Choyanski and Fitzsimmons After the Suckers' Stuff.

THE BRIGGS TROTTING MEETING

All the Queen of the Turf-On the Lake and in the Field-Whispering of the Wheel and the Usual Weekly Sporting Gossip.

Joe Choyanski and Bob Fitzsimmons are to meet after all, but not for a $15,000 purse. They will box six rounds in Boston one week from Tuesday night for 65 and 35 per cent of the gate.

The Hub is certainly enjoying the call on prize fighting just now, but it won't last long. All the alleged managers of the country have flocked within her circuit.

White Dixon is the greatest of all the featherweights. He is one of the luckiest of all fighters. Everything seems to be grist that goes to his mill.

There are a good many guys in the country, basing their conclusions on the fact that Edgerton really knocked Dixon out in Philadelphia.

OMAHA, June 7.—To the Sporting Editor of The Bee: Since my very lively experience at North Platte some two weeks since I have received several challenges from one O'Brien.

Mysterious Billy Smith, I see, has at last got a go on. Next Tuesday night a week he and Ed Butler will meet in a twenty-five round contest.

A letter from a friend in Australia gives the particulars of the death of Harry Loring, the fighter that so soundly thrashed Billy Goddard in February last.

which bounded against the roof of the little cage in which he stood. As it came bounding back he hit it again, and so it went, much more speedily than the quickest mule could have kept time to that ball.

"Quickly the dark scene vanished, and in the full blaze Corbett appeared, with larger gloves on this time, to spar three rounds with his partner, John Donaldson, an American pugilist who twice met the long unconquered John L. Sullivan. A tiger is the only thing Corbett can be compared to when he faces an opponent in the ring.

The second and third rounds of the spirited but very short set were what Americans would describe as rattlers. Corbett's terrible left hand, which last round threw his opponent's stomach, nose and stomach again, so quickly as to make the spectators wonder if the shots were not there in a twinkling, and the time instead of being spent in one after the other.

The trotting and pacing meeting under the management of Clinton H. Briggs at Union Park, across the river, June 26, 27 and 28, promises to be one of the most successful turf events ever held in this section of the country.

The Queen of the Trotting World. The trotting and pacing meeting under the management of Clinton H. Briggs at Union Park, across the river, June 26, 27 and 28, promises to be one of the most successful turf events ever held in this section of the country.

Without a doubt the Clinton H. Briggs trotting meeting, which comes off at Union Park on the 26th, 27th and 28th, will be the most successful meeting ever held in this part of the west.

The Cadbury Cycling club took their regular Sunday run last Sunday. There were 419 entries in the Chicago road race and 365 of those who entered started.

Whispering of the Wheel. The Cadbury Cycling club took their regular Sunday run last Sunday. There were 419 entries in the Chicago road race and 365 of those who entered started.

Several new members were taken in at the regular meeting of the Tourists last Thursday evening. Jack Prince, it is claimed by southern papers, is doing five miles in twelve minutes before the sale of seats began.

Springfield, O., boasts of a cycling club of twenty-five members, which has no clubhouse, no expense and no monthly dues, yet the treasury carries a cash balance of $300, and the club has donated $100 to charity.

two minutes. Large crowds gathered along the course to cheer the boys. Some of the club boys took a run over the other side of the river last Sunday.

Captain Williamson and six of his mates made the run to Fort Calhoun last Sunday, returning in the evening. The club and the Tourists join issues today and pedal up to Missouri Valley, Ia., for dinner.

Unattached wheelmen are especially invited to attend these club runs. The specialty men who spent Decoration day abroad looking for time and prizes have returned to their native land, covered with a goodly amount of experience.

A large "straggle" last Sunday was the result of the first run in June by the Tourists. The first "squad" left at 8 o'clock and the main body at 9.

The Interstate Fishing club are hard at work perfecting their club on the river. The club has been organized and is now in the process of being organized.

Reports from the timbered country along the river, both north and south, show that an unusual crop of squirrels are about ready for the harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Preston, Mrs. Charles Gurley and Master James Turner spent several delightful days at Lake Washington last week.

It would be a matter of considerable surprise to some people to know the number of people who subsist wholly in the summer season by fishing in the turbid waters of the Missouri. Along the western shore, just below Bellevue, within a distance of not more than three miles, there are no less than six fishing camps.

It is time for squirrel shooting when the alder is in full bloom. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Preston, Mrs. Charles Gurley and Master James Turner spent several delightful days at Lake Washington last week.

Left. Fletcher Wood is still unengaged in this city. He is too good a man to be idle, and the wonder is that some such man as Des Moines or an Englishman, who has a play in it, is not a little better than one or two men in the home team.
