WHAT IS NEEDED TO MAKE IT A SUCCESS

Possession of the Course Alone Does Not Insure the Proper Attention - How Light Barness Horse Interests May Be Forwarded.

The last meeting of the Nebraska Trotting and Pacing Horse Breeders' association held in this city was almost a failure, although there were some very promising and speedy horses in attendance. The same is practically true of the races at the state fair, and horsemen of this state have had reason to find considerable fault with the condition of light harness racing in this state, which has several record winners to its credit. With a view of ascertaining the opinion of some of the more prominent horsemen of the state regarding the conditions under which successful race meeting might be assured, letters were written to them. H. S. Reed, editor of the Western Resources a horse paper, and a director of the State Breeders' association, writes in reply: "The first question in the letter regarding the location in the state for track is a delicate one to mile track is a delicate one to answer in an Omaha paper, providing, of course, it is our opinion there is a better place for racing than Omaha has proven herself to be. It might be considered by our friends of the metropolis as rank heresy to say aught that would detract from the paper reputation of that stirring metropolis as a racing point. In fact, to intimate in an Omaha paper that another point save Omaha presented better reasons for the existence of a mile track would be liable to bring upon the head of the writer the censure of all people who are not absolutely familiar with facts on this question and who take it for granted that under favorable circumstances. Omaha would be a desirable racing point. To make such a statement, however, would be warring with the facts as presented by latter day demonstrations. In all reason, a first-class track at Omaha or Lincoln should prove a great boon to the racing industry. Of course, the simple fact that a mile track is in existence is not enough to encourage the sport and bring out those elements which breeders and interested horsemen are desirous of having brought out, that the Industry as a whole may receive substantial benefits. A simple mile course is not enough to encourage the sport and the interests of the light harness horse can lag, falter and answer in an Omaha paper, providing, of nre desirous of having brought out, that the industry as a whole may receive substantial benefits. A simple mile course is not enough to encourage the sport and the interests of the light harness horse can lag, faiter and die over a mile track as easily as they can over a half mile ring, such as Omaha has at the present time. The question as propounded means, if it means anything, at what point in Nebraska would harness racing prosper best under favorable circumstances, and in discussing that question it is well for all to understand what favorable circumstances are. First, the track must be built upon scientific principles, and after it has been constructed, must be worked in an intelligent manner by one well posted in such work, and when racing day appears it must be fit for the kings and queens and prospective-record breakers to achieve distinction over. After the track is in an ideal condition, comfortable stables erected, commodous and well arranged amphitheaters built, and all of the surroundings made to correspond with the perfection of the track, it then becomes necessary that some man or a party of men blessed with enterprise energy and ambition, to say nothing of amply financial backing, should assume control of the property and make it a business to conduct it in such a shape that the horsemen of the United States will be attracted in such a manner that they will bring this Nebraska race course such a field of horses as will draw visitors not only from our own good state, but from the horse centers of the entire western world. The narrow, constricted, penny wise and pound foolish polley that is so liable to mark the career for public erreterprises of this character will bring, if not disgrace, oblivion, to any race track. Liberal purses must be offered; strict integrity and honor must character will bring, if not disgrace, oblivion, to any race track. Liberal purses must be offered; strict integrity and honor must character-like every action; liberality rather than parsimony must characterize every s best dgree of ability, and is willing anxious to make both renown and anxious to make both renown and wealth out of this particular enterprise. If Omaha will conduct a race meeting on this high plane there is no question concerning the outcome. The same can be said with equal truth in relation to other cities in the state. On no other plan can success that is worth having be attained.

"The next question is, 'What is your oninion of Nebraska as a producer of fine trotters and pacers is founded on facts, and is not an opinion, it is knowledge. There is no section of the union that is achieving such reputation or has made such rapid trides in the light harness horse industry during the past few years as the west. Nebraska and Kansas are rapidly forging to the front as producers of great performers. No state has produced two 2:94 performers save Kansas. That state produced Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry. The sires of those two great pacers are in service in the southern part of the state, Kansas has the distinction of producing and owning the fastest trotting yearling in the world, and Save Kansas. That state produced Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry. The sires of those two great pacers are in service in the southern part of the state. Kansas has the distinction of producing and owning the fastest trotting yearling in the world, and the sire of that world's champion is owned at Topeka. Nebraska produced the fastest yearling pacer, Belle Acton, the fastest 2-year-old pacer until recently, when the great California and Colorado colts beat Online's record of 2:11. It was on Nebraska soil that Alix took her kindergarten lessons, and the first time she ever appeared in public was over a Nebraska track. It is well known that the character and condition of the soil and the climate, which are environments of the early life of a trotter or pacer, have much to do with the success that animal achieves in future life. Had this western region been other than favorable for the development of muscle, lung and heart power, and all those things which go toward making the physically great trotter, it is not supposed that Alix would have been the champion trotting animal of today, nor that the other record breakers mentioned would have achieved the distinction they now possess. There is no better region for the production of the trotter or pacer than the west. The soil and climate are propitious; the food produced possesses the proper nutriment, and our horsemen are endowed with that ability which makes success possible. History is very pointed on this question, and Nebraska is always taken into consideration by horsemen in other sections of the world.

"The other question in the letter is: Do you not think horsemen of this state should insist upon doing business over a half mile ring, and a mile track such as we have described is constructed and managers of the state fair to laist that if they do not present conditions favorable to racing there will be no racing in the state. If the state fair is held, we will say at Lincoln, and they insist upon doing business over a half mile ring, and a mile track such as we

New Era, one of Hambletonian Wilkes' 4-year-old get, proved a genuine surprise party to the horsemen at Williams' faulus-burg track last Tucsday. He was case of twelve stariers in the 2:24 preing race, which was brought over from Saturday as unfinished, after three heats had been traveled. In the first heat New Era was tenth in the procession, and eighth in the second. He came in second in the thirl, and then the field was sent to 'ne stables intil Tucsday afternoon. Then New Era jumped out and won the three remaining heats in succession and the race, and made a rew record for himself of 213. New Era, one of Hambletonian Wilkes

The racing associations are after "ring-ers" and track jobbers. Last Tuesday Ed Swann was arrested at Louisville. Ky., on the charge of entering a "ringer" at the Bedford, Ind., fair, claiming a mark four-teen seconds slower than the horse actually had. He won the race with ease, taking the purse and the $200 entrance money paid by each of the seven horses in the race. The horse he drove was entered as Little Billy, with a record that put bim in the 130 class. Swahn and his partner got the pipes before it was discovered that his horse was known last year as Bay Billy, and that the same trick had been played with him at Hobson. Ill., Bloomington, Ill., and several other places. Swann was expelled by the National Trotting association in 1830 for similar practices at Fon du Lac. Wis. He entered the same horse in the 2:30 class of Bouterd, and or cotal was the their called the horse Ship. Swann and his partner, with the horse, got away from Fedlord last Saturiay, but upon securing evidence of the fraud the sheriff of the county is with Bedford in but upon securing evidence of the fraid the sheriff of the county in which Bedford is situated came here and put detectives on fits track. Swann admitted that he had changed the horse's name, but said that was all there was of it. The indiana law makes the entering of a "ringer' in a race felony.

At Syracuse, N. Y., on last Monday occurred the longest race that has taken place this year. It was the 2:29 pace, with ten starters, and six of them were distanced before the ninth and final heat. Duplgnac was distanced in the eighth heat, after winning the second and third, and General Wall won the first heat and was distanced in the fifth. It was a race for blood and was won by Ezra A, by Montebello, who captured the fifth, sixth and ninth heats. The time ranged from 2:234 to 2:334.

There has been a good harness meeting at Chillicothe, O., during the past week, and while some of the record winners went against their marks, no new ones were made. Flying Jib has installed a new kind of racing on this track, and has now the pacing record with a running mate hitched beside him. He paced a mile in 155% at this meeting and never made a skip. If Jib would get over his sulky turns he could make all the record winners hump themselves to keep out of the way of his dust.

The 4-year-old pacing rivals, Rubenstein and Vassar, had another battle royal Tuesday afternoon at Chillicothe. The former won the 2:16 pace, but the latter made a new record in the first heat, going the mile in 2:97. Vassar was driven too hard in this heat and became unsteady during the succeeding trials, letting his rival capture the race in the next three heats. The average time for the four heats was 2:95½.

Ethel A and Ella T, the 3-year-old rivals, had a hot battle at Chillicoths Tuesday in the 3-year-old pace. Ethel A, the Iowa filly, was too speedy for Ella T, and won the race in straight heats in an average time of a fraction less than 2:11.

Directum, the king of trotting stallions, defeated his rival, Nelson, in a fast race at Portland. Me. on Wednesday afternoon. It was an unfavorable day for racing, being cold and a strong wind blowing, but a new race record was made for New England. It was a matched race for $5.000, and the great black horse had no trouble in beating the bay. The time was fairly good, the miles being traveled in 2:19, 2:13% and 2:08%.

Warren Guy, by Primo, a 2-year-old, won the trotting race at Bellefonuaine, O., on Wednesday, and made a record for himself of 2:27%. In the second heat. This is one of the promising colts of the season, and with a little more age can come close to the record marks.

The racing at Hedrick, Ia., during the past week has been above the average. The weather was fairly good, the track in fine condition, and big fields of starters. Rocky P. one of the fast young pacers, was defeated in straight heats in the 2:16 pace by Strathberry, by Roseberry, whose fastest mile was 2:11. The other races were successfully carried on, and the meeting reflects credit on the enterprising managers.

Phoebe Wilkes, by Hambletonian Wilkes, McHenry's great little trotting mare, defeated Dan Cupid in the 2:11 class trot at Chillicothe one day this week, after Dan had taken the first two heats. It was a five-heat race and the average time was 2:10%.

The people of eastern Nebraska and Iowa will be treated to a glimpse of the trotting and pacing champions of the world during the next two weeks. Des Moines and Sioux City have arranged to have exhibition races between Robert J and Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry, while Alix and Directly will race against time. The prospects are said to be good for securing the appearance of these horses, or at least part of them, at Union park during the latter part of this month. At every point where these horses are booked for an appearance the railroads are giving reduced rates, and have agreed to run excursions to Omaha if Clinton Briggs can get Salisbury and Hamlin to bring their strings of flyers here.

ENDED IN A STORM OF DUST.

Lincolu Wins the Last Game of the Seaso from the Rourke Family.

The base ball season of 1894 ended in Omaha yesterday in a gale that chilled the bones of the spectators and blew the dust possibility. Scarcely a hundred people braved the cold to see the last game of the season, and it could scarcely be expected that the players would run any pected that the players would run any risks of injuring their numbed fingers when there was nothing at stake. The game was a farce throughout, which was characterized by free hitting and loose fielding. We had Buck licked anyway, so we could afford to lose this one, and every one played to hurry the nine innings through as soon as possible. Their success in this respect was the re-Their success in this respect was markable feature of the contest. N markable leature of the contest. Nine in-nings, with eighteen hits apiece and a total of eleven errors to help out the run-getting played in exactly one hour, is something that seldom happens on a ball field. This is the way it was done. Score: OMAHA.

New Heavyweight Champion Talks of His Coming Meeting with Cerbett.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Fitzsimmons arrived here tonight and talked freely of his controversy with Corbett, whom he is to meet in New York on Thursday with reference to the proposed fight. When asked if the date suited him as set by Corbett, after July 1, Bob said: "No, that date does not suit, for several reasons. In the first place, there are others who are to be considered besides Mr. Corbett. How about the club? They must have protection. No one could or would afford to put up a purse of $25,000 except at such a time as it sees a way in which to make it back again. The purse has already been offered, but July would be a very late date for New Orleans, and the club could not give such an amount, as it would not be able to get it in at the gate. It is for them to set the date and Corbett must make his arrangements accordingly. Just what he may do in this matter I cannot say, but I will not agree to any such indefinite postponement as after the list of July. That may mean at any time or no time, just as it suits Mr. Brady." July 1, Bob said: "No, that date does no

Conn., and Miss Mosenthelm of St. Louis. The course was a quarter of a mile straight away, but owing to the curves in the bank of the lake it was rather confusing to the rowers. As a consequence, Miss Ashley was soon out of the line, and before she had time to discover her error was almost upon the eastern bank. Miss Mosenthelm was thus an easy winner in 1:43. Next Sunday the two female scullers will race on the Mississippi for the female champlonship of the United States, over a course a mile and a half in length.

DEVOTED TO PETTY RAIDS

Wall Street's Week Almost Entirely Devoid of Interesting Features. DEMONSTRATIONS ARE PUNY

1 3 A Unsettled Conditions of Trust Affairs Leave the Industrials Open to Attack-London Affords Some Hasis for Comparisons-Recovery Moderate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 .- Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co. writes of the situation in Wall street:

"During the past week Wall street has shown no new feature of interest. Speculation continues to center largely in industrials, being encouraged by the unsettled condition of the finances of certain of the trusts, while railroad shares have been compara-tively neglected. The class of large operators remain comparatively parsive, and show no objection to the bears disporting themselves in making petty raids; first, because their attacks make little impression, and next because any fall in prices they may effect only affords an opportunity for advantageous buying, which the bulls seem quite ready to turn to account. "Although there is at present nothing ou which to make a really active market, yet in certain important respects the posi-tion amounts to a bull situation. For, although the business of the railroads has not yet returned to its usual volume, yet it is still recovering, and there is a large volume of freight in prospect for the caming months, and the range of prices is low enough to amply set off the current relatively low carnings. Besides, the amount of floating stock on the market is exceptionally light. This is remarked by the banks, who are receiving an unusually large proportion of bonds in their collaterals (perhaps as a set-off against rattletrap industrials), and a much smaller ratio of railroad stocks. The same fact is apparent from the difficulty experienced by the bears in borrowing stocks and the frequent squeezes to which they are submitted. This scarcity is naturally an element of strength, and still more so is the extraordinary facility with which money can be borrowed on time. Moreover, there is nothing in sight to suggest an earty change from this abundance of money. These factors favor the bulls as against the bears, and it would not be surprising if the latter soon changed sides, so as to produce a range of prices on which they could sell to better purpose.

"Pending the duliness of the local market." though the business of the railroads has not better purpose. Pending the duliness of the local market a range of prices on which they could sell to better purpose.

"Pending the duliness of the local market, there is more than usual interest in the disposition shown toward our securities at the foreign centers. Abroad, the excessive ease in money is encouraging to speculative transactions, and prices, though already high for the better class of investments, are steadily rising. In London, the speculative spirit is encouraging the launching of new corporate undertakings. The amount of new 'capital applications' averages over £1,000,000 per week, and for the first nine months of the year aggregated close upon £55,000,000, against £32,000,000 for the same months of 1893. This, it is true, is much below the usual rate of new London issues, but it shows a quite distinct revival of enterprise and investment. The home trade of England also exhibits a reviving tone, with a strengthening tendency in prices. The marked recovery of confidence? throughout Europe in the maintenance of pacific international policies seems to be somewhat checked by the reported serious condition of the czar's health, but it is not easy to see why that should not rather benefit New World investments fhan otherwise. Judging from the tone of the London press, the feeling of distrust toward American securities, occasioned by the current numerous rahroad receiverships, has begun to abate. There is more disposition to buy our securities, but transactions show a preference for the better class of stocks and for bonds. As the traffic of our roads improves and our general trade recovers, this movement may easily extend to the more active shares and become the basis of something like the former speculative movement between New York and London. The present unsettled condition of politics in this country no doubthas some effect uppn those of our investments which rath the history of our legislation affords so many evidences of a common sense result coming out of erratic ferments of public opinion, that London financiers should know how to take our presen ments of public opinion, that bondon financiers should know how to take our present surface currents of political sentiment at their true value.

"The recovery of trade following the passage of the tariff act appears to have exhausted its first effects on Wall street. The two months of active distribution of merchandise has sufficed to meet the immediate wants of the retail trade, and there is consequently a curtailment of the demand at wholesale and an interval of waiting until the usual second demand for replenishing stocks appears. There appears, however, to be no real reason for doubting that this second half of the season will prove reasonably satisfactory. The retailers themselves were the best judges of what amount of goods they could dispose of, and it is reasonable to suppose that, liberal though their purchases have been, they have taken no more than their customers will want during the first and more active half of the season; and, assuming that, it may be allowable to hope for a fair renewal of demand during the later period of the season. Wholesale dealers, however, are making conservative estimates upon this late demand, and are pursuing a tentative course in their contracts with the manufacturers. They are likely to follow a like policy in respect to orders for the next season's business, which is no more then would be dictated by sound business policy. Indeed, there is nowhere any disposition to discount the future from the standpoint of sanguine expectations. A continued gradual recovery of business through 1855 is counted upon, but no early boom is generally anticipated. The imports of merchandise show a large increase, being for the last week of September $10,200,000, against $6,200,000 for the same time of 1833. This may be regarded as partly the effect of the revival of business, and partly a reaction from the holding back of goods in anticipation of the new duties. The movement is therefore not to be regarded as in any way excessive."

HOG AND CATTLE PERCENTAGES.

Statistics Gathered by a Chicago Live Stock Firm. CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The annual crop report in hogs, cattle and corn of Mallory, Son & Zimmerman, gives the following 82; South Dakota, 59; Nebraska, 35; Kansas, 82; South Dakota, 59; Nebraska, 35; Kansas, 61. Pigs: Iowa, 110; Misscuri, 95; South Dakota, 93; Nebraska, 84; Kansas, 57. Cattle: Iowa, 88; Missouri, 89; South Dakota, 50; Nebraska, 44; Kansas, 54. Corn: Iowa, 60; Missouri, 76; South Dakota, 39; Nebraska, 31; Kansas, 45. The percentage of wheat fed hogs: Iowa, 18; Missouri, 18; South Dakota, 75; Nebraska, 52; Kansas, 55. The report of correspondents on wheat feeding show that farmers to a large extent have tested the value of wheat (when ground) as food for all classes of stock and are using it freely and deriving benefits from its use that are surprising. Many of the correspondents who have made scientific tests state that one bushel of wheat, when ground and properly fed, is equal to one and a half bushels of corn.

Another prominent feature of the report is the large number of counties reporting disease among hogs. In eleven states, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota-Neßraska, Kansas, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, disease is reported in 111 counties. There have been thousands of pigs from twenty to 140 pounds weight shipped from Nebraska and South Dakota into Iowa, Illinois, and other states, and it is principally amiong these hogs that the disease started and spread to native hogs.

MANCHESTER CLOTH MARKET.

Eastern Trade Pragging but South America and Minor Markets Buy Fairly Well. MANCHESTUR! Oct. 7.—The market has been quiet but firm. There was a fair miscellaneous business in cloth. The eastern trade was dragging. China and Japan were doing next to __nothing. South America bought fairly well and other minor markets bought fairly well and other minor markets took a fair assortment of British specialties. Prints were in better demand. The home trade distribution was moderate. Yarns were better relatively than cloth. There was a fairly good business to manufacturers and also some export to India. Spinner, have been able to further improve their profit margin. September exports of yarns show a large decrease to far eastern countries, which was partially compensated for by an increase to Germany. Austria and Turkey. Cloth exports were much less to Calcutta and Argentina, but the rest of India and Turkey and Egypt has more than offset this by increased shipments. The United States took 3,140,000 yards, against 2,474,500 yards last year. The French and German spinning trade continues fully occupied.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Fine weather during the past week has improved the condition of wheat. The market for wheat was slightly influenced by rumors of diplomatic troubles. Several cargoes of California wheat were purchased for shipment at un-changed prices. Sellers were more reserved.

New red winter wheat, October and November delivery, was quoted at 20s. Spot trade was quiet. Flour was steadler. There was rather more inquiry for spot, with firmer tone at 3d advance. In maize the supplies were small, trade was quiet and a little lower. Mixed American was held at a high figure. Barley was dull and rather easier. Outs was inactive and weaker.

STOCKS AND BONDS. Prices Advanced Steadily on a Small Volume of Business

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 .- The stock market was strong today during the two hours of business and prices advanced steadily on a small volume of business. The buying war largely for the short account, the bears having apparently concluded that in the present emper of speculation it was the part of wisdom to keep their lines well in hand over Sunday. The features of the trading were Chicago Gas and Western Union. Reports touching the favorable effect of the contract touching the favorable effect of the contract with the Universal Gas company on Chicago Gas were used by the bull clique in the stock to move it upward, and an advance of 1% per cent was made, of which 1% per cent had been lost at the close. Philadelphia houses were good buyers of Reading for purposes of voting at the annual election in January, stock having to be held for three months before the election to comply the helders to fore the election to qualify the holders to vote. An advance of 14 per cent resulted, the last being the best price of the day. The purchasing movement in Western Union is said to have been by an old bull pool in the stock which has again begun operations under the lead of a well known trader. The shares rose 11% per cent to 83%, closing at 1% per cent below the highest price touched. Sugar was neglected in the general improvement, common gaining 1 per cent and preferred 1/2 per cent. There was a brisk covering in the grangers, but the price did not appreciate materially, the closing quotations showing advances of only ¼ per cent in Northwestern and ¼ per cent in Burlington, St. Paul and Rock Island standing unchanged on the day. Distilling moved up % per cent on small trading.

Bay State Gas of Boston was this morning admitted to the unlisted department of the Stock exchange, and was dealt in to the extent of 9,200 shares, opening at 30%, receding to 30, advancing to 32 and closing at 31%. Those who were instrumental in having it listed gave it the point that a gas combination was impending in Boston but it is believed that the trading in the stock was confined to the insiders altogether. The deadness in the rest of the list was apparent, though fractional advances were made therein, with the exception of Bruns-wick, which was advanced 214 per cent. Louisville & New Albany declined 1% per cent and then sold up 2 per cent, the total transactions therein being 700 shares. The market closed strong. The Evening Post says: Today's advances nearly all security property rounded out the week. The bear adventurers in Chicago Gas had a little more rough treatment administered, as in this stock it usually is, by "inside" interests. IRON TRADE REVIEW. Letting Down of the Activity Displayed in August and September.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—The Iron
Trade Review says: The most inportant development of the week in iron and steel is the announcement of the transportation to the United States of Otto Hauffman's system of coke making, with bi-product system of coke making, with bi-product resevery, and the decision to erect the first plant at Johnstown, Pa. This step is significant of the determination of the steel makers of the country to be armed with every economy against competition that new conditions may bring from without. The course of the market under review has brought more surface indications of a letting down from the activity of the latter part of August and early September. The accumulation of demands for material from a multitude of sources is not to be Hints or Kicks? Which?

LONDON FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Money Market Relapsed Into Lethargy During Last Week. LONDON, Oct. 7.-During the past week the money market relapsed into lethargy. The only probability of improvement lies the issue of foreign loans. The prospectus of a new Roumanian loan of 15,000,000 has been issued. Build a the Chine e and Japan-been issued. Brid a the Chine e and Japanese loans, Austria and Spain are likely to issue loans. If they are issued the money rates in London will be raised.

The canard relative to an Anglo-French dispute had a serious effect upon the market here. Many weak speculators were shaken out, but wary operators, knowing the source of the scare, took advantage of it to reap a good harvest. European bourses were less affected than London. The continental operators knowing the rumors were unfounded, bought freely in London. The position of the market was strengthened by the elimination of weak operators, but much nervousness remains on account of the Chinese-Japanese war, the illness of the czar and the petty calls on money. The closing prices of the week were a trifle lower. American railway securities at the close were better, the tone of the American market having been less affected than that of the other departments, but showed a fractional loss for the week. Louisville & Nashville was down 2 per cent, and Central Pacific, Erie seconds. Missouri Pacific and Norfolk & Western were cach down 1 per cent. Canadian Pacifics were firmer.
