VAN SANT'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND, SU FROM PUBLIC FUNDS

you are now paying 6 and 7 per cent, whereas you might as well refund the en-tire issue at a rate of 4½ or 5 per cent. The bonds are so issued that you have the right to refund at any time. If you will refund them we will take the entire lesue, pay you par for the new bonds and give you a commission of $1,000 hesides." the broker simply offers par for the new issue, but in either event the offer he makes is a very attractive one to the county com-missioners. They perhaps have had no thought of refunding the bonds, but the broker's proposition shows them a way to save the county several thousand dollars save the county several thousand deliars every year and perhaps to make a slight commission besides. The proposition is accepted. The refunding bonds are issued at 5 per cent, if it happens to be a small county, or at 4½ per cent if it is a county like Lancaster. When the refunding bonds are ready for delivery the broker goes to the Board of Educational Lanca and Funds and Board of Educational Lands and Funds and offers the 5 per cent bonds on a 4 per cent basis, or the 4½ per cent bonds on a 4 per cent basis. Under the policy of the board the broker finds a ready purchaser. He makes a liberal commission off the board and puts the money in his pocket. The county that issues the bonds receives none of the proceeds except the face value. The first time this scheme was worked was in last December, when the firm of Green & Van Duyn of Lincoln proposed to refund the outstanding indebtedness of Lancaster county. The total amount was $350,-000, of which the state held $200,000. The entire amount bore interest at the rate of per cent per annum. The new issue drew 4 per cent per annum, and the state ex-changed the 5 per cent bonds for the 4 per cent bonds at par to the amount of $200,000. and also purchased the $150,000 issue at par. Of course, there was no way in which the state could avoid the payment of the $200,000 issue. Lancaster county had a right to refund its indebtedness at any time it wished to do so. But the transaction is mentioned as a specimen brick. The state now holds as an investment for the permanent school fund something like $1,500,-000 worth of bends which are payable at the option of the counties which issued them. The bond brokers see in this fact an opportunity to reap an immense harvest and they have already gone to work. There is only one thing which the Board of Educational Lands and Funds can do to pre-vent the bond brokers from mulcting the people unnecessarily, and that is to notify each county that proposes to refund its in-debtedness, or that proposes to make a new issue of bonds, to deal with the state direct and thus save the people of each county the premiums that are now going into the hands of the brokers.

PREMIUMS ON BONDS. The legality of the action of the board in paying a heavy premium upon bonds purchased by the state as an investment for the permanent school fund, is seriously ques-tioned by several who have studied the matter. In speaking of the matter today, Auditor Moore said:

"If the Board of Educational Lands and Funds has the right, under the decision of the supreme court, to pay a premium of $10,000 on one issue it has the right to pay a similar premium on another. It has the right thus to pay out $100,000 in premiums, or $500,000 if the opportunity presents itself. Take the Douglas county deal for instance. The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds ordered the treasurer to pay out of the permanent school fund $160,893.75 for $150,900 worth of bonds. In twenty years Douglas county will return to the permanent school but $150,000. The fund is short to the extent of $10,893.75. If other deals are made in the same way it will not take but a few such transactions to make a deficiency of $100,000 or more in the permanent school fund. If the constitution means anything it means that any deficiency in the permanent school fund will have to be made good by the legislature. While I believe the per-manent school fund should be invested in ample securities at par I believe the state treasurer is liable for every dollar he pays out of the permanent school fund in the way of premiums on bonds pur-chased by the board. At any event, he has only the order of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds to protect him with. The board is acting under an ex parte opinion of the supreme court based upon a law which was repealed after the opinion was rendered. The supreme court has never had the matter brought to its attention upon a case at law. Educational Lands and Funds to secure an opinion from the supreme court upon an actual case. The time is particularly favorable for a submission of the matter to the court. Under the resolution of the board directing the state treasurer to set aside $450,000 of the permanent school fund moneys with which to call in and purchase general fund warrants there is not now remaining in the fund any money available for the purchase of bonds. There will be no money in the permanent school fund for several months, not until the general fund warrants now being purchased by the board are repaid from the money paid into the general fund by the county treasurers. The state would, therefore, not be the loser by an appeal to the supreme court at the present time. The court would have time to pass upon the question before there would be enough funds in the permanent school fund to make further purchases of bonds possible. At no time in the recent his-tory of the state has the time been so favorable for a submission of the question to the supreme court. While the court has the matter under advisement the state would be saving the interest on its floating in-debtedness, the indebtedness would not be increasing and the Board of Educational the criticism of attempting to hold up the law by in appeal to the courts upon a technical objection, a criticism to which they might be subjected under almost any

OPINION OF THE GOVERNOR. A representative of The Bee called on Governor Crounse yesterday in regard to these bond transactions, and the following interrogations were propounded and answers received:

Question-Considerable discussion taken place, as you are aware, over the question whether, in the investment of the permanent school fund of the state in United States or state securities and regiscounty funds, the Board of Educational Lands and Funds, of which you are a member, can pay a premium on such securities and bonds, and I would like to ask you if, in your opinion, such premium can lawfully be paid?

Answer—I have no doubt of it. In fact we know that United States bonds at all times are at a premium, and there is so much idle money in the country that all our county bonds are eagerly sought after, and as premiums are being paid for them by bond brokers, the state, to get any amount of them, must pay a premium also. Judge Lake, in delivering the unanimous opinion of the supreme court, found on page 684 of volume 15 of the state reports, distinctly held that such premium could be paid. Q.—From what fund, the permanent or temporary school fund, should it be paid?

A.—From the permanent school fund. The opinion just referred to so holds. The state constitution says the temporary school fund, which consists largely of money derived at interest from securities so purchased, "shall be exclusively applied to the support and maintenance of common schools." The ex-pecial purpose of this restriction, I take it, is to forbid the expenditure of this money for officers' salaries, the support of charita-ble institutions, and like uses. Whether any part of it might not be applied, when necessary, to the payment of premiums bonds purchased, is a question. Such ap cation of a small sum from the temporary school fund might, if no other way were open, enable the board to invest large amounts of the permanent fund which might otherwise remain idle, and mately swell the temporary school Such a proceeding would certainly be for the interest of the schools, and none of the money would be diverted from that exclusive application enjoined by the constitu-tion. But, as I have stated, the supreme court has decided that the premiums should be paid from the permanent school fund, and that is the direction the board follows. Q.—But Treasurer Bartley contends that by the payment of premiums from the per-manent school fund that fund will be depleted just so much us the premiums paid and that it will be done in the face of the constitution, which says that it "shall reconstitution, which says that it 'shall re-main forever inviolate and undiminished?" A.—There is some point to this, for it is true that if we buy bonds of the face value | Early Risers.

of $100,000 and pay $110,000 for them, paying both face value and premium from the permanent fund, that fund would be diminished $10,000 by paying all the interest received into the temporary fund and the $100,000 put back into the permanent fund.

PLAN FOR RELIEF. Q.—How can that be avoided then? A.—In different ways. The interest ac-cruing on bonds need not at once be turned into the temporary fund and so become exclusively applicable to school purposes, but the board, as a part of the transaction in-volving the purchase of the securities, might order the treasurer to set apart enough of the interest coupons first one to reimburse the permanent fund for the premium paid. or order him to apply the first accruing in-terest for that purpose. These coupons or the interest would not enter into or become a part of such temporary fund. The board could bargain with the vender of any bonds that he might retain coupons enough to equal the amount of premium agreed upon. The same result would be effected by the suggestion I have made. In both cases the payment of interest into the temporary fund would only be deferred. In the one case the vendor withholds the premium direct in the shape of coupons retained, and in the other the board, which has sole con-trol and discretion in the matter, instructs the treasurer to temporarily advance the amount of the premium from the permanent fund and replace it from money derived from the same coupons. This would be but a temporary advance from the permanent fund and in the transaction no way impair or diminish it. It certainly is better to withhold this interest to reimburse the small premium paid than to not make the investment and so receive no interest at all.

HAVE TOUCHED BED ROCK. Railroad Presidents Agree to Get Together

on Transcontinental Business. As one of the natural results of the recent conference of railroad presidents and general managers, a call has been issued for a meeting of transcontinental lines at Chicago June 5, with a view of resurrecting the Transcontinental association, which was terminated so ignominiously last autumn.

Transcontinental associations have been organized and have failed to bring about the purposes intended through the buccanpering methods of free lance roads, the result being complete demoralization of pas-senger business west of the Missouri. But the action of the presidents in the recent conference has clearly demonstrated that they will not tolerate any further foolish-ness on the part of heads of departments, and for the betterment of the revenues of the roads in the west propose to do some-thing for stock and bond holders. Secret meetings of stockholders have been held in New York, Boston and other centers, protesting against the suicidal policy of sys-tems that have completely forgotton the pri-mary purposes of railroad building in their desire to force rivals to terms.

What will be accomplished through the formation of this new association must be left for the future to determine, but the "silk hats" have decreed that the cruel war is over, and must not break out again.

The handsome new cottage owned by Mr. John O'Connor on Twenty-third street between I and J was set on fire about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Elmer Wier lives next door to the place. The building had just been completed and was scrubbed out Tuesday. There has never been a stove or any sort of fire in the building. Mrs. Wier heard a man getting out of the window of the place, and in a few moments the flames were discovered.

Mr. Wier and Mr. Whitten ran to the fire hall in their night clothes to give the alarm. The flames were soon smothered and the damage will only be about $200, which is fully covered by insurance. The police have no clew as to who fired the place, but a diligent search will be made to find the person. There have been a number of fires in South Omaha of late which have been started by some firebug. and the police are determined to locate this one, if possible.

Kate Roof, a woman who lives at 1411 Howard street, Omaha, came to this city to raise a racket, and succeeded in getting herself locked up at the police station. Mrs. Roof claims that her husband deserted her some time ago, and that she took up with William Krang, a man who works in the packing house here.

Krang rooms at Mrs. Manning's place on M street, between Twenty-third and Twentyfourth streets. Mrs. Roof says that he has been a great friend to her and that she loves him hard. Krang, however, has been rather chilly toward the woman of late, and she concluded to give him a fright. When Mrs. Roof entered his room Krang was out. She got hold of an old revolver, and when he got hold of an old revolver, and when he did show up she gave him a chase around did show up she gave him and the room, pointing the revolver at him and threatening to shoot. Krang managed to get out of the door, and found a policeman. to whom he reported the facts. Mrs. Roof was placed under arrest, charged with disturbing the peace. Decoration day was appropriately observed in South Omaha. At 9 o'clock all the old soldiers and sailors met at Grand Army of the Republic hall and, forming a procession, started for the cemeteries to decorate the graves. There was also a large turnout of ladies of the Woman's Relief corps and Daughters and Sons of Veterans. Mr. T. F. Elliott was the speaker of the day. The gentleman spoke eloquently and with much feeling when he referred to the departed comrades.

During the day the cars were jammed
