpleasant complication was a troublesome stricture, followed by serious enlargement of the prostate gland. I spent thousands of dollars in the use of all kinds of medicines, but in spite of the physicians these complaints became chronic, and for 30 years, until a short time ago, I have not known what it was to be free from pain. In all of this time I cannot recall a day when I was not in pain, and I have experienced the most even a temporary relief from any of the expensive and elaborate courses of treatment I received from the physicians. I continued to get worse steadily. During the last year it was only with an effort that I could get up to my feet, and I finally reached a point where I realized that I was on my last week of work, that I could keep up no longer. My attention was called to the various and specific remedies and I consulted the doctors. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better. My condition was gained at the start by being told exactly what was the matter with me. Almost with the first dose of medicine I was helped, and after the first few days I began to feel better.

ATHEISM RECEIVES A REBUKE

Rev. Leo Franklin Scores Colonel Robert Ingersoll and His Ideas.

ARGUMENTS OF INFIDELS DISCUSSED Origin of Mankind—Some Instances Cited Where Science is Short—Why Men Should Believe in God—The Lecture.

Rev. Leo Franklin lectured upon the subject "What is Theism?" at Temple Israel last Friday evening. He rebuked atheism and the ideas of Colonel Robert Ingersoll. The lecture, in part, was as follows:

"One of the most difficult tasks that confronts the preacher in his work is the selection of subjects that shall at once interest and at the same time be instructive and in-teresting to the great masses of his people. So various, though, are the tastes and the dispositions of various people, that no single subject of the vast differences in degree that must be met in the selection of a subject for a lecture among them, that no minister can hope to reach all his people in the same lecture. If a popular subject be his theme it is too light for the thinker, and if he chooses to speak on a philosophical theme it will usually have a soporific effect upon the average congregation. The lecturer, therefore, is placed in a peculiar position, and it is only when a subject midway between the popular and the philosophical that he can hope to reach the masses of his people.

"Tonight, friends, I am fortunate enough to have selected a subject that will fill the mind of the thoughtful man, and which we shall treat it in a popular way. Still I must ask you to kindly bestow your attention upon the subject, for it is a subject which we shall treat tonight is this: 'What Do We Understand by the Term Theism?' I shall discuss the ideas which we mean by acknowledging a belief in God."

Different Method of Treatment. "At the outset it may be well to state candidly why we have selected this subject for our lecture tonight. Many of you have doubtless guessed the reason. Those of you who heard the arch-infidels, the men of perverted logic and of no philosophy, who have opened their mouths and have surely understood that what I say tonight shall in a sense be to counteract the effect of what he has pleased to say."

But they say that is all very well. But wherefore do you need God at all? He is not altogether useless? They say, 'Man is but a higher evolution of a lower species, this lower of a still lower, and this again of a lower yet, and so on until the first life is the evolution from the lifeless particles from no head, no heart, no brain, no soul, no spirit, no life, no intelligence, no God. We tell them that we can be as truly religious without believing any of the myths or miracles of the Bible literally as we can if we believe in the will of God.'

But they say that is all very well. But wherefore do you need God at all? He is not altogether useless? They say, 'Man is but a higher evolution of a lower species, this lower of a still lower, and this again of a lower yet, and so on until the first life is the evolution from the lifeless particles from no head, no heart, no brain, no soul, no spirit, no life, no intelligence, no God. We tell them that we can be as truly religious without believing any of the myths or miracles of the Bible literally as we can if we believe in the will of God.'

But they say that is all very well. But wherefore do you need God at all? He is not altogether useless? They say, 'Man is but a higher evolution of a lower species, this lower of a still lower, and this again of a lower yet, and so on until the first life is the evolution from the lifeless particles from no head, no heart, no brain, no soul, no spirit, no life, no intelligence, no God. We tell them that we can be as truly religious without believing any of the myths or miracles of the Bible literally as we can if we believe in the will of God.'