PRESIDENT'S SALARY EXEMPT

Income Tax Does Not Reach the Head of the Nation.

HILL MAKES A POLITICAL PROPHECY

Says if the Present Policy is Persisted to There Never Will Be Another Demoeratic President-Galleries Applaud the Remarks.

WASHINGTON, June 23 .- The half hour ngually devoted to miscellaneous business in the senate was today occupied by Mr. Call with a resolution providing for a committee of five senators to investigate the control of senators and representatives by corporations. He made a brief speech on the subject.

Mr. Sherman said he was willing that the investigation should be allowed so far as Florida was concerned, but he did not think it was just to make it so broad and sweeping as contained in the resolution. The matter went over and the tariff bill was taken up.

Mr. Hill took the floor. He said that yesterday would be known in history as populist day, alluding to the speeches of Senators Kyle and Allen. He said that no attempt had been made to attack the repeat of the state bank tax or to enact a free colnage bill in this bill, both of which are endorsed by many democrats and considered a part of the platform, while especial efforts had been made to go outside of the platform to incorporate the income tax in the bill. No other system of taxation opened such a broad field for fraud and evasion and none offeres such temptations.

If the tax were to be imposed there was no reason why the exemption should be $4,000 when in monarchical countries where this wasn in monarchical countries where this tax was levied the exemption was but $750 and even down to $271. Was it to compen-sate for the high cost of living here? He believed that the higher the exemption the harder would it be to defend this tax.

HILL OFFERS AMENDMENTS. Having spoken nearly two hours Mr. Hill gave way to Mr. Gallinger, who also opposed the income tax. Then Mr. Hill offered the amendment limiting the exemption of tax to incomes less than $3,000, which Mr. Vest had offered yesterday on behalf of the finance committee, but which he afterwards withdrew. Lost, 30 to 38.

The vote in detail is as follows:
Yeas—Aldrich, Carr, Chandler, Davis,
Frye, Gallinger, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Irby,
Lodge, Manderson, Peffer, Perkins, Platt,
Quay, Shoup and Washburn, Total, 18. Nays-Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Caf-fery, Cockrell, Coke, Dolph, Dubols, Faulkner, George, Gorman, Gray, Hansbrough, Harris, Hawley, Hunton, Jarvis, Mitchell (Ore.), Mitchell (Wis.), Morgan, Murphy, Palmer, Pasco, Power, Proctor, Pugh, Roach, Smith, Teller, Turple, Vest, Vilas, Voorhees, Walsh and White, Total, 42.

Mr. Hill then moved to reduce the ex emption from $4,000 to $2,000. This was ilso defeated, 26 to 38.

Mr. Hill then moved to reduce the exemption to $2,500; lost, 25 to 38.

Mr. Hill then reoffered the Vest amendment to reduce the exemption from $4,000 to $3,000. Lost, 30 to 38.

Mr. Hill then offered an amendment to change the date on which the income tax provision of the bill should go into effect from January 1, 1895, to January 1, 1896. judges of United States courts in the exemp-

Mr. Sherman inquired whether any estimates had been made as to the probable yield of revenue from this tax. Mr. Vest replied the general estimate was $30,000,000, but he did not believe any accurate estimate

Mr. Hill proposed an amendment to exempt the salary of the president from the imposition of the tax, and used this amendment as a text for criticising in a semi-humorous way the action of the finance committee in exempting the salaries of federal judges. He failed to see, he said, why the salaries judges should be exempt, and he though if compliments were to be paid one certainly was due to the president; besides the president happened to be a resident of New York and the tax would fall with an especially heavy hand on New York.

DID NOT SPEAK WITH AUTHORITY. "I am not authorized to speak for the president," Mr. Hill said, with a smile, "in this or any other matter, but this would be York and I think the committee ought to accept the amendment." 'While Mr. Cleveland is the last democratic president we shall ever have from New York," said Mr. Vest, rising to his feet, "the appeal is almost irresistible."

"If you persist in this species of taxation," said Mr. Hill, turning to him, "he will be the last democratic president from any

The applause in the galleries that greeted this utterance was quickly suppressed by the vice president with a vigorous use of When the amendment was put Mr. Hill then moved the interest on United Millers Have Plenty of Time to Get Flour to Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 23 .- The notice of the intention of the Spanish government to increase considerably on the 1st of July the duties on a large number of American products entering Cuba under the reciprocity treaty has created a great commotion among exporters and particularly among the shippers of wheat and flour, who found themselves caught unexpectedly as they thought with large contracts for future delivery which could not be landed in Cuba before the date when the new duties were to be imposed. In this case they stood to lose heavily on their contracts, as they would be obliged to pay the higher duty. Appeals have flowed into the State department from the west particularly, begging the government to intercede to protect these shippers. Mr. Uhl, who is acting as secretary in the absence of Mr. Gresham, telegraphed Min-ister Taylor at Madrid upon the subject and has received a reply that, according to the Spanish minister of state, the increase in the Cuban tariff canot be voted before July if at all. When it is voted equitable provision will be made to cover such cases as the millers apprehended.

Two Well Known Young Men Have a Fafal Quarret Gver a Woman.

ST. PAUL, June 23 .- The murder of J. H. Clapp, salesman for W. S. Dennis & Co., by Ehle Allen last night in a quarrel over a woman is the most sensational affair which has occurred in the northwest for some time. on account of the prominence of the principals. Young Allen is the son of Colonel Allen, proprietor of the Merchants hotel, has acted as the clerk of that institution for years and is probably as well and favorably known to the better class of the traveling public as any man in the country. The crime is rendered more sensational by the mystery which surrounds the relations of the parties in the affair and the motive for its commis-sion. From stories told by witnesses it ap-pears that the young woman, a Miss Lule Leyde, and Mr. Allen had been living to-gether for the past few months in rooms op-posite the Metropolitan hotel as "Mr. and Mrs. Moore." Shortly before midnight last night Miss Leyde and a female friend were passing the Metropolitan when they were in-sultingly accested by Clapp. The woman ran across the street to where Allen was standing and Clapp followed. Then the tragedy occurred. Allen without further provocation drew a knife and slashed Clapp across the throat so seriously that he bled to death within twenty minutes. There are hints that there are deeper and more sensational motives for the crime than are yet made public.

Allen and the Leyde woman were arrested and placed in jail.

Allen's version is that he had driven up to the Metropolitan in a cab. He had dismissed he cabman and was leisurely walking along Fourth street, paring his finger nails with pocket knife, when Clapp accosted the Leyde woman on the opposite side of the street. The woman ran to him for protection and Clapp followed. In an altercation following Clapp drew a revolver and Allen struck at him, not thinking of the knife he held in his hand. He claims he did not know he had cut the man until after he was dead. Miss Leyde's story substantiates that of She confirms his assertion that Clapp had drawn a revolver. Other eye witnesses however, deny that he had made any hostile motion. The fact that he still held a half-burned cigar between his fingers when he staggered into the hotel corridor and sank into a chair after the cutting is a strong point in contradiction.

Devotion of Mrs. Mayfield to Her Husband as Shown by Her Grief.

A scene that brought tears to the eyes of those who witnessed it occurred yesterday afternoon at the morgue, where lay the body of Joe Mayfield.

Joe Mayfield was colored and years ago he married a white woman. They have lived together through, thick and thin. She never faltered in her devotion to her colored husband and he never mentioned the color

About six years ago they moved into a-thatched shanty at Thirteenth and Lake streets and the neighbors say they lived an extremely happy life. No children were ever born to them. When the wife heard that something had befallen her husband she fainted, and when she revived the first question she asked "Where is he?" Yesterday afternoon she went to the norgue and, accompanied by Eli Gish, went into the basement to see the remains. They were on a cooling board and the moment Mrs. Mayfield saw the face she threw herself upon the corpse, passionately kissing the face. It required three men to take her from the spot, she being a very large and muscular woman. Half a dozen times be-fore the door was reached she attempted to break away from those who held her. The investigation into the death of May field has not progressed any. Police de-tectives looked into the matter, but learned nothing new. Coroner Maul wants an auheld, but will not order one unless the commissioners agree to County Physician Blythin said that he would make the post mortem if the commissioners so ordered. There is not a mark or bruise of any kind on Mayfield's body and the genheart disease. This was the verdict of the coroner's jury. It is certain that the body was not robbed, for the knife, keys and money that Mayfeld was known to have Elequent Kansas Statesman Will Advocate Republican Frinciples This Fall.

IN THE CAMPAIGN FOR BUSINESS

Indications that He Will Make a Determined Effort to Return to His Seat in the Senate When Peffer's Term Expires.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 23 .- (Special to The See.)-Some little interest is manifested in Kansas political circles over the part that x-Senator Ingnifs intends to take in the oming campaign. The worthy statesman did not show up at the late republican state convention, but it had no sconer adjourned than his name appeared on the Copeland register and he was in touch with the newly elected state central committee. It was reported at the time, but not confirmed, that be offered his services for the campaign. Later the story was heralded abroad that he had received an offer to assume editorial control of a big eastern magazine, and later the story was revised to make it appear that the flayer of Voorhees may identify himself with one of the eastern metropolitan dailies. in the meantime and notwithstanding these varying rumors the state committee has met and to it J. M. Chisham of Atchison made a formal tender of Mr. Ingalls' services in conducting at least two rallies in each of the seven congressional districts. Joe Ady, J. R. Burton and the other senatorial aspirants were not at all pleased with the tender, for they knew too well that it betokened a desire to again serve his state at Washington. They were still less pleased when the tender was accepted and the way hus opened for Mr. Ingalis to work up seniment in his own interest.

Everything tends to the conclusion that ingalis will make the race if the feelers that is putting out indicate to him that his chances are good. Two years ago, in the in referring to the then approaching senator-ial election: "I want to say to you all that I am not a candidate—not now. My seat in the senate is not vacant. When it is, if I desire to return, I will see the people of Kansas again in regard to the matter."
As recently as last fall Mr. Ingalls announced in the course of an address at Horton, this state, that he had no desire for any office at any time, either then or in the future, but he had Colonel Dan Anthony along to announce immediately after the ad-dress that "Mr. Ingalls has no right to say hat he is not a candidate. When the people of Kansas need him they will call on him ind he will serve."

Mr. Ingall's seat is not yet vacant—Peffer will occupy it for two years more—but he is evidently convinced that the people of Kansas need him, and desires an opportunity to convince them of the fact.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS BRIGHT. Kansas seems destined to go republican this year. The fusion between democracy and populism that all but wiped out a majority of 80,000 four years ago, and that transformed it into a minority two years ago, will not be repeated in 1894. The defeat of the republican party, when that de-feat means the continuation in power of the present populist administration, is not now so ardently desired by democrats as to out-weigh al other considerations. But even were the democratic party in Kansas willing on general principles to assist in another defeat of republicanism, the action of the recent populist convention on the woman suffrage question would alienate the bulk of the democratic vote and tend to the nomina-tion and support of asstraight-out bourbon democratic ticket. And, with a straight-out democratic ticket in the field republican success is certain, for the populists have always lacked 25,000 votes of a plurality.

The public utterances of such democrats as David Overmeyer, ex-Governor Glick United States Attorney Perry, Tulley Scott, oe Lowe and United States Marshal Neeley all go to show that there is no other inten-tion this year than the nomination on July 3 of a straight democratic ticket, on a plat form which shall declare against woman suffrage, prohibition and all other issues. Not a single democratic leader can be found who has a good word to say of the populist platform or who ventures to sug-gest that it may be endorsed by his party. Even the strongest fusionists of two years ago are pronounced in their advocacy of the nomination of a democratic ticket. A few have rather hinted that George W. Clark, the copulist nominee for justice of the supreme court, might possibly be endorsed, but the suggestion has created such a storm among the rank and file of the party that there is little probability that Mr. Clark's name will appear on the democratic ticket. The Paola Spirit, one of the leading democratic papers in the state, in commenting on Clark's nom-ination last week, said:

BETRAYED HIS PARTY. "For four years he has held office under a populist attorney general, claiming all the while to be a democrat, and using this claim to get into democratic councils, and then posting his populist keepers on democratic doings. The time has come for real demo-crats to shut the door in the face of alleged emocrats of the George Clark stripe

The Topeka Democrat treats the matter in bout the same manner. That this sentiment among democratic leaders against fusion, even on Clark, is shared by the lesser lights in the party is evidenced by the action being taken by the democratic county conventions throughout the state. Several important conventions were held Saturday and all declared strongly grainst fusion. In Bourbon county only such men as W. C. Perry and J. D. McCleverly were elected as delegates and every suggestion of fusion was shouted down. In Saline county the following resolution was unani-mously adopted: "We emphatically denounce he craze for woman suffrage as injurious o good morals, detrimental to the welfare of the state, a step twenty centu-ries backward in the progress of the world and a ruinous and destructive legacy o succeeding generations." As the populist datform includes an endorsement of equal suffrage, this resolution is equivalent to declaration of war against populism. I Coffey county all delegates were positively instructed to vote for straight democratic state and congressional tickets, and the central committee was ordered to call a county convention for the nomination of a straight county ticket. With all this feeling against fusion partially provoked by the signal failure of the populist administration to perform a single creditable act, but due more to the endorsement of woman suffrage by the populist convention, there is scarcely a possibility that the enemies of the republican party can unite. If they do not unite, the republican plurality this fall will be 25,000 votes; if they should still be good, but the contest will be a close

FORGOT HE WAS MARRIED.

A Newly-Made Bridegroom Forgets All About His Respons bilities. A story is told of a newly wedded couple who were guests at the Kennedy house, Chattanooga, Tenn. The man registered like this: "August Buerger and wife." He remained one day, and when he stepped up to ask the amount of his bill Clerk Bayless said it would be $1.
"Four dollare!" Mr. Buerger said. "Why, your rates are rather high, aren't they?"

"No. I guess not; that's only $2 a day."
"But I have been here only one day."
"I know it, but it is $4," Mr. Bayless repiled.
"How do you figure that?" the newly wedded man asked, as he leaned over the counter with a frown of perplexity on his otherwise blissful features.

"Well, there's yourself, one day, $2; and there's your wife, one day, $2; two and two Then the fellow slammed his fist down or the register, while a crimson flush of blood suffused his checks.

"Well, I'll swear," he cried, "if I didn't forget all about her, I'll eat my hat. Here, take this V, keep the change and say nothing about it, please, But the clerk didn't keep the change, so he didn't think there was any reason why he shouldn't tell the story, which he did, and hus It's told.

RELIGIOUS. The Danish Lutheran church at Kearney Neh has received from the queen of Den mark a gift of a handsome altar painting. Rev. Father Stephen Beggs, the first Protestant clergyman to preach in Chicago, then old Fort Dearborn, is at present visit-ing h's ion in that city. He is 94 years old, but still fairly vigorous. The recent central Methodist conference held at Allahabad, India, reported 55,148 full members and probationers, 18,737 bab-tisms during the year, 72,120 Christians, 1,864 Sunday schools, 70,865 scholars and 2,803 agents of all kinds.

The memorial to Phillips Brooks has been placed in the wall along the south aisle of St. Margaret's church, Westminster, England. It symbolizes the command, "Feed My Sheep." The archbishop of Canterbury composed the Latin quatrain inscribed underneath.

It is something to be a popular Baptist preacher in Philadelphia. Thursday last, when Rev. Russell H. Cowmell, paster of Grace Baptist church, that city, left with his family for a European trip, he was ac-companied to New York by no less than 1,200 cf his parishloners. It took two long trains to carry them all. At New York the excursionists chartered a large steamer to ccompany the ocean steamer on which their pastor sailed down to Sandy Hook.

Zion's Lutheran church at Manheim Penn, has an annual "feast of roses" in commemoration of the gift of the church site by Baron Stiegel in 1772. The consid-eration was "5 shillings and the annual rental of one red rose, to be paid in the month of June, when the same shall be le-gally demanded." This year a magnificent red rose was formally given to Mrs. Lina Lindenheim of Manheim, Germany, a lineal descendant of the nobleman who founded the
