GOOD TIME FOR BUYING AND BUILDING

Euliding and Loan Corporations May Organize a Protective Association-Need of it Described-Promising Platte River Canal Again Discussed.

New features in the real estate market during the past week were as scarce as customers. There has been no buying interest in the market, and dealers in all grades of property complain of dullness and inactivity.

The corner of Fifteenth and Farnam streets, formerly occupied by the Farnam Street theater, will probably be bought by the Boston Ground Rent company within the next sixty days and leased by the company for ninety-nine years to Mr. Frank B. Kennard of this city, who will, in that event, erect a building of stores and offices. There is some inquiry for residence property, but the prices seem to prospective purchasers to be too high. A condition exists in Omaha residence districts which can hardly be found in another city in the country. It is impossible to locate the first-class homes entirely in one vicinity. Strangers ask where the fine residence neighborhood is, and the inquiry may only be answered by a general reference to any part of the city. The south, southwest, west, northwest and north portions of Omaha all contain some Ane and costly houses, but there is no one street in the city which may be, as in other citles, called the best. In some parliculars this is detrimental. Visitors looking over the town out of curiosity ask for a sight of the mansions of the wealthy, and In order to see any considerable number of them a drive of a much greater duration than is taken for pleasure becomes neces mary. It is likely that the system of boule-vards now being laid out and built will change things in this regard, and that the near future will see a radical improvement in respect of a fine residence district. Recent foreclosures have started a discus-sion among secretaries of building and loan associations as to the advisability of organ-lzing a protective association for Omaha socictles. The secretaries say that building and loan associations make mistakes and are imposed upon by borrowers with fraudulent intent as well as other financial institutions. Then again there is a class of contractors who overcharge for building and make false returns on the cost of the work. There is also a class of borrowers who go from one association to another trying to get a lean on over valuation. If the secretaries could form an association to which each could report his experience with tricky borrowers and contractors immediate good would result to every society. Omaha societies, however, have been carefully conducted and very little loss has been experienced.

PLATTE RIVER CANAL.

A Matter of Highest Significance to Omaha and Nebraska.

Commissioner J. E. Utt, in discussing the proposed Platte river canal, said yesterday:

"Public opinion, as fully expressed at the Commercial club by business men and property holders of the city, is entirely in favor of voting the necessary bonds to aid the Platte canal project. The feasibility of the canal has been investigated by capable, conservative persons, many doubting at first conservative persons, many doubting at inset the claim's made by the promoters. "As a tax proposition the voting of the bonds, instead of being a direct burden, is an economical measure, because the actual vance in price of property will be so great before the interest is due that the increased essment will decrease the amount collected on the dollar assessed.

"The advance in price means a demand

They Want the Station.

The following letter, signed by many business men, has been sent to General Manager Holdrege of the Burlington:

We, the undersigned busines men, residents and property holders of South Omaha, desire to say that we appreciate the movement in the interest of securing a direct and convenient Chicago connection over your line by a station on Thirteenth street on your Chicago and eastern line. We are positive that the business will justify this outlay on your part. A station at this point will be within one mile of the business center of South Omaha and will facilitate business as to freight and passenger traffic to such a degree as to guarantee 60 per cent of all eastern business in and out. It will also give us the advantage of from one to two hours on all mails both out and in. Such direc connections and conveniences as your Chicago line affords will greatly add to the business interests of the city, and we hereby guarantee our hearty co-operation in making this station profitable and popular.

An investigator questioned the sufficiency of the water supply from the Platte and Elkhorn Accurate measurements have demon strated an abundant supply at low water mark. The lack of a better knowledge of the invisible and mysterious forces of elec-tricity led to discussion. It is now conreded that the loss in transmitting electric power from the initial point to an extreme part of the city does not exceed 5 per cent. It was claimed at first by some persons that it exceeded 25 per cent. It must be ad-mitted that the invention and improvement in electrical appliances are in their infancy and based on the ratio of progress for the last five years, the electrical power now profluced by an initial horse power, water or steam, will in a few years be in-creased several times, so that the 30,000horse power assured to begin with may rea-sonably be increased to 100,000-horse power increasing the water in the canal. This would be as reasonable to suppose as the improvement made in steam engines. A few years ago the slide valve engine used sixty pounds of water per horse power per hour. This was reduced to twenty-six pounds by the double valve, to eighteen pounds by the double valve condensing, and to twelve pounds by the triple expansion, an increase of 500 per cent in power, the steam produced remaining the same. There is greater power in electricity than steam, therefore, greater possibilities for improve-

'A few years ago the factories of this country were all in the eastern states. They have since moved west, until Chicago, St. Louis and other intermediate cities are locating numerous boot and shoe, implement, woolen and other industries. The jobbing centers soon became manufacturing centers also. When prosperity returns promoters of factories will locate at Missouri river trade centers, and the manufacturing interests will centralize in the Missouri valley, because the physical conditions will prevent them going further west. The canal, pro-ducing cheap power, will be the distinctive feature that will secure these coming plants to Omaha. The crude material is here in abundance, and the mark t at home and west Another favorable feature is that of the $2,500,000 the canal will cost, $1,800,000 will be expended for labor. On the basis of $1.50 per day 2.000 hands will be employed daily during the construction for two years. It is not surprising that the citizens are anxious to have the undertaking progress as rapidly as possible, such great results are guaran-teed."

There has never been a time in the his lory of this city when building could be done as cheaply as now. A leading brick contractor said yesterday that brick men were Boing work for almost any price offered. Btock brick can be contracted for and laid in the wall for $7 a thousand, and even less. When it is considered that two and three ars ago the prevailing price was from $1 $12 a thousand for the same class of w the comparison may be easily appreciated. All other classes of building trades are in the same condition. Now is not only the lime to buy, but also to build.

Some very pretty balloon ascensions have been made by the new balloon, which is larger than any previously used. It is the intention of the management to ink an artesian well for the purpose of

Mr. Patterson charmed his hearers yes-erday. The most flattering encomiums were passed upon him both morning and evening. At each service his audience seemed impressed with the fact that he was preaching with reserved power, not putting forth any extra effort on his first appearance. Furthermore, he is orthodox according to the standard set up by the church, a Presbyterian in every sense of church, a Pressyterian in every sense of the term. In view of the recent discus-sion in the general assembly and outside of it on the question of the hapira-tion of the scripture, it was gratifying to the conservative members of Westminster church to have their new pastor declare that in each page of the bible he can see the hand-writing of omnipotence. He declared himself, further, a Presbyterian when he dis-claimed absolute holiness on this earth and said the time would never come, probably, when the Christian would not have his conflicts Before he announced his text in the morning Mr. Patterson, stepping to the front of the platform and holding a small copy of the scripture in his hand, made a short ad-dress. He said that he was glad to meet with his new flock. It was a hard task, like temporal death almost, to leave a peo-ple among whom he had labored, but he believed he was called of God to Detroit, and he came to Westminster church to give the copie all he was and all he had to do, his best in everything. The text chosen for the morning sermon was the 19th verse of the first chapter of Colossians, "For it pleased the Father that in Him shall all fulness dwell." He spoke without notes and without a pulpit. When he warms to his subject he gesticulates freely and walks from one end of the platform to the other, backward and forward, facing at intervels, even was and of the subjects intervals every section of his audience, preaching into the gallery and at the back lows as well as to the worshipers sitting at his feet

Two new features that had not been ob served in the morning were witnessed at the evening service, when once more the pews were filled in every part of the audi orium. After the sevening offering the elders, with the contributions in their hands, gathered in a semicircle in front of the plat form, and the pastor, with hands extended over them, offered up special thanks for gifts that had been received. After the benediction had been pronounced, preacher and audience still remaining in the attitude of prayer, the quartet rendered a brief parting hymn. Dr. Patterson will be formally inducted into the pastorate of the church after the next meeting of the Detroit presbytery, which passed the following resolutions respecting the death of Father Bruen: Whereas, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call unto Himself our late venerated brother, Rev. James A. Bruen; therefore, Resolved, That we bow in humble sub-mission, but with hearts filled with sorrow, for in the death of Father Bruen the church has lost a most faithful, zealous and talented priest, the community a most worthy and patriotic citizen, and the An-cient Order of Hibernians a member who had the respect, love and confidence of the entire organization: Resolved, That we tender his relatives our heartfelt sympathy and condolence, for surely the sorrow is indescribable. They and we were proud of the young priest, our own Soggarth Aroon, so mild and gentle and unostentatious, yet so learned and profound. His future was assured, for the work he performed, even on the threshold of a life devoted to the service of God, will be a standing monument to his memory for all time: Resolved, That we drape our halls in appropriate mourning-for the space of thirty days; that we shall pray for his eternal happiness, and that each division in our state shall take the earliest oppor-tunity to approach holy communion in a body and offer it to God for the repose of his soul: Mesolved, That coples of these resolu-tions be sent to the local papers for publi-cation and that a copy be sent to his rela-tives, and also that they be spread upon the records of the Ancient Order of Hiber-nians.
