hibition at Charles Street park yesterday. There was only one ring, but nineteen clowns, the umpire being the funniest of the outfit, with McVey a close second and McMackin at his heels.

Umpire Haskell intends well and will make a first-class man in the position, but there are a few things he must learn before this can be consummated, chief among which is the fact that the players themselves have some rights the umpire must respect. They do not always have to come a-runnin' at his beck and call, and they are frequently in the right when he thinks they are all

In the third innings yesterday Haskell not only fined Sage $10, but he put him out of the game, and for no offense whatsoever, at that. He had just as much right to fire Grover Cleveland from the white house as he did to put Sage out of yesterday's contest.

McMackin has a fashion of delivering an illegal ball, that is, he cunningly manages to hide it from the batter's view just before sending it in. Sage called Haskell's attention to this several times and Haskell cau-tioned Sammy once or twice. He still per-sisted, however, and Sage reminded Haskell again. This seemed to rouse the latter's ire and he commanded Sage to shut up, and on Sage's attempting to explain to him that he was violating no base ball law in trying to make his opponents "tote fair" Haskell plastered a $5 fine on to him. "I can stand the fine," remarked Sage, "but I don't want to be beaten out of the

He doesn't know how to be unruly and is a gentleman at every step of the road. However, the umpire, while some of his decisions yesterday were of a decidedly jaunsome of his diced hue, did not lose the game for Omaha. Georgiana McVey claims that honor alone and single handed, and there is no endeavor here to take away any of his laurels.

While I assert that the umpire did not lose the game for Omaha yesterday, he cer tainly did prevent her from tying the score in the ninth inning by his faulty and ridiculous decisions. In evidence of this fact first cast your eagle eye over the following tes-TROUBLE IN THE LAST INNING.

At the opening of the last inning the score stood 20 to 16 in favor of the boller makers. The Rourke family needed four runs to tle and five to win. Paddy Boyle was the first Soneir gave him first on balls, and a passed ball pushed him to corner number McMackin's scratch infield hit boosted him along ninety feet further, and Mac stole

The bleachers and stands were in a delirium of excitement when Seery toed the scratch, and when Zeis let another ball get by him and Paddy ran over the oyster and amy to third, they fairly howled with joy. They kept it up when Seery trotted down to first on another quartet of wide ones. They saw a dead heat looming up in the rosy down his fair young cheek like a procession of horse collars.

The first ball the attenuated Frenchman cut loose Jack missed by a half a mile, then the crowd greaned as Mister Haskell called another strike on him. It was do or die now, and Jack braced himself. His stick described a yellow circle in the air, then there was a crash. The crowd yelled, then groaned again. It was a foul.

Here is where the umpire did his worst.

He called it a strike and the batter out. He called it a strike and the batter out, claiming that it was an attempted bunt.

Think of that and weep. An attempted bunt with a man on second and third, one man out and three runs needed to tie the score. Wouldn't that jer you? But it went, and then to cap the climax McVey struck out himself, and it left Wood to turn the trick. He lined one out safely and Sammy scored

There was one more chance.

It was Papa Rourie's.

He smashed the sphere down to Judge Lynch, and the judge grabbed it up, fumbled it a second, then threw low to Cantillion.

He got the ball on the second bound, simultaneously with the exact second Papa's No 5 fell like a big griddle cake on the bag. I was awfully, awfully close, but Haskell gave Cantillion the benefit of the doubt, and Papa was dead, and Omaha had lost the day.

M'VEY'S WONDERFUL WORK. I will not weary the gentle reader with the details of the landslide that fell upon the Rourkes in the eighth. Suffice it to say the Rock Islands hammered out eleven great big runs, with fat on their bellies an inch thick, and won the game in a canter. too, mind you, was all accomplished after two men were out, McVey making a muff of a thrown ball by Rourke that actually smeit bad. And he wasn't satisfied yet, for he made two more of 'em, all easy ones, in less time than it takes to tell it, and when the smoke rolled away Captain Sage could be seen under the shadow of the grand packing the game away in a jar to take back to Rock Island with him

Maybe he didn't get revenge for the slight put upon him, Horatlo? Probably I ought to add a word about Sammy McMackin's pitching, and probably I hadn't, so I guess I won't. It was an off day, lowever, for Sammy, but when the dog days oil 'round he'll be all right again, then he'll show you what he can do, and that's o cocoanut, either.

Fully 3,000 people saw the dump, but they weren't a bit disappointed, for take all the queer frills of the game into consideration, the visitors somehow got into the confidence of the crowd, and the crowd rooted for them just as if they were at home, and the umoire was doing mean things to them. But cheer up. We can't win always, if we did the game wouldn't last long, would it? The Jax will be here this afternoon and you ion't want to miss the first game.

TOO MANY MEDICAL COLLEGES EXIST

Nebraska Already Has More Than Her Share-What Constitutes Unprofessional Conduct Defined-Some General Observations Concerning Doctors.

LINCOLN, May 6 .- (Special to The Bee.) -The recent discussion of the question of medical ethics in this state has drawn out Dr. Beghtel, chairman of the board of secretaries of the State Board of Health, and in a paper read before the State Medical association the doctor from Friend devotes considerable time and many words to a defense of the position taken by the secretaries of the board. In the course of his paper he uses the following argument:

"It is not my purpose to discuss the subject of public hygiene, but I may touch upon t further on in this paper as a measure in future legislation. Our present law gives the State Board of Health, of which I am a member, no sanitary power. The work of the board is somewhat of a judicial nature relating not immediately to public health measures, as is usually the work of such bodies in other states, but solely to the regulation of the practice of medicine. We have not yet attained the age when the fittest survive.

"Public economy has demonstrated the wisdom of medical legislation. To protect and foster the growth of the sciences has been the policy of all civilized nations. The relation of the physician to the patient is a confidential one. Persons suffering from real or imaginary disease do not select medical advice with the same judgment they would exercise in a commercial transaction. While we of Nebraska have an interest in common with the medical profession everywhere, yet we are most especially concerned in our temporal salvation. To construct and main-tain a law it must in a reasonable degree conform to the present wants and will of the people. State medicine, as in Germany is too monarchial for the American citizen. is too monarchial for the American citizen. Medical laws in the different states should and will differ in their provisions in conformity to the varied conditions of society.

'We have too many medical colleges. They are becoming too numerous in the high sounding name of 'professor' is very alluring to the ordinary doctor, and very alluring to the ordinary doctor, and vertising. He who made two blades of grass grow, etc., was a benefactor, but not believe that will apply to medical colleges.

"We come now to that portion of the law which gives the board the right to refuse or revoke certificates for dishonorable or unprofessional conduct. This clause has been the questlo vexa of the board and the profession. The board has from the first exercised and magnituded its prerogatives under this clause, but not with the success desired, for want of an appropriation. There is a distinction between the ethics which govern societies and the law which governs the people. To say that a physician shall not advertise may be maintained by the societies, while the beard deals with the legal proposition that he was deals advertise that he proposition that he who does advertise must do so without deceit or false statements. A society has rights of discrimination which the public has not. You might refuse a man his presence in your house, and yet you could not drive him out of town.

you could not drive him out of town.

"Among the things which the board considers unprofessional are: Claiming to cure, for advanced compensation, diseases which are considered incurable; claiming to possess unusual skill, experience or facilities, and setting forth these claims by handbills or circulars or newspeners; immoral conduct or drunkenness while attending a patient; committing or attempting to committing. committing or attempting to commit an abortion; practicing under an assumed name uying or fraudulently holding a degree certificate or license; unwarrantable violation of professional secrets, which are ordinarily held to be sacred and inviolable."

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 6.-Last evening at a meeting of the Mount Horeb church, of which Colonel Breckinridge is a member, and over which his father once presided, he was summoned to appear. Mr. Breckinridge confessed his guilt in about the same way he testified in his suit at Washington and prayed for forgiveness, saying he had re-pented and would lead a new life in the future. After a consultation he was for-given and taken into the church again. This is the second Kentucky statesman who has embraced religion in the past tw months. Joe Blackburn has confessed befor Moody, the evangelist, and been converted. This move, it is believed, will put Breckinridge in good standing with the church peo-

Kelly's Army Rapidly Getting Ready & Give Way to Kelly's Navy.

WILL BREAST THE BROAD DES MOINES

Fifty of the Flotilla Finished Yesterday and he Entire Complement to Be Done Today-First One Launched

Called the "Omaha."

DES MOINES, May 6 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.)-This has been a great day for the people of Des Moines and Kelly's army. Early this morning a veritable shippard, barring the tall masts, was established on the Des Moines river bank below the city and nearly 500 men, mostly from Kelly's army, were put to work building boats in which the Industrials expect to float down the river. About fifty boats 6x14 feet were completed today, and it expected another 100 will be finished by tomorrow night. The start down the river will probably be made some time Tuesday.

There was a constant stream of visitors to the boat yard, good estimates of the number placing it at 15,000 to 20,000. Entertainment was furnished the crowd in the way of music by the Kelly Army Glee club, and addresses and experience talks by General Kelly and other members of the army. Kelly sustained his reputation as an ex-Salvation army captain. Frequent collectiors were taken up, as new arrivals came upon the scene, and it is estimated that the contributions will aggregate several hundred dollars. The first boat finished was floated and christened the "Omaha" by Miss Anna

Hooten. Meanwhile a committee is going ahead calling on the farmers and the people of towns near the river to meet them as they float down and supply them with food. The prospects are that the river will be lined with people and carriages all the way down, as the country is thickly settled by prosperous people. Kelly expects to reach Ottumwa, about ninety miles down, on the evening of the second day, but he will hardly do so by the end of the fourth day, according to good judges. There are many here who look upon the river journey as a piece of nonsense and regard failure as the only possible outcome. Many Des Moines carpenters assisted in the work of building the boats. The laboring men here have only one desire, and that is to get rid of the army.

Late tonight a meeting of labor leaders was held, Grand Master Workman Sovereign being present among others. After a full discussion it was decided to issue an appeal to the Knights of Labor of America and Canada, asking that each individual member contribute $1 to Kelly. Grayson's Quartermaster Resigns. NORTH PLATTE, Neb., May 6 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.)-Grayson's army of Industrials broke camp this morning and passed through town enroute for Gothenburg. General Bennett commanding. The men claim they are not so anxious to reach Washington as they are to secure work. According to the rules of enlistment, any man who strikes a job and desires to resign is entitled to an honorable discharge. While here the quartermaster received the intelli-gence that 3,000 hard American dollars had been left him by a deceased relative in New York. He resigned to become a capitalist.

AMUSEMENTS. Two large and enthusiastic audiences yesterday greeted the first presentation in this city of "A Prisoner for Life" at the Elfteenth Street theater. The play is a thoroughly stirring one and full of exciting incidents and the company is an especially strong one. From the first act until the last this powerful drama held the rapt attention of the crowded house and the frequent hearty outbursts of applause showed that it had aptivated those present. Miss Nellie Beattle in the role of Roxy, a wild, madcap child of nature, fascinatingly sustained the leading lady's part. Mr. R. W. Trelegan's personation of Jack Ashton was an artistic performance and Mr. G. C. Weinberg as Fritz, the comedian of the play, was irresistibly funny. His rendition of "Now He is Sorry He Spoke" literally brought down the house and the people became almost crazy over his singing of "That Tired Feeling." It is a bright, sparkling, good show, without a slow movement in it.

Troubles of a Bank President SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.-R. H. Mc-Donald, jr., who is accused of having wrecked the Pacific bank and the People's Home Savings bank of this city, of both of which institutions he was vice president, is in jail charged with the felonious embezzle-ment of $20,000 of the funds of the Pacific bank. He was arrested under a grand jury indictment and has been unable to secure the $100,000 bail demanded.
