IT IS CERTAINLY HERE.

Our Old Enemy The Grlp Bas Come Again and Is Causing Great Trouble.

There is not a particle of doubt about it. Grip is here. It may not be so much epiden e as upon its first visit but the number tha s afflicted with it is apalling. Coughing, hacking, wheezing, sneezing-all the usua symptoms have appeared. There is danger in the air; contagion in the atmosphere. "But what are you going to do about it?" Will you sit still and let it attack you, or prostrate your family? You can't afford t do this. If you know anything about grir you know that it can easily be held in check if taken in time. Every physician the world over knows that a pure stimulant taken promptly and in time will drive away the grip before it can get a foothold. It must be a good and reliable stimulant though and it is freely admitted that nothing for and it is freely admitted that nothing for this purpose has ever been found to equal Duffey's Pure Mait Whiskey. During the last epidemic of grip this pure and palitible preparation did more to keep the grip in check after it had gotten startedthan any or all other remedies. It fortified the body to withstand the chilling effects of the grip; itkept the blood moving healthily; in fact it did what must be done in every case, helped Nature to throw it off.

It would be well to bear in mind that Duffey's Pure Mait Whiskey is enabled to do all this because it possesses just the medicinal qualities necessary to rouse the latent energies of the body when grip is in the air. All wide-awake druggists and grocers keep it in stock.

Heads of City Departments Confer on Question of Reducing Experses.

CONDITION OF ALL FUNDS DISCUSSED

Many Suggestions Are Made and Most of Them Opposed and No Action is Taken or Promised - Each After the Other's Ux.

There was retrenchment in the air in the discuss the tax levy was on the beards. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Bemis and among those present were all members of the council except Saunders, Messrs, Akin, Burgess and Tukey of the Board of Educa-Surgess and Tukey of the Beard of Educa-ion, Members Coburn, Hartman, Smith and necessary to levy the entire 5 mills this Strickler of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners, Commissioners Tukey, Lake and the heads of all the other lowest estimates this department could not municipal departments. It soon developed be carried through the year for less than and that every one prensent was in favor of re- $138,000, which represented a levy of 7 trenchment. The only difference was that mills. As the maximum levy was 5 mills each was perfectly ready to point out how tional provision of 2 mills outside of the this could be accomplished in all departments regular levy. There was but little discussion except his own, but was certain that it was of this feature of the levy, as most of the mpossible to economize further in his domi- members had previously informed themselves cile. The result was not altogether har-monious, but the debate brought cut a pretty free discussion of the board stated that it had about $8,000 on monious, but the debate brought President Lewis Reed of the Library cut a pretty free discussion of the board stated that it had about $8,000 on situation in each department and a good deal of information was elicited for the edification of the councilmen who will be obliged to the question of retrenchment in all city depass on the demands of the various depart-

Tukey said that it was ready to recognize the situation, and while it had had $48,000 in follow suit. He suggested that the council-1894 it had unanimously decided to ask only men might follow the example of the memfor the minimum levy of 112 mills. City At-torney Connell said that he had understood their country for nothing until the finanthat some members of the board were willing cial burden was removed. There was no to get along with even less than the minmum levy. As a legal proposition he beimum levy. As a legal proposition he be-lieved that the council could levy less than the minimum prescribed by law if such a not want their officials to contribute any Yourse was not objected to by the board.

Tukey replied that the board had decided to ask for 112 mills, and it was doubtful whether it would consent to any further reduction. It would be necessary to do some work on the boulevards to afford access to the contemplated state fair grounds, and the board had named the least amount with which it could pull through the year. Judge Lake agreed with the city attorney that a to get along with a smaller amount it would be necessary to still turther curtail expenses in that department, and if the board should not decide to accept a less amount it would views as to whether it was desirable to prescribed by law it could by mandamus compel the council to levy 1½ mills.

It was suggested that there were judg-ments in prospect against the city on account of the condemnation of land for Riverview bark, which might aggregate from $12,000 to $15,000. Tukey explained that in figuring on a 1½ mill levy these had not been taken into consideration, and Judge Lake stated that this was a matter that must be provided lieved that every man in the office carned for by the council independently of the regular levy. Alfred Millard was in favor of re-ducing the levy to 1 mill. With the $9,000 now in the maintenance fund this would give the board $27,000 for the year. He be-lieved that the board could get along with this amount, most of which should be ex-pended on the southeast boulevard. Tukey said that with the contracts already awarded he did not see how the board could pull through with that amount. To do that would be to fail to keep up the improvements al-ready made, and this, in his opinion, would e poor policy.

$450,000, and a special meeting was held, at which this question was discussed in all its phases. They had finally decided not to change the original amount, and with this they hoped to be able to make up a portion of the $70,000 deficiency that was left over from 1894. As a rule he believed all further retrenchment in this department would be

Mr. Tukey said that as matters now stood the board was confronted by the probability of being obliged to close the schools in April or May. It would not be a good advertisement for Omaha to have only seven months of school. With the 8 mills levy one month would have to be cut off from the school bridge over the difficulty by inducing the Comptroller Olsen produced an array of Comptroller Olsen produced an array of figures to show that the cost per capita of educating the pupils in the Omaha schools was from 25 to 100 per cent more than in many other cities. Burgess explained that one reason for this difference was because the school population in Omaha was more scattered than in the other cities mentioned, which created a large additional expense for school buildings. The schools last year cost $415,000, which, added to the $70,000 deficit, would make the prospective expenditures this year $485,000. The board had only asked for $400,000, and if any one had only asked for $400,000, and if any one could point out where a proportionate re-duction could be made in expenses without impairing the efficiency of the schools he would like to know it.

MERCER AGAINST FADS Councilman Mercer said he did not pro-pose to vote for any such levy until he knew where the money went. The law required that the council should provide the funds to run the schools, but left it entirely to the board to say how the mo was expended. The time had come when it was necessary to do away with some of the fads that had eaten up the funds of the board. These things were all-right when there was plenty of money, but these were times when retrenchment was neces-sary in every department. He believed that there were a number of departments in the public schools which could and ought to be abolished. It was a useles waste of money to support an art depart waste of money to support an art department, a manual training department and a kindergarten department. This sentiment was greeted with the audible approbation of the citizens who occupied the lobby, and Burgess said that he had no objection to giving the council a detailed statement of the estimated expenditures of the board. This was done, as requested, and the total was $380,000.

Mercer answered that he was opposed to getting too high salaries and had been for some time. The board should reduce these salaries and cut off the superfluous departments just as railroads and other business establishments were doing. Mr. Tukey said that 160, or the great majority of the teachers, were getting $70 a month, or an average of $58 a month for twelve months. This had already been reduced 10 per cent and when it was taken into consideration that each of these teachers had to be especially trained for her work, he held that the salary was far from being exorbitant. Tukey contended that to cut off the manual training department

The board paid $1,680 per year for janitor service at the High school, while the city paid $4,440 for the same service on the first four floors of the city hall. In the latter case the salaries of the night watchmen and gugineer were not included. The comparison of the city hall, and the comparison of the city hall. created considerable amusement and some of the councilmen suggested that it would be a good idea to call the members of the board in when they were considering retrenchments in other quarters.

Mayor Bemis made a few remarks in which he observed that the present city govern-ment consisted of a big lot of machinery to do a little business. He believed that if the time was cut down in some of the other departments as well as in the schools the business of the city could be transacted just as well. The strictest economy should be observed in all departments during the prescouncil chamber yesterday afternoon, when ent year, at least, and the corporations and the special meeting called by the mayor to big property owners should be compelled to pay taxes proportionate to those paid by the middle classes.

Councilman Kennard said that he had heard more complaint from citizens on account of the alleged exorbitant salaries paid to city employes than for any other reason. The finance committee of the council had made a careful investigation and had found that no head of department was willing to dispense with a single employe or to submit these remonstrances. City Clerk Higby stated that since he had made up his statement he had made some further investigations and found that some reductions could be made in the cost of compiling the tax list. Outside of that there was no clerk in his office whose services could be dispensed with. He should not recommend a reduction of salaries, as he be-Another hour was occupied in roundabout debates, which resulted in nothing, and at

After some further discussion the matter was dropped and President Akin rose to explain the situation of the Board of Education. It had been wrestling with the financial question for some time and as a result had concluded to ask for $400,000 for school large statements. You are purposes during 1895. Several members thought that this should be increased to and imaginative newspaper correspondents."

"What do you think of the work being accomplished by the Nebraska State Relief commission?" the cattleman was asked.
"Well, I'll tell you the truth about this matter," replied he. "The fact is that the people who are really suffering and who deagainst the interests of the schools. The next relief, because they are very respectable peoserve help are very backward in asking for year would bring at least 1,000 new pupils ple, and they naturally do not want it to be to be provided for. I found quite a number of men who were idling away their time and whom I knew pretty well and I offered to give them 50 cents a day for six hours' work and board them. I noticed that they nearly all wore new clothes, and many of them were smoking cigars, and when I made my errand known to them they gave me the horse laugh and told me they did not have to work now; that they were all right, and that if I wanted to do any digging I could do it myself." "What about people dying of cold and starvation?" starvation?"

"Well, all I can say is that I have never heard of a solitary authenticated case of starvation or death produced by freezing in Custer county, but, on the contrary, every man, woman and child has a sleek and fat appearance, and even the dogs show unmistakable signs of being well fed, and that is a pretty good indication that the majority of our people are at least not suffering for the actual necessities of life. The relief commission has done some good work, but tha trouble is that the good it does is being largely offset by encouraging the thriftless people to prey upon the more infustrious and frugal, and the injury that is being done to rugal, and the injury that is being done to the state by the outrageous exaggerations of unprincipled and lying newspaper fakers is incalculable. These trumped up stories of deaths from starvation and freezing ought to be stopped, and it is a pity that there does he money not appear to be any way to reach these me when reckless fabricators.
