Coal Were Delivered at the Asyiam by the Accused and His Agents,

LINCOLN, Oct. 27 .- (Special to THE BEE]-The Dorgan trial reached its second stage today when the state finished its case and the defense brought out its own witnesses. The case continues to be listless as far as popular interest is concerned. The Lincoln daily papers, with one exception -- the News -carefully refrain from making any reference to the evidence offered by the state, and from four to ten lines in an obscure col umn each day is all that their readers look to for information in regard to the case.

The most important testimony offered by the state commenced yesterday. Among the witnesses yesterday was Fred Race, the bookkeeper at the asylum during Governor Boyd's administration. Mr. Race identified Dorgan's signature to warrants and vouchers. Another witness was W. C. Mc-Dormand, a B. & M. conductor, who testified as to the dates when he hauled cars loaded with coal to the asylum switch. Ex-Super-Intendent Knapp identified his signature on the original voucher and testified that the coal used in the boiler rooms was shipped to the asylum in carload lots, while the coal for use in the kitchens was brought out in wagons.

The next witness was W. M. Randall, who figured somewhat prominently in the im-peachment trial, and upon whom the attornews for the state relief for some of their most damaging testimony. He is now a resident of Valley county, but formerly lived in this city, and while here was employed by Dorgan to have conform the cars on the asylum switch to the institution. He testi-fied that he was in Dorgan's employ during the months of July and August, 1891, two of the months in which some of the alleged frauds were perpetrated. He refreshed his membry by a frequent reference to the same memorandum book which was so conspicu-ous in the impeachment trial last May. In this book he had kept a record of every parof coul taken to the switch and unloaded by himself, together with the capacity of each car, as indicated by the figures painted on the car. On cross-examination he gave the numbers of eleven cars which he had unloaded, and stated that to the best of his knowledge he was the only man unloading coal at the asylum switch during the two months referred to. He stated further that the cars averaged about seventeen and one-

Dr. Hay, the present superintendent of the institution, took the stand to testify as to the number of boilers in use at the in-stitution. The state endeavored to show by this witness the difference in the amount of coal consumed during the summer months of the year 1891 and the corresponding months of the present year, but the defense interposed a strenuous objection. The court sustained the objection. sustained the objection.

Uninteresting Testimony.

This forenoon the state had but little testimony to offer to complete its case. R. C. Merrill, a clerk in the office of the White-breast company in this city, was first called to the stand. The state endeavored to identify through this witness Dorgan's signature to the warrants, but he could not whether the signature shown him was Dorgan's or not.

A. H. Berry, foremian of the B. & M. car department, testified as to the capacity of the cars on his road. Their capacity, he said, ranged from 40,000 to 60,000 pounds. The cars shipped to the asylum contained from 30,000 to 40,000 pounds. G. E. Mexissnor, a bank clerk, was shown Dorgan's sig-nature to the warrants, but was unable to identify it.

With this witness the state rested its case and the court took an adjournment until Teday Wilt spoke to the woman about the matter, whereupon she indignatly denied the accusation and upon the appearance of Gray reported the conversation to him. Gray demanded an explanation of the land-lord who in ture called in the clear. Wilt Western Passenger association committee asking for a conference on the question of immigrant business. The reply is evasive, and has done much to strengthen the suspicion that the road has already made contracts with immigrant agents. The Union Pacific says it is in full sympathy with the lord, who in turn called in the clerk. Wilt repeated the conversation, was immediately called a liar by Gray, who was knocked down wishes and aims of the committee, but it cannot do anything on the immigrant businets until the association has brought over by Wilt. FOR NOT CUTTING RATES. World's Fair Hotels Seek lamages from the Western Railroads. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 27.-General John McNult, the attorney who formerly was receiver of the Wabash system of railways, has been retained by several of the syndi cates who built and operated hotels in the vicinity of Jackson park, Chicago, during the World's fair to commence suits against the various railroad companies for damages, making unique allegations.

General McNult says: "The railroads in the Western Passenger association that opposed the reduction of passenger rates to the World's fair are liable for losses by hotels and other places of entertainment by reason of the custom being kept away from Chicago by the high rates. The right to recover damages extends to all persons in or near Chicago who were prepared to entertain in any way visitors to the fair, but most clearly to those who built hotels and other places of accommodation near the fair grounds."

The general holds that the conduct of the World's fair transportation committee, or some of its members, and a representative of the railroad association was collusive in its character, and amounted to conspiracy in law, but not in fact, to prevent the reduction of passenger rates to which the public and the persons making investment for the accommodation of visitors were entitled.

every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all drug-gists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is man-ufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live bet-ter than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs. Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most accentable and please in the form most acceptable and pleas-ant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect lax-ative; effectually cieansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kid-neys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
