Count Von Kotze Was at One Time Under Arrest for Being the Author of the Letters but Was Acquitted on His Trial.

ALTONA, Prusula, April 2 .- A youth who was about to join the army has been arrested here on the charge of being the author of the series of anonymous compromising letters addressed to various members of the imperial family during recent years. The arrest of this young man brings to mind the Von Kotze scandal, which furnished gossip for thousands of tongues. Count Von Kotze was the royal court chamberlain, and the scandal in which he was the principal figure shook Berlin society to its foundations. His arrest in June, 1894, was the result of four years of police investigation. During that period members of the highest German aristocracy were in receipt of anonymous letters and postal cards, making viie personal accusations against them, their relatives or friends. In a number of cases irreparable wrong was done.

Some of the recipients of the slanderous missives placed them in the hands of the nolice, and, as a result, Count Von Kotze was arrested. He protested his innocence although the proof against him was seemingly overwhelming. After his arrest it was thought that the era of scandalous anonymous letters had been brought to a close. It was not, however, and letters making all sorts of outrageous charges continued to be received as before. These last mentioned letters were in the same handwriting as the cylous ones, and further inquiries resulted Von Kotze's innocence being legally established, and on March 10 last he was acquitted of all the charges by a military

MR. GLADSTONE'S PREITY SPEECH.

Declares the Ladies Will Soon Beat the Men at Public Speaking.

LINCOLN, England, April 2 .- Mr. and Mrs Gladstone, who have been on a visit to their son-in-law, Rev. Edward C. Wicksham, for some days past, drove to the railway station today in an open carriage in spite of the cold and rain on their way to Hawarden. Mrs. Gladstone was presented with a bouquet on behalf of the local Wemen's Liberal association and with an address alluding in eulogistic terms to her devotion and helpfulness to her husband. Replying to the address Mrs. Gladstone said that they owed her nothing, but all to her husband. Mr. Giadstone, when his wife had finished speaking, sail that he must add his thanks to those of Mrs. Gladstone, although he was disinclined to interfere with her remarks. "The fact is," he said, "iadles are now taking much to public speech and if they persevere and keep steadily at it they

age to One of Her Transports. PARIS, April 2 .- As an indication of the strained relations between England and France, the Matin and other newspapers persist in insinuating that the collision on March 30 off Messina, in the island of Sicily. between two British steamers, the Alvah and the Brinkburn, the latter chartered by the French government as a transport to take troops and munitions of war to the island of Madagascar, was due to England's malice, and that a man capable of such action should be brought to account. The Alvah, as cabled the Associated press at the time, was sunk and the Brinkburn, which was on her way from Toulon to the island of Madagascar with French troops and munitions of war on board. was seriously damaged, but succeeded in making the harbor of Messina.

JAPAN'S TERMS ARE TOO STRINGENT. She is Asking Too Much of Her Conqueres

Foe as the Price of Peace. PETERSBURG, April 2.-- A telegran received here from a Chinese source says that the bad weather, the sickness among the Japanese troops and the overflow of the rivers have rendered a continuance of the war extremely difficult. It is added that this produced a favorable effect upon the peace negotiations, but the hopes for a speedy conclusion of peace are weakened by the Japanese demand for a cession of a par of Manchuria, a war indemnity of 700,000,00 ven and pending full payment of this indemalty that Peking be occupied by the Japanes Withelm Again Thanks Bismarck.

"Your Screne Highness: May I today, as on March 26, at the head of a representa-tive detuchment of my army, once more deeply moved, express the thanks of my house and the thanks of the German nation for all you have done and your beneficent labor for the fatherland. God bless and render happy the evening of the life of the man who will ever remain the pride of the German people. Yours gratefully, Canadian Laws Do Not Suit England. OTTAWA, Ont., April 2 .- At the last session of Parliament the customs duty on books was changed from 15 per cent ad valorem to 6 cents a pound, with an addivalorem to 6 cents a pound, with an additional 12½ per cent on reprints of British copyrighted works. A clause was attached, however, providing that on March 27, 1855, this additional duty of 12½ per cent on reprints of capyrighted works should cease to be collected, so that the law today is changed to this extent, and the protection afforded to British authors of copyrighted works has ceased. This duty has been a dublous source of income to the authorities, but its withdrawal will doubtless contribute to the controversy now going on in England to the controversy now going on in England over the subject of Canada's right to con-trol this class of legislation.

"Catholics built more schools and had more papils than the others, because our people gave more money for the Indians than did the Protestants. Of course, the Catholics were entitled to larger appropriations, and if they got $400,000 and others only $100,000, the reason was to be found in their devotion to the work and their liberality."

lumber camp owners at Agua Asual. WASHINGTON, April 2.—From unofficial advices reaching Washington the general terms of the agreement by which war be-tween Mexico and Guatemala was avoided, are substantially known, Mexico's demands were in the form of an ultimatum sent by Secreof Brooklyn, which was supposed at first to tary Mariscal on November 27, embracing following points:

1. Mexico asks satisfaction for injuries reeived by the invasion of her territory and for the vexations of which foreigners and Mexicans cutting wood in the forests of Agua Azul, Egypo, San Nicholas and San Pedro and the Mexican residents of Ayutla have been the object.

2. Mexico demands a pecuniary indemnity for the damages sustained.
3. Mexico demands indemnity for the expenses of the mobilization of her troops in suitable places for public security on the 4. Mexico asks that the labors of the boundary commission, in accordance with the treaty of 1882, be speedily concluded, said treaty not being open to discussion It is understood that $2,000,000 was nount of the indemnity demanded by Mexico. Also that she insists on Guatemala's dismissing her surveyor general, who has been taking part in the boundary troubles. On January 20 Guatemala answered the ultimatum. It was pacific in tone, but did not concede Mexico's right to a territory designated in the ultimatum nor the right of a fixed cash indemnity. The final nego-tiations are a compromise between the ulti-matum and reply. It is believed that Mexico has agreed to arbitrate the amo cash indemnity, instead of exacting the $2,000,000 first claimed Senor Romero, the Mexican minister, has been kept advised of the negotiations, but neither he nor Senor Arriaga, the Guate-malan minister are yet in a position to make public the exact terms on which war was averted. President Diaz has announced that the terms would be communicated to congress later. The peace agreement is rethe last state legislature accepting the 1,000,000-acre donation from the government.

While the characterizations outside that of Mephisto by John Griffiths at Boyd's last night could hardly be called superior to those seen before in this city, Griffiths himself invests the part of Mephisto in "Faust" with a strength that places him in a high rank in his profession. Although he could hardly be said to represent the character in a distinclvely original manner, throughout the play frequently he was far superior to other players seen in the same character in this ity. He speaks his lines with a spirit, escially of sarcasm and humor, that seems to fit in with the idea conveyed to the reader of the poem and which heretofore does not seem to have been comprehended by other actors that have come to Omaha. The other members of the company were good, but were by no means exceptional. George D. Baker, who took the part of Faust, appeared to be suffering from a cold that interfered with the rendition of his lines. Miss Beatrice Dauncourt, as Marguerite, only at times seemed to be able to raise her part above mediocrity. W. C. Cun-ningham, as Valentine, spoke the few lines that he has in the play as well, if not bet-ter, than his companions. The singing was very good. The scenery did not differ ma-

FRANK GRAHAM ELECTED MAYOR. One of the Warmest Contests in Lincoln's Political History.

LINCOLN, April 2 .- (Special.)-Frank Graham is elected mayor by 1,384 plurality and Lincoln republicans are burning red fire and growing hoarse hourly. In every one of the seven wards of the city the republican ticket made a sweep. The only real spirited ontest was in the Sixth ward, which Graham carried by only two votes over his demo cratic opponent, Judge J. H. Broady.

The republicans effected a coup in the morning by capturing nearly every public conveyance, except street cars, and ornamented with Graham placards they plied energetically between the various voting places and the residences of the electors. The "vest pocket," which was banked on leavily by democrats and the Civic Federation, failed to materialize. All party lines were abandoned in the fight today and demwere numerous wearing Graham badges, while not a few well known repubicans sported the Broady insignia. There was a heavy defection from Broady among the populists and workingmen. This dissatisfaction dates back to the time of the independent convention, which failed to name a candidate for the head of the ticket and a candidate for the head of the ticket and failed also to officially endorse Judge Broady. The following is the ticket elected by varying pluralities: Mayor, Frank Graham; city clerk, John W. Bowen; city treasurer, Martin S. Aitkin; members of the excise board, Richard S. Grimes, Harvey B. Day began shooting and emptied his revolver, but hit no one. His fire was returned, but without damage. Day then retreated into the Sickles building and running upstairs secreted himself. He remained in hiding until Officers Sullens and Ward arrived and placed him under arrest. At the scene of the shooting it was impossible to get details of the affair. Thomas Taffe claimed to be an eye witness.

Taffe claimed to be an eye witness. He was very drunk. He said Day entered the saloon drunk and looking for trouble. He stood by a post to steady himself and then without provocation fired point blank at Thorn and ran out of the saloon. Day was crazy drunk, he said, and shot indiscriminately at everybody after crossing the street to the Sickles place

The following was said to be the other side of the story and more probable. This morning Day went to the Four Courts to swear out a warrant against William Ward for fraudulent voting. The warrant was given to Deputy Sheriff Huppert to serve. Day went with him to identify the man wanted. Ward was in Cella's saloen with Thorn and several others. When Day and the officer appeared the crowd jumped on Day, who fired in self defense, with the result as stated.
