Frank Naprovenek has been running a last eighteen months, but yesterday he left 5c; Saxony yarn, all at 4c. his shop in the hands of an employe and devoted all his time and energies to the accumulation of a jag that should outshine anything in local annals. Last Friday he went over to Omaha and were married by a justics of the peace. They had been constant in their attentions to one another, but later developments have shown that his or Ida Strong, as might be most convenient, man's gold than with his charms of face or manner. They returned to the little shop on Upper Broadway and spent three nights there. Yesterday morning Naprovenek awoke to find he partner of his joys and sorrows fled. She had arisen in the stilly night, opened her liege lord's trunk, abstracted $65 of his money, and skipped for no one knows what destination. The old man, when he made the discovery, was half wild with anguish, and spent a good share of the morning tell-ing his sorrows to his sympathizing friends. During the afternoon Naprovenek was very much like Limburger, with beer and whisky on the side, he poured out the story of his woes. He denied the report that he had lost $2,000 of his hard earned wealth, and said that $65 was all he lost. He had plenty more, but how much, or where he kept it, were two questions which he declined to answer. He said he intended to put the police on the unfaithful lady's trail, or his ankles, beside tearing a ligament. He will be confined to his home, at 309 North Seventh street, for some time.

Latter Day Saints' Conference. Saints held in Fremont county it was decided to hold the next annual reunion of southwestern Iowa at Council Bluffs. The ocal society here has appointed a committee of arrangements composed of Robert Mc Kenzie, C. A. Beebee, A. B. Mair, J. D. Stuart and D. K. Dodson. As soon as the weather moderates steps will be taken by this committee to secure a proper location, and as there will be a large number in at-tendance from this and adjoining counties, it will be necessary to secure grounds where a "canvas city" can be erected, as the great majority will come prepared to tent and spend a week in rural life. The meet-ings will be held the latter part of August or early in September and will continue over two Sundays. Efforts will be made to have some of the best talented speakers in the church. No effort will be spared in making this one of the prominent gatherings in western life for 1895. One thing that will help to make these meetings a success is the prominent consideration this church is having in the courts of the land and the de-fensive and aggressive efforts of its ministry, which have forced recognition by the clergy and laity all over the country to such an extent that prejudice is fast passing away and people everywhere are beginning to learn that this people deserve recognition for their honesty of purpose and desire to be in harwith the Christianity of New Testament times.

The fact is never questioned that Price's Cream Baking Powder is absolutely Saldwin's Candidacy.

Mr. John N. Baldwin is quoted as saying that some of his admiring friends are talking of him as a possible candidate for governor, and that while it would be a great secuniary sacrifice for him to take the office. vet he would make the sacrifice for the sake of the grand old party, and let the honor of the position offset the insvitable shrinkage in income. Mr. Baldwin is known as one of the most prominent railway attorneys in Iowa, and if his friends could possibly secure for him the nomination he would doubtless receive a hearty support from the railways. While it is true that Mr. Baldwin a few years ago strayed into the democratic camp and made vigorous battle against the repub-lican nominee for congress in this district.

David Ward, who died in Council Bluffs some two or three months ago, leaving an estate of about forty acres of land in Neola tewnship, had a wife and two children, which will be a piece of news to most of his friends.

Ward's Wife Appears.

He had been a resident of Pottawattamie county for more than twenty years, and nothing had ever been heard of his having a family. As soon as he died some of his relatives, supposing that they were entitled to relatives, supposing that they were entitled to the property, took possession of it in the absence of any will. Riley Clark of Neola had been acquainted with Ward in 1868 in Beliville, Ill., and began a correspondence with parties there which resulted in the unearthing of a wife and two children. Ward and his wife separated before he came to this part of the country, but neither of them had ever secured a divorce. The property will consequently have to be divided among the three.

Cousens of Omaha, amid a chorus of "hallelujahs" and "amens" was smitten more with the glitter of the old that shook the walls of Liberty hall as they have not been shaken before since the rising generation used to graduate there from the public schools. There was a good-sized audience present. A few of the well-worn Salvation army songs were sung by way of introduction, and while everybody was singing "What Shall the Harvest Be?" the br dal party marched up the aisle. Martin Jen-sen, clad in a smile and other regalla, acted as best man, and Miss Mary Zintz was bridesmaid. While one-half the audience was applauding and the other half singing they took their places on the platform in the front row of seats, the rows back being occupied row, and there with a voice that sounded a white sash, gracefully draped over one The chaplain from Omaha sang a solo, accompanying himself on a banjo. The most striking stanza of the hymn was one descrip-tive of the way in which his democracy and all other bad traits disappeared from his character when he turned over a new leaf and joined the army. Then one after another of the warriors against sin gave their experi ences and exhortations in short speeches, and finally, when the audience had begun to share the evident uneasiness of the bride and groom, the staff captain opened the ritual and commenced the ceremony. The bride and groom each made a vow that they were marrying, not to increase their own happiness. but to enable them to work together for the glory of God more effectually, and when the right time came the groom fished a ring out of his hip pocket and slipped it on the bride's finger. After Captain Cousens had pronounced them husband and wife there was pause for only a second, when the bride's from somewhere behind the scenes, called out in a lusty tone of voice, "Kiss her, Grate." And Grate kissed her. Before the kiss was finished a good part of the audience, having seen what it came for, had filed out of the door.

During the service a collection of about $5 was taken, the bride acting as deacon, the noney to go to help on with the army work. Mr. Grate, the young man whose matrimon'al career was ushered in in so decisive a manner is a lineman with the Western Union Telegraph company. Edmundson's Music Box. A lawsuit, which has been pending for two years and a half, and which involved in the start a difference of only $4 between the plaintiff and defendant, occupied all of yes terday in the district court. It is a fight for the possession of a music box, valued at 2.000 francs, or $400, which Mr. Edmundson bought when he was in Geneva, Switzerland. It was made to order by the firm of Baker & Co., and was to be set down free of all charges at Edmundson's house in this city. At a late conference of the Reorganized Edmundson paid 1,000 francs down and was Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day to pay the rest when the instrument arrived it a bill for 1,000 francs, plus $4 freight charges. Mr. Edmundson immediately made up his mind that the insnufacturers were trying to "work" him in a small way, and he refused to take the instrument in the regular ufacturers for the 1,000 francs he had already paid them, and attached the instrument for security. Since the commencement of the suit the music box has been stored at Mueller's, in the custody of the sheriff. It is one of the finest instruments of the kind ever seen in this part of the country, and plays thirty tunes, none of which, however have yet been heard on this side the At RED OAK, Ia., Feb. 11 .- (Special Telegram.)-The two robbers who held up L. H. Towner in his jewelry store Friday evening in this city were captured Saturday afternoon in Nebraska City. They were brought back here by Sheriff Logan, without requisition papers, and safely lodged in jail last night. This morning they were arraigned before Justice Hanna, charged with robbery. The prisoners waived examination, and were committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury. About $200 worth of stolen goods were found upon the elder of the two, who gave his name as Frank Johnson, that of his companion as William Smith. Johnson, who is about 37 years old, is a rough looking fellow, with a determined expression upon his face. He claims he was given the lewelry by two men in Red Oak Friday night. His story is very disconnected, and does not bear the mark of truth. His companion is an inoffensive appearing fellow, about 25 years cld. He disclaims any knowledge of the robbery. He says ha met Johnson in Shenandoah Friday night for the first time and they went to Hamburg together in a box car, and from there walked to Nebraska City. Smith claims to be from Kingman county Kansas, and Johnson from Lee county, when he has worked upon a farm for the last ight months. It is very likely there others connected with the robbery who have not yet been located.

IOWA'S BIG PUMPKIN SHOW. Des Moines People Going Down Into Their Pockets to Keep it Going.

DES MOINES, Feb. 11.—(Special.)—The nanagers of the Iowa state fair have reached the conclusion that they can no longer run that exposition without passing 'round the hat and extending the hand for charity. At a conference held the past week between the executive committee of the state fair and a number of leading business men the latter were given the ultimatum of raising $10,000 or having no fair in Des Moines this year, if ever again. So the business men have gone generously to work and wil probably have little trouble in securing ledges for the required amount.

done by disposing of 20,000 admission tickets, so the people will get at least a slight return for their money. The reason for this condition of things is that two years ago the receipts of the state fair were down by the superior counter attraction of the World's fair at Chicago, and the society came out about $25,000 in debt. The legislature the next winter made an appropriation of $20,000 to help the society out. Las year there were a number of counter at tractions in the city and on the chief day of the fair the weather was so bad that there was comparatively no attendance. The society is now about $16,000 in debt. The generously by the state fair. Years ago went about on wheels and was constantly in debt, with no permanent home or prospects. The state legislature was finally induced to appropriate $50,000 on condition that the people of Des Moines would raise an equal amount, which they did, and the present grounds (about 250 adres) were purchased. Some $80,000 has been expended in buildings and the fair has generally more than paid expenses until the past two years. Efforts have been made time and again to track and pay more attention to speed contests, but so far these efforts have failed. because no new attractions have been added and people have grown tired of coming to see the same old pumpkin show, with 10-cent see the same old pumpkin show, with 10-cent side shows. MODIFIED THE RULING. Court of Appeals Directs Judge Thayer to Change His Decision. ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.-The federal court of appeals today reversed in part the judgment of the federal court of Colorado in the famous mining suit of James M. Thomas, Miriam A. Thomas, Fiora L. Bannerman and the St. Louis-Colorado Smelting and Mining company against John C. Bensieck, Leonard C. Wenzel, Martin V. Medart, Walter L. Graydon and Edward C. Boehmer. All the defendants are St. Louisians. Complainants charge that the defendants had conspired to gain control of the smelting com-pany's property in Pitkin county, Colorado, and to that end they, as directors, executed two mortgages on the plant and then sought to diminish the earnings so as to prevent the payment of the interest on the mortgages. The United States federal court in Colorado upheld the validity of the second mortgage for $10,000, but enjoined the defendants from selling the property in order to satisfy the first mortgage for $18,000. Judge Thaver, who wrote the opinion, held that as Ben-sieck and Wenzel advanced $18,000, less 20 per cent commission, they did not commit fraud of any kind. The Colorado court was directed to enter a modified decree direct-ing the smelting company to pay to Ben-sieck and Wenzel the amount actually advanced by them, $14,400, with interest from August 1, 1891. In the event that Bensieck and Wenzel are not paid they are at liberty to sell the property.

The good effects of that meeting were apparent all day and the Waymire bill was the one theme of conversation among the many thousands who have awaked to the problem of better government. Metropolitan temple was thronged yesterday afternoon with men and women who came to hear the problem of "Good Citizenship" expounded by Rev. R. G. Goodwin The speaker is a new factor in the movement, having recently come from Chicago to this state, and from Los Angeles to this city, where he has been installed as pastor of the California Street Methodis church. At nearly all the churches the ministers took occasion to speak of the proposed investigation and to approve of 1 Felegrams have been received from Dr Parkhurst, Clarence Lexow and John W Goff endorsing the plans of the local re

WILL NOT BE HANGED.

Death Sentence Not Likely to Be Carried Out on Hawallan Prisoners. VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 11 .- Among the passengers by the Warrimoo was F. H. Holmes, private secretary of Damon Hawalian minister of finance, who is enroute to England on a vacation. He says there has been no change in the situation since the arrival of the last steamer, but he believed the effectual manner in which the revolution was quelled will prevent any further uprising. The natives were much disgusted at the flasco and despised Wilcox for his cowardly surrender. In his opinion capital punishment will not be inflicted on the conspirators, not because the govern ment lacks courage, but because the country is free from grave offenses and infliction to the severest penalty of the law would be revolting to the people. Holmes emphatically states that the trials as conducted so far have been generally fair and that the ap-pointment of Judge Whiting as president of the court and Lawyer Kennin as judge advocate was considered favorable to the prisoners.

The mayor of Beatrice asked the co-operation of the council of South Omaha in an effort to have the laws so changed that regis-tration of voters would be necessary every two years. A resolution was passed agreeing to co-operate with the Beatrice official in se curing the passage of such a law.

A letter from Congressman D. H. Mercer was read, in which he said that he would do everything in his power to obtain a public behalf at the control of the control of lic building for South Omaha.

Mr. Bulla made a motion to move the electric light from Twenty-sixth and O streets to Twentieth and I streets. Conley objected to the motion and Bulla changed his motion with the consent of his second to Twenty-sixth and M streets. The motion as amended was carried.

Mr. Pivonka, the owner of the property where the city jail is situated, appeared before the council and demanded his rent. He claimed that he had received no money since December.

of $19.50. This is the smallest amount col-lected in any one month in police court for several years.

Some time ago Thomas Hill put in a bill for $200 for the use of his building as a pest house. A committee was appointed to vestigate and recommended that Hill paid $50. Hill now claims that he will settle for $75 and if the bill was not paid once he would sue the city. The council refused to pay him over $50, and Hill insists that he will sue for the whole amount. The bill of the Tribune for $150 for printing the proceedings of the Whitewash investigating committee was passed. Mr. Morgan was the only member voting agains The council then adjourned for two weeks.
