He started without a rag on his back, and, of course, hadn't a cent in his pocket, be-cause he hadn't any pocket. He earned 15 cents and bought manilla paper enough to make a suit of clothes.

From blacking boots he evoluted into a store clerk, and in that capacity, from city to city, made his way here. He arrived in Omaha yesterday, and early on Monday morning he will report at the store of W.

R. Bennett Co., where he will act as clerk during Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

New German Remedy Sald to Be an Almost Certain Cure. A representative of the New York Board of Health has just returned from a trip abroad, made for the purpose of investigating a new German remedy that is said to be almost a certain cure for diphtheria, says Harper's Weekly. His report is so enthusi-astic that our authorities are to be asked to establish a laboratory for the development of the remedy here. The outcome will be awaited with anxious interest by every one who fully understands how much is at stake. Diphtheria is the most malignant member of a small group of contagious diseases (the other members being scirlet fever, measles and wheoping cough) whose virulence is in a measure masked by their very familiarity. These diseases are never altogether absent from centers of population. Year by year they use thousands of deaths, yet their presencexcites little popular comment. They are responsible for the death of every sixth child under 5 years of age and every twelfth person of any age who dies in New York City. In the decade 1882-1891 this quartet of dis-cases claimed 36,042 victims in that city. During the same period those dreaded dis-cases, smallpox, typhus fever and cholera, killed but 663. Two years ago there was much ado because typhus fever seemed to have gained a foothold in the city. That much-heralded disease caused forty deaths; diphtheria, unheralded, caused 1,436, Last year there was no little apprehension in me quarters because smalloox was mildly epidemic in the city, claming a few victims who by their folly or ignorance had invited it. Yet the smallpcx, during the decade 1883-1892, caused only 335 deaths in the city; diphtheria caused 15,066. Thanks to city; diphtheria caused 10,006. Thanks to sanitary science, typhus may be held at bay. Thanks to Jenner, the terrors of smallpox are only traditional. But the terrors of diphtheria are still real and ever-present. For some years, however, medical science has looked forward hopefully to the conquest of diphtheria. Ten years ago the bacillus that causes the disease was discovered. The bacilli-lodged in the throat, as a rule-produce ptomaines or other toxines, that enter the circulation and poison the system. These toxines may be developed in media other than the human body, and "attenuated" by cultivation. Experiments of some years' standing prove that attenuated virus, injected into the circulation of animals in varying strengths, produces diphtheria of varying degrees of virulence, and that such virus may even cure diphtheria previously estabhay even cure diplication between the application to the human subject. Apparently this has now been done, and if the reports are to be credited, diphtheria will soon take its place beside smallpox and hydrophobia behind the victorious chariot of proventative medicine.

Meantime, a word of caution may not be amiss. In their laudable anxiety to benefit the race, workers in this, as in other fields, sometimes let their imagination outstep their actual achievements. It was so a few years ago, when the public was led to believe that a sure cure for tuberculosis had been discovered, whereas, in reality, only an im-portant, not a final, step toward such a dis-covery had been made. The originator of the new diphtheria remedy is the same Dr. Koch who developed tuberculin. Dr. Koch is a scientist of scientists. Tuberculin was a disappointment, not because its dis-coverer claimed too much for it, but because his followers claimed more than the master thought of claiming. It is to be hored that the same mistake will not be repeated with the present remedy. Let enthusiastic followers make sure that they are keeping step with the originator of the remedy, and short of this, if it has any potency whatever, it will be, like tuberculin, an inspiring token of the time to come when preventative mediby means of preventative inoculations, as it has already vanquished smallpox. But the

that they are not making us expect too much of it at first. There can be no question that the work of Dr. Koch and others with the toxines of germ diseases is along right lines. In the end its results are sure. But we must be patient with tentative efforts. Should the diphtheria remedy do but half what is hoped for it, its value will still be inestimable. Even falling cine will cope successfully with every con-tagious disease, vanquishing each one in turn public cannot be expected to realize this, and the remedy which accomplishes less than is promised will be accounted a failure. It is far better that little should be promised if there is the slightest question as to what can be performed. In view of the lesson in self-restraint that was taught the enthusiasts by tuberculin, however, we are justified in hoping that nothing has been claimed for the diphtheria remedy that a trial of the remedy itself will not immediately justify. In that event the origination of this remedy will easily take rank among the most im-portant discoveries of this generation. Court Cullings.

With the exception of Judges Hopewell and Walton, all of the members of the district bench were in their accustomed places yesterday, and they spent the time solely in the interest of the attorneys, calling dethe interest of the attorneys, calling de-faults, entering motions and passing upon exparte matters and in a general way cleaning up the delayed business that had accumulated from the last term of court. Judge Keysor returned from his trip to Washington county, where he has been hold-ing the regular fall term, and at once took up the work upon his docket, disposing of several unimportant matters.

In Judge Scott's court the city dump case, with all of the attending issues, was brought up for consideration, but owing to the absence of Attorney Patrick, who represents the garbage haulers, the case was continued until one week from Monday. In the meantime the Board of Health will see it that the dumning grounds at the foot te it that the dumping grounds at the foot of Poppleton avenue are kept in a good con-dition.

Elsasser Figuring on Too Little Money for City Electric Light Plant.

The ordinance recently introduced by Councilman Elsasser providing for the submission of a proposition to vote $200,000 in bonds for the construction of a municipal electric light-plant has been indefinitely postponed, pending the settlement of the Platte canal proposition. The introduction of the ordinance has aroused considerable interest in the question, however, and some figuring has been done with a view to ascertaining the probable expense of construction of such a plant as would be necessary to suit the requirements of the city.

According to the figures of City Electrician Schurig the amount proposed to be voted would be insufficient for the purpose and he is emphatically an favor of delaying any affirmative action until the fate of the canal is settled. If the canal should become a reality the electric current would be available with but little expense beyond that connected with the placing of wires and poles, and the expensive steam plant that would have to be constructed if the matter was taken up now would be altogeth r unnecessary. The steam plant could not be put n for I s than $75,000, as the very best compound condensing or triple expansion engines would be required to furnish the 2,000-horse power necessary to run the immense dynamos But the line construction represents the most expensive feature of the prospective most expensive feature of the prospective plant. At the present time there are not far from 275 miles of electric light wiring in the city. All sorts of wire is used, running from 00 to No. 8, but No. 4 is the size generally used. This wire costs $240 per mile, and, allowing an additional 5 per cent for shade makes the cost of the wire $250 for slack, makes the cost of the wire $250 per mile, or $68,750 for the entire plant. To this must be added the cost of placing it on the poles, which is about $45 per mile, or

The poles also constitute a heavy item of expense. It is estimated that there are about 1,700 poles in the city that are used exclusively for electric light wires. Most of these are fifty-foot poles, which cost $7.50 each, but in many cases sixty and seventy-foot poles are necessary and these run up as high as $20. The hauling and setting of the poles is at least $6 each and in some cases, where there is a tall pole to be set on a downtown corner, it is nearly twice that sum. Taking the minimum estimate in each case the total cost of each pole after it is placed in position is $13.50, which, multiplied by 1,760, gives $22,950. (It thus appears that the total cost of constructing the line is $103,075, exclusive of the costly steam plant, dynamos, purchase of the costly steam plant, dynamos, purchase of site and construction of building. Upon this showing the $200,000 named in the ordinance would be wholly inadequate for the project and it is the general sentiment that the matter should be suffered to drop until the result of the vote on the canal proposition is

The construction of the canal as contem-The construction of the canal as contemplated would practically cut the cost of the electric light plant in two. Mr. Schurig says that the current by which the power was transmitted from the penstocks would constitute an alternating current which could be directly utilized in furnishing electric light. Consequently neither the engines, boilers nor dynamos would be required and much of the completed and are expenses also much of the complicated and expensive elec-trical machinery would be dispensed with. The only machinery required would be the converters and a switch-board at the power, house, which could be located at some point in the central part of the city, thus simplifying the circuits to a great extent and effecting a material saving in power.

Another valuable consideration is indi-cated, which consists in the fact that the wires entering buildings need not be charged with the present high potential current, thus doing away with a great deal of the danger of conflagration Each arc light requires a power of about fifty volts and by means of the converters the wires could b charged with just the current required the number of lights in the building. case the original alternating current was to strong it could be reduced and then in creased whenever it was necessary or sirable by the converter system. It is be-lieved that the entire cost of the plant with the power from the canal would be less

HONOLULU, Sept. 15 .- The coming election, to be held October 29, is creating considerable talk. From present indications there will be little opposition to governnent candidates. Royalist nominations have not yet been made, though Paul Neumann, confidential advisor of the ex-queen, has been freely spoken of as a candidate for senator. One of the clauses of the new constitution is to the effect that all government officials who have not taken the oath of allegiance to the republic by the 1st of September willibe discharged. This rule will be carried out even to the exclusion of women school teachers, a few of whom would not give up their allegiance to Liliuokalani. A majority of the native office holders have taken the required oath, however, and stand pledged so support the present government. One American, one English and three German men-of-war have been in Honolulu's harbor for the past week. The Germans left a few days ago and the Charleston de-parted yesterday for the scene of Corean war. The Hyacinthe, the English war ship, leaves today for a short cruise. This has given birth to the usual royalist rumors of the queen's restoration, but no belief is expressed by the government on any attemp

HAD HIS FIT.

Billy Buchanan's Bluff Scared the Judge, A complaint was filed yesterday alleging that William Buchanan, an old and well known colored man living at 914 North Sixteenth street, had beaten and abused his wife. Buchanan was sun struck about a year ago, and since that time has been subject to fits. As soon as he was placed in a cell William's fit came on. Some of the prisoner's friends told him to have a fit when he was called up before the judge, and when he was called up before the judge, and he would get off easy.

When Buchanan's name was called he waltzed up before Judge Berka in good shape, and commenced to explain why he had beaten his wife. All at once he had a fit, and it was a good one, too. The negro shook in every limb, and the movement of shook in every limb, and the movement of the muscles was a sight. Then he com-menced to climb up to the judge's desk, and partially succeeded before being taken away. Judge Berka didn't know what to make of the deal, and hastily picking up his ink bottle and papers started to climb down off the judicial perch in order to give Buchanan all the room he wanted. After being taken below Buchanan gave the whole snap away. He is slightly demented, and will be turned over to the insanity board.

MACADAM ROADWAYS.

OMAHA, Sept. 21.-To the Editor of The Bee: Having observed in the editorial column of The Bee of the 17th inst. an article in opposition to the newly laid macadam, I desire to say in reply that in the higinning was conscientiously against the process of pavement, but today my experience on traveling the road causes me to be as earnestly in favor of the pavement as I was formerly opposed to it. And further, we are given six miles of macadam for the same money paid for two of sandstone. The pavement of Dodge street is equal to if not superior to the asphalt pavement of the city for the travel of both horse and take, the Library Table will always remain favorite. It supplements the book shelves and the escritoire, and it is difficult to imagine a Library satisfactorily arranged without at least one such Tabledesk. We have an immense assortment, with both plain and carved border tops, with one to four drawers, with and without the lower shelf.

A Noted Horse, Mrs. Martin Wilbur of this city has presented to Rev. Charles W. Savidge a driving torse widely known through this section of country as Blackbird. A few years ago he was sold in this city for $875. His owner in lowa was confident that he was the fast-est single-footer in these two states. Mr. Savidge prizes him very highly for two rea ons-as a gift from a dear friend and for his real value to him.

Prices start at $10.00; this is for a slightly reduced size. For $13.00 you can secure a very popular pattern. From this point they increase in cost as the size and decoration become more lavish. We have bank directors' tables which reach $100 in price. But the one important point to remember is that our prices on this one line of library work are below every other house in the
