Sketch of the University of Chicago and Its Inmates.

QUAINT BITS OF COLLEGE LIFE

Omaha Representatives in the Institution—Dr. Harper's Compliments—Extent of the Reform Wave in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—(Special Correspondence.)—In Chicago this is the era of investigation. You must be a person of very little importance if you are not either being investigated or acting on a committee that is investigating somebody or something.

WHERE REFORM IS NEEDED. If the people of Chicago are really in earnest in their efforts at reform, and aim in a philanthropic spirit at the greatest good to the greatest number, they would respectfully suggest that they establish a school for street conductors, from which diplomas may be issued for commencing their duties with intelligence.

THE CHICAGO UNIVERSITY. That part of the city surrounding the university grounds is decidedly uninviting, particularly upon a dreary winter day; but you soon forget all this when you are once inside the great quadrangle, especially if you are greeted by a quartet of familiar young voices, each announcing that it is its own intention to show you the finest thing in the university.

WORK AND PLAY. But all work and no play is not the motto here any more than it is elsewhere. The play, however, no matter what its character, is not under the supervision of, but with the cooperation of, the authorities.

CELEBRITIES AT AN RECEPTION. At this season of the year, chatting gaily with the students present, were such celebrities as Mrs. Alice Freeman Parker, J. Lawrence Laughlin, Prof. John Dewey, Marjorie Foots Crow and many others.

OMAHA REPRESENTATIVES. Omaha has every reason to be proud of her representatives. Allan Hopkins and Henry Clarke are still what are termed new men, but Scott Brown is in his second year of residence and has become a familiar name.

THE MASCOT. But we must not leave the University of Chicago until we describe our interview with another celebrity, fondly known as "Hump." We visited a coffee room near the foot ball grounds, much affected by the athletes and Glee club here.

IMPERIAL. Any one who thinks that a minister has an easy time to earn his salary forgets the amount of criticism that he has to endure from the members of his congregation.

THE GIRL I'D LIKE TO MEET.

Words by A. DRIGGS.

Allegretto moderato.

Music by F. LITTLEJOHNES.

1. Friends, I now to you will
2. But when this girl you've chanced to tell, A-bout a girl I love so well,
meet, You'll never more this song re-peat,
That of my fan-cy she's the belle,
You'll find the peach has lost its sweet,
She's the girl I'd like to This..... girl you'd like to meet. Her hair is smooth and soft and brown, meet. From board-ing-school she just has come,

Her face is ne'er marred by a frown,
She's five-ly, sweet and full of fun,
But her mouth is full piu mosso. CHORUS.

all boys in town, She's the girl I'd like to meet,
of chewing gum, This girl you'd like to meet. When down the street she'll gaily walk, You'll see the chappies stare and talk, And this the cho-rus they repeat, Now she's the girl I'd like to meet.

pires the "Go it Chica" with much enthusiasm and a very shrill treble. "He goes just wild at a game and is such an inspiration that the campus feels quite empty without him," explained one of the eleven.

THE GENEROUS FOUNDER. The university was founded by John D. Rockefeller and he is continually bestowing new gifts upon it. Three million dollars is a great deal, but if Mr. Rockefeller wants to get the worth of his money let him dig out himself and visit his Kingdom a la Haroun Al Rachid.

IMPERIAL. Any one who thinks that a minister has an easy time to earn his salary forgets the amount of criticism that he has to endure from the members of his congregation.

Cauldron, the Devil's Glen, etc. Said the traveler: "The devil seems to be the greatest landowner in these parts." "Ah! sure, your honor," replied the Jarvey, "that is so, but he lives in England. I think he's what they call an absentee landlord in Ireland."

EDUCATIONAL. Ohio built more school houses last year than in 1893. Free text books used in common in the public schools is made a cause of the alleged growing prevalence of diphtheria in the Boston schools.

CONNUBIALITIES. A bill has been introduced in the Indiana legislature requiring applications for marriage to be signed by at least one resident freholder of the county in which the bride or groom reside.

DOMESTIC TASTES OF THE CAVALRY LEADER

Mrs. Sheridan Correct Misconceptions of Her Husband's Character—Memoirs to Be Compiled by Colonel Sheridan.

To those who are accustomed to think of Sheridan as the smoke-grimed warrior on a foaming charger, leaping fallen cannon in pursuit of a flying enemy, the pretty home where his widow lives seems in strange contrast, the animated picture coloring the popular fancy, and a slight of her fresh, young face out of keeping with what we would imagine to be the wife of one who won his fame more than a quarter of a century ago on the Virginian battlefield.

YOUNG PHIL SHERIDAN.

action, and never displayed the least signs of the dashing excitement with which he is credited. He often told me that when he made his famous raid down the Valley of Virginia that he rode leisurely along on a sleepy horse. At home he was a quiet man, fond of reading and of domestic life.

"I met the general when I was scarcely more than a girl, and was with my father at his post in the west. The general was then a man a great deal older than I, and after our marriage I never saw him again until he came to Washington. I have four children; Mary, who has just made her debut, the two girls who are at school are twins, and for many years when they were small children they used to be seen hand in hand walking about the streets of the city, and every one knew them as 'the Sheridan twins.'"

PHIL'S SENTIMENTS. Mrs. Sheridan is a pretty woman, with a slender figure, dark hair arranged gracefully over a low, white brow, an oval face lighted by bright brown eyes. In manner she is gentle and sweet, and in sunny ways, and there is no one who has more friends than the quiet little wife of Phil Sheridan.
