THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Chief Nicholson of the Fire Department Reinstated by the Council.

SUBSTANCE OF THE EVIDENCE HEARD

After an Investigation of Considerable Extent the Officer Was Fully Exouerated-Well Known Young Man tione Wrong.

The city council met last evening for the purpose of investigating the charges made against Chief Nicholson of the fire department. All the members were present except Alderman Hathaway, and the room was filled with spectators. The proceedings were opened by the reading of the formal charges, alleging the chief had been guilty of "gross intoxication and other conduct unbecoming his official position as chief of the fire department." Both sides were represented by counsel, City Attorney Hazelton backing up the charges and Ware and Trimble looking after the defense. After reading the charges the attorneys for the defense submitted a written protest against the investigation of anything else outside the specific charge of intoxication. claiming that the other charges were indefi-nite and vague and that the council had no authority to inquire into anything but the single charge that had been specifically A written metion was attached that all other charges intimated in the words "conduct unbecoming," etc., be stricken out. In support of the motion Ware claimed that the investigation of the charges called for the exercise of judicial functions the council did not possess. City Attorney Hazelton combatted the proposition and claimed that the council sitting as a committee of the whole had full powers to investigate any charge that might be made against the chief or any other appointive officer of the city. A vote to strike out the other charges received the five democratic votes and Tibbetts' vote, who was evidently willing to protect his brother in-law, the chief. Alderman Smith alone voting against Picaded Not Guilty.

Immediately after the announcement of the vote Nicholson's attorneys announced that the chief would plead not guitty to the charge of drunkenness. The investigation then proceeded. Hazelton called Nicholson to the stand. This called for a vigorous protest from Ware, who claimed that it was contrary to all law and all judicial procedure to call the accused to the stand as a witness for the prosecution. Alderman Tibbetts moved to sustain the motion and all the democratic members voted aye, Smith again registering a big no. Hazelton stated that it might be necessary to adjourn the investigation until other witnesses could be pro-cured, naming Webber. It was finally decided to put Officer G. L. Martin on the Martin testified that he saw the chief on the night of the incendiary fires, August II, lying asleep under the hay chute in No. 4 hose house. The officer was accompanied by Officers Frank Scanlan and Martin, jr. Nicholson was asleep in his uniform, and they were led to his couch by his energetic snoring. Webber was asleep beside him. They only awakened Nicholson, when they pulled Webber out bodily after repeated calls and shakings. Nicholson got up and followed them down stairs; thought he was drunk, as he staggered and talked with difficulty. Officer Martin, jr., saw Nicholson after he came down stairs that night. He believed he was intoxicated. He acted like a drunken man and staggered. Asked his opinion as to whether he was drunk, Ware objected and the objection was sustained by the solid six.

Officer Scanlan's Experience.

Officer Frank Scanlan told his experience on that eventful night. He had seen enough drunken mer to know one when he saw him, and he discovered many, if not all of the symptoms in the chief's condition. The latter didn't wake up until they had shaken Webber and called him repeatedly. He then staggered as he followed them down stairs and out upon the walk. The officer then brushed the hay off Nicholson's back and he staggered up stairs again.

Objection was made to part of this testimony, and the big six prompt! sustained it An affidavit made by A. J. Spiegel, the Omaha hatter, in whose store Nicholson distinguished nimself by shoving his fist through a hat he had asked to be shown and then declared it was no account and refused to pay for it, until he was threatened with arrest was produced. By fore the affidavit was read it was closely scanned by Ware and Trimble, who objected to it for the reason that Spiegel was not present to identify Nicholson as the man who made the spectacle of himself in the hat store, and also that a large part of the affidavit pertained to matter that was stricken out by the council.

After extended remarks by the counsel on both sides the council decided to receive the affidavit. Jennings, Keller, Smith and Tibbetts voting yea. The affidavit stated that Nicholson came into the store and picked at a 50-cent cap and wanted Spiegel to let him have it for 25 cents. He finally told the merchant to wrap up his fireman's cap, and while he was doing so Nicholson was amusing himself by punching the new hat full of

Was Ready to Fight.

When he remonstrated Nicholson wanted to lick him and was very abusive as well as drunk. He finally snatched the fireman's cap from the dealer and left the store, refus-ing to pay for the damaged cap. The hat man followed him into the street and for several blocks, until he met Officer Donahue who was asked to arrest Nicholson. Th chief wanted to thrash the hat man in the presence of the officer, boasting that he was chief of the Council Bluffs fire department and could do a good job. He was only willing to desist when told by the officer that he would run him in as a drunk despite the fact of his official position. Nicholson finally paid a quarter for the hat and disappeared into a convenient saloon.

A motion by Hazelton to adjourn the in vestigation until the prosecution could get Webber and other witnesses was voted down and the defense called Cal Maynard. Before he testified a new affidavit from Spiegel was read by the defeuse. In this affidavit Spiegel said that two men, whom he believed were City Attorney Hazelton and Officer Wiatt of Council Bluffs came to him and officered him $5 if he would come to Council Bluffs and testify that Nicholson was drunk, and that he refused to come over. The affidavit, nowever, said nothing about

Maynard was then called upon to tell what he knew about the chief's condition on August 11, the date of the hat episode. He saw Nicholson at the ball game there and was positive he was not drunk. Jim Nich-ols corroborated this testimony. J. J. Shea also saw Nicholson in Omaha at 4 p. m. He was not drunk then.

1t. M. Whitlesey saw the chief just before he started for Omana and at So'clock when Fireman Watts of No. 4 hose house testifled that Nicholson was not drunk at 9:30 on the night of the arrest of Webber. Fireman O'Brien of the same hose com-pany corrobinated the testimony of the wit-nesses who saw Nicholson in Omaha, and also that he was soper when the arrests of the firemen were made, or when he saw him shortly afterward. Others Thought the Chief Sober.

Peter Kuykendal and Robert Huntington, members of No. 4 hose house, testified that they did not think the chief was drunk when they saw him on his return from Omaha and when the officers awakened him when arresting Webber. Huntington, how-ever, felt sure he had been drinking some and thought the couch of hay under the hay chute was at least an extraordinary place for the chief to sleep.

Reinstated the Officer.

This ended the testimany and the attorneys considerately refrained from arguing the case. The vote of the council upon the question of sustaining the charges was then called for. The big six, Jennings, Giese, White, Kellar, Nicholson and Tibbets voted hay and Smith the only yea, but with a good deal of vigor. Alderman Keller then moved that the council reinstate the chief and Tib-When the result was announced by the

FORGED AND BURGLED.

Story of How a Connell Bluffs Young Man Went Wrong and is Now Missing. Charles Huff, son of L. C. Huff of this city and a young man who is well known here, is implicated in several shady transactions, and if he can be found it will keep him hustling to explain away some the charges that are made against him. For several weeks past he has been out of the city, but his alleged victims kept their mouths closed out of sympathy for the young man's family, who are universally young man's family, who are universally respected. By means of checks, which are claimed to be forgeries, he managed to rake quite a little pile of money together and then suddenly left the city. H. A. Baird then suddenly left the city. H. A. Baird cashed a money order for $20 which was presented to him by Huff. The order bad H. I. Forsythe's name signed to it, but this, so Forsythe now claims, was forged. Bell & Son cashed a 'check for $25 and Metcalf Bros. another for $25, both of which were signed "C. L. Huff." These are also pronounced forgeties. During the time when these forgeties. when these forged instruments were passed he was employed in the office of the Hoosier Drill company, along with his father and Forsythe After leaving here he went to Oranoake, Kan., where he had an uncle living. He wrote to his uncle in advance, telling him that he was coming down to settle up some bills of long standing which he had con-tracted when he lived there. He seemed to have plenty of money, and stayed there for some little time. While in Kansas he be-came acquainted with the agent of the Adams Express company. After he had spent several days loaf-ing about the company's office he suggested, one Sunday evening, that he, the agent and a third man who was there g) to reached the door Huff made an excuse for leaving his companions. He went back to the office, slipped in through a window, and stole a $5 bill and a couple of blank money orders. These he filled out for the amounts of $41.50 and $48 respectively and went to the next town. There he was acquainted with the superintendent of the schools, whom he induced to go with him to the bank and identify, him. He secured the money on the orders, left town on the next train and was not seen again.

All these crooked transactions coming out at once have set a number of different offi-cials on his track. The postal authorities. the express company officials and the differ ent banks and business houses whom he de frauded are all after him and it seems to be erely a question of time when he is lodged already to have located him in Chicago. Young Huff has been in a number of different scrapes before, but he always managed escape through his father's influence ow, however, his father is quoted as say ing that he will do nothing more for the boy and if he is caught, his chances for a good long retirement seem excellent. to his financial transactions he is said to be implicated in an affair of the heart which is quite likely to result in a divorce case being started by a prominent young traveling man.

City Attorney Bazelton's Record Whi'e Serving the Municipality.

A democratic sheet published in this city makes a rather broad statement, and one that is not in the least in accordance with the truth, when in a recent issue it says that "City Attorney Hazelton has made an unbroken record of failures, having lost every case that he has tried for the city since he was elected to his present position." An examination into the records would have shown whoever penned that statement that it is an unmitigated falsehood. A statement of the actual facts in the case will doubtless be interesting, not only to Mr. Hazelton's friends, but to those of his political enemies who did not have the necessary ambition to ascertain the truth before they

City Attorney Hazelton has tried nine cases since he commenced his present term of office. In all but two of these he was as-sisted by his partner, W. S. Mayne, who has practiced law in Council Biuffs for the past sixteen years, and is universally regarded as a good lawyer. Of the nine the city won our and lost five.
The first one lost was that of Elizabeth

Patterson against the City, in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages for per-sonal injuries by reason of a defective sidewalk on Fifth evenue. She got a judgment

The second was that brought by Mitchell Vincent to recover $20,000 damages for the refusal of the city to allow him to complete the construction of a sewer in the southern part of the city. The city did not question the contractor's right to $890 of this sum, and Vincent secured a judgment for $2,000 more than that sum.

The third case was that in which Mrs. L.

L. Hendrix was awarded a judgment of $1,200 for personal injuries received on ac-count of the track of the Interstate Kailway company on North Eighth street. The city would have been giad to have compromised this suit, but it was thought best to go on with the trial in order that the railway company might be compelled later on to reimburse the city. On the other hand, the city attorney has won, first, the suit brought by Mrs. Spooner for $1,200 damages for change of grade, second, that of Sarah Fields for $1,000 for defective construction of the sewer; third, Lamphere & Kennedy, the famous meat in-spection case, one of the most hotly contested law suits ever tried at the Potiawat-tamic county, bar and fourth, the case of Krueger, administrator, against the city to recover damages for personal injuries which were claimed to have resulted in death. The last case occupied eight days on trial. The plaintiff in another suit in which the parties were the same and the allegations precisely the same, resulted in a verdict against the city for $750, but in the case tried by Mr Hazelton the damages were reduced to $1. just enough to throw the costs upon the city.

Schurz in troduced evidence to show that McCargar had been spolling for fight when he entered his office, and showed it by taking off his overcoat and handing it to the elevator man, telling him he was going to have some fun with Schurz. He also introduced sev-eral documents with bright red drops of something that looked like blood on them, and several long gashes on his head, all of which went to show that when McCargar leveled his chair at him he meant business. McCargar was finally bound over to the grand jury, and he gave a bonu of $200 for his appearance when wanted. NEW MEN ARE BEING ENGAGED DAILY

So Far During the Strike no Overt Act Has Been Committed-Troops Held in Readiness to Surpress Disorder -The Situation.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 23 - The Lohigh Valley strike situation seems without material change since last night. The company is in-creasing the number of its men and is moving freight slowly. Although there is no present propability of the militia being called out, orders have been issued to the Fourth regiment of New Jersey and to the First regiment in Philadelphia for the mon to not leave town without permission from their officers and to be in readiness for any emergency. In Wilkesbarre and in the Wyoming valley the 15,000 miners thrown out of work by the strike are still maintainng order and the local authorities fear no outbreak. A number of engineers and firemen from the west have arrived at Sayre and Buffalo, and dispatches from Burlington, ia., report that scores of idle Chicago, Burlington & Quincy engineers, many of whom were old Reading and Lehigh employes who went west to fill the places of the Burlington strikers several years ago, are now on their way east to apply for Lehigh positions. The strikers still profess confidence and say they are determined to hold out at any cost.

DEEPLY INDIGNANT.

Western Brotherhood Men Deny the Reports Sent East About Them.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 23.—Deep indigna-tion prevails in brotherhood circles here over the statement telegraphed from Buffalo that the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy engineers who have gone east to take the places of strikers on the Lehigh Valley road are the men who went out on the Burlington during the great strike. The reverse is true. The sixty men who have gone from here, in-cluding those who went last night, and from Burlington, Ia., are largely men who took the places of the Burlington strikers. Many of them came from the east here. Not a few are men who had been laid off by the Burlington for wrecks or other causes. The local logge of the Brotherhood of Localogs of local loage of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has sent three of its members to Buffalo to deny the statement sent out from there.
