Board of Education Counts Its Money and Makes Estimates for the Future.

DEFICIT ANNOYING REALITY

pecial Meeting to Be Held to Consider the Situation - Superintendent Marble Advises Care in Cutting Expenses-Principals' Salaries Readjusted.

At its regular meeting last evening the Board of Education paid some attention to the financial condition of Omaha's schools. Secretary Gillan presented a financial report based upon the most reliable data at hand and showed the board that the school year of these are $1.00 dolls, slightly soiled, would close with a deficit of at least $65,000 The board has ordered a complete and detailed report of all expenditures and will hold a special meeting next Saturday to discuss the financial situation.

It was voted to end the fall term next Friday instead of next Monday.

Secretary G llan presented a detailed financlal statement, showing the receipts and expenditures of the board from July 1 to December 1, and giving an estimate of the probable resources and expenditures for the remaining seven months of the school year.

The receipts, including the amount on hand in the general fund July 1, $30,277.75, amounted to $95,149.55. The disbursements amounted for the same period to $165,912.37. The overdraft, as shown by the above figures, amounted, on December 5, to $79,762.82.

The receipts for the corresponding months in 1893 amounted to $69,278.21, showing a falling off in receipts from tax collections, court fines and state apportionment of $4,406.41. The secretary also called attention to the fact that owing to a shrinkage in the general school funds of the state the semi-annual state apportionment, due in the latter part of January, will show a shrinkage of from $10,000 to $12,000. The secre tary estimates the receipts for the remaining months of the school year as follows: From saloon licenses, $190,000; from tax collections, $22,000; from police court fines, $9,000; from state apportionment, $12,000; from miscellaneous sources, $6,000; total estimated re-

LOOKING AHEAD A LITTLE. The probable expenditures for the remain ing months of the school year are estimated as follows: Six months, at $33,000 per month, $198,000; one month, no school in session, $6,000; interest and exchange, $30, 000; to make up present deficit, $70,762.82; total, $304,762,82 These figures show a probable deficit on July 1, 1895, of $65,762.82.

Apropos of Secretary Gillan's report, Mr. Gibson submitted a resolution directing the committee on finance to prepare a complete and concise statement of the operating ex-penses of the Omaha public schools, such statement to show only the amounts expended for operating expenses, independent of the money paid out as interest on the bonded indebtedness. The resolution was adopted, and the board will hold a special meeting next Saturday evening to consider the proposed report. According to a resolution offered by Mr Burgess the salaries of the principals of the Dodge, Windsor, Franklin, Forest and Pa cific schools were readjusted on the follow ing basis, as per resolution adopted two weeks ago, as follows: Dodge, increased from $100 to $110 per month, two rooms being added Windsor, increased from $80 to $85, one room windsor, increased from $100 to $105, one room added; Franklin, increased from $100 to $105, one room added; Forest, increased from $90 to $95, one room added; Pacific, decreased from $130 to $110, four rooms being discon-

By another resolution the committee on salaries was instructed to investigate the question of principals' salaries at the Dayen-port, Lincoln and Train schools, there being

WANTS DIFFERENT REVENUE. The board adopted the following resolution, offered by Mr. Lowe:

tion, offered by Mr. Lowe:

Whereas, The public school interests of the state are paramount to any other single interest; and
Whereas, Their support, more particularly in metropolitan cities, is made primarily and largely dependent upon revenue derived from police fines and liquor licenses, the inadequacy of which source of revenue has been fully demonstrated in the past two years; and Whereas, We believe the time is at hand when the people should determine whether the public school system shall longer be dependent upon such an uncertain source of revenue and its efficiency be thereby impalred; therefore of revenue and its entitled of the paired; therefore Resolved. That it is the sense of the Board of Education of the school district of Omaha that the coming legislature be called upon to submit to a vote of the people a proposition to amend the constitution of the state so as to divert said fines and licenses to police or other funds.

CAUTION IN ECONOMIZING. Superintendent Marble submitted a lengthy report. By way of introduction he referred feelingly to the recent death of his daughter and the resolutions of sympathy adopted by the board. His report was a general dis-cussion of the school situation. In closing "In comparison with most other cities of my acquaintance, it appears to me that the citizens of Omaha have enjoyed benefits in their excellent schools of which they have felt the burden very lightly. It has cost money to elevate the schools thus, but the method of raising the revenue has relieved the taxpayers. This standard of excellence cannot be maintained without continued ex-penditures, and the stringency of the times will of necessity make the burden seem

"The school year has already been reduced one-tenth, making it necessary to crowd the work of ten menths into nine, and imposing tra work on teachers and pupils.
"After all, the excellence of the schools in the last analysis is due to the teachers. Superintendents may be useful in suggesting and directing; boards of education render efficient aid in all that pertains to management and surroundings, but the teacher in contact with the individual child is the efficient force in education, and the board and superintendent do their best work when they secure a good corps of teachers. In order to do their best work these teachers must possess enthusiasm, ambition, a fine esprit du corps. The shortening of the school year, and after that the reduction of salaries, as has been suggested, would strike a fatal blow at our schools, it seems there are various improvements 'Again. introduced here in recent years, such as have been adopted in all progressive communities, the kindergarten, music, drawing manual training, physical culture, etc., and each of these has an influence outside of our particular sphere and vastly wider, an influence which there is not time here to the commissioners would only say the discuss. The cost of all these is small in comparison with the total expense of the again this afternoon at 5 o'clock, schools, and they give tone and character to the education of the city. It would be another fatal blow to our schools to elim-inate any one of them.

"Now, there is danger, it seems to me, that in the stress of the times great harm may be done by a too sudden spasm of economy, and the work of many years may be destroyed in a single year. We may lose in one year what it will take half a score of years to regain. It is better for the community to endure a little pecuniary hardship than to jeopardize our schools, and are not the parents here ready for some sac-rifice in the interest of the rising generation of children? Pavements and streets, sidewalks and water works may wait. For the children the golden hours are passing, never to return."

Brothers in Court.

Chris Specht was arrested on a warrant sworn out by George Specht, charging him with assault and battery. Chris appeared before Judge Berka and said that he was guilty in so far as striking George was concerned, but he alleged that the latter had been writing him threatening letters, demanding money which was not due him. He exhibited a number of these letters to the judge, and said that on Friday evening he entered a car and found his brother there. The latter began making fun of Chris and this was more than his councilmanic dignity could stand, so he proceeded to start a riot at once. George has a pair of very black eyes as a consequence. Specht was discharged.

Seven-Year-Old White Boy Held a Salve by a Degraded Tribe.

DESTINED TO BE CHIEF OF THE TRIBE

Twenty Wives Already Selected for the Youngster and All Honor Shown Him

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 17 .- At Oukinsh inlet, on the west coast of Vancouver island, between Kyuquoit and Cape Scott, Arthur Rellinger, a 7-year-cld white boy, is held as a slave. His owner and master is Chief Titlouse of the Chucklesett tribe, who purchased the lad a few weeks ago for $90 cash, expecting to rear the youngster and inculcate the traditions of the tribe so that he may become the head and founder of a new and strong Chucklesett nation.

The lad was seen by a number of sealing captains, who went to the west coast to sign Indian hunters and who found the boy on the trail of a number of these companies. tattooed, painted and garbed in the costume of the young brave and enthroned in the chief's house at Oukinsh. Chief Titlouse explained that his tribe was rapidly becoming tattooed, painted and garbed in the costume of the young brave and enthroned in the Van Voorhis. The gentleman was accompanied to the station by some friends, who signed his bond in the sum of $700. The penalty for such violation is a fine of $1,000 and imextinct and it would be the boy's great mission to avert this. He would, the Indian promised, be well cared for and allowed to want for nothing. He had been brought into the tribe, but not to toil. Already twenty wives had been selected for him, the number allowed to the greatest chief.

The boy told the captains that he had been sold by a man claiming to be his father, but he is believed to have been kidfather, but he is believed to have been kidnapped from Scattle. He says his name is Arthur. He is terror-stricken among the Indians, who are the lowest type of aborigines on the Pacific coast. The provincial police are taking steps to rescue the lad.

from Minnesota Looking Up Some Records to Use in Court.

Interested parties have been in the city the past week securing evidence to be used in the breach of promise suit of Mrs. Stein against Clarence Saulspaugh at Mankato, The suit is bringing some racy de velopments to light. Both of these parties were residents of Omaha in 1888. Mrs Stein was then the wife of a man named McNamara. She went out into society for a time, but soon stories began floating around which caused the doors of the polite world o become closed against her. She then met Saulspaugh, who was quite a dashing young man in those palmy days, and for him she forsook her husband, who afterwards secured a divorce. She drifted down in the social as to his estimate of the value of his legal she and Saulspaugh left Omana and went to Minnesota, where he afterwards fell heir to a large fortune including a large hotel. He ran the hotel and Mrs. Stein was installed The jury in the case of Neymeyer against ran the hotel and Mrs. Stein was installed as housekeeper. They went out into so-ciety, and rumor had it that they would get married. But occasionally some of her former friends and acquaintances would stop at the hotel, and knowing the woman's his-tory, made remarks which caused Saulstory, made remarks which caused Sauls-paugh's relatives to oppose any union with the woman. After getting control of his fortune the young rounder concluded to settle down, and became engaged to an estimable young lady of Mankato. As soon as Mrs. Stein heard of this she commenced breach of promise proceedings for the sum of $60,000.
