From the best accounts obtainable it seems that the fire started in the restaurant from the explosion of a gasoline stove, which was placed near the dumb waiter shaft. The flames shot up the dummy shaft and inside of two minutes smoke was pouring from the upstairs windows. An alarm was sent to the engine house and in an incredibly short space of time both hose companies responded and being settled. had streams of water on the blaze. George Deaver, the gambler, occupied rooms above the saloon and was in bed asleep when the flames burst through into the second floor. He was awakened by the cracking timbers and the smoke and had barely time to escape before fire broke through the windows of the room he had been occupying. As the well dried wood caught great clouds of dense black smoke arose and then fell, about, as they could hardly see one another. When the fire finally ate its way through the roof and the supports fell there was a crash and a great shower of sparks and flames shot up fully fifty feet above the building. A gallant effort was made to pour enough water into Donavan's paint shop to prevent the oils stored there from catch-ing fire, but the building was doomed from start, nothing could have saved it. The second floor soon fell, and it was then that great apprehension was felt for surrounding buildings, for huge clouds of sparks, some as large as a man's hand, filled the air and fell upon the frame cottages to the north. SCARLET MESSENGERS.

They Must Be Kept Always on the Ge or Trouble Will Result.

What has a lumbering freight car in common with a red speck in a man's blood? A great deal. Just as the car carries grain, meat and other things where they are wanted, so the microscopic scarlet corpuscles in the blood carry oxygen where it is needed to make good the unending waste of tissue. The economic health of a nation depends largely on its railway sys-tem. The welfare of the body requires that the millions of red particles shall be kept always running briskly with their freight

the finitions of real particles shall be kept always running briskly with their freight of oxygen. What we call a cold clogs the blood and bolds it in great quantilles where it has no business to be. Hands and feet are chilly, and other parts of the body are congested. It looks as if a cold should be a simple matter to cure, yet how many people do you see who sneeze and hack and com-plain all winter? In advanced stages a cold may not yield even to stern treatment, but in the begin-ning it is always conquered by Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. This is a medicinal stimus-lant, manufactured with the greatest care from the best possible materials. It equal-izes the circulation of the blood and is a valuable aid to the digestive functions. No took of simple, useful remedies in the housekeeper's closet is complete without a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt. Druggists and grocers keep it in stock. They find that it grows in favor from year to year, and its excellence is such that nothing can sup-plant it.

"The Country Circus" will be the attraction at the Boyd this evening, and for the three succeding evenings, with matinee Saturday. This organization, besides giving an up-to-date circus performance and a most amusing and refreshing rural comedy, gives a most marvelous parade, said to be over half a mile in length. This parade has created a great deal of discussion as to how it is managed, for it seems that there are more people and horses and chariots, elephants and other animals that pass in view of the audi-ence than can possibly be gotten on the stage, still this is done, and as to the modus oper-andi, we shall still have to keep guessing. Caught by the Police.

James Brady, one of the soldiers who was arrested a few days ago and charged with the offense of gambling and keeping gambling devices, was bound over to the district biling devices, was bound over to the district court in the sum of $500. Brady was held on two charges. One was for keeping gam-gling devices, and the other for keeping a gambling room. His confederates, who were arrested at the same time, were discharged, there not being sufficient evidence to make a case against them.

there not being sufficient evidence to make a case against them. Joe Howkins, a colored lad about 12 years old, was arrested a few days ago on several petty charges, but was discharged yesterday afternoon on promising to keep off the streets. He had not been out of jail longer than two hours when he was again arrested for stealing some bottles from a Seventeenth street saloon. An effort will be made to have him sent to the reform school.

Only a Family Affair.

George Clark, allas Bush, and his wife were both arrested last night charged with disturbing the peace. The Clark family lives at 2505 California street. George was out seeing the sights, and in his wanderings he succeeded in gathering a good-sized jag. When he arrived home he was in a humor to make things lively, and proceeded to do so by abusing his wife. He started in to use his fasts in an attempt to ornament her face, and he succeeded, to a certain extent, or until she thought the fun had grown too serious. In order to protect horself she made use of a lamp which happened to be handy. Her aim was good and the result was that they are both in jait. Two nice black eyes and a large gash on the fore-head and nose adorn the features of Mr. Clark. George Clark, alias Bush, and his wife

New York City.

W. C. Tillson, a well known business man of Kearney. Nebrarka, is organizing a colony to take up residence on several thousand acres of land in the heart of the far famed Willamette Valley, almost under the shadow of the capitol of Oregon.

It is the finest body of land in that fine country.

The colony is making up of people of all trades and proessions. With a fruit farm of a few acres at the bottom, working men, merchants and professional men are absolutely sure to better their condition, ingoing with him. There is land enough for 500 families; over 100 have already engaged transportation.

Mr. Tilson will be at our office, room 101 Bee Building, for a few days. He will engage a civil engineer, a good accountant, a foreman, and ten or twelve laborers for steady work. All must have means to join the colony, as the owner of a piece of its land.

Parties wishing to take tracts in this colony under our home guarantee contract system will be given special terms, in this tract this week.

Farmers can take farms in any stage of improvement of any size up to 100 acres at farm land prices.
