Board of Managers Determines on Location of Principal Buildings.

MAP OF THE GREAT SHOW IS DRAWN

How the Structures Will Be Arranged-Exits Not Finally Decided on Owing to the Fact that Grading Must Be Done -Board's Meeting Yesterday.

The board of managers of the state fair finished its business in this city for the present yesterday and the members will leave for their homes this morning. A vast amount of preliminary work has been accomplished. and it is not likely that the board will be again called together before the latter part of March. Yesterday afternoon the board visited the fair grounds and planned the locations of the buildings, stalls, entrances, etc., and long before support time their imaginations had fully equipped the unbroken grounds. tions had fully equipped the unbroken grounds with an array of structures that are expected o do credit to the state in general and Omaha in particular. These plans were disevening, and when the board adjourned it was with a very clear idea of the general arrangement of the grounds as they will appear when all is ready for the big show. It is not unlikely that some changes may be essary between now and the time when the carpenters and landscape gardeners are set at work, but it is not contemplated that the final arrangement will vary materially from that decided on yesterday.

The entrance to the grounds will be lo from the northwest corner. ee large entrances, thus dividing the crowd that there will be no likelihood of a crush the gates, no matter how numerous th rrivals may be. First will be the gate where the passengers from the railroad will unloaded. A short distance further on I be the large carriage gate, and still further toward the east will be the entrance for the arrivals by motor. The driveway will lead streight acra g the grounds and then turn to the exit, which will be located on the east side. Near the turn a branch will lead to the race track, nd another gate will allow entrance to the quarter stretch. Down on the west end will be the entrance where the freight cars with Cools load of stock, pumpking and other in-cidentals of the fair will be run into the rounds and there unloaded.

The grrangement of the buildings has been arefully planned, and is highly satisfactory to the board. The buildings will be arranged in oval dimensions, inside of which will be ced the general office and the agricultural and floral buildings. There will be ten buildings. To the left of the entrance will be found the fish building, and further on that devoted to textile fabries. The buildings devoted to art, bees and manufactures and the ercantile hall complete the first half of the line. At the right of the mercant le hall will poultry department, almost directly hall, the police and express offices, and lasof all, and to the right of the entrance, the airy building. The general headquarters w. located at the highest point inside the n ready view. The agricultural hall will to the north, and the foral building e east of the office.

South of the buildings will be the one-mile track, with the immense grand stand on the north of the track, and exactly opposite the neadquarters. Still further south and beyond the track a strip of ground 175 feet will be left for camping purposes. The boothe and stock pens will be to the west of the buildings, where they will be readily accessible to the railroad, and the machinery exhibit will be to the eastern, or upper, end of the grounds. The location of the exits has not been definitely decided, as there is a heavy grade on the north side of the grounds, and the wishes of the street railway company will be consulted before a decision is reached.

WATER MONOPOLIES.

f The Bee: I am in receipt of The Bee of January 30, centaining an article on irrigation laws in Nebraska, and notice with sur-prise what would be "a proper law for Nebraska," viz., the Wright law of California. It may not be out of place for me, as a former resident of Nebraska, to take interest enough in her affairs to write a little word of warning on this subject. First, there can be n loubt regarding the practical benefits to be derived from the judicious storing of water for use during the long dry spell that so many of the western states are afflicted with to understand their present irrigating systems ceptions, that the first step to be taken in egard to a better water system is the repeal of the Wright law, which, it seems, has worked more harm than good. This law has enabled men to file a water claim, as it is called here, thus monopolizing the supply of a water shed, that cannot be touched except at exorbitant figures. Third, the state I now live in is a good example of what combined water interests have done to oppress the grower. Some have gone on the theory that we must have water. bottom of all the trouble in these parts. coupled with the railroad power. This article mentions the cost of water being from $15 to $25 per acre annually. Under the Sweetwater system now operating in Chula Vista, just six miles south of San is expected to yield to pay the grower any-thing at all. This state of affairs could not exist had it not been for the laws protecting rrigation companies to the great detriment Fourth, I would further caution the people to proceed very slowly on this new venture, and also to bear in mind that the people of this state, California, all want water, but cheap water, and strict state and municipal ownership, or else the irrigation problem that is an agricultural slavery to capital invested in water systems.

Fifth, if a committee to represent this terest should visit California it would be time well spent, as then they might glean information enough to afford them valuable safeguards for Nebraska's first attempt S. ARION LEWIS.

MANGLED UNDER THE MOTOR. GREAT Paral Accident to John McNuity of South

Omaha Yesterday Afternoon. John McNulty, a resident of South Omaha, living at Thirlieth and Boyd streets, met Black Hills Again the Scene of Considerable with an accident yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock which caused his death two hours and a half afterward. He boarded a southbound motor train, No. 14, at Fourteenth and Howard, and after it had got under way, and be fore it had proceeded over 100 feet, he at-tempted to pass from one platform to the other, and in doing so he missed his footing and fell between the cars. The conductor immediately rang the bell for the motormar to stop, but before the train could be brought to a standstill the trailer had passed over body, mangling it in a borrible manner pied by the king Paper company, and physicians were funmented. The wounds were partially bound up, after which McNulty was taken to the Clarkon hespital, where he ded before his injuries could be properly dressed. McNulty came to Omaha yesterday, in answer to a subpoing which had been served on him to appear in the district court as daily to the smelling works at Deadwood,

McNulty was carried into the building occu-ber of those who saw the accident attached no blame to the conductor or motorman. McNulty came to this city from Pennsylania about eighteen years ago, and he lived cussed at length at the Millard hotel last here fifteen years. Five years ago he moved cettent returns; and those mines where the to South Omaha, where he has been employed at the Cudahy packing house. He leaves a wife and four small children in reduced cir-cumstances. An inquest will be held today. McNuity's life was insured for $500. In what order or company the insurance is cannot be stated until the papers are looked over today.

AMUSEMENTS.

For the first time in twelve years Miss adie Martinot appeared before an Omaha audience last night at Boyd's in play new to our people. The Passport," by Stephenson and Yard-There is much of interest, much of clever detail and many laughable situof clever detail and many laughable situ-ations in the comedy, which suggests a source other than that indicated on the bill. It has a German flavor about it that is very reminiscent of "The Private Secre-tary," "Mr. Wikinson's Whilows," or the more recent "Gloriana" and "Jane." It is bright without recourse to horse play, and for that reason will not prove a great popular success, although there is consid-erable merit to the piece. It is a play for a downstairs audience, appending as it does i downstairs audience, appealing as it does o the intellect rather than the eye. And what is much more to the point, it is a plessed relief from the drivel which passes surrent on the sage under the title of farce

While there are many ludicrous situ-tions, the result of a wonderfully forget-ul women's attempt to pass the Russian ations, the result of a wonderfully forgetful woman's attempt to pass the Russian border officers on a man's passport, other than her husband, the action of the play needs quickening in view of the rapidity with which one scene of confusion is supposed to follow another. And the strength of farce is found in the snep and go incident to the development of the story. However, it is an exceedingly bright portrayal of the forgetful woman whose innocences plungs several families into the uttermost depths of despair, and all with a degree of naturalness that is delightfully funny.

Miss Martinot, who plays the forsetful widow, a woman who even could not remember her malden name for a time and draily recalling that it was Smith, is seen to splendid advantage. She is so thoroughly an artiste that whatever she does is done well, but her acting in the part of Mrs. Darcy is much stronger than anything she has essayed in years. There is a fluish, a finesse about her work that appeals to the intelligence, for character studies are always interesting to the onlocker, whether it be at pletures framed by the proseenum or hung upon the walls of an art gallery. Miss Martinot is a woman of exceptional seductiveness, rare lact and curious taste. Her presence on the stage is a delight, for she is contending to the eye and most musical, in a word, where the test pletures framed by the proseenum on hung upon the walls of an art gallery. to the eye and most musical, in a word, she is harmonious.

Mr. Max Figman, who has had quite as varied a career as his wife, Miss Martinot, having appeared in many of the famous New York Casho successes when that playhouse was in the zenith of its fame, and later with Frohman, has a good part in Ferdinand Sinclair, who is the innocent victim of the forgetful woman and comes very near ending in a lunatic asylum because of indiscretions in sanuggling a woman over the Russian border into French territory on a passport intended for his wife. Mr. Figman, in his methods, suggests German stage influences that tend to complete detail, and herein he excels, for gests German stage influences that tend to complete detail, and herein he excels, for he elaborates his part to the finest possible point in order that Miss Martinot may bring out her character sketch to a finer degree of perfection. The company is generally excellent including Mrs. Sol Smith and Mr. Sam Edwards, both well known old time actors. The play was received with favor, and with judicious rewriting, with a view of accelerating the scenes, will undoubtedly prove a bright vehicle for exploiting the talents of Miss Martinot and Mr. Figman.

Organization of City Systems. Mr. F. A. Fitzpatrick, who was Dr. Marble's predecessor, will also be in attendance at the meeting and an effort is being made to induce him to come on to Omaha and deliver an address before the local teachers. Mr. Fitzpatrick has been unable so far to give a definite answer to the invitation, but has promised to come if possible.

BUSINESS OF ASSURED Much Territory Worked Over in the Early pretors. DEADWOOD, Feb. 14. - (Special.) - The Rtiration which for the past three weeks has forced the famous Lackawana mine on Bald mountain to remain in a state of unproductiveness, has at last been settled by a dissolution of the injunction which compelled it to remain idle. Ore shipments are being made

Days Now Being Closely Inspected

by an Army of Pros-and with flattering returns, While the severe cold weather has interfered to a great extent with ore shipments, and work in all the districts of the Hills, still a considerable amount of ore is being daily ferwarded from Ruby basin, Bald mountain and Yellow creek, which gives exworkings are under cover are being developed and put in condition to furnish a continuous supply of ore to the various reduction plants. With the coming of pleasant weather there will be renewed activity in all lines of mining in the Hills. Considerable attention of late has been attracted toward Elk creek and the Bare Butto creek districts, six or seven miles southeast of Deadwood, and before the recent cold snap and deep shows drove the prospectors from those sections several important discoveries had been made in them. These sections, like Yellow creek, had been worked for years, but as all efforts were directed toward the discovery of 'free milling' bodies or silver velus, little attention was given to the large bodies of "rebellious," or silicious ores which Yellow creek and Lackawana strikes have been made a closer inspection has been given the abandoned locations and mines of these districts, with the result that the same charnctor of ores have been found there that pre-vail in Yellow creek. This discovery caused a small-sized stampede to that section of the country, and for several weeks the woods and hills were full of prospectors relocating old ground and locating new, until at the present time hardly a foot of the country around there remains unstaked. Some very good prospects have been found, and in one group of claims on Bare Butteethe Lida-assays from ores taken from it have given returns ranging from $260 to the ton to $50 in gold; on Elk creek, the Mill-site, an old worked claim, has developed into a bonanza, and while its owners are not willing to state what the ore will run, still it is known to go very high. These are but a few of the claims where good prospects prevail, or there are several others which abound in ich ore, and the coming spring will un? doubtedly see ore shipments being daily made from both districts.

Garden City, Carbonate, Galena and the districts of the southern little have all within the past few weeks reported rich strikes, and it is safe to say that while good weather will not bring a "mining boam," it will bring such activity to the mining interests and lend such an impetus to prospecting and development work that every bit of surplus labor in the Black Hills will be absorbed in the improvements which will be inaugurated.
The cold weather, while it has been severe on range cattle, is not looked upon with great alarm by the cattlemen. The heavy snows have as a general thing been accompanied by winds which have blown the snew into drifts and uncovered the grazing grounds of the ranges, so that while young and unacclimated cattle may suffer to a considerable extent, the older cattle will hardly be affected. Prof. Fitzpatrick Invited to Speak.
