Deemer's Decisions. Judge Deemer occupied most of yesterday morning's session of the district court in rendering decisions in cases which he had had under advisement for some little time. In the case of Mrs. Jennie Smith against the Citizens State bank, involving a certificate of deposit for $1,800, which had been turned over as part payment for a piece of property in Longmont, Colo., the decision was in favor of the bank. Mrs. Smith claimed that she had been drugged into insensibility and induced to sign over the cerraining considerably. The court said he wished he could believe the lady's story, but there were so many improbabilities he could not. No decision was rendered in regard to the petition for severance of certain property from the town of Manawa, from the fact that an amended petition will have to be filed, changing the boundaries of the land to be thus separated, and this cannot be done until next term, the town having ob Jected.

In the case of Blackman against Wright for the cancellation of a deed executed by Blackman in Wright's favor, Daniel Dull, one of the defendants, was declared estopped from pleading fraud by the fact that he had waited too long before doing so. The defunct Council Bluffs Theater company turned up in the superior court yesterday as defendants in a suit brought by John Dohany to recover $600 claimed to be due for rent for the opera house during the year 1891. It will be remembered, par-ticularly by the business men who dropped several $10 bills on the altar of their country, that this theater association was organized in that year for the purpose of running the house on a strictly first class plan, with a clean building, capable orchestra and good shows. The plan worked to perfection, except in one direction. It did not pay. As a consequence the members of the company found themselves in the same situation as the map who picked up the hot poker and they dropped it. The rental of the house for the year was to be $3,500, and of that sum all but $500 was paid. For this Dohany now sues. In his petition he alleges that the corporation was never legally incorporated, for the articles were never published as required by law, and so he claims the individual members of the contern are responsible for the corporation He accordingly makes J. The most important work was the preparation of the declaration of principles of the order. which was drawn up during the two days' conferences, and is an important document in every way. The statement that Supreme President Traynor had recommended twentyone years' residence for naturalization was an error. His recommendation was ten years, and the supreme council finally de ided that seven years should elapse between an allen's declaration of intention and his naturalization. The council passed a resolution asking that this correction be made by the press. The declaration of principles is as follows:

Second—The American Protective association is not a political party and does not con-trol the political affiliations of its members, but it teaches them to be intensely active in the discharge of their political duties in or out of party lines, because it believes that all problems confronting our people will be best solved by a conscientious discharge of the duties of citizenship by every individual Third-While tolerant of all creeds, it holds that subjection to and support of any

Took Rough on Rats.

Fred McCoy, who lives at 1025 North Eighth street, made an attempt at suicide yesterday morning, but it was unsuccessful, and the chances now seem to be that he will pull through all right, although he is not yet out of danger. He formerly lived in Denver, having been employed as engineer for ten years. Last September he was thrown out of work and came here to live with his mother. Since that time he has had nothing to do and he says he got so blue over the situation that he finally decided that was better dead than alive. About a'clock yesterday morning he accordingly fished up a box of rough on rats from the bottom of his trunk and swallowed about a tenspoonful of it. He then went down town returned about noon, complaining o feeling sick. Dr. Carter was called to attend him, but by the time he arrived the polson had had about four hours to work, so that the young man's case was rather serious. An emetic was furnished him, and last evening he had so far recovered as to be able to tall rationally. The principal danger is now from inflammation, and his physician cannot tell yet what will be the final outcome.

This was fol-lowed by an afternoon passed in the secret work of the order, and in the evening there was a banquet at Masonic hall, which was enjoyed by between 200 and 300 guests. Largest store west of Chicago. Lowest prices ever made. Panting for Liberty. For several days past ten men have been occupying the upper part of the city jail as the result of their refusal to work. Slices of bread so thin that a newspaper can be read through them without any difficulty and cups of Missouri river water have been all that stood in the way of starvation. Friday night they decided to leave without notice, and they almost succeeded in putting their plan into execution. About midnight a noise was heard from the upper part of the building, and Officer Weir proceeded to investigate. On going out into the jail yard he saw a large hole in the brick wall about half way up the south side of the building. He ran up stairs and found that nine of the ten were in the middle cell, while only six had been put there early in the evening. three had clambered from the front cell through a hole in the ceiling stout brickmason lay upon the floor near the hole, but as Weir looked at him he opened the west half of his east eye in an inquiring fashion. He had torn away the brick for the distance of about fourteen inches square and in a few minutes more the whole nine would have been enjoying the sweets of liberty once more. The brick mason will probably be sent up for another thirty days as the result of his anxiety to cheat the law of its

Homes to Sell on Installments to Employed Laborers.

CHICAGO, May 5 -- In the interest of the labor organizations of Chicago, a committee has gone to California to examine 70,000 acres of land, which have been offered to the organizations for colonization. These lands are owned by the Land and Sunshine company. This company purchased the irrigating system of the Croker & Hoffman Land and Water company, and the lands of the Pacific Improvement company. The first named comprises the water rights of the Merced river, in developing which the original owners had to build a canal twentyseven miles long. Branch canals amounting to seventy-five miles and watering 40,000 acres of land, the water works supplying the town of Merced and the dwelling erected by C. H. Hoffman at a cost of $100,000 were part of the sellers' plant, and were included in the purchase. Of the lands, 16,000 acres wheat, several thousand in barley are in and other parts are set in fruits. pany also bought all the town lots of Merced Azel F. Just how many laboring people will enter a colonization movement in California or elsewhere I cannot say, but I am informed the idea of colonization has taken deep root."

It was resolved that Washington, D. C. be the permanent meeting place after 1896 and that all meetings be held with open doors, the public to be invited to witness and State Secre tary Jackman secured the passage of a reso lution by the state cutting the order from the priests.
