NEBRASKA'S VERDICT.

Nebraska has rebuked the attempt of the confederated corporations to foist upon her a governor who was soul and body mortgaged to them, a man whose record was indefensible.

THE PENDULUM OF POLITICS.

That there is a large and growing element among the American people who are guided mainly by external conditions and passing sentiment in their political affiliations is one of the lessons of the elections of recent years.

NO POLITICAL SHOTGUN POLICY.

It is the boast of the republican party that it stands for honest elections, a free ballot and a fair count under all conditions.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

It is generally recognized that the question which will now take precedence is that of the currency, and this fact gives additional importance to the election of a republican house of representatives.

use in the currency. Doubtless an effort will be made to do this, but it is hardly possible that any silver measure and certainly no free silver bill could pass the senate, and if one should it would unquestionably die under the presidential veto.

THE BEE STANDS ALONE IN NEBRASKA AS A PURVEYOR OF ELECTION RETURNS.

The Bee stands alone in Nebraska as a purveyor of election returns. It has no rival. Other papers are compelled to rely upon the Bee for reliable figures.

NO COMMERCIAL WAR WANTED.

The German embassy at Washington insists that the exclusion of American cattle from the ports of Germany was not an act of retaliation, but a mere sanitary measure.

ready and willing to accord like treatment to other countries. It is not to be doubted that Germany has good ground for complaint as to the discriminating sugar duty and we would not gain in the respect of the world by meeting that complaint with a policy of retaliation.

Governor Lowellling of Kansas confesses that woman suffrage really hurt the populist ticket. Those who remember the reading of the description of the woman suffrage cohorts pinned populist badges on their bosoms and were welcomed into the populist fold amidst a flourish of trumpets will be surprised at the sudden change of sentiment.

PEOPLE AND THINGS.

The country is safe. Blow the loud kazoo. Three cheers and a dead tiger. Who will weep for Tommy now? Mr. Cleveland's silence was vindicated.

LET'S BE MERRY.

Syracuse News: Cupid is always depicted as a baby because love so frequently dies in its infancy. Lowell Courier: Working women would be of little use in the laundry.

EXTERMINATING THE SNORE.

A great many occurrences of a startling character come now in "waves" and we may look for numerous cases like that just recorded. Of course, it is not intended to intimate that the shooting of snorers can be justified, but it is to be hoped that the example which has been made of one offender will have the effect of convincing others.

PEANUT POLITICS PARALYZED.

The miserable game of peanut politics over Mr. Morton's nomination to the end Saturday when Secretary Carlisle, to the surprise of his political friends, ordered Howard's discharge from office.

DETROIT FREE PRESS.

"Every tree can be distinguished by its bark," said Twynn. "Name one that cannot." "Name one that has not a single leaf which is distinguished by its bark."

A RARE ORDER.

Into the restaurant he went. And seated himself in a chair. And said to the waiter who came to his bent: "I want a beefsteak rare."

AFTER ELECTION.

"Well, S. Lord in Chicago Record: 'lection's over—country's saved.' 'Time's fallen—ter get shaved.' Said they 'let their whiskers grow. Till we fellers had er show. Never democrats did run. Like the tickler we just beat—' 'Guess they run a mile a minute!'

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CHANGE.

St. Paul Globe (dem.): It is a triumph of calmness. Better Republican. Every northern state rolled up a big republican majority yesterday.

St. Louis Republic (dem.): The lesson is that demomrats must unite, subordinate minor differences, express a individual jealousy, agree upon a policy and stand a compact and organized force against the enemies of free institutions.

Chicago Herald (dem.): Democratic defeat results immediately from deplorable and inexcusable divisions in the party ranks and more recently from a series of blunders at Washington in which Grover Cleveland was the master spirit of evil.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat (rep.): Democracy, tried by its brief period of sway after a generation of exclusion from power, has repented its old blunders and iniquities and has been struck down.

St. Paul Pioneer Press (rep.): Never was such a crushing rebuke as this administered to a political party. But there is no sentiment to be indulged in, in this great popular revolt against demomcratic misrule. There is far less politics in it than business.

Chicago Tribune (rep.): The demomrats have had their day. They have had their swing for two years. They have been given a chance to show how thoroughly they know the arts of government.

Kansas City Star (ind. dem.): Twice has the record of a signal defeat been administered to the inflated party which has thrown away the opportunity good fortune has provided.
