BATTLING POVERTY

Unfortunate Woman with Twelve Children in a Destitute Condition. The Board of County Commissioners held a short session yesterday afternoon. John B. Furay reported a case of destitution which he thought demanded the immediate attention of the authorities. Dan Hurley, who was formerly employed as a gauger at the Willow Springs distillery, lost his wife last April and was left with twelve children, of whom seven were not old enough to do anything for themselves. Soon after Hurley lost his position, and since then things have been going from bad to worse. It is claimed that the little children have at times been half starved. Hurley was an old soldier and the committee on charities was directed to notify the soldiers relief com-mission of the facts. The committee will also investigate the case and provide such relief as is considered necessary.

C. E. Perkins petitioned the board for the repayment of $353.40 in taxes which he had paid on property on Dodge street between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets for the years 1887 to 1891 inclusive. The petition states that Perkins bought the lot of G. M. Hitchcock in April, 1891, for $40,000. For the five cock in April, 1891, for $40,000. For the five years preceding the lot had been occupied by a building used by the Women's Christian Temperance union, and Mr. Hitchcock had evaded paying taxes on it on that account, claiming that it was used for religious purposes. In July, 1892, the commissioners, while in session as a board of equalization, assessed the entire taxes back for the period during which the lot was in the possession of Mr. Hitchcock, and Perkins was compelled to pay the amount under kins was compelled to pay the amount under protest. The petition was referred for investigation.

The judges and clerks of election, as appointed by the city council, were confirmed. Livesey introduced a resolution rescinding the resolution passed at a previous meeting which provided that the appropriation sheets could only be passed at the last meeting in each month. He contended that there was too much delay in paying bills and that the county could buy cheaper if the bills could be reported on and the funds appropriated to pay them at any meeting. The resolution was passed after some discussion. The board adjourned to meet Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA.

Kansas City Packers D splay Their Envy-

The Day's Doings. The Drover's Telegram, published at Kansas City, makes an attempt to deny the statement made in THE BEE that a bunch of split cattle sold for considerable less money in Kansas City than in Omaha, just after which Mr. Boot, the owner of the cattle wired a commission firm here, "no more Kansas City for me." The Telegram states that Mr. Boot is employed by a com-mission firm here and that the job was put up. This is a bare fabrication. Mr. Boot is a rancher and a speculator. His ranch is in Colorado, and if prices were equal Kansas City would be his natural market. Besides running a ranch Mr. Boot speculates more or less in stock. He does so with his own capital and is not employed by any one. He has tried both markets repeatedly, and now he says emphatically: "No more Kansas City for me."

The fact that the South Omaha market is getting over into Kansas City's territory is making the managers over there green with The Kansas City yards have been for twenty-three years and the running for twenty-three years and the South Omaha yards ten. Still last week the packers in Kansas City only put away 21,600 hogs, while South Omaha packed 24,400. South Omaha gets 90 per cent of the stock shipped in from Colorado and yet the Kansas City market is 100 miles nearer Pueblo, the natural shipping point, than Omaha. The people sell their stock where they can get the highest price and this is why Omaha is distancing Kansas City at every turn in the road.

A Fresh Case Reported.

A teacher over in the Fourth ward school wrote a letter to W. B. Cheek, president of the school board, yesterday, notifying him that there was a case of diphtheria in a house situated very close to the school building; that there was no card on the house and the premises were in a very bad sanitary condition. Mr. Cheek turned the communication over to Chief Beckett and the chief, in company with a physician went to the place. It was a house where a death had occurred by diptheria several days ago. The house was thoroughly disinfected and no further danger there is anticipated.

LAWYERS ON THEIR METTLE. Two Legal Lights Who Never Speak as

W. H. SPELMAN.

Mr. Spelman's request. To My Friends and Customers:

They Pass By. There are two lawyers in Omaha who do not speak as they pass by on account of a wordy controversy which occurred in one of the equity court rooms yesterday morning, where Judge Gregory is sitting as referee. In the course of his argument W. H. DeFrance questioned the veracity of one of the witnesses for the other side. John L. Kennedy was the opposing attorney, and when his turn came he proceeded to fire hot shot at what he termed the "insinuations" of his opponent. Mr. DeFrance interjected the in-formation that it was not an insinuation but a square assertion.

"Then I say that the man who made it is a liar," retorted Mr. Kennedy. "That is another square assertion."
"I will settle with you for this when we ret outside the court room," vociferated Mr. DeFrance, to which his opponent replied that that was exactly what he was looking for. Both attorneys were trembling with excitement and matters were becoming decidedly mixed when the court insisted that they sit down and cool off. Mr. DeFrance insisted that he had been insulted and de-manded that Mr. Kennedy be reprimanded. Finally matters were adjusted sufficiently to allow the argument to proceed, but it was very evident that the differences were neither buried nor forgotten.

SKIPPED WITH THE CASH.

Mrs. Rosser Put Her Cash and Confidence in a Relative's Keeping. Mrs. Rosser called at the city jail to report that her brotl er-in-law, Sol Saulzer, who has been doing business at 722 South Thirteenth street, is missing. According to the story told the police, Saulzer came here about two months ago with his wife and six children. He had at that time about $90 in money and opened a small watch repair shop.

The sister-in-law was about to return to the old country and in preference to putting $300 she had saved into a bank loaned it to Saulzer, who promised to put it into his business. The money was turned over to him Tuesday afternoon. At 5 o'clock Saulzer started for his place of business, but did not go there. Mrs. Rosser thinks her brother-in-law has skipped with the money and has filed a complaint with County Attor-ney Kaley, who will request the officers of the law to arrest the man on sight. ANNOUNCEMENTS.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me," which has been the dramatic sensation of the past two years in all the principal cities of the east. will receive its initial presentation in this city at Boyd's theater this evening, and it will be presented by Charles Frohman's company from the Empire theater, New York, with all the wealth of scenic effects and surroundings which characterized its production in New York for 200 nights, and in Chicago for six months. "The Girl I Left Behind Me" is conceded to be the Girl I Left Behind Me" is conceded to be the best American drama ever written, and is of the intense, soul-stirring kind which touches the heart of the most phlegmatic auditor. The story deals with the love affairs of the daughter of the general of the garrison. The hero and the villain in the play are lieutenants in the army, and both love the general's daughter. The bravery of the one and the cowardice of the other figure prominently in the story, which moves alprominently in the story, which moves al-most simultaneously with an uprising of the Indians, the besigging of the post, the helpless peril of the inmates and the final rescue. The engagement is for three nights and Saturday matinee. The sale opened yesterday morning and was quite large. Stopped the Celebration, A crowd of lawless fellows have been making things lively for the past two or three nights in the territory between Fourteenth and Twentieth and Center and Vinton streets. They have removed and overturned out houses, peppered the residences of citizens with eggs and rendered them selves generally obnoxious. Tuesday night they started out to wind up with another roundup of the vicinity, and, as a beginning, threw a quantity of oderiferous hen fruit against the door of J. L. Welshaus' resi

About this time the residents in the vicinity concluded they had had enough of this sort of fun and a half-dozen revolver shots greeted the rounders. Before they had time to recover from their surprise another voiley whistled through their surprise another voiley whistled through their ranks and the party fied in all directions. As far as was learned no one was hit, but there was no further attempt to celebrate Hallowee'n in that particular locality.

Affidavits Filed in the District Court Which

ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO FIX JUROR FALK

Prompted by a Desige to Influence a Vera continuance of past favors, knowing Mr. Free to be a first class man in his A case of alleged jury fixing has been brought to light in the district court which promises some interesting developments The persons implicated are Frank A. Green, claim agent of the Omaha Street Railway company, and L. P. Norberg, the bailiff in Judge Walton's court room. The facts as far as ascertained tend to show that some one has endeavored to defeat the ends of justice. A strict investigation will follow. The aileged effort to corrupt a jury occurred in the case of Ingre Madsen against the Omaha Street Railway company, which was on trial before Judge Duffle early last month. C. A. Fowler and D. W. McNamara were the attorneys for the plaintiff. It is at their instance that the investigation will be inaugurated. They filed the petition asking for an investigation yesterday afternoon and also the affidavits on which they base their claim that an effort was made by the agents of the street railway company to arrange matters with the jury so as to make sure of a verdict in their favor.

> Some Interesting Affidavits. The affidavits of Messrs. Fowler and Mc-Namara state in substance that on October 27 Norberg admitted to Mr. McNamara, in Fowler's hearing, that he had approached a juror named Hans Falk with a view to in-ducing him to secure a verdict in favor of the Omaha Street Railway company. He had met Falk on the street and had asked him "what he was going to do about the case and how the jury stood." Falk had replied that he did not know. That evening he had gone to Falk's residence to see him again, but Falk was not at home. Norberg had said that he was sent to see the juror by Frank A. Green of the street railway company and that he had not paid any fare on the street cars for two years and that he had been the proprietor of a regular pass since last spring. These facts are repeated in the affidavit of Norberg which is appended. had met Falk on the street and had asked

What the Juror Says. The story of the juror, Hans Falk, as re-lated in the affidavit, substantiates the facts related by Norberg and adds others of a still more damaging nature. Falk says that Nor-berg approached him on the streets and they held the conversation given above. Norberg then added that if he (Falk) could induce the jury to return a verdict for the street railway company or keep the verdict for the plaintiff down to $100 or $200 he would get him $100 for his trouble. He would pay $20 down and the balance at another time. Falk said that he was not to be bought and the conversation ended for the present. That night, while he was away from home, Norberg called at his house. Norberg inquired for Falk, but when he was informed that he was not at home refused to make known the bject of his visit.
The affidavits of S. R. Rush and J. B.

Sheean are appended, which are to the effect that Falk related the same story to them that he told to Fowier and McNamara. Mr. Fowler's Statement. Mr. C. A. Fowler was seen last night in regard to the alleged crookedness and said that his firm proposed to push the matter to "We were the attorneys for Mrs. Mad-sen," he continued, "and the amount of damages claimed was $12,000. The jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,000, when on the face of the evi-dence we believed that if we were entitled to anything at all we should have had $6,000 or $8.000. We according that the ten of the or $8,000. We ascertained that ten of the jury insisted on returning a verdict for $8.00C, and the other two wanted to find for the defendants. They were out for ten hours, and in the end the ten were induced "We thought that there was something rotten on the face of it, but were unable to get hold of any evidence to back up our belief until about a week ago, when Norberg approached me on the street, and in the course of conversation let out something about having spoken to Falk about the case Mr. McNamara came up while he was speak ing and heard the remark. We concluded that Norberg knew something that he might be made to tell, and the next day McNamara went over to the court room and asked Nor-berg to come over to the office. When Nor-berg saw him coming he asked him it he had a warrant for his arrest, and then laughed it off and came over to our office. McNamara took him into the back office and I sat in the next room, where I could hear the conversa-

Mr. Norberg Weakened.

"The result was that before Norberg left the office he had succeeded in making him think that we had a dead case against him, and he went to pieces and gave away the and he went to pieces and gave away the whole business. The next day we got hold of him again and he made an affidavit of the facts as stated, which I now have in my possession and a copy of which was filed with the petition this afternoon. I went to see Judge Duffle in regard to what I had discovered, and he advised me to file the affidavits and he would see that if any affidavits and he would see that if any such proceedings had been indulged in in his court the facts were brought to light and the guilty parties punished."

The case will probably be set for hearing some time this week.

OF THE

I IS certainly none of our business whether you prefer quinine pills to an overcoat. Nor is it our affair where or when you choose to buy one. But it is our business to let you know what we are a-doing. No harm-is it? Just now we are all overcoats-Nebraska, Iowa, Dakotas, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona, Minnesota, Utah, Kansas. Missouri, is well represented, even Oklahoma seems to have got onto us-everyone is buying overcoats-looks like a conspiracy-or perhaps prices we quote this season are powerfully magnetic. That's it. We never could buy coats as cheap as we sell 'em for now. You ought to see one of these seven 75-100 overcoats, come in two modest shades, navy blue and every day black; made of first-class kersey cloth, draped with Italiene, silk velvet collar, double-stitched edge, fit as good as your skin and tailored into a sack cut style for comfort or dress use. Not only just as good, but an honest $15 value-sure's you eat.

OVERCOATS

Again the magnet works when we show these twelve 50-100 overcoats. We'll go any $20 garment ever sold by man, cards and spades and beat it hands down. Ours is a black raw edge Melton (the most aristocratic fabric known), draped with satin about breast, lined thoroughly with California wool of check or stripe pattern, silk sleeve lining, tailored as a half box, doublebreasted, as per latest fashion, and designed for a treble silk stitch on edges. Don't have to be as "straight as a political candidate" to be fitted precisely. Want to know some more about overcoats? Show us your countenance, and we'll put a smile onto it.
