WHAT SOCIETY DID THE PAST WEEK

Pretty Wedding of Miss Rich and Dr. Bradbury-Debutantes Cooking Club Becomes a Soulless Corporation-Movements and Whereabouts of People.

Society has done up its furniture in white finen nightcaps, front window shades are being drawn, in some cases front windows are being boarded up and its pictures are covered with mosquito netting; family plate is in the safe deposit vault, and the people who can afford it are rapidly leaving town, as will be seen from a perusal of these columns. Some of the very fashionables have gone to their suburban homes, and shortly The Bee will chronicle the high jinks at these rural establishments. Coaching parties have succeeded to the place of honor, while bowling parties are rapidly climbing into public favor. The races on the other side have also afforded the swells an opportunity to bring out their stylish turnouts, and the grounds of Union park have presented a rare sight these beautiful days of closing May.

There have been few weddings the past week, but rumor is kind to the devotees by predicting a whole colony of nuptial plight-ings for the early fall. The incorporation of the cocking club and a few picnics made the week endurable, but there is little in prospect that will excite the heart to one

Beautiful Home Wedding.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the year was that of Georgie -anton Rich, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rich, and Dr. William J. Bradbury Wednes day evening at 9 o'clock at the family residence, 1614 Emmet street, Kountze Place The house was a bower of roses, carnations hydrangias, palms, with lots of white ribbons to indicate the nuptial feature of the occasion. The ceremony was performed in the main parlor, facing south, a canopy of white ribbons and tall palms transforming the room into a temporary chapel.

At 9 o'clock the wedding procession descended the stairs, preceded by the ushers, Messra, F. M. Beach and Harry C. Miller, followed by Rev. S. Wright Butler, the officlergyman; then came the groomsmen, Mr. Q A. Knouse and John S. Clark the bridesmaids, Miss Antoinette Rich and Miss Cora Weaver; then the bride and groom came, and behind them the train bearer, little Irene Jaynes, and lastly the maid of honor, Miss Roberta Jaynes, bearing the satin pillow upon which rested the simple circlet of gold, symbolism of the unification of two hearts.

The bride, who is one of the prettiest girls in North Omaha and a favorite in a very large circle of friends, looked particularly happy and very lovable gowned in heavy white satin, en train, profusely trimmed in duchess lace, her long veil completing a most fascinating toilette.

Miss Rich, radiant and pretty, wore a very dainty gown of white trimmed with satin an trimmed with satin; both bridesmaids carry ing bouquets of pink roses in contrast with the bride's bouquet, which were white. The maid of honor, Miss Jaynes, was in white tulle, trimmed with lace, while the little train bearer, Irene Jaynes, wore a childish gown of white silk, with short sleeves and low neck, who, although but 4 years of age, won all hearts by her artless ways and her childish gravity, befitting the important office she was called upon to fill.

A reception followed the ceremony, refreshments being served on the third floor The table was decorated in pink and white, located under a canopy of smilax and carnations. The presents, which were very beautiful and extensive, were displayed in a room on the second floor, towards which a constant stream of guests wended all the evening. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for the Hotel Dellone amid a shower of rice, Thursday afternoon leaving on their wedding tour, which will in-clude visits to St. Paul, Minneapolis and the lake region of the northwest. They will be at home after June 15 at the Hotel The groom, as a souvenir of the occasion, presented to the bridesmaids beauful rings; to the maid of honor he gave a pretty stick pin, while to the ushers and groomsmen he presented scarf pins, the lit-tle train bearer also being prettily remem-

Coo'cing Club Incorporated

Throughout the past season the debutantes have been pioneers along new lines of social entertainment and they seem to have so conditioned things that they are still blazing the way for those who follow in their footsteps. When Lent brought rest to the weary ones who made their formal debuts in the social world during the pre-Lenten season, the bright minds among them conceived a cooking club as a Lentin penance for late hours and much dancing, and the cooking club emerged from the mists. Wonderful were the dishes given to the small world of spicureans in which the members moved and the elect few who were admitted into the holy of holies came forth with marvelous tales of how Mrs. Rorer and Miss Parloa were improved upon, to say nothing of the chefs at Sherry's and Delmonico's in New York and the Richelieu in Chicago. If such a thing were possible a goodly sum might be realized for some worthy charity if the receipts for sainds and other concettions made by these fair young women could be collected in book form and given to the world as the Debutantes' Cook Book. But this only by way of introduction.

The club has been meeting weekly among the members and so important have the meetings been that it was decided to incorporate the organization, that it might have a legal existence, in a word, to be able to sue and be sued for lost utensils, broken china and vandalism committed in and club. A well known lawyer was retained and articles of incorporation drawn up, which were read by Attorney Crofoot, representing the unknown queen's counsel, at the final meeting of the club at the residence of Mr. Henry Yates Tuesday evening. The occasion was a dancing party given by the members of the club, Miss Jentie Yates throwing open her house for the final meeting of the club. Excellent music was furnished and dancing took place in the large In addition to the members of the who are Miss Dandy, Miss Webster, Miss Colpetzer, Miss Cady, Miss Brown, Miss Jentic Yates, Miss Smith, Miss Burns, Miss Mary Nash and Miss Palmer, there were present, as guests of the club, Miss Lemon, Miss Kountze, Miss Oliver, Miss Kohlsuat, Miss Millard, Miss McKeuna, Miss Yates, Miss Bessle Yates; the men being Messrs, Penn, Dean, Hines, Captain Crowder, Drake, Palmer, Mercer, Turner, Garneau, Gannett, Hall, Wilson, Kountze, Baldridge, Farnam Smith, Crofoot, Hixson, Horbach, Cudahy and Preston.

The articles of incorporation are as fol

The Thurston Rifles. Monday evening the Thurston Rifles will be presented with a magnificent stand of colors by the Ladies Auxiliary corps. The ceremonies will be held at the Collseum and promise to surpass anything of this kind ever attempted. The program includes an imposing street parade of the infantry battalion composed of the Omaha Guards, the Dodge Light Guards of Council Bluffs, the Council Bluffs High School cadets and the Thurston Rifles. The companies will assemble at 7:15 o'clock on Fifteenth street, with the right resting on Douglas. Carriages containing Governor Crounse and staff, Brigadier Gen eral John R. Brooke, U. S. A., departmen commander and staff, Colonel C. J. Bills, commanding Second infantry, Nebraska National Guards, and staff, Colonel John Bratt, commanding First infantry, Nebraska National Guards, and staff, and other distinguished guests will form on Fifteenth street, right resting on Dodge street. The band of the Second infantry will march at the head of the column, which will move at 7:30 sharp. The line of march will be south on Fifteenth to Farnam, west on Farnam to Sixteenth, north on Sixteenth to Cuming, west to Twentieth, north to the Collseum. The Thurston Rifles have pitched the com pany tents in the south end of the building to represent a camp scene and have decorated the large auditorium with flags and bunting The ceremonies will begin with guard mounting by details from the different companies. Captain John Kinzle, U. S. A., will be officer of the day and First Lieutenant W. M. Wright, Second infantry, U. S. A., post ad jutant Fort Omaha, will act as adjutant The band of the Second infantry will play during this ceremony. Following guard mounting there will be short exhibition inmounting there will be short exhibition in-fantry drills and a drill by the Omaha Guards Gatling section. Owing to the inability of General J. C. Cowin to be present, the pre-sentation speech will be made by Hon. John L. Webster and Rev. S. Wright Butler will make the response. Epworth League Entertainment. The Epworth league of the South Tenth Street Methodist Episcopal church gave a musical and literary entertainment Thurs day evening. May 24.

The "T. K." quartet, always pleasing, sang three numbers with splendid effect, responding to an encore for each number. Prof. Harnisch's instrumental solo well received, the encore he received indicating his popularity.

Miss Ora Shinrock recited the "Last Hymn," and Mr. William Cox's humorous reading was received with great favor.

Mr. Cox is a success in dialect reading.

The solos by Mr. Fred Abel and Mr. H. Hopkins descrive especial mention. The audience manifested their delight in applause and encore.

Mr. Cole's solo, "Let All Obey," and the duets by Messrs. Cole and Leonhardt, and Miss Guerny and Mr. Leonhardt completed the success of the evening, and made many friends for the excellent vocalists, Woman's Club Annual. The annual meeting of the Woman's club will be held at Myrtle hall at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of hearing the reports of officers and the election of a lirectory for the ensuing year.

A spirited interest will be evidenced at his meeting, and a sharp fight is predicted when it comes to the election of officers. At this meeting the usual literary program will be cut short, and none but members will be admitted to witness the deliberations Although it has been organized but a little longer than a year, the club is one of the strongest in the city and is a general favorite with the ladies of the city.

Mr. W. T. Carleton will sing the offertory solo at Trinity cathedral tonight in response to numerous requests from those de-siring to hear him in church work. Previous to his going on the lyric stage Mr. Carleton was vicar choral at the Rochester cathedral, England, for many years. He has also sung in many of the leading churches on this side the water. The Kansas City Times has many kind words to say of an operetta given at Kan-sas City, Kan., by the pupils of Miss D. M. Thomas, a former pupil of Dr. Charles Baetens of this city, and is a sister of Mrs. f Council Bluffs. operetta was "The National Flower," east being of local talent entirely, and comprised nearly fifty people. Mr. Taber will give his thiry-first and last recital in the First Congregational church tomorrow evening and will have the assistance of the Temple quartet, Mr. Sutorius, mandolin; Mr. Widenor, guitar; Mrs. Nye, mezzo-soprano, and Mr. John B. Fisher, tenor. These recitals have been free to the public all winter, but on this occasion an admission fee will be charged, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The following program will be presented. Tickets may be obtained at Hospe's music store and at the door: PART I.
