THE BENNETT LABEL CASE.

What Eddie Koen Told Mrs. Lodge About Affairs at the Jail.

SHE TELLS A PLAIN, STRAIGHT STORY.

Was the Opposite of His Testimony on the Witness Stand—Corroborated by Statements of Others—Other Evidence Taken Yesterday.

Evidence in rebuttal was still the program at the continued hearing of the Bennett-Rosewater label case yesterday afternoon, and there were numerous indications that the long-drawn-out preliminary inquisition was nearing its close.

The state called Frank Strand, a relative of Mrs. George Smith, who testified that Smith had said to him that $100 would be better for Mrs. Smith than would testifying on the witness stand.

Sergeant Sigwart was called for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of Edna Marshall. He said her moral character was bad and her general reputation for chastity was the same.

The defense recalled Theodore Bennett. He testified that he knew J. C. Henry, who was in the jail last fall. Moshier was never out of the jail all night in September or October, and was not out one Saturday night since Sept. 12.

J. C. Henry was called. He said he knew Bennett and Moshier. He was in the Douglas county jail last fall. There were two Saturday nights and Sundays when the witness did not see Moshier there. The witness was confined in the same part of the jail as Moshier.

SISTER CECILIA'S EVIDENCE.

She Could Not Positively Identify Miss Madeline Pollard.

OBJECTIONS MADE TO HER TESTIMONY.

Another Legal Spar Between the Opposing Attorneys—Nothing Very Sensational in Yesterday's Hearing—A Resume of What Was Said.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The testimony of Sister Cecilia of Pueblo, Colo., formerly superior of the Norwood asylum near Cincinnati, was resumed when the Breckinridge trial commenced this morning. Miss Pollard was again in the court room, sitting near in front of Colonel Breckinridge, with only a narrow-featured sister from the house of refuge beside her, who sat in the witness stand, replying to Attorney Carlisle's question, she said that she had a good memory for names, but a poor one for faces. She could not affirm positively the identity of Miss Pollard as an inmate of the Norwood institution, nor could she say that she had not seen her there.

A dispute arose between counsel over the question of admission as evidence of the witness's opinion as to the identity of the plaintiff with a certain person who was at the asylum at a certain time. It was contended that it was intended to show that the witness, from this carriage, but who had learned, had become convinced that the plaintiff had at some time been an inmate of the asylum, to which she was incompetent.

The plaintiff's counsel reserved an exception to the court's ruling. Plaintiff's counsel then framed a different question, which was not in any way connected with the identity of the plaintiff as to the identity as to the plaintiff in May, June and July, 1885, which was also overruled. Another exception was reserved in the question: "What is your belief as to whether the plaintiff was in your asylum during the time of the trial?" said Judge Bradley.

Mr. Carlisle inquired whether any patients in the asylum had been in the habit of visiting themselves, to which the witness replied: "There were two or three ladies who visited their faces when they thought there was a danger of being recognized by visitors from Cincinnati."

Sister Cecilia remembered that three or four ladies come there from Cincinnati in the spring of 1885 in carriages, but who she asked if there had been a patient by the name of Burgoine, answered: "The name is not familiar to me."

The cross-examination was very brief. Sister Cecilia was asked in answer to Mr. Butterworth that she had held several conversations with Miss Pollard at the asylum in Washington. After the two sisters had retired the reading of depositions by Kate Perry, Kane of 62 Front street, Cincinnati, who had been a patient at the asylum as a member of the firm of Dr. Buchanan & Perry, was begun by Mr. Carlisle. Mrs. Kane testified that she had been a patient in her house as Miss Louise Wilson, identifying the plaintiff positively.

From the cross-examination it appeared that Miss Pollard had a carriage, that she was described by Dr. Buchanan as "an unfortunate Kentucky girl."

The board was understood to be a young, unmarried woman and once after she had been in the asylum, she had been a financial matter. Dr. Kane asked why she did not marry the friend, to which Miss Kane replied that she could not now, that she had married in the spring of 1885, and she had her heart against him and would not marry him, although he had offered to do so.

Dr. Buchanan was an intelligent fact. She stated that she first made Miss Pollard's acquaintance under the name of Louise Williams in 1885, when she was in the asylum, from the founding asylum at Norwood in a carriage, her coming having been arranged by Dr. Mary Street, now Mrs. Logan. Miss Pollard had evidently given the name of "Arno married or single?" asked Mr. Stoll, beginning the cross-examination.

Witness POLLAID'S FRIEND. The identity of the friend who sat beside Miss Pollard in the carriage on the day she was divided when Mr. Carlisle called Dr. Belle Buchanan, and that lady walked around to the witness stand, and took the oath, as she was giving her name, she said she was a preliminary reporter, Mr. Thompson spoke out familiarly: "Speak up a little louder, please, so that we can hear you."
