The Morse Dry Goods Co. Given Ten Days to Reduce Stock.

Anything and Everything from a Button to n Dress-From Spool Thread to a Cloak -From a Tin Pan to a Carpet-All at Any Price You Dare Name.

We have sold out. Our entire stock must be reduced before February 15.

That's a fact you'll readily recognize when you see the prices we are marking on every-thing in the store. We don't quote prices today, for the simple reason that we don't know where to begin.

that will be remembered as long as there re inhabitants in Omaha. To our friends and patrons we urge a speedy attendance upon this sale, as we are simply disposing of the goods, not selling them; the prices we ask are only just enough to make it a trade. We will, we are determined to, sell all we can in the next ten days at a loss, for while we lose on your purchase we gain the sale of the whole store to the new purchasers who take possesion upon the reduction of the stock to their set

Dealers can take advantage of this sale, as well as others, for we will sell a case, a carload, the whole side of the house at the same price as to a small purchaser. reduce the stock is our object, and we don't care who helps us to do it. The dress goods and the linens,

The silks and the calicos. The buttons and the threads,

The notions and the trimmings, The boys' clothing and the cloaks, The china ware and the glassware, The cloaks and the suits, The curtains and the carpets,

SNAP FOR THE COAL DEALERS. Full Meaning of a Measure that May Soo

If the purchaser was so ungrateful as to insinuate that he was not getting the full ton that he had paid for, the dealer could flash the certificate of the city weigher, which showed that the lead consisted of the full 2,000 pounds, and in most cases this would satisfy the customer. Of course he had no means of knowing that the dealer and the city weigher were identical, and it is pense of their deluded customers. Among the measures which were intro-duced the latter part of last year there was of this curious industry the following was an ordinance by Councilman Wheeler which provided for a divorcement of the dealer and the weigher. This was accompanied by a to grind. The razor gets worn down so that resolution by which all licenses of city The object of this legislation was plainly de-clared to be a check upon crookedness on the part of coal dealers, and it contemplated that list of our regular customers in the city, and no more licenses as city weighers should be our men visit the shops to get the razors in issued to men who were engaged in the coal need of repair. iness. It provides that each dealer shall pay a license of $50 a year on each yard and office, and that every dealer shall the state of $50 a year. on each yard and office, and that every dealer shall file a bond as city weigher. It is not anticipated that the dealers will offer any very vigorous objections to acting in that capacity. The ordinance goes on to state that every load of coal must be weighed by a duly qualified weigher, or his deputy. This gives the dealer his former perogative of ten years ago it was thought that the rea-weighing his conl himself and tacking on the certificate of the city that it is full weight. The only check that is left on the dealer is the usual inspection by the inspector of weights and measures. This official is authorized to stop a load and have it re-weighed at any time. The purchaser is also given the right to compel the driver to have the load reweighed, but in case the re-weighing shows that the weight is within thirty pounds of that indicated by the original certificate the purchaser must pay the reweighing, and also 25 cents per ton for additional cartage. Big Horn County Must Wait.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 30.—(Special.)— Governor Richards is very anxious to have Big Horn county organized as provided for in section 1, chapter xiviii, of the session in section 1, chapter xivili, of the session laws of 1890. The governor's home is in the Big Horn basin and he is personally interested in the organization of the county. He says that so far as the created county is concerned the constitutional requirements are now fulfilled, but that the assessed valuation of the counties of Johnson and Fremont would be reduced below the necessary $1.60,000 by the segregation of the territory to form the new county. For this reason Big Horn county will have to wait until the other counties have increased sufficiently in assessed valuation to stand the loss.

Both Want One Man.

Miss Bertie Olsen of Sheridan, Wyo., has written a letter to the police asking them to arrest William Confare and her sister. She says that Confare is married and has deserted a wife and child. She acknowledged that she had formerly lived with the fellow, who told her that he would marry her as soon as he got a divorce, but that he left her and induced her sister to go and live with him. She says that she wants William to "square" himself. She also wants to get her sister away from him. The police are

ACRES OF RAW MATERIAL,

One More Industry for a Booming South Dakota Town. Just north of Edgement, S. D., an inexhaustible supply of grindstone has been discovered and a company has been organized to work the quarries and prepare the stone for market. The biggest plant in the United SEE SECOND PAGE-OUR AD IS THERE States has been bought and within six weeks 100 men will be employed preparing the stone for sale. Arrangements have been made for dock privileges in New York and the company, which is represented by F. C. Grable in this city, will push the quarries to the end of making the largest grindstone plant in America. The only competitor of the Edgement quarries are those of the Berea quarries in Ohlo. They, however, are about exhausted, a church being pulled down last year in order that the stone underneath might be taken out. There'll be renewed vigor in the old Morse store tomorrow and the next day, and the next ten days, for we are going out of business and we are going out with a rush that will be remembered as the country is laboring, this new industry brings a ray of light on the business.

Think of a supply of grindstone that will last 1,000 years and you can form some idea of the immense quarries to be opened up. The deposit is known to be one and a quarter miles in length, three-quarters of a mile wide and seventy feet deep. The stone has received the strong endorsement of Herman Hoppe, the highest authority on grind-stone in America, who says in a letter to the Edgemont Stone company: "I have made a thorough practical test of the Edgemont grindstones which were sent to me for trial and I find them to be in every respect equal to the finest Bavarian stone, which has long been considered the best in the world. The stone is very even in texture and is entirely free from hard or soft spots. The number 3 grit is unsurpassed for quick grinding and the number 2 grit could not be improved on for fine finishing work. The degree of hardness is just right to obtain the best results.

"I notice also that you seem to understand thoroughly the difference in the various grits and that you separate them accordingly. This makes the Edgemont stone still more desirable, as the imported stone comes in mixed lots. "I have been a practical user of grinding stone for about forty years, and you are at liberty to refer to me at any time." The opening of this quarry will, it is thought, put a stop to the importation of German stone and add greatly to the wealth of South Dakota, as well as to the west.

Grindstone is an implement of handlcraft which has come down from the remotest period to the present, absolutely unchanged.
Among all nations it has had its place. The slow process of development or the spirit of invention has improved nearly every implement of industry. The scythe of olden times has become the mowing machine of today. The tools used in one century are curiosities

n the next. Every man who works with a tool knows the value of grindstone. Formerly it was used mainly for sharpening tools, but its use is vastly extended in these closing century days. Every kind of steel, iron and brass can of months ago, and is more nearly adapted be ground quicker, better and cheaper than filed. Every part of a locomotive is ground In days gone by every coal dealer was a city weigher. He was allowed to load 1,800 pounds of coal on a wagon, call it a ton and deliver it to the customer at that figure. If 4,000 pounds each, which are running con-stantly, and must be replaced.

The amount of grindstone consumed annually by the factories of the country is enormous. One company, with headquarters at Cleveland, ships 80,000,000 pounds every year, and that is only a part of the vast total The Bavarian product, which is conceded the best in the world, and is used for grind-

"Only the large cities can afford to keep on finely tempered razors. The principal reason for this is the price of grindstones and a thorough knowledge of the craft. The only good grindstones for use on razors come from way between St. Louis & San Francisco rail-good grindstones for use on razors come from way between St. Louis and Eureka Springs. As the old council went out and the new members took their places this piece of legismembers took their places this piece of legis-lation seems to have been lost sight of, and German article, no matter what the Ohio manufacturers may say. And right here let me point out one of the ridiculous features of the Wilson bill.

"The duty on grindstones has been in-creased, although we have none here that can compare with the foreign article. We now land or Germany, but we can't make them as cheap, nor can we keep them in first class condition for the same money that we did before the Wilson bill became a law. Up to peculiar deficiency in our water. That has proved to be a fallacy, as we now manufacture razors in Massachusetts and in Newark fully as good as they are made in England. All English razors, you know, are sent to Germany to be concaved. That is because of the superiority of the German grindstones."

STOOD UP FOR NERRASKA, Scored People Whe Were Howling Calamity

Joseph A. Conner of the Board of Trade returned from a trip in the east and Wisconsin yesterday. In conversation with a reporter he said that while in Madison, Wis. the other day he "called down" a preacher who was delivering a tearful and wildly exaggerated discourse about starvation distress and commercial depression in Nebraska. The reverend gentleman said among other things that Nebraskans were burning hay for fuel. Mr. Connor promptly produced proof to the contrary and said that there were enough supplies now on hand to relieve all distress and that furthermore the legislature would make ample provision for seed

Speaking of the Whisky trust, Mr. Connor attributes its downfall to the grasping ambition and fatal mistake of advancing prices beyond a reasonable profit. They ought to have been satisfied with the first profit and not incurred the resentment of both distillers and the public. Stock had fallen from 11% to 8% since the Whisky trust went into the hands of a receiver and he believed that the receivership would eventually revert to the benefit of stocks. It would have an effect to cancel leases and wipe out re-bates and otherwise have a tendency to revive their values. Mr. Connor backed up his opinion in this respect today by an investment in Whisky trust certificates.

MET DEATH ON A CROSSING. August Biousis Killed by a Train at Sheeley

Station August Blousis was struck by Union Pacific passenger train No. 8 at the Oak street crossing in Sheeley about 11 o'clock yesterday and killed. The train was going east and the man was going west. His head and face were covered up with a big fur collar and his cap was drawn down over his eyes. The en-gineer did not notice the man until he was less than fifty yards away. He rang the bell and blew the whistle, but the man gave no heed to the warning and the engine struck him with great force, throwing his body upon the pilot. The train was soon stopped and the engine men went to the man's assistance. He was bleeding pro-fusely from a terrible looking gash over the left eye and his left leg was broken in several places. The man was still alive, and was placed in the baggage car and brought to the Union depot. On the way to the station he died, and the coroner was notified. The remains were taken to the morgue, where an attempt was made to identify the man, but no one at first seemed to know him. He was dressed in the garb of a laborer and his clothing bore evidences of his having been working in the South Omaha packing

First Anti-Toxine.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 28, 1895.—Editor Omaha Bee: We have noticed of late several items in your paper in reference to Anti-toxine. We would say that in October last we received Behring's Anti-toxine from the importers in New York City, which was used in two cases at South Omaha with good re-sults, we thereby being the first house to place this article on sale in this section. We have been in constant communication with the New York City Board of Health and also several New York City hospitals, and they advise us that in their judgment the American product is equal to the imported, as there was much of the so-called imported that was spurious.
We have Behring's Anti-toxine in stock of several different strengths; also the product of the New York institute. Dr. L. M. Hil-dreth of Lyons, Neb., and other physicians whom we could name in this section have advised us that they have used the New York product with good results.
