compelling the surrended of Cornwallis. In his dairy of August 14, 1781, he wrote:

"Matters having now come to a crisis and a decided plan to be determined upon. I was obliged, from the shortness of Count de Grasse's promised stay on this coast, the apparent disinclination of their naval officers to force the harbor of New York, and the feeble compliance of the states with my requisition for men hitherto, and the little prospect of greater exertions in the future, or give (1) all idea of attacking New York, and instead thereof to move against York-into the belief that he was moving against New York. One of the legends of Dobbs Ferry is that he sent a messenger with orders through the lines, knowing that he would be captured. When the messenger protested he was told to obey orders. He was promptly captured by the British near

New York, and a few days later Washing-ten with his army slipped across the Hudson and was well on his way to Yorktown before the ruse was discovered.

By a curious chance the commanders-in-thief of the two armies met in the Van Burgh Livingston mansion a year and a half after the battle of Yorktown to arrange for he evacuation of American soil by the Brit-th. Washington and Governor Clinton went Clinton at dinner on board the sloop. When Washington left the hills re-echoed with sev ssist digestion, cure headache. Try a box.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Matters of Importance Discussed at th

Meeting Wednesday Night.

The Omaha Central Labor union held ployers in their trade and asked that the Central Labor union assist their union in bringing the unfair firms into line. The committee on organization was instructed to lend all the assistance possible to help

The special committee appointed some time ago to formulate a plan for organizing labor military companies asked for further time, which was granted.

It was decided to celebrate Labor day this year as usual. It was then decided to elect seven members of the union to make all labor and advocated that the union oppose the whole measure. It was argued that the work could be started as soon by the city, if the necessary legislation was secured, as it could by the present canal company and that such a course would be much better for labor. It was argued that if the city built the canal it could be done by home labor instead of importing cheap labor as is often done by the contractors. Nearly every delegate present had something to say on the canal question and it was finally passed as the sense of the union that they were opposed to any subsidy and adopted the following resolution: Resolved. That the Omaha Central Labor union is in favor of the building of the Platte river canal either by private enterprise or by

Douglas county, but opposed to all subsidies to private companies or corporations.

Of indigestion, when it takes a long lease of the stomach, are unsurpassed by any de-scribed by the most sensational writer of ghost stories. Unlike this latter kind, they are real and not imaginary. Heartburn, wind on the stomach, heart palpitation, ex treme nervousness are only a few of them. Dispossess this unwelcome tenant with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which banishe also malaria, constipation and biliousness.

THE CANAL PROPOSITION

Discuss the Proposition.
As yet the members of the Board c

County Commissioners have done nothing with the proposition of the Omaha Power and Canal company, asking a subsidy of $1,- 000,000 to aid in the construction of the Platte river canal, nor will they do anything this week, as they desire to get an expres-sino from the public before taking any ac-tion. With this end in view a public meeting has been called for Saturday evening, at which time the canal question will be dis-

The meeting will be held in the large court room in the court house and will be presided over by E. M. Sienberg, the chairman of the board. It is the intention of all of the commissioners to attend the meeting, that they may hear the discussion that may be brought out by the advocates and oppo cussed in all of its phases.

Monument Erected on the Epot Where the Yorktown Campaign Was Planned.

BIRTHDAY OF THE STARS AND STRIPES

June 14 Selected as the Day for the Dobb's Ferry Celebration Because it Was the Anniversary of the Selection of the National Fing.

NEW YORK, June 14.-The New York Society of the Sons of the American Revolution today laid the foundation stone of a monument at Dobbs Ferry, designed to mark the spot where Washington had his headquarters in 1773.

The monument will stand in front of the old Livingston house, in which the Yorktown campaign was planned, and in which British and American commanders arranged for evacuation of American soil by the British, and opposite which the British sloop-ofwar fired the first salute ever given by Great Britain to America. June 14 was chosen for the celebration of the laying of the base stone because it is the anniversary of the date when the stars and stripes were first selected as the official national standard of the United States. The monument will be Maine granite, about ten feet high with a flat top on which a statute of the French admiral, Comte de Rochambeau will be placed at some future date. On the base stone the names of Washington and Rochambean will be placed. Higher up an inscription will tell what the shaft is to commemorate.

The Star line steamboat Carolina left Eighty-eighth street at 1 o'clock this morning for Dobbs Ferry with about 1,000 persons on board, members of the Sons of the Revolution and their guests. Among the latter were Vice President Stevenson and family, Secretary of the Navy Herbert, Assistant Secretary McAdoo, Admiral Gherardi, Admiral Benham, General W. A. Stryker, Post-master Dayton, FitzJohn Porter and many ther well known men. President Cleveland, Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British am-bassador, and M. Patrenotre, the French ambassador, sent their regrets as did also Governor Flower and Mayor Gilroy.

At Dobbs Ferry the men-of-war Miantono mah and Lancaster, representing the old navy and the new, awaited the party to fire a salute to the vice president. The party was received by the local citizens committee who act as hosts during the stay in the village. Before the arrival of the Carrolina, the school children sang national anthems in front of the Livingston house and then, with the local militia, fire department and civic organizations, escorted the guests to the site of the monument, where the procession halted, while Chauncey M. Depew, president of the society, laid the bast stone, the Marine band playing the national air and war ships firing a national salute. The procession then moved to the Living ston house, now owned by Dr. Hasbrouck, who gives the society the land on which the monument stands, and literary exercises then took place, the principal addresses being by Vice Presi dent Stevenson and General Horace Porter. Vice President Stevenson and family arrived in this city from Washington on the the congressional express last night and went to the Windsor hotel, which had ex-tended its hospitalities to the party. The monument is intended to mark the place where Washington planned the Yorktown campaign. The ceremonies proper be gan at noon.

Mr. Stevenson's address was entirely fitted to the occasion. "I can hope to add but little to the interest of this great occasion by any words I may utter," he began. "This day and this hour belong to history. We stand, in-deed, upon historic ground. Here on the banks of the majestic Hudson we lay the corner stone of a monument which will commemorate the great events of the revolu-

The 14th day of June —the anniversary of the adoption by the colonial congress of the stars and stripes as our national symbol—is the appropriate day for the laying of the corner stone of a monument which is to commemorate the events so closely linked with our struggle for independence and which make up so important a part of the warp and woof of our revolutionary history. It is well that to the descendants of the heroes of our colonial struggle has been committed the patriotic task of erecting this monument. The important service of this hour is not the least of the The important patriotic services which have brought luster to the honored 'Sons of the American Revolution.' The members of this society-whose charged with the grateful task of garnering up for history the glorious deeds of illustri-ous sires. It is theirs to keep brightly burning the fires upon our patriotic altars; to in-culcate the sacred love of country, to teach our American youth that upon this world's theater have hever appeared grander or manlier men than Washington and his compeers, and that the highest title they can wear is that of American citizens."

The monument is a square granite block, ten feet high, on a pedestal of similar material. The inscription reads:

The events which the monument fittingly commemorates marked one of the critical periods in the revolutionary war. It was necessary to make a final strike for lib-erty, which might result in defeat. Washington and Rochambeau met in the mansion of Van Brugh Livingston and there planned the campaign that closed the war. The house is still standing, and has been in possession of only one owner between Van Brugh Liv-ingston and the present proprietor. Dr. Joseph Hasbrouck. It has been called the "Cradle of Final Victory."

Washington was at Dobbs Ferry nearly six weeks before he decided upon the Yorktown campaign. The outlook for independence was very gloomy. The colonial army had met with many reverses in the south the treasury was exhausted, and there was mutiny in the army. Washington wrote in his diary under the date of May 1, 1781. "Instead of having everything in read-iness to take the field, we have nothing; and instead of having the prospect of a glerious offensive campaign before us, we have a gloomy and bewildered defensive one, uness we should receive a powerful aid of ships, land troops and money from our

A month later the prospects were brighter. By the middle of June Lafayette was in hot chase after Cornwalls and Washington was planning with Rochambeau to effect the croture of New York City. On July 4, 1781, their forces met at Dobbs Ferry. Washing-ton removed his headquarters from the house of Joseph Appleby, which then stood a few miles from the Hudson, on what was later called Washington's Hill, to the Van Brugh Livingston mansion. There he held
