

SOCIETY QUOTE BECALMED

The Kimball Musicals the Main Event of a Quiet Week.

MARRIAGES OF THE PAST SEVEN DAYS

Quiplets of Introductions with Some Personal Remarks Thereon—Small Dancing Parties Have the Floor—Doings of the Swells.

Regulations which govern the presentation of men and women to each other as members of society are based on common sense and necessity, although every one unites to abuse them.

A hostess would have time for nothing else and would be constantly absent from her post to greet new comers if she insisted upon introducing all of her guests to each other.

The trouble with us in large cities is that this branch of etiquette is founded on English manners, and we stop there instead of following up its real meaning, which is, that under the roof all are friends. If this were observed, then guests would talk generally, and things move more gracefully.

But surely a woman could introduce her friends at dinner or a ladies' luncheon and not tax herself?

Probably. But usage is the law, the judge, the rule of manners as of speech, and since no one does it, then no one brings it into favor. It is not considered necessary to great people to acknowledge a casual gentleman to his partner for dinner, or, if there is a lion, every one is presented to him or her. Personally I cannot see why at small affairs this conventionality should be observed.

Nothing is worse form than indiscriminate introductions. Members of society should not force upon each other, and a person should always be asked if an acquaintance is desired. True, it is not considered necessary to acknowledge a casual acquaintance, but a little tact prevents all unpleasantness.

On one's "at home" day it is not good form to present the casual acquaintances to a guest, especially if they are women who live in the same town. Calls would have been exchanged or some common friend have arranged their meeting had been any reason or desire for acquaintance.

Street introductions are also superfluous. You may be with friends and stop to shake hands with people you have not seen in some time, but if there is no special desire on your part for these people to meet, it is much wiser and politer not to introduce them.

In point of precedences in presenting, there is none; only the younger woman to the older, and a man to a woman, a professional man always by his title. The woman in her own home should always shake hands with a guest is presented; men should shake each other's hands. I think the southern fashion of a woman extending her hand to a man charming. It is now carried out to some extent in New York.

At a ball the introductions should be distinctly formal. Hand shaking is not correct, and here again common sense comes in, for it is most awkward for a woman to place flowers and fan while shaking hands.

No man when presented to women at a dance should fail in asking for her card. His introduction means a dance.

What is the best form of presenting people?

None is so good as the simplest. "Miss Brown, may I present my friend, Mr. Jones" is all that is most elegant.

At any function more important than a large ball it is always pleasant to add a little note of interest to the presentation, which breaks the ice and leads the way for conversation.

These matters may seem a bit trivial at first, but the omission of them does not lead to pleasurable results.

ADOLE M'ALLISTER.

The Kimball Musicals

In point of brilliancy the event of last week was the musical given by Mrs. T. L. Kimball and Miss Kimball Wednesday evening at their lovely home on Park Wild avenue. The program was a gem, the numbers being rendered in a most delightful manner, the lights of the city, who justified all the kind things that have been said about them in the past.

There is not in all Omaha a house so pleasantly arranged for the giving of a large musical such as this was than the Kimball establishment. The rooms open into another in a most delightful manner, they are large and thoroughly well adapted for just such a purpose as that of Wednesday night. These advantages, coupled with the still further charming arrangement of the house, which Mrs. Kimball and her talented daughter know so well how to dispense, combine to make an ideal place to visit.

It would be hard to tell what number made the deepest impression upon the musical set present, but in point of novelty the quartet composed of Miss Kimball, Miss Rogers, Mr. Deuel and Mr. Northrup certainly shared the honors of the evening. Eight years ago these well known people sang together on many an occasion, always with delight to those who heard them, but the changing conditions brought about new duties, and the little musicals these people gave were dropped in the press of other matters. It was a happy thought, however, that brought them together again, and without the aid of the piano they sang two pretty ballads in a manner that called out loud applause. Mrs. Mueseler played with her accustomed ability, accompanying Mr. Adelman with much credit to herself, and sang with the feeling, good voice, and sang with the feeling, which may also be said of Miss Rogers. Miss Bartholomew displayed exceptional talent as a young player, and Miss Chase played with musicianly ability. Mr. Northrup and Mr. Whitbread contributed the male voices to the evening, while Mr. Adelman, although suffering from a cold, never heard to better advantage, his playing of the violin showing wonderful improvement since he was first heard in concert here.

The program, however, will give some idea of the treat enjoyed by the guests. Kreutzer Sonata, for Piano and Violin. Beethoven. Mino. Muenstering, by Mr. Adelman. Soprano Solo—Hilf mir, Gounod. Miss Marshall. Piano Solo—Rigoletto, Liszt. Bartolo Solo—Armore's Song from Robin Hood, Ed. McKoven and Smith. Mr. Whitbread. Violin Solo—Faut Fantaisie, Sarasate. Tenor Solo—In Night's Still Calm. Mr. Northrup. Piano Solo—The Boat, Schubert. Miss Chase. Quartet—An Evening. Miss Kimball, Miss Rogers, Mr. Deuel, and Mr. Northrup. Piano Solo—A Valse in A-flat, Chopin. Wedding March, Chopin. Mino. Muenstering, Chopin. Song with Violin Obligato—Angel's Revenge, Miss Rogers. Violin Solo—Legende, Wieniawski. B. A. By the Wall, Czibulka. Mr. Adelman.

At the conclusion of the program elaborate refreshments were served, and when the evening was over, Miss Burns, Miss Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Belt, Miss Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Chambers, Mr. Chase, Mrs. Chase, Miss Deuel, Miss Dundy, Mrs. Hanter, Mr. Pankhouser, Mr. Homer French, Dr. and Mrs. Gifford, Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mr. Dave Horbach, Mr. Hill, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Holdrege, Miss Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Whiteaker, Miss Yates, Miss Beale Yates, Miss Genevieve Yates, Miss McConnell, Mr. and Miss McCague, Mr. McGuire, Mr. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Muenstering, Miss Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. John Northrup, Mr. and Miss Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Peattie, Mr. Prins, Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stebbins, Miss Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. George Stebbins, Miss Van Houten, Mrs. Van Blarcom, Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore, Mr. and Miss Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Miss Wheeler, Mrs. Weston.

Flamboyant Entertainment

The Oxford Society club was royally entertained last Wednesday evening by one of its members, Miss Lizale Craddock, at 1131 North Eighteenth street. Progressive high five was the order of the evening, and after an exciting contest, Miss Marguerite Lieder won the lady's first prize, while the gentleman was a tie between Messrs. McKimney, Walker and Leitch. Mr. McKimney, however, took the prize. Miss Lillian Bate received the lady's booby prize, while Mr. Newcomb took the gentleman's. A light luncheon was served, when all enjoyed dancing for an hour. Among those present were: Miss Josie Paul, Beth Gordon, Marguerite Lieder, Belle, Lieder, Lizale Craddock, Lillian Bate, Elizabeth and Julia Lieder, Emily Wigham, Mrs. White Messrs. Roy Walker, Frank Newcomb, Fulton Berlin, James Beeman, James Paul, Bert McKimney, John Craddock and S. W. Lieder.

Merried a Pennsylvanian.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Charlton on Pacific street was the scene Thursday at high noon of a most beautiful home wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Claire Charlton, a sister of Mr. Paul Charlton, and Mr. John Van W. Reynolds of Harrisburg, Pa., who is interested in the iron works at Steelton, Pa. The rooms were exquisitely decorated with roses and palms in profusion, making a suitable background for a pretty ceremony which was performed by Dean Gardner. The bride, who is a beautiful young woman, estimated most highly by those who have the honor of knowing her, being attended and escorted by a representative of the best in womanhood, was richly costumed in white satin, carrying a bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Mary Gemmill of Philadelphia, who wore a gown of white silk, carrying a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was represented by Mr. C. W. Ringwald, N. J.

Following the ceremony a most elaborate wedding breakfast was served, the party later returning to the parlor, where they received the congratulations of friends invited to the reception.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Precher of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Charlton of Dravestown, Pa., Mr. James Milliken of New York, Mr. Charles Reynolds, brother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Millard, Mr. and Mrs. Louden Charlton, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Montgomery, Dr. Mrs. Van Gerson, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Ringwald, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Winton, Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. Peattie, Mr. Clement Chase, Mr. Paul Herbold, Mr. Newcomb, Mr. Joseph Woodward, Mrs. Valentine, Miss Goo, Miss Jackson, Miss Acheson, Mr. Acheson, Miss Wiethe, Mrs. Larimer, Mr. Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left for the east on the afternoon train, and after their honeymoon will reside in Harrisburg, Pa.

The Lubet-Coles Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Erna Balch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Balch, and Mr. Isaac Coles was quietly celebrated at the home of the bride, 1818 Capitol avenue, Wednesday at 3 o'clock. Very Rev. H. H. Gardner, dean of Trinity, officiating. In honor of the occasion, which takes out of the list of marriageable young women in the exclusive circles of Omaha society, the house was daintily decorated with flowers and plants, although the ceremony was marked by the absence of that ostentation which seems so essential a part of these latter day nuptials. Miss Balch was unmarried, the desire of those in evidence being to make the wedding dainty in its simplicity, and they succeeded most charmingly. The bride wore a costume of tan colored crepe and carried a large bouquet of forget-me-nots, her favorite flower. Beside the immediate family, those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Keller, Miss Hinebaugh and Mr. Reed, who is shortly to follow the lead of his friends, by taking out himself Miss Thede Balch. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served and at 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Coles departed on their honeymoon, which will be spent among the friends of the groom in the east and south. After November 1 Mr. and Mrs. Coles will be at home at 1818 Capitol avenue.

An Ingelov Evening.

Tuesday evening of last week a delightful program of music and recitations was given by the Young Peoples Literary Society of Plymouth Congregational church, Kountze Place. It was an auspicious opening and greatly appreciated by a large and attentive audience. It was only the beginning of a series of entertainments which will brighten and cheer the winter evenings. It was an Ingelov evening, the program being as follows:

Rich, Trostler, Fuit Berlin, Isadore Trostler, George Friess, Gus Seifkin, Doc Newman, Joe Marshall, Elrod, Smith.

Pretty Dancing Party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Belmont gave a dancing party at their lovely home in Kountze Place last Tuesday evening in honor of their niece, Miss Grace Belmont, who is visiting them from Dubuque. Miss Belmont, who resided here till recently, was quite a favorite and a great number of her old friends and schoolmates welcomed her back to her old home.

Assisting the hostess to receive were Miss Margaret Riley and Leonard Robinson. Those present were: Misses Belmont, St. Clair, Canan, Edgar, Rooney, Cowper, Corby, Scott, Riley, Clark, Brady, Parker, Riley, Hayes, Smith and Leonard Robinson. Belmont, Tillotson, Clark, Rooney, Lyons, Kane, Butler, Weller, Hughes, Buchanan, Morris, Les, Howell, McMahon and Cardwell.

Paper Wedding.

Thursday evening of last week Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hogg were pleasantly surprised at their home on West Leavenworth street, by the "Holly Sixteen", of which they are members, the occasion being the first anniversary of their "wedded bliss." A number of pretty and useful presents commemorative of the day were given them. The guests enjoyed themselves splendidly. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Frushauf, Mr. and Mrs. A. Piel, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rix, Misses Clara and Theresa Jahn, Fannie Frushauf, Laura Schwab, Rebecca Hart, Frushauf, E. Melville and H. Winshelm.

CONTINENTAL CLOTHING HOUSE. IN LOCAL MUSICAL CIRCLES. At Trinity cathedral at the 11 a. m. service the choir will sing "Hear My Prayer," solo soprano and chorus. (Mendelssohn), also the "Festival Communion Service" by Dudley Buck. At the conclusion of the evening service the organist J. E. Butler, will give an organ recital, and play the following numbers. Prayer from "Lohengrin"—Wagner; March Finlande, Chopin; March Military, Scotts Clark. During the absence of Miss Bishop, Miss Anna Getty will fill her place in Trinity cathedral quartet. Mrs. J. W. Cotton will take charge of the vocal department of the Omaha Conservatory of Music. Mr. Jones has been fortunate in securing such an excellent teacher. The Temple quartet and the Sturium Mandolin and Guitar club will furnish the music at the Orphan's fair, Exposition building, next Monday. The Central United Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Dodge, boasts one of the best volunteer choirs in the city. For some time past they have had a male chorus of eight voices, and some very creditable work has been done under the training of Prof. Kratz. Lately the choir has been reorganized, and will hereafter contain about twenty voices, there being some good female talent in the church. The male chorus will be maintained, and still being under Mr. Kratz' leadership it is hoped to make it as efficient as any choir in the city. The Schubert Glee club is hard at work, and will soon give a concert, assisted by some of the best local talent. The "T. K.'s" have engagements at Tarkio college, Mo., Bellevue college, or University of Omaha, Fremont and Central City. Since coming to Omaha, Prof. Kratz has never given a pupils' recital, but will do so soon, having under instruction at the present time some very promising talent. Dr. Baetens is writing a cantata for solo voices, chorus and orchestra. It is entitled "Constance," and the libretto is by Mr. John Brown of this city. It will be produced by the Harmony society under the conductorship of Mr. Tom J. Kelley. Mr. Herbert Butler will play Dr. Baetens' violin concerto at the first concert of the woman's club, which will occur at the end of this month. Miss Bartholomew, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds for some time, left for St. Louis Friday. Miss Bartholomew has just finished a musical course at the New York conservatory of music and has delighted the music lovers in Omaha by her talent, her playing at Miss Kimball's musicale being very highly complimented. The orchestra this year at the Fifteenth Street theater is a most attractive organization, with this popular house has had since its opening. The following musical program will be given at the First Methodist church to-night after the benediction, by Mr. Thomas J. Kelly, organist, assisted by the choir. Vorspiel to King Manfred.....Reinecke Larghetto in A.....H. B. Batiste Nocturne, Op. 7.....Chopin Chant Antiphonale by the choir Benedictus.....Gulman Andagio in D.....Henry Smart Prayer and Cradle Song.....Woodward Pilgrims chorus from "Tannhauser".....Wagner Mr. Max Maretschek has applied for the conductorship of the Cincinnati Forewaste

RAYMOND, Jeweler and Stationer, Cor. 15th. and Douglas. MORE ALLEGED CONTEMPT. Judge Scott Cites the Editor of The Bee Once More Into Court. Another sensation was created in legal circles yesterday afternoon by Judge Scott, who still presides over the criminal division of the district court. His honor ordered the Journal brought to his desk and entered therein the following: "The county attorney is hereby ordered to file an information against Edward Rose, Washington, D. Territory, commanding him to bring the said Edward Rosewater before this court at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, October 9, to show cause, if any he have, why he should not be punished for contempt of this court. The court appointed special counsel to prosecute the case. Then turning to the opposite page of his Journal Scott entered a like order against Washington, D. Territory, and last received his instructions later on, and last evening Deputy Marshney cited both of the accused gentlemen to appear before the court at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday morning. County Attorney Kelley was seen last evening and asked what the order of the court had reference to. He disclaimed all knowledge of the cause of complaint, but said it probably had reference to a local report which appeared in The Bee Friday concerning Judge Scott's peculiar mode of examination of applicants for naturalization papers. Mr. Kelley said that he had not been consulted about the alleged contempt and did not know whether it had any basis upon a legal standpoint. He expressed surprise that special counsel had been appointed without consulting him. Marriage Licenses. The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday: Name and Address. John J. Kurtz, Omaha..... 21 Minnie Gubert, Omaha..... 21 August Hombeck, Underwood, Ia..... 27 Anna Olin, Underwood, Ia..... 27 John Murphy, Cedar Bluffs, Neb..... 21 Jennie Palmer, Cedar Bluffs, Neb..... 21 George Han, Omaha..... 21 Charles Weiss, Omaha..... 25 Theodore Eliason, Omaha..... 25 Kirstine Nielsen, Omaha..... 25 Karl A.
