District Court Doings. The $10,000 damage suit of H. H. Wrinkle against Thomas Sherman Holloway came up for trial yesterday. A motion for a continuance had been filed by the plaintiff's atterneys on the ground that certain testimony ruled the case and the trial was proceeded with. Katle H. Wrinkle claimed she had been seduced by Holloway and commenced suit for damages, but later on assigned her claim to her mother. Then she decided that she did not want to prosecute, Holloway and she having renewed their friendship. Mrs. Wrinkle insisted on trying the case, but after a little testimony had been introduced yesterday she decided that it was of no use, and smissed the suit without prejudice. In the afternoon the case of P. H. Fotheringham against Whitelaw and others, for $10,000 damages, was on trial and the evi-dence is not all in yet.

Prof. Spruit Hurt Again. Prof. C. Spruit, one of the teachers at th school for the deaf, was badly hurt in a runaway Monday afternoon. He had been confined to his home with an affection of the limb, and the member had been for about two weeks encased in a plaster of paris mould. Monday the mould was thrown aside and he drove out to the institute. As he neared the place his horse took fright and started to run away. When the gate was reached the horse plunged through it, striking the buggy wheel against a telephone pole in making the turn. The buggy was over-turned and Prof. Spruit fell on the ground. Fortunately he fell on his well limb, so that he was not hurt so badly as he might have been. His wrist was badly sprained and he was considerably bruised all over.

Two more of the men supposed to be members of the gang of robbers who looted the Griswold bank and took part in the shooting affray in this city Monday night are now under arrest in Chicago. Monday afternoon J. W. White, who is now in the county jail, went to the local office of the Adams Express company and left a small value to be sent to Mark Davis, 178 South yesterday morning to Inspector Shea asking that the valise be recovered and whoever might be found with it arrested. In the afternoon a telegram was received at police headquarters from Shea announcing that him, and his bartender, Thomas J. Gilmartin, were under arrest. The valise was opened and found to contain $599.75 worth of postage stamps, just the amount the safe keeping. Sheriff W. J. Davenport of Union county was in the city yesterday, accompanied by James F. Bryan of the Creston Daily News. They were of the opinion that White was implicated in the robbery of a bank at Maivern last October. The man in question loafed about Creston for some time and be-came intimate with a woman of the town known as Maude Louks. To her one day he confided the fact that when he left Mal-vern he walked on money, and that was literally true, for when the bank was bur-glarized dynamite was used, which blew the front of the building off and threw money into the street, which the robbers did not have time to pick up. About $5,400 was taken. A third person heard the remark of the supposed burglar and gave a tip to Davenport, who arrested the fellow.

DAVENPORT MADE HIM TALK. The grand jury, however, failed to indict the suspect. Davenport had his picture taken and brought it up with him yesterday. When shown into the corridor quite a scene streets, and was talking to a passerby for a minute. While he was thus engaged his horse started to walk away. After he had gone some distance he noticed it, and called to the horse to stop. This only startled the to the horse to stop. This only startled the jumped to his feet, and so far as appearances went would have torn Davenport limb from went would have torn Davenport limb from the intervening ensued. White was lying in his bunk read-ing a novel by the faint light which shone through the jail bars. Davenport tried to limb had it not been for the intervening bars. He ripped and swore with an ease and fluency which would have done credit to a Texas ranger. While thus engaged he permitted a full view of his face, which showed that it was an exact duplicate of the

When in Creston White was found to have been known as C. F. Wright, C. F. Adams, Charles Adams, Harry Gilbert, and a number of other names. He is said to be under indictment in at least four counties in the state, and Davenport says he can get two rewards of $50 each if the Pottawattamie authorities will only let go of him long enough. One of these crimes was the bur-glary of a store at Redding, in the extreme southern part of Ringgold county. His rela-tives live at Binghampton, N. Y. The three men were together at the Ogden hotel in this city last Saturday and Sunday, registering as J. Stanley, W. S. Barnes and J. B. White. They left Sunday afternoon after paying their bills. There seems to be a fourth member of the gang who has not cut much of a figure. It is asserted that Sheriffs O'Brien and Hooker left Kiel's hotel with the trio in tow a fourth followed them, unnoticed by the officers. He had previously been picked up by the officers but had been released by them after some inquiries had been made, their belief being that he was not concerned in the robbery, in spite of the fact that he was in the robbery was in the room when Hooker and O'Brien was in the room when Hooker and O'Brien while to Mr. Richtey he presented a pin in the room when the same to Mr. Clark and Mr. Wilkins, while to Mr. Richtey he presented a pin in the room when th made their descent upon it. After Riley had fired his first bullet at O'Brien and O'Brien had returned the fire this man stood by Riley's side and said to him in a low tone, "Are you furt?" Finding that Riley seemed to be in very good order, he disappeared, and has not been seen since.

RILEY HIRED A MARSHAL'S TEAM. Sheriff Job Card of Cass county was in the ity yesterday and said that the day the bank at Griswold was broken into a man answering the description of Riley to a dot called at the livery stable kept by Deputy United States Marshal W. W. Eller at Atlantic and engaged a team. He represented that he was a Rock Island official, and wanted to subpoena some lady witnesses in a law suit. He got the team as agreed, drove to Griswold in the evening and back again. one of his partners bought three railroad tickets from Atlantic to Council Bluffs the following morning. Card describes the man who engaged the team as small, with dark hair, a black scar between the eyes, and about three or four weeks' growth of beard

Sheriff Hazen was in the east end of the county on business Monday evening, and did not hear of the shooting until yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. He at once started for home. He called on Nick O'Brien and found him feeling somewhat better than he had been during the night. Considerable talk had been occasioned by the seeming neglect of O'Brien and Hooker to search their men before leaving the hotel. Both had been in the business ten years, or such a matter, and might be reasonably expected to know all the 'ns and outs of the capture of desperate criminals such as these were supposed to be. To the sheriff O'Brien said of the groom, that when he entered the men's room at the Kiel he drew his revolver and they all threw up their hands as soon as he told them to. One of the fellows was in bed. O'Brien procreded to search under the pillows on the bed and in their pockets for weapons, but bed and in their pockets for weapons, in of the Seward found none. He said that he never was in the clergyman, a case where he felt greater confidence in his own safety than when he was walking along Fifth avenue with the three suspects in tow. His first shot, he said, was fired at Riley after Riley had jumped behind the tree and shot at him, and he is positive that it took effect, for he saw Riley wince. His second shot was fired at Smith and struck

The fugitive evidently found be could not get across the river that way, and retraced his steps to the eastward along the side of the Union Pacific dump, to the place where the road passes beneath it. There all traces were lost. Many of the footprints seemed to have been made carefully, as a man naturally would who was feeling his way along over a strange road in pitchy darkness.

O'BRIEN'S CONDITION CRITICAL.

Nick O'Brien is still in a very critical con Nick O Brien is still in a very critical con-dition. Dr. Macrae, who is attending him, stated last evening that inflammation had not yet set in, and he thought he would re-cover, although nothing certain could be told for three or four days. Pneumonia and peritor three or four days. Pheumonia and peri-tonitis are feared as the result of the injury, and either one would certainly prove fatal. These diseases will probably not show them-selves for several days, so that no just opinion of his condition can be formed. Dr. Macrae does not think any of the vital organs are injured. The neighbors and friends of the injured man cause a good many of the wild rumors that are floating around by their undue anxiety for his welfare, but at the same time it cannot be denied that there is a good deal of foundation for their anxiety. During the day he was tolerably free from the vomiting spells that took him Monday night, but last evening they returned again and each spell weakens him perceptibly.

MILLER-DRAKE NUPTIALS.

For its beautiful simplicity will the wedding of Mr. Albert F. Miller of Franklin, Pa., and Miss Louie Gertrude Drake, which was solemnized yesterday at the family residence on Twenty-ninth avenue, be most generally recalled by the circles of society present at the ceremony. While delightfully unpretentious, there was nothing lacking to a perfect ensemble, and no prettier home wedding has been celebrated during the pre-Lenten season than the one of Shrove Tuesday, an exceed-ingly happy day, by the way, upon which to plight one's troth.

The lower rooms were daintily decorated with smilax and la France roses, with here all that was done in raiding this place. As the minute hand neared its perpendicular and almost upon the stroke of 4, Miss Susie Colpetzer and Miss Bessie Norton suspended the ribbons from the stairway to the improvised altar, and closely following the ribbon girls came the wedding party in this wise: James Ritchey and Harry Wilkins first, then Mr. Megeath and Miss Adelaide Miller of Franklin, Pa., a cousin of the groom and the senior bridesmaid. Mr. Will Clark and Miss McBane of Fort Dodge. Ia., came next, then Rev. T. J. Mackay, the officiating priest. Then two pretty little flower girls. Josephine Drake and Ada Kirkendall, carrying baskets of flowers. Miss Alice Drake, the maid of honor and the bride's sister, walked alone, and lastly the bride, escorted by her father, Mr. L. J. Drake. Just as the procession reached the typper part of the room, the groom, Mr. Albert F. Miller, and his best man, Mr. Charles S. Miller, entered from a side door and took position with the rest. During the cere-mony which followed the orchestra, stationed in the breakfast room, played "Tender and True" very sweetly, a fitting accompani-ment to the words of the Episcopal prayer book as read by Rev. Mr. Mackay. The bride, who is one of Omaha's lovable young women, looked every inch an ideal bride, gowned, as she was, in white satin, entraine, the waist ornamented with chiffon and broad pearl trimming. Her veil was of chiffon, caught high up on the head by a diamond pendant, and she carried a bouquet of her favorite flowers, lilies of the valley and violets, made into eight parts, which she, on leaving, flung from the stair-way to her maids in waiting and girl friends clustered below, Miss Brownie Baum being fortunate to secure the ring attached to one of the parts, while Miss Amy Barker secured the coin and Miss Alice Drake the thimble. The bridesmaids, Miss Miller and Miss Mc-Bane, wore gowns exactly alike, pink satin, Attorney Haskins Testifies in the Hillis Impeachment Care.

SAYS THE MAYOR WAS PLAYING TAVORITES

Wanted His Clients to Arrange with Another Cambler in Regard to Opening Up in Business-Wanted to Concentrate the Business.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 26 .- (Special Telegram.)-In the impeachment trial of Mayor Hillis today, Attorney Haskins came forward voluntarily and said: "I have not heretofore refused to testify through frivolity of any kind. This body has no power to compel me to testify. What I know concerns others and may implicate others. I will tell what I know about this business." After being sworn he testified that he talked several times. Only one conversation impressed itself upon his mind. The mayor, one afternoon in his office, after calling in Chief of Police Johnson, talked about centralizing the gambling business.

"I told Johnson I thought he was mistaken about King's place on Fourth street. The mayor said he, Johnson, was responsible for "'Didn't you give us orders to pull all the gambling houses in the city except one?"

"The mayor did not answer, and said to me: 'Mr. Haskins, we have talked it over gambling in one place in the city."

"I told him that if he was going to control by centralizing I wanted to know it, and if he was going to wipe it all out I wanted to know that in justice to my clients. His first idea was to put the gambling in charge of one person. I told him the report was that one house was running wide open, and asked him if this was to be the place. His idea was that Rinehart should have control of the business. I told him my clients would not go in with Rinehart; that they did not consider him their style of man.

The mayor said in substance:
"If your men want to engage in gambling you had better have them go and arrange "This conversation was had on the day following the raiding of King's place. The mayor several times made the statement that my clients had 'better go and arrange with Rinehart.' Bob King, Dick Williams and ex-Chief Johnson were called, but brought out nothng new. Alderman McElderry was asked if prior Alderman McElderry was asked if prior to the offering of the pool-selling resolution he had talked with the mayor about the passage of such a resolution. McElderry said he had such a conversation, and that Hillis had said he desired such a resolution to pass. About 12 or 1 o'clock of the same day McElderry stated that he met Hillis on Fifth street and asked him if everything was all right and the mayor replied that it was all right, and the mayor replied that it was. This conversation took place the same day that Davies called at the mayor's office. City Solicitor Macomber and Assistant So-lictor Chamberlain testified in respect to conferences had with the mayor in regard to pool-selling and gambling, in which they advised him that district or justices' courts were the proper tribunal to suppress these evils.

Captain Sims of the present force claims that the subject of concentrating gambling had been frequently talked of by himself. Johnson and the mayor, but at no time was any place designated where it should be confined. The mayor gave the police force orders to suppress gambling, but made no exception of any place. An adjournment was then taken till Friday morning.

COURT WEARY OF DELAYS.

Richmond Asks for Another Continuance in the Contempt Case. DES MOINES, Feb. 26.-(Special Telegram.)-The case of Richmond, the wrecker of the Union Building and Loan association, was called before Judge Stevenson this mornmaid of honor he gave a stick pin of Roman ing. Richmond was summoned to appear and show cause why he should not be committed for contempt in refusing to produce the books of the association, as ordered by the court some time ago. Attorney Reads explained to the court that it would be im possible for him to attend to the matter to day, as he was engaged in the trial of ease before Judge Conrad, and asked that the case be postponed until next Friday. The court replied that the case of Richmond had been dragging slong for months and he was getting sick of it and wanted it settled one way or another, and in order to facilitate matters he would have Judge Conrad wall until Mr. Reade could attend to the case of It was then discovered that the defendan was not present, and his attorney explained this by stating that he had informed Rich-mond that it would be impossible to proceed today and his appearance would not be necessary. Judge Stevenson ordered the bailing to find Richmond and bring him into court. The bailiff returned in half an hour and reported that he was unable to find Richmond. Turning to counsel the court said: "I accept the statement, but Richmond was in-formed to be present. The case is now post-poned till 2 o'clock, and if Mr. Richmond is not present the sheriff will bring him in."

At the opening of court this afternoon Attorney Reade was engaged in Judge Conrad's court, and it was finally agreed to postpone the case until next Friday.

Brady, was talking too much. "I see," he continued, "that he allows I can down Fitzsimmons in three rounds. Now, to be candid, I don't believe I can do that. I may defeat him in twenty rounds or less, but I don't want to be quoted as saying I can knock him out in three rounds. Fitz has not put up his deposit of $2,500. Brady says it makes no difference. I say it does, I want Fitz to put up every dollar he agreed to."

"Disfigured For Life"

Is the despairing cry of thousands afflicted with Unsightly skin diseases. Do you realize what this disfigu-ration means to sensitive souls? It means isolation, seclusion. It is a bar to social and business success. Do you wonder that despair seizes upon these sufferers when Doctors fail, standard remedies fail, And nostrums prove worse than useless ?

Skin diseases are most obstinate to cure or even relieve. It is an easy matter to claim to cure them, but quite another thing to do so. CUTICURA REMEDIES Have earned the right to be called Skin Specifics. Because for years they have met with most remarkable success. There are cases that they cannot cure, but they are few indeed.

It is no long-drawn-out, expensive experiment. 25c. invested in a cake of CUTICURA SOAP
