France, Germany and Rome United in a Newfound Friendship.

KINDLY FEELING TO KAISER AND POPE

Lion and Lamb Lie Down Together and 'Seventy-One is Forgotten in the Sensation Attending Carnot's Assassination—Hopeful for Ferrier.

PARIS, July 2.—All the newspapers of this city eulogize Emperor William's action in ordering the release of Lieutenants Dagon and Malevas, the two French officers who were convicted of spying upon the fortifications of Kiel.

The cult toward Germany may pave the way for much better feeling. Germany, since her spat with England over the Congo treaty, has been getting more sympathy from France than for years past and the murder of President Carnot seems to have increased the bonds of friendship between the two nations.

It is announced that the French government has annulled the order, issued in April last, suspending the stipend of the archbishop of Lyons and all arrears will be immediately paid.

The first step was taken yesterday when Mr. Ferrata, papal nuncio, walked with a little milk skull cap on his head from the Elysee palace to the cathedral of Notre Dame behind the remains of the late president of France.

Consequently, the regime of President Carnot-Perrier was intended to imitate the funeral of his predecessor, with improved relations with Germany and with the Vatican.

The president's attendance at the funeral yesterday in defiance of precedent and anarchy and in his admirable bearing through out the ceremonies have captured the heart of France.

CATTLE RUSTLERS LYNCHED

Holt County Farmers Wreak Summary Vengeance on Three of Them.

SAVED A TRIAL ON ANOTHER CHARGE

One of the Parties Reported to Have Been Lynched the Man Who Killed a Boyd County Resident While Attempting to Arrest Him.

ATKINSON, Neb., July 2.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—A report reached here this afternoon from the north part of the county that Ralph Hills and son and another man were lynched early yesterday morning near Brush Creek. It is said they had been arrested for arson, cattle rustling and were taken from the officers by settlers and hanged. Young Hills is the party who stabbed a man at Naper, in Boyd county, a couple of weeks ago.

The country along Brush creek and the various other streams which run into the Niobrara and the canons along that stream have been since the first settlement of the country the hiding place of cattle rustlers. When Kid Wade and his gang were wiped out by the lynching process the business of cattle rustling in this section has been revived, but late years it has been revived to some extent.

During the past year or so cattle men in Holt and adjoining counties have suffered from depredations until they have become desperate. The formation of the county is such that it is extremely difficult to trace the thieves any distance, and still more difficult to run them down and recover the stolen property. The country is so broken that it is an easy matter for parties familiar with it to effectually conceal a considerable bunch of cattle.

The fact that so many cattle have been stolen in years past and the thieves escaped retribution has led to the formation of a lynch law, for the sentiment is ripe for such a move if any of the thieves have been caught.

CARLOS EZEZA TELLS HIS STORY. History of the Revolution in Honduras Told by the Exiled President.

NEW YORK, July 2.—General Carlos Ezeza, the fugitive ex-president of Salvador, arrived here on the steamship Newport from Colon, accompanied by his wife and four children. The general expressed himself freely on the revolution in Salvador and the occurrences which led up to it.

The revolution, he said, "was due directly to Guatemalan influence and was incited by a desire for revenge. Many natives of Salvador emigrated to Nicaragua about the troubles of 1850 and became subject to Guatemalan influence. Chief among these were General Gutierrez, who commanded a body of Salvador's troops in that country. He was afterwards captured by the Guatemalan army and was executed by the latter.

When the revolution broke out in Honduras, he said, he was in the country and he was one of the first to take up arms. He was killed during the war. After the battle of Santa Ana we lost 8,000 men. The revolutionists were all false friends. About 5,000 men were wounded and 2,000 were killed during the war.

When the Roads Got Trains Started in One Place They Are Tied Up Just as Effectively at Some Other Point.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The regular troops at Fort Sheridan have been ordered to move this morning. The destination is not known at present, but is supposed to be Blue Island.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Today's developments in the great Pullman-American Railway union strike have been prolific in sensation all over the city and adjacent suburbs. Wild rumors were rife when it was announced that orders had been issued for the Second regiment to proceed at once to Blue Island, eighteen miles out. Extra editions of all evening papers were filled with headlines, were eagerly scanned by thousands of anxious people. The report proved later to be unfounded. The first serious clash occurred today when 200 deputy United States marshals were surrounded at Blue Island by 2,000 strikers, who openly defied federal authority. Weapons were drawn on both sides and Deputy Marshal John A. Logan was painfully cut with a knife, but when a bloody conflict seemed imminent the deputy retreated to the barracks cars to await reinforcements, leaving the strikers masters of the situation.

This evening an injunction from the United States court was read and bulletined. The authority of the United States was openly defied and after a few minutes quiet the riotous spirit of the strikers reasserted itself. At midnight reports of other disorders were received from the city. The strikers were tearing down the bulletin board of the court. Fearing to precipitate a bloodbath, the Rock Island decided after its 5:30 a. m. press had been given through not to make any effort to move trains tonight, but to tomorrow can hardly fail to bring a crisis. The strikers have now locked horns with the state and federal authorities.

The railroad officials are chafing under the continued embargo on business, and the desperate condition of their late employees, who are being starved out. They are endeavoring to allow others to do so, is evidenced by a flood of reports of individual conflicts here and there, and in some cases, the city. A number of trains have been derailed by misplaced switches. A Pullman passenger train was partly derailed at Kinzie and Canal streets, and the cars were derailed and scattered. The strikers are stealing brass from the axle boxes of cars, and in some instances dropping coupling pins into the cars, so that they will be broken and the train will be derailed. Tons of fruit, vegetables, ice, meats and other perishable goods stand in the cars under a hot sun, and the strikers are endeavoring to move it to its destination. Dumb animals, crowded into stock cars, suffer thirst and hunger, and prices of vegetables and fruits are going up.

WAITING FOR DAYLIGHT. It is thought no more likely to precipitate hostilities will be made before daylight. At midnight reports of other disorders were received from the city.
