YOUNG COLLEGIANS HOPE OF THE GIRLS

Lawn Fetes Continue to Play No Inconsequential Part in the Life of the Swell Set-Petite Dinners Quite the Proper Caper.

All the stay-at-homes are busy talking about the go-aways at this season, and the number of the former grow less every day. Still, however, there is evidence that it is becoming more and more swell to remain in town a bit late, as well as to more than make up for it by staying away when one is once gone until autumn has nearly changed its name for winter.

Weddings have been quite numerous during the past week, that of Miss Brown and Mr. Wyman being quite the swellest thing of the season. But the work of the little god is about over, and he will soon be taking his annual holiday at the seashore and whole backetful of hearts.

The Wyman and Brown Wedding. The wedding of Miss Clara Brown and Mr. Henry Wyman Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brown was one of the most beautiful affairs of this nuptial season. The large grounds surrounding the Brown establishment on Sherman avenue presented a beautiful scene, the playing of the fountains, the rustic chairs and benches and the faraway music of the mandolin club giving an artistic setting to the ceremonies pensurate with the high social and intellectual position held by the bride and

The wedding was solemnized in the drawing room of the residence, one corner of which had been turned into a temporary altar by the introduction of smilax and white before which the bridal party stood during the ceremony, which was performed by Rishon Worthington.

At a signal the two brothers of the bride. Mr. Randall Brown and Mr. Jay Brown walked out with the broad, white ribbons which formed the aisle down which the wedding procession was to pass. The or-chestra began playing softly the "Lohengrin" edding march, and the bridesmaids entered, all dressed in white Swiss and carrying great bunches of sweet peas as bouquets, Miss Laura Hoagland, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Margaret Pratt, Miss Bessie Yates, Miss Sadie Nash, Miss Gertrude Chambers. Then followed Miss Della Chandler, maid of honor, and never did a maid of honor look more queenly. Mr. Wyman appeared with his best queenly. Mr. Wyman appeared with his best man, Mr. Barnes of St. Paul, followed by Mr. Brown with his daughter, dress was of heavy white satin, with puffed chiffon waist and satin sleeves. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The wedding was witnessed by the familles of the contracting parties and a few very dear friends: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brown parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. A. Wyman, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hoagland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Poppleton, Mr. and Mrs. Offut and Mr. and Mrs. Learned. A very large reception followed the "plighting of the troth," the grounds during the evening presenting a kaieldoscopic pic-ture to the guests as well as the on-lookers, ho were many. At 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Wyman left for City, enroute to St. Louis, Chicago and Washington, and will be home Wednes-days, September 5 and 12, from 4 until 5 o'clock, at 543 South Twenty-seventh street Pretty Wedding at Storm Lake. Welding bells rang merrily in the picturesque little town of Storm Lake, Ia., on Wednesday evening of last week. For two or three days previous to the wedding more than the usual number of people alighted at the depot of this tree-embowered city, fanned by refreshing breezes from the lake after which the pretty town is named. The whirl of busy preparations centered in the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall, and reached a happy culmination on the evening above etioned, when their daughter, Janet, was wedded to Mr. Henry S. Weller of Omaha.

The groom is a son of Mr. C. F. Weller Richardson Drug company of this city, and for several years a popular travel ing salesman for this company and a young man of exceptionally fine qualities. The bride is the handsome and accomplished ighter of the popular lumber merchant Storm Lake, Ia., Mr. George Marshall. The following guests from abroad were in attendance upon the happy nuptials: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Weller, Miss Ruth Weller, Charles K. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Davenport and daughter, Rev. W. K. Beans and Mrs. Beans, Omaha, Neb.; Rev. Z. S. Weller, Macon, Mo.; W. H. Gallenkamp, Charles Crawford and Miss May Williams of Chi-cago; C. B. McClelland, Philadelphia; Mrs. F. Duncombe and daughter, Fort Dodge, B. Johnson and wife, Ida Grove, Ia.; and Mrs. James Weart and daughter Mr. Watter Weart of Cherokee, Ia.; Kruger Rolfe, Ia .: Mr. and Mrs. Berry, Alta, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Green of Aurelia, Ia., and more than a score of the leading people of Storm Lake graced the wedding festivities.

The home of the bride was fragrant and beautiful with flowers and vines. The im-pressive ceremony was performed by. Rev. S. Weller, the venerable and honored ndfather of the groom, assisted by Rev. McAllister of Storm Lake and Rev. W. Beans of Omaha.

With the joyous notes of the "Wedding Mcreh" for a prelude the mutual vows were exchanged, the attendants being Mr. C. B. McClelland of Philadelphia and Miss Ruth two little flower girls were as pretty and dainty as fairles—one in blue corded ailk and lace and the other in blue. The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Weller, was prettily gowned in detted muli and carried white tions. The bride was handsomely costumed in a white brocade satin, trimmed with beautiful lace, and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses, a diamond crescent, gift of the groom, being her only ornament. Mrs. Marshall was richly dressed in black faille silk and lace. Mrs. Weller, mother of the groom, wore a handsome dress of black and white silk and carried pink carnations. The bridal gifts were numerous, costly and elegant, and the wedding banquet was delicately prepared and daintily served.

After an extensive and delightful traveltour, including attractive points in Colo-o, Yellowstone National park, New rado. Yellowstone National park, New York, etc., the young couple will be at home to their numerous friends after October 15, at 2102 Wirt street, Omaha.

Reception to the Class of '94. The reception given by the High School Alumni association to the class of '94 last Friday night was none too well attended. Very few of the older graduates were in attendance, which was much to be regretted. But one of the teachers was present. This was a cause of regret to many, and it is suggested that hereafter invitations be sent to them, as they do not feel at liberty to

There were probably 150 alumni at the reception and these passed a most enjoyable evening. The early part of the evening was very warm, but later the storm cooled the air to a great degree. Ice cream, lemonade and cake were served. The dancing pro-gram consisted of fifteen excellent numbers.

Among the older alumni present were noticed: Howard Kennedy, jr., '85; Charles McConnnell, '86; Victor Rosewater, '87; E. D. Pratt, jr., '88; Nat Bernstein, '88; Joseph Polcar, '88; Fannie Pratt, '88; Miss Corby, '86; Charles Meyers, '88; Belle A. Humphrey, '89; T. Altce Jordan, '89. A very gold representation of the classes of very good representation of the classes of '93 and '94 were present.

Among the others present were: Fred Van orn, W. B. Welshans, Arthur T. Carter, harles C. Morrison, Carrie Althaus, Frank ascall, Eloise Clark, Georgia Park, Maud mball, Alice C. Heller, M. C. Valentine, Butler, C. S. Rosewater, H. A. Whipple, Fairles Come Again.

The Fairles' Carnival, with the full cast, principal, choruses of butterfies, farles, ice sprites, guards, gnomes, grasshoppers, crickets and frogs will appear once more for their final performance at the Fifteenth Street theater tomorrow evening. The conductor, Mr. Thomas J. Kelly, and Prof. Chambers, the dancing and murch instrucr, have postponed holiday engagements order to appear at this performance to honor to Uglio, the ogre of the play, Edgar Owens, the author and proprietor of the work. excellent crehestra which has been in attendance all week has consented unani ously to donate their services. The productions during the past week have b well attended, considering the weather. not well enough to reimburse Mr. Owens for the financial responsibilities he undertook. The management of the house, ushers and all stisches have therefore agreed to donate their services, and the house should be packed to its utmost capacity, owing to the fact that the prices have been made particularly low. The fairles played before crowded house yesterday, and it is a noticeable fact that hot weather never saw such a house in Omaha.

Mr. Owens is an old hand in stage business, and has taken roles with such actors as Booth, McCullough and Barrett. The whole performance is under the sonal direction of Mr. Owens, and with his able coadjutors should be an immense success.

In Honor of Mr. Russell Robb.

Miss Collins invited a small party of friends to meet Mr. Robb of Boston Sunday evening. Mrs. Collins assisted her daughter in receiving the guests and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all those whose privilege it was to be present.

The floral decorations were very dainty being entirely in pansies and ferns. In the center of the table in the dining room was large, round French mirror, framed in forn leaves, from which rose a venetian glass tripod filled with branches of ferns and drooping vines. The electric lamps were shaded in rose pink crepe and falling from them, and interlaced one in the other were soft, feathery vines forming a veritable hanging basket of the green. At either end of the table were low silver jardimeres filled with pansles and maiden hair ferns, and the same flowers were repeated in tinted venetian glass bowls, at intervals, on the table. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock and throughout the evening refreshing punch was served at a side table and was generously patronized.

Among those present were: Mr. Henry W. Yates and his three daughters, Miss Yates, General Dandy and Miss Dandy, Dr. and Mrs. Gifford, Miss Boyd, Miss Wakeley Mr. Adair, Mr. Alfred Millard, Judge Ogden, Mr. Charles Kountze, Mr. Latham Davie Will C. Wakeley, Mr. Baldrige, Mr. Touzalin and others.

Off for Europe. The warm weather which is always promised one in Omaha during the summer months seems to have had its effect in driving away many of our people to countries beyond the sea. This year there is a large exodus to Europe. Mrs. J. H. Millard and Miss Jessie pail very soon for Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haller are enroute to Great Britain and will take run over to the gay French capital. Mr Edward Cornish sails to Queenstown and will do the British Isles, Norway, Sweden, France, Switzerland and Germany, going as far south as the Italian lakes. Mrs Millard and family go to Dresden. Samuel Brown and her son are already in city. Mrs. Savage, now in Ergland, goes later to the same place. and Mrs. Kilpatrick and daughter sail v soon for a continental tour, and Miss Bal-combe is now enjoying a general tour, which includes most of the continental cities. Besides those mentioned many other people have already sailed or are later on, so it will be seen that the traveling element of Omaha will be well represented

A Cass Street Wedding. Miss Elizabeth M. Raber and Mr. William Zimmerman were married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents 2305 Cass street. The wedding was a very charming though quiet affair, only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present to witness the ceremony. Rev. S. Wright Butler officiated. The bride is an estimable young lady, well and favorably known in this Mr. Zimmerman has been connected with the printing house of Mr. Lew Raber for several years, and is a young man of high moral character, being in every way worthy of the fair young woman he has won. A dainty collation was served after the ceremony. Those present were: Mesdames Butler, Payne, Perkins, Misses Allean, Mar-quette and Etha Gray of Fort Dodge, Ia., Phillips and Raber, and Messre. G. H. Payne. Perkins, Marquette, Rees, Woodward, Pease H. B. Payne and Louis Raber.

Halsted and Stromberg.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Stromsberg, Mr. Carl E. Halsted and Miss Lottle E. Stromberg were married by Rev. Luther M. Kuhns, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran, Wednesday evening, at 8 clock. The bridesmaid was Miss Jos Stromberg, and the groomsman, Mr. J. R. Miller. After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room. Many beautiful and useful presents were received by the bride and groom.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Stromberg, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Noreen Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. K. Bjorkman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Carlsen, South Omaha, Mrs. Specht, Mrs. Reigel, the Misses Newcomb, the Misses Blanchard, Miss Utt, Miss Urt-man and Miss Specht, Messrs. Benson, Monroe, Gustave Biorkman.

Entertained at Supper.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Horbach gave a charming supper to a few of her most intimate friends, which was perfect in every detail. In the center of the table was a dainty embroidered scarf done in dull greens; on this stood an amber Venetian glass flower piece jewelled with turquoises embedded n a tracing of gold work. This held a large bunch of white roses. The table, with its beautiful Venetian glass and china, pronounced the hostess a trav-eler and a collector. Those present at this delightful supper were: Mrs. S. S. Caldwell, Mrs. C. A. Col-lins and Miss Collins, Mrs. Henry W. Yates, Mrs. Morgan, (formerly Rebe Yates), Mrs. Boyd, Miss Hanscom, Mrs. Shiverick and Mrs. Lacey.

Art School Reception.

The art reception and social given Thursday afternoon and evening under the patronage of the Omaha Academy of Fine Arts proved a most auspicious ending of a pleasant and profitable year's work. The social in the evening in the second floor of the Natatorium was something out of the ordi-nary. The young ladies of the institute lent a picturesque feature to the occasion by appearing in handsome and artistic costumes designed expressly for the evening. An informal program of music was rendered by Mr. Hans Albert, Mr. Gabm, Mr. Walle-stedt, Mr. Fisher, Mrs. Nye and others, while a light lunch added to the zest of the

IRVING SPEAKS KINDLY OF AMERICANS

With Libel Suits, Bankruptcy Proceedings and a Damage Suit Against Langtry, Playwright Buchanan is Having a Lively Time.

(Copyrighted, 1894, by the Associated Press.) LONDON, June 20 .- The leading theaters are doing remarkably well; there are countless concerts and extra matinees, and consequently entertainment managers are, as a rule, making money.

Sarah Bernhardt, with her Theater de Renaissance company, still continues to fill Daly's theater with fine performances of "La Tosca" and "La Dame aux Camelius. In the latter, apparently spurred by Mmc. Duse's recent interpretation, the great French actress has quite surpassed heracif. lard on Thursday last was an exceptional affair. The 100 guests included the three Irvings, J. L. Toole, Beerbohm Tree and other leading actors, managers and dramatists of London. Henry Irving, who presided, toasted "Baby York," the infant heir of the duke of York, heir presumptive to the throne, saying he hoped Thespis, as a fairy godfather, was hovering over the little one's cradle and instilling in him a taste for the drama which would make "Baby York" in the future "as good a play-goer as his illustrious father."

In a capital speech Mr. Irving then pro posed the health of the guest of the evening, saying that they were all glad to see him back in England.

Mr. Irving then dilated upon America's great appreciation of English players and upon the unlimited capacity, as playgoers, of the people of the United States. Mr. Willard responded briefly.

H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago came from Paris to attend the supper, occupying the seat of honor between Mr. Irving and Mr. Willard. J. M. Barrie is soon to be married to Mary

ROBERT BUCHANAN'S TROUBLES. It would be a graceful act on the parof the anti-gambling league to grant Mr. Robert Buchanan, in his present pertlous state, a substantial annuity for having so thoroughly exemplified their contentions. His bankruptcy to the tune of some £57,000 was mainly the result of turf transactions He caught the gambling fever, it appears, at the time he was writing a melodrama in collaboration with eGorge R. Sims, and after heavy losses became more and more deeply involved. In a short time Mr. Buchanan will be revelling in the law courts. Besides this cross action with Clement Scott and the libel action he is bringing against the "Sketch" on account of a criticism of "A Society Butterfly," it is said that he intends to institute proceedings against Mrs. Langtry for breach of contract. The season at the Opera Comique has in fact been most eventful from the out set. Some unpleasantness was caused at the very beginning by Mrs. Langtry's failur. to perform a certain dance which she considered unsuitable for her. Matters have now reached a climax and Mrs. Langtry is no longer in the cast. The reason of hea withdrawal is said to be that she received a check which differed from Caesar's wife its essential property She recently went to the manage ment informing them that if this were not remedied by 4 o'clock on the following day she would not appear at the theates. The protest was disregarded and she furfilled her threat. Before the play commenced the manager came before the curtain and announced without further explanation that he had just heard from Mrs.

Langtry; that she declined to fulfill her en gagement. This is one account of the affair-it remains to be seen what Mr. Buchanan's version of the circumstances will be. Meanwhile Mrs. Langtry has placed herself in the hands of Sir George Lewis. It has been repeatedly announced that she proposed to visit America in the autumn. This is not the case, but she may possibly enter the management of a London theater.

Whatever the reasons, actors and actresses are notoriously averse to having their children go on the stage. Mr. and Mrs. Kendall are not exceptions to the rule, and on their return from America they had a short, unequivocal interview with their eldest son, Dorrington Grimston, who had taken advantage of his parents' absence to forsake the studio and law for the theater. The upshot was that young Grimston declined to give up his adopted profession, and was consequently "cut off." He has therefore to be content with $10 a week that he gets for "walking on" at a London theater. The Kendals may possibly have another "serpent's tooth" in the second of their three daughters, who is also, it is understood, anxious to make a name in the dramatic world. GEORGE GROSMITH WON'T COME BACK. When George Grosmith left America, after his recent tour, it was arranged that he would return to the United States if possible in the spring of next year. It is now most unlikely that he will be able to carry out this intention, and the visit will probably be deferred until the spring of 1896. Mr. Grosmith has accepted a brilliant engagement with Mr. George Edwards to appear in the new comic opera by W. S. Gilbert, and, probably, Dr. Osmond Carr, which is to be produced in October. He received an offer of some $200 a week to go back to the Savoy, the scene of his former successes, but like Oliver Twist, he asked for "more" and D'Oyley Carte demurred.

tered and revised, on a provincial tour. The play will possibly also go to America, together with "Morocco Bound," the libretto of which is by the same author, Mr. A. Branscomb Mrs. Hugh Bell, who is the wife of the mayor of one of the large manufacturing towns in the northwest, so well and favorably known for her drawing room comedicties, and who has shown such distinct merk in her more ambitious efforts that great disappointment has been caused by the postponement of the "Masked Crusaders," a parody of "The Masqueraders," which she was to have produced last week at an avenue matinee. The little rife within the lute is understood to have been painfully evident during the rehearsals, and more than one of tht performers threw up

During his forthcoming tour in the provnces with Miss Kate Rourke, Mr. Forbes Robertson will produce a new three-act play entitled "Dr. and Mrs. Neal," by Miss Clo Graves, one of the most prominent lady journalists in London. Miss Graves has gained a certain notoriety, owing to her eccentric style of dress, which is exactly like that of a man, the only effort she makes to conventionality being in the matter of skirt. In the afternoon she wears a soft hat, which she tucks under her arm when entering the theater at matinees.

Miss Fannie Brough made an excellent chairwoman at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Theatrical guild, which was held last Friday at the Lyceum. She is a fluent and practical speaker and is often heard at the Sunday evening debates of the Playgoers' club.

The gigantic wheel at Earl's court exhi bition, which will be fifty feet larger than the Ferris wheel at the Chicago exhibition, is expected to be completed some time next week. The tower, when finished, will be 170 feet high and the wheel itself 280 feet in diameter. There are to be forty carsthirty ordinary and ten special, the former to accommodate forty and the latter thirty people in each car.

Fred Schroeder and Charles Beindorff have returned from a trip up in the Big Horn country. They were surveying, huntir g and fishing, and Beindorff and Schroeder killed a big black bear, so they claim, one even-ing just about duck. The animal rolled down a deep canon, and when they went to look for it the next morning it be found. When this story is to their friends every one of them pulls out a stack of affidavits to prove his state-Schroeder has offered a reward of $1,000 for the bear.

Funeral of Mrs. Clendennin.

The funeral of Mrs. Daisy Clendennin, daughter of Colonel Harry Brownson, formerly supernitendent of the Union Pacific, and wife of Dr. Paul Clendennin of the United States army, was held at Trinity cathedral yesterday morning, Rev. John Williams of St. Barnabas officiating in the absence of Dean Gardner. The quartet choir, consisting of Mr. Lombard, Mr. Wilkins Mrs. Cotton and Miss Bishop, sang some of their beautiful hymns which were favorites with roses, testifying the remembrance of early friends, and was born by companions of her girlhood in Omaha, Mesers, William G. Doane, William C. Wakely, A. E. Love-land, B. S. Berlin, Chet Redick and Harry

A large number of old friends were present and went to Prospect Hill cometery; where this gentle wife and devoted mother was laid away in a grave decorated by loving hands.

Mrs. Clendennin leaves to deeply mourn her early death a husband, a daughter, Dorothes, 4 years old; her mother, new Mrs. C. A. Lounsburg; a sister, Mrs. George Mor-gan, wife of Lieutenant Morgan, and a brother, Harry Brownson, jr., of Los An-
